(E's asserted defense of business justification to discharge pursuant to valid rule is to be weighed with some delicacy and deference; Bd may not substitute its business judgment for E's, rather there must be weighing of relative strengths of good and bad motivations, not to determine how Bd would have behaved under similar circumstances, but to determine what in fact motivated E)

5601-5000 Unrestricted by Act if no unfair labor practice

Industrial Label Corporation JD-(SF)-127-81

N.L.R.B. v. Wright Line, A Division of Wright Line, Inc. 662 F.2d 899 (C.A. 2, Sep. 1981)

(anti-U statements plainly w/i (management's) rights ... do lend a significance to otherwise ambiguous events when the question is whether given course of conduct was actuated by anti-U animus)

N.L.R.B. v. Joseph, d/b/a Meat Packers International 605 F.2d 466 (C.A. 9, 1979)

(discharge of Ee, who had testified at prior Bd proceedings, in order to make room for one reinstated disciminatee not violative where Ee was least competent of workers available; management was entitled to make such selection in order to comply with order of ALJ)

Service Employees International Union, Local 250, AFL-CIO v. N.L.R.B. 600 F.2d 930 (C.A.D.C., 1979)

(discharge of 13 of 16 unit Ees for leaving work during working hours, contrary to express orders from E, to attend en masse R hearing, not unlawful, notwithstanding Ees agreed to makeup time lost since E had volunteered to permit one Ee to attend hearing in representative capacity and permitting essentially entire production force to defy E's instructions would disrupt E's productive ability; E's rights in instant case were paramount to Ees' rights; discrimination not in issue)

5614 DISCHARGE POWER FOR NORMAL REASONS UNIMPAIRED

Rose's Stores, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 076

(mere presence of possible valid reason (bad attitude) for discipline does not insulate discharge (for protected activity) if those reasons were not, in fact, reasons for discharge)

N.L.R.B. v. Wright Line, A Division of Wright Line, Inc. 662 F.2d 899 (C.A. 2, Sep. 1981)

(purpose of section 10(c) is to make it abundantly clear that Bd is not to interfere with exercise by Es of their traditional right to discharge Ees for adequate cause)

N.L.R.B. v. Wright Line, A Division of Wright Line, Inc. 662 F.2d 899 (C.A. 2, Sep. 1981)

(Act is violated only when E with anti-U animus discharges Ee he would not have fired but for Ee's U activity)

L'Eggs Products, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 619 F.2d 1337 (C.A. 9, 1980)

N.L.R.B. v. First National Bank of Pueblo 623 F.2d 686 (C.A. 10, 1980)

5628 DISCONTINUANCE OF OPERATIONS FOR ECONOMIC REASONS PROPER

U.S. Contractors, Inc., and The Dow Chemical Company, U.S.A., Texas Division 257 NLRB No. 152

(when economic reasons compel E to decide whether or not to shut down part of its business, E's need to operate freely outweighs any incremental benefit that might be gained through U's participation in decision-making)

U.S. Contractors, Inc., and The Dow Chemical Company, U.S.A., Texas Division 257 NLRB No. 152

(contractor, engaged in providing maintenance and construction services for facility of petro-chemical industry, who terminated its custodial business entirely and laid off its entire janitorial work force w/o consulting with certified U representing custodial Ees, not in violation of Act where marginal profitability of janitorial division had turned into loss; E's actions were founded upon substantial economic factors rather than being motivated by unlawful considerations)

St. Regis Paper Company 247 NLRB No. 105

(burden upon Respondent of establishing, by credited and/or other probative evidence, that its conduct was result of legitimate business considerations)

5656 DISCIPLINE: EMPLOYER MAY TAKE ACTION TO MAINTAIN

East Texas Motor Freight 262 NLRB No. 101

(warning letters and counselling various Ees for actions contrary to E's work rules and policies not violative where other Ees were warned and counselled for same offenses which were work related, were not discriminatory and did not involve Ees' protected activity)

Clark Equipment Company 250 NLRB No. 178

(no violation by suspension of leader of U organizing campaign for calling supervisor bastard and threatening to whip him if he caught him on the street; contention rejected that action was protected because it occurred during E's anti-U meeting)

Illinois Bell Telephone Company JD-178-82

(suspension assessed against Ees who had engaged in work stoppage in response to disciplinary suspension of fellow Ee, not violative where strike was in violation of no-strike clause and was not initiated nor authorized by contracting U; strike was unprotected activity for which E was entitled to institute discipline of participating Ees)

United States Postal Service JD-(SF)-273-79

(supervisor's attempt to enforce lawful rule proscribing Ees talking U business on company time, w/o permission of supervisor held not violative, since attempt did not unlawfully interfere with Ees' protected rights notwithstanding U steward was talking to Ee about grievance)

United States Postal Service JD-(SF)-273-79

(letter warning Ee of discipline for his irregular attendance held not to have been pretext to disguise E's unlawful conduct where other Ees received similar letter for their irregular attendance; letter was not arbitrary nor unrelated to E's ordinary business practices)

N.L.R.B. v. Wright Line, A Division of Wright Line, Inc. 662 F.2d 899 (C.A. 2, Sep. 1981)

(result of partial motivation test was to immunize U activists against legitimate discipline for genuine offenses, and to deprive Es of freedom to apply their own rules uniformly to all their Ees)

Anchortank, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 618 F.2d 1153 (C.A. 5, 1980)

(Section 7 does not grant Ee right to representation at interview conducted solely to inform Ee of, and acting upon, predetermined disciplinary decision)

7000 CIRCUMSTANCES INDICATING VIOLATION

7020 CIRCUMSTANCES SURROUNDING ACTS IN QUESTION MUST BE CONSIDERED

Austell Box Board Corporation 249 NLRB No. 044

(not only was it proper for Bd, for purposes of making independent evaluation, to look at all facts and circumstances surrounding Ee's discharge to decide whether it was connected with Ee's threat to go to Bd and to examine allegedly legitimate reasons for discharge to determine whether Ee would have been discharged if he had not threatend to go to Bd, but it was Bd's obligation to draw its own inferences from all the evidence to determine presence or absence of discriminatory motivation)

N.L.R.B. v. Wright Line, A Division of Wright Line, Inc. 662 F.2d 899 (C.A. 2, Sep. 1981)

(anti-U statements plainly w/i (management's) rights ... do lend a significance to otherwise ambiguous events when the question is whether given course of conduct was actuated by anti-U animus)

United States Steel Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 682 F.2d 98 (C.A. 3, June 1982)

(Third Circuit standard for 8(a)(1) violations requires showing that under the existing circumstances E's conduct reasonably tends to coerce or intimidate Ees in exercise of protected rights)

Pittsburgh-Des Moines Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 663 F.2d 956 (C.A. 9, Dec. 1981)

(Bd must consider totality of the circumstances which are indicative of mental state in deciding whether or not (E) genuinely desires to reach an agreement; it does not suffice to rely solely upon the terms of contract proposals which Bd can properly look at. In addition, however, Bd must show substantial evidence that E's attitude was inconsistent with its duty to seek agreement)

N.L.R.B. v. Dillon Stores, Division of Dillon Companies, Inc. 643 F.2d 687 (C.A. 10, Mar 2, 1981)
(reasonable inference of knowledge of U support may be established by circumstantial evidence such as: supervisor's singling out discriminatee for derision regarding subpoena and supervisor's interest in inducing discriminatee not to honor it; supervisor's multiple references to Ee's U brothers as well as small size of market in which both supervisor and Ee worked)

International Longshoremen's Association, AFL-CIO and Council of North Atlantic Shipping Associations v. N.L.R.B. 613 F.2d 890 (C.A.D.C.) (1979)
(under National Woodworking 386 U.S. 612 (1967) all surrounding circumstances must be examined and this requires inquiry into work patterns both before and after technological innovation is introduced rather than just post-innovation work patterns because to do only latter would remove any opportunity for pre-innovation workers to preserve their work and Bd must show that new work is sufficiently unrelated to old work before ignoring traditional work patterns)

7060 ANTIUNION ATTITUDE AND POLICIES OF EMPLOYER

7060-0100 Generally

Hudson Oxygen Therapy Sales Company 264 NLRB No. 004
(overreaction by E in diciplining Ee for violating work rule, even if valid, especially when rule had not been evenly enforced or necessary to maintain production standards, supports inference that Ee's violation of rule has been seized upon as pretext, and is supported only by invidious and discriminatory motive)

7060-0150 Isolated statements or incidents insufficient to establish antiunion attitude

East Texas Motor Freight 262 NLRB No. 101
(unlawful conduct outside 10(b) period not violative nor can such conduct be used to establish Respondent's U animus in instant case)

7060-1700 Absence of, indicates no unfair labor practice

United States Postal Service 260 NLRB No. 009
(discharge of mail carrier, U adherent, because postmaster could have reasonably believed Ee was about to attack him during emotional meeting concerning Ee's work assignment, not violative absent anti-U motivation, and any evidence of disparate treatment)

U.S. Contractors, Inc., and The Dow Chemical Company, U.S.A., Texas Division 257 NLRB No. 152
(contractor, engaged in providing maintenance and construction services for facility of petro-chemical industry, who terminated its custodial business entirely and laid off its entire janitorial work force w/o consulting with certified U representing custodial Ees, not in violation of Act where marginal profitability of janitorial division had turned into loss; E's actions were founded upon substantial economic factors rather than being motivated by unlawful considerations)

N.L.R.B. v. Wright Line, A Division of Wright Line, Inc. 662 F.2d 899 (C.A. 2, Sep. 1981)
(but for standard requires determination by Bd, based on all evidence, that, wholly apart from alleged illegal motive, E would (or would not) have discharged Ee for conduct ascribed to him by E)

N.L.R.B. v. Wright Line, A Division of Wright Line, Inc. 662 F.2d 899 (C.A. 2, Sep. 1981)
(Act is violated only when E with anti-U animus discharges Ee he would not have fired but for Ee's U activity)

Vesuvius Crucible Company v. N.L.R.B. 668 F.2d 162 (C.A. 3, Nov. 1981)
(refusal to pay strikers accrued vacation pay pursuant to expired contract not violative, as E had good faith belief that entitlement to and amount of vacation pay was to be determined under new collective bargaining contract if and when contract executed. Such conduct, unlike offering non-strikers benefits, or threatening strikers with loss of benefits if they did not return to work, is not inherently destructive of Ee rights so as to obviate need to show prohibited motive; furthermore, here E's good faith belief does not show anti-U motivation on part of E)

Motor Inn of Perrysburg, Inc. d/b/a Holiday Inn of Perrysburg v. N.L.R.B. 647 F.2d 692 (C.A. 6, May 1981)
(E's imposition, after U had lost two certification elections, of so-called captain system and revised captain system which changed working conditions and method of compensating waiters and waitresses, not violative where new systems, although unpopular with some Ees, were no basis for constructive discharge, and were imposed equally upon all Ees, not only U sympathizers; E's motive was to increase sale of food and lack of discrimination detracted from E's anti-U animus)

7060-1800 Indicia of antiunion attitude

Dennis G. Maietta and Frank M. Maietta t/a Maietta Contracting 265 NLRB No. 161
(selling trucks less than one week after ct order to reinstate discriminatees, violative as it discloses illegal motive of thwarting ct order by reducing unit work)

St. Francis Hospital 263 NLRB No. 109
(refusing to pay registration fees and grant time off to two Ees to attend U-sponsored seminar held violative, since E, in past years, allowed Ees to attend U-sponsored seminars when there was no U activity among its Ees; E's motivation, regardless of whether Ee-applicants for seminar were pro-U or anti-U, was to take away benefits because of Ees' exercise of their Section 7 rights)

Coil-Acc, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 012
(sudden termination of U adherent w/i two days of U's request for recognition w/o notice and before end of his work week together with E's interrogation of, and threats to, its Ees warranted inference of discriminatory motive)

Richland Co. & Assoc., Division of McDonald Construction, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 026
(although E's calling Ee backstabber because he was to be U witness in support of U's objections to election was not found violative since it was neither alleged in C nor sufficiently litigated, ALJ properly considered such name-calling in assessing degree and duration of E's hostility to U activity)

Swift and Company 250 NLRB No. 182
(supervisor's threat to discharge another Ee along with shifting reasons for discharge and disparate enforcement of rules indicating pretextual reasons for discharge evidence U animus)

Louisiana Council No. 17, AFSCME, AFL-CIO 260 NLRB No. 072
(E's statement that he would not hold Ee's U activities against him held not to indicate absence of U animus, where statement occurred during meeting with Ee after his unlawful suspension; by referring to Ee's earlier U activity E strenghtened Ee's belief that he and other Ees had been treated disparately for engaging in protected conduct, and E never apologized for his earlier actions nor sought to rectify earlier unlawful conduct; consequently, E's statements were entirely self-serving and merely reinforced Ee's belief that he was being singled out for disparate treatment)

U. S. Gypsum Company JD-(ATL)-28-82

Michael Behm Jr., d/b/a M & M Behm and Associates JD-638-81
(discharge of painter, leading U advocate, because of his chronic tardiness, erratic performance, complaining, attitude and insubordination held violative where tardiness was general problem, and Ee was singled out for discharge; there was no evidence that other reasons for discharge were significant influence upon E in discharging Ee; in discharging Ee, E said this talk of U is the last straw)

N.L.R.B. v. Wright Line, A Division of Wright Line, Inc. 662 F.2d 899 (C.A. 2, Sep. 1981)
(anti-U statements plainly w/i (management's) rights ... do lend a significance to otherwise ambiguous events when the question is whether given course of conduct was actuated by anti-U animus)

7060-5000 Intimation and subtle manifestations of employer's attitude

Limestone Apparel Corp. 255 NLRB No. 101
(E's dislike for Us communicated to his Ees is factor which may be evaluated, along w/o other pertinent evidence, in ariving at actual cause of Ees' discharge)

Crown Cork & Seal Company, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 004
(E's hostility to Ee (U advocate) was evidenced by E's adverse references to Ee's attitude which E had linked to Ee's protected efforts to obtain reinstatement of a discharged Ee)

7060-6700 Motive of employer in interpreting conduct

F.M.L. Supply, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 080
(discharge of U Ee because Ee refused to accept change in his pay rate, which had been accepted by non-U Ees, and discussing U with non U Ees held violative, since E was motivated by Ee's discussions of U and Ee's refusal to abide by changed working conditions was causing unrest among non-U Ees; Ee was accused of destroying E)

Limestone Apparel Corp. 255 NLRB No. 101
(timing of discharge is persuasive evidence as to E's motivation)

N.L.R.B. v. Wright Line, A Division of Wright Line, Inc. 662 F.2d 899 (C.A. 2, Sep. 1981)

(result of partial motivation test was to immunize U activists against legitimate discipline for genuine offenses, and to deprive Es of freedom to apply their own rules uniformly to all their Ees)

N.L.R.B. v. Wright Line, A Division of Wright Line, Inc. 662 F.2d 899 (C.A. 2, Sep. 1981)

(burden of persuasion with respect to ultimate question of determining causal link between bad motive and the discharge remains always with GC)

N.L.R.B. v. Vanguard Oil and Service, Inc., et al. No. 75-4222, Sept. 2, 1980, C.A. 2, (unreported)

(E's motivation for unlawful action taken against Ee due to Ee's U activities may be proven by circumstantial evidence, including timing of action taken, hostility towards unionization in general and discriminatee in particular, and shifting nature and/or insubstantiality of explanation offered by E for its action (civil contempt proceeding))

Behring International, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 675 F.2d 83 (C.A. 3, Apr. 1982)

(it is true purpose or real motive in hiring or firing that constitutes test whether Act has been violated)

Electric Machinery Company v. N.L.R.B. 653 F.2d 958 (C.A. 5, Aug 1981)

(GC has burden of establishing that E's conduct was so egregious as to be inherently destructive of important Ee rights or that E acted with intent to discourage U membership)

N.L.R.B. v. Wismer and Becker Contracting Engineers, and Electrical Workers Local Union 497 654 F.2d 731(T) (C.A. 9, June 1981)

(Section 8(a)(1), 8(a)(2), 8(b)(1)(A) and 8(b)(2) are violated only when actor's true purpose in discriminating was to encourage or discourage U membership; intent must be proved specifically unless actor's conduct implied prohibited motive)

N.L.R.B. v. Wismer and Becker Contracting Engineers, and Electrical Workers Local Union 497 654 F.2d 731(T) (C.A. 9, June 1981)

(enforcement denied when Bd's finding of violations based solely on discriminatory impact and consequent encouraging of U membership, which, w/o showing of intent, is erroneous legal foundation)

Golden Day Schools, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 644 F.2d 834 (C.A. 9, May 8, 1981)

(discharge of U advocates assertedly for disparaging E, inducing parents to withdraw their children from E's day-care center and unsatisfactorily performing their work, violative where discharge followed immediately upon U organizing activity and E's anti-U bias was amply supported by record; false assertions of lawful purpose support inference that declarant's motive was unlawful)

7060-8300 Proof of, strengthens proof of unfair labor practice

Bandag, Incorporated v. N.L.R.B. 583 F.2d 765 (C.A. 5)

8400 AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSES

8407 ECONOMIC NECESSITY, PRESSURE OR HARDSHIP

St. Regis Paper Company 247 NLRB No. 105

(burden upon Respondent of establishing, by credited and/or other probative evidence, that its conduct was result of legitimate business considerations)

C. Cowles & Company JD-(NY)-52-82

(layoff of active U protagonist because of downturn in sales of automotive parts manufacturer, not violative, since Ee was least senior in E's department being cut back because of depressed sales in automotive industry and E's usual custom was to use departmental seniority w/o bumping other Ees; E satisfied burden of proving lawful justification for discharge)

8407-7000 Statute permits no immunity because of hardship or economic pressure

Schnoor Construction Company 258 NLRB No. 173

(E's failure to make payments into fringe benefit fund as required by bargaining agreement, unlawful; E's defense that its failure to do so was caused by financial conditions beyond its control and was not intentional evasion, rejected; It is well established that economic necessity is not cognizable as defense to unilateral repudiation of monetary provisions in bargaining agreement)

8414 'CLEAN HANDS' DOCTRINE

Union Independiente De Empleados De Servicios Legales De Puerto Rico (Corporation de Servicios Legales De Puerto Rico, Inc.) 249 NLRB NO. 147

(contention that charging party, E's bargaining representative, was equitably barred in instant 8(b)(1)(B) proceeding from obtaining any relief sought, rejected, since clean hands doctrine does not operate against charging party inasmuch as proceedings are brought not for vindication of private rights but are brought in public interest and to effectuate statutory policy)

N.L.R.B. v. J. D. Industrial Insulation Company, Inc. 615 F.2d 1289 (C.A. 10, 1980)

(inequitable to fault only one of two parties since both contributed to ambiguity of situation, where E's conduct was inconsistent with nonmembership in multi-E association and U continued to accept uncertainty as to E's membership)

8418 INTERVENING COURT STAY

Bay Medical Center, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 189

(Respondent's duty to bargain not stayed by order of Circuit Ct of Appeals where stay was limited to appellate proceedings and had no effect on duty to bargain)

8421 MOOTNESS

Hollander Home Fashion Corp. 255 NLRB No. 142

(finding Mister Softee case inapposite and relying on Georgia Hosiery Mills case, Bd held E's removal of unlawfully imposed written warnings from personnel files of Ees involved did not moot matter or obviate need for appropriate remedy)

Boyer Ford Trucks, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 184

(E's contention that execution of collective-bargaining agreement with U rendered moot all of allegations relating to unlawful conduct directed at its Ees during or after election campaign, rejected since GC prosecutes ULP complaints in order to vindicate public interest, not private interest, so private contractual agreements can in no way expunge ULPs or prevent imposition of remedial order aimed at preventing recurrence of same conduct)

8427 MOTIVE AND INTENT

Baltimore Rebuilders, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 611 F.2d 1372 (C.A. 4)

(true purpose or real motive is test for determining whether conduct falls w/i statutory ban; proof of subjective motive can, in limited situations, be made out from conduct itself, but where impact is slight or indirect, or where it may be explained by reference to other lawful considerations, it is prima facie lawful, and an affirmative showing of improper motivation must be made)

8427-0100 Generally

Wright Line, A Division of Wright Line, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 150

(in Mt. Healthy case, 429 U.S. 274 (1977), SCt established two-part test to be applied in dual motivation context; Ee must establish that protected conduct was substantial or motivating factor; once this is accomplished, burden shifts to E to demonstrate that it would have reached same decision absent protected conduct)

Charles Batchelder Company, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 089

(question of motivation where alleged unlawful discharge involved is to be resolved by determination based on consideration and weighing of all relevant evidence and not one to be answered by crediting or discrediting E's professed reason for discharge)

Landmark Beef Processors, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 041

(absence of U animus no less than its presence is relevant factor in assessing motive for discharge)

Permanent Label Corporation 248 NLRB No. 021

(fact that E converted violative discharge to suspension w/o pay does not legalize discharge as discriminatory motive still exists)

CTS Keene, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 141

(E's intent not material to finding that its interrogation of Ee violated 8(a)(1))

Electric Machinery Company v. N.L.R.B. 653 F.2d 958 (C.A. 5, Aug 1981)

(conduct that directly and unambiguously penalizes or deters protected activity such as; discharging Ees for participation in U activities, granting superseniority to strike breakers or intention to operate open shop must be shown by GC before necessity to prove U animus is eliminated under Great Dane Trailers 388 U.S. 26 (1967))

L'Eggs Products, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 619 F.2d 1337 (C.A. 9, 1980)

(If discharge is motivated by both legitimate business consideration and protected U activity, improper motive must be shown to be dominant one for discharge to be violative)

8427-2000 Absence of unlawful motive may not be defense

Frank J. Schroeder d/b/a National Apartment Leasing Company 263 NLRB No. 003
(telling Ee that E would fold and everyone would lose their jobs if U's organizing efforts succeeded, violative; such remarks may reasonably be said to interfere with free exercise of Ee rights under Act and neither speaker's intent nor successful effect of remarks on Ee is material)

Limestone Apparel Corp. 255 NLRB No. 101
(finding of pretext necessarily means that reasons advanced by E either did not exist or were not in fact relied upon, thereby leaving in tact inference of wrongful motive established by GC)

Norton Concrete Company of Longview, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 172
(motive or whether coercion succeeded or failed immaterial to prove violation of Sec. 8(a)(1); test is whether E has engaged in conduct which reasonably tends to interfere with free exercise of Ee rights under Act)

8427-7500 Lack of intent to violate Act may not be defense

Jefferson Electric Co., Inc. 251 NLRB No. 129
(E's subsequent recognition of U, occuring after its initial, unlawful refusal to bargain, insufficient to withstand Motion for Summary Judgment, since Ees' statutory rights had been violated)

N.L.R.B. v. Wright Line, A Division of Wright Line, Inc. 662 F.2d 899 (C.A. 2, Sep. 1981)
(result of partial motivation test was to immunize U activists against legitimate discipline for genuine offenses, and to deprive Es of freedom to apply their own rules uniformly to all their Ees)

N.L.R.B. v. Wright Line, A Division of Wright Line, Inc. 662 F.2d 899 (C.A. 2, Sep. 1981)
(but for standard requires determination by Bd, based on all evidence, that, wholly apart from alleged illegal motive, E would (or would not) have discharged Ee for conduct ascribed to him by E)

N.L.R.B. v. Wismer and Becker Contracting Engineers, and Electrical Workers Local Union 497 654 F.2d 731(T) (C.A. 9, June 1981)
(Section 8(a)(1), 8(a)(2), 8(b)(1)(A) and 8(b)(2) are violated only when actor's true purpose in discriminating was to encourage or discourage U membership; intent must be proved specifically unless actor's conduct implied prohibited motive)

8437 REPUDIATION OF UNLAWFUL CONDUCT

Precision Graphics, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 057
(E's posted notice to Ees allegedly repudiating prior threat of plant closure held to have no legal effect where, although there was adequate publication, notice was not unambiguous nor free from same proscribed conduct as prior closure announcement; notice was not timely, having been delayed for month so that Ees could ponder impact of earlier threat; it admitted no wrongdoing and gave no assurance of no future interference with Ees' statutory rights by such coercive conduct; and, since Gissel bargaining order is warranted, E's repudiation could not effectuate what Bd remedy could not do)

United States Postal Service 253 NLRB No. 158
(E's prompt ameliorative action in posting notice disclaiming any intent to induce Ees to relinquish right to file grievances as result of excellance awards issued to some Ees partly because they had not filed grievances, herein found to constitute unlawful implied promise of benefits to other Ees, held not to preclude issuance of remedial order, since notice failed to recognize unlawful nature of E's actions and to assure Ees that E will not in future engage in similar conduct, and E did little more than reassert right to issue unlawful awards)

8448 ADVICE OF COUNSEL NO DEFENSE

M. A. Harrison Manufacturing Company, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 097

Eastern Maine Medical Center 253 NLRB No. 024
(fact that E withheld wage increases from unit Ees during bargaining negotiations with U on advice of counsel held insignificant in determining that E's conduct was unlawful)

Post Manufacturing Company 251 NLRB No. 153
(no violation where in response to subpoenaed witness's question as to what could be done to her if she did not appear at hearing, E's lawyer said nothing much unless Bd sought enforcement, since attorney under no obligation to affirmatively advise witness of her obligation to honor subpoena in absence of question regarding whether to appear or not)

8461 CONTRACTUAL RIGHTS OR OBLIGATIONS

New York Typographical Union No. 6 (Haber Typographers, Inc.) JD-(NY)-78-80
(in field of labor relations, if parties have agreed upon terms of bargaining agreement, they are bound by terms agreed upon notwithstanding failure to sign it)

8461-3300 Breach of contract

8461-3350 Bargaining agreement does not excuse interference with employee rights

East Texas Motor Freight 262 NLRB No. 101
(denying dissident U Ee right to post intra-U political literature on company bulletin board located in Ees' break room held violative where E permitted other Ees to use bulletin board for other than official U business but denied dissident U Ee right to advertise his U activity on board; E enforced otherwise legimate contractual limitation on use of bulletin board in disparate manner)

AMPAC, a subsidiary of Kane-Miller Corp. 259 NLRB No. 151
(E's objection to international U's designation of officials of Local U to police agreement, not violative where exclusion of such officials did not adversely affect representation of Ees involved; international U's representative who had authority under contract to do so acquiesced to E's request)

8471 DE MINIMUS

The Catholic Medical Center of Brooklyn and Queens, Inc., et al. v. N.L.R.B. 620 F.2d 20 (C.A. 2, 1980)
(E's 3-week suspension of salary review w/o consulting with U, unlawful and though inconsequential, it was distinguishable from violations where Bd applied de minimis doctrine)

8475 ISOLATED CHARACTER OF VIOLATION NO DEFENSE

8475-3300 Where part of general unfair labor practice background

Plumbers, Local 388 (Charles Featherly Construction Co.) 252 NLRB No. 062
(picketing at gate reserved for neutrals at jobsite, unlawful and warranted remedial order, notwithstanding involved picketing by only two pickets for one day, in view of Respondent's unlawful picketing at another jobsite at same time in connection with dispute with same E)

8475-6700 Limitation of conduct to few of many plants · immaterial

United Steelworkers of America v. N.L.R.B. 646 F.2d 616 (C.A.D.C., Feb 1981)
(well-coordinated unlawful campaign at one plant may produce chilling effects throughout corporate structure)

8481 UNION MISCONDUCT, AND FEAR OR THREATS THEREOF

Land Equipment Inc. 248 NLRB No. 098
(E's contention that it was coerced into signing 8(f) agreement by U's illegal conduct and should therefore not be required to honor said contract, rejected where U's conduct could not be considered because it was outside 10(b) period)

N.L.R.B. v. A. S. Abell Company 624 F.2d 506 (C.A. 4, 1980)
(evidence of prior use or misuse of information requested of E by U is quite relevant in determining whether E was bargaining in good faith)

N.L.R.B. v. A. S. Abell Company 624 F.2d 506 (C.A. 4, 1980)
(prior harassment of Ees and their legitimate fear of harassment justified E's subsequent refusal to provide U payroll information on replacement workers or names and addresses of unit Ees)

8485 EMPLOYER ULP's NO JUSTIFICATION FOR 8(b) COERCIVE TACTICS

N.L.R.B. v. Laborer's International Union of North America, Local No. 721 649 F.2d 33 (C.A. 1, May 1981)
(Bd properly held E's refusal to hire U-designated steward was not sufficiently serious ULP to justify strike in view of no-strike provision and availability of arbitration procedure to settle dispute which arose not as result of E's refusal to honor U's contractual right to have steward on jobsite but came about because of simple dispute as to identity of steward, and consequently there was no effort on part of E to undermine U as Ees' representative; moreover, Bd is best deferred to by cts in view of its expertise in areas such as this)

8488 UNION RULES AND JURISDICTION

8488—Cont.

Howland Hook Marine Terminal Corporation 263 NLRB No. 040 (designation of agent of Ees' collective bargaining representative (appointment of interim steward) is purely internal U affair and resolution of dispute, regarding who would be interim steward rested with U and not Bd; Section 8(a)(5) of Act not applicable to internal U dispute concerning who had authority to conduct business of local U and E not required to determine which of 2 representatives was the validly designated one)

506 EMPLOYEE RIGHTS PROTECTED BY SECTION 7

0100 GENERALLY

Wayne County Neighborhood Legal Services, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 180
(defense by E, operating legal services as contractor of federal agency, on ground that statute establishing agency forbade Ee conduct for which they were allegedly unlawfully disciplined, rejected; enabling statute is construed to refer to NLRA, to have recognized its provisions, and to have incorporated various interpretations and applications of Sec.7)

0128 RIGHT TO FORM, JOIN, OR ASSIST LABOR ORGANIZATIONS

Sealy Mattress Company of Michigan, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 011
(discharge of Ee for joining U violative notwithstanding he may not have been properly part of unit he sought to join since his efforts were protected activity against which E could not lawfully retaliate)

Teamsters Local Union No. 574, a/w Teamsters
(Lola Wheeler, an Individual) 259 NLRB No. 037
(discharge of office manager by U's Secretary-Treasurer because office manager favored another candidate for U office of Secretary-Treasurer and was instrumental in writing letter to U attorney in attempt to preserve jobs of office staff held violative because activities office manager undertook, in conjunction with other Ees, related to wages, hours, terms and conditions of employment and discharge was in derogation of office manager's right to form and support clerical Ee U)

Pantex Towing Corporation 258 NLRB No. 113
(Ee's work stoppage held protected, notwithstanding assertion that Ee was engaged in mutiny; Southern Steamship Company v. N.L.R.B., 316 U.S. 31, distg)

New Process Gear, Division of Chrysler Corporation 249 NLRB No. 158
(payroll supervisor's response to U steward's request for his paycheck, to effect that —you're always in trouble, not violative, since it was passing remark by payroll supervisor, as contrasted with supervisor in area policed by U steward, and as such was not threat)

0142 RIGHT TO BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY THROUGH REPRESENTATIVE OF OWN CHOOSING

Public Services Planning and Analysis Corporation, d/b/a Airport Connection JD-(SF)-310-79
(while Act does not prevent Es from founding and operating businesses which seek to be personal-oriented, or which attempt to apply progressive social principles to their operations, Ees have right to collectively resist application of such principles in order to better their conditions of employment through U representation, and under Act E, despite sincere belief in human scale operational philosophy, has duty of forebearance when Ees seek to achieve their ends)

0156 RIGHT TO ENGAGE IN OTHER CONCERTED ACTIVITIES FOR PURPOSE OF COLLECTIVE BARGAINING

Corbin-Dykes Electric Company JD-(SF)-200-82
(individual Ee's complaints involving safety deemed protected and concerted as long as complaints are based on reasonable belief that existing condition was dangerous, hazardous or unsafe, or that collective bargaining agreement had been violated; reasonableness of Ee's belief is based upon circumstances as they existed and not upon whether in fact there actually existed such danger or that E had actually violated agreement)

D & D Supermarket, Inc. JD-293-82
(by warning Ee not to talk to other Ees about working conditions, E effectively precluded Ee from engaging in concerted activity and thereby violated Act)

0170 RIGHT TO ENGAGE IN OTHER CONCERTED ACTIIVITIES FOR OTHER MUTUAL AID OR PROTECTION

Materials Research Corporation 262 NLRB No. 122
(protection afforded by Sect. 7 does not vary depending on whether involved conduct is related, directly or indirectly to U activity or collective bargaining)

Brookline Corporation d/b/a Hi Fi Buys 257 NLRB No. 166
(Ees' concerted protest of another Ee's discharge and their seeking improved wages and hours held protected concerted activities w/i meaning of the Act)

Brookline Corporation d/b/a Hi Fi Buys 257 NLRB No. 166
(discharge of Ees engaged in lawful concerted activities violative where E's district manager, in response to Ees' asking if they were discharged, said they were acting too much like a U instead of saying no)

Burnup & Sims, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 142
(discharge of Ees assertedly because they failed to report to work held violative where E had given Ees permission to be absent from work to consult with Bd, EEOC, attorney and labor U concerning Ees' job security and other work problems notwithstanding work was interrupted; E's motive irrelevant as reason for discharge was for engaging in protected concerted activities)

Automotive Armature Co., Inc. 256 NLRB No. 043
(E's forbidding Ees from talking about engaging in strike or work stoppage held violative)

Intermountain Rural Electric Association 253 NLRB No. 164
(reprimand of Ee E knew was strong U adherent, for entering engineering director's office on another Ee's behalf and proposing attempt be made to reach E's operations manager to clarify other Ee's job status held violative, since U adherent joined other Ee for purpose—of mutual aid or protection)

Red Ball Motor Freight, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 111
(Ee's complaint to management regarding their order of recalling Ees and requiring that Ees use their vacation time during period of forced layoff held protected concerted activity; Ee's complaint constituted effort to gain benefit not only for herself but for her coworker and other senior Ees as well)

Red Ball Motor Freight, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 111
(Ee's comment, made in presence of coworkers, that another Ee should not start work until time set by E held concerted activity, since remark was attempt to induce fellow Ees not to perform work for which they would not be paid)

Red Ball Motor Freight, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 111
(fact that Ee was not specifically chosen as spokesperson by Ees to speak for them in discussions with supervision was irrelevant to issue of concerted activity, since it was clear that Ee spoke on Ees' behalf as well as her own)

Meatcorp (Formerly Seymour Packing Division of Seymour America, Inc.) 251 NLRB NO. 047
(Ees are not required to give E notice or obtain its permission to engage in protected activity)

Anco Insulations, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 081
(threat by contractor to discharge Ee because he had registered complaint over safety of insulating work being done on furnace installation by another contractor at construction project held violative since such complaint constituted protected concerted activity)

Corbin-Dykes Electric Company JD-(SF)-200-82
(individual Ee's complaints involving safety deemed protected and concerted as long as complaints are based on reasonable belief that existing condition was dangerous, hazardous or unsafe, or that collective bargaining agreement had been violated; reasonableness of Ee's belief is based upon circumstances as they existed and not upon whether in fact there actually existed such danger or that E had actually violated agreement)

Batavia Nursing Convalescent Inn, Inc. JD-23-80
(soliciting Ees to take their complaints to individual whom Ee considered to be boss of facility though he had no official connection with E at that time rather than through regular channels held to have been concerted activity where Ees' complaints and dissatisfaction were directed to employment conditions of concern to other Ees and protected because boss's conduct was such that even though he had officially severed his connection with E he was held agent of E)

N.L.R.B. v. Faulkner Hospital 691 F.2d 51 (C.A. 1, Oct. 1982)
(E's discharge of Ee who gave statement to Ee of another E closely allied with first E to use in his unemployment compensation hearing and statement was also used in grievance proceeding for that Ee, violative as Ee who gave statement was engaged in protected concerted activity whether grievant won or lost, because circumstances of another Ee's discharge were at issue in unemployment compensation hearing and bore sufficiently close nexus to terms and conditions of employment to be protected)

Anchortank, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 618 F.2d 1153 (C.A. 5, 1980)
(Section 7 protects concerted activity by Ees; and one Ee's request for presence of another unit Ee at an interview is concerted activity)

Anchortank, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 618 F.2d 1153 (C.A. 5, 1980)
(before R election is held, E may nondiscriminatorily exclude from his property U representative who is to represent Ee in an interview; this result would obtain even if Ee's request was concerted activity)

N.L.R.B. v. Southern California Edison Company 646 F.2d 1352 (C.A. 9, Jun 1981)
(section 7 (of Act) protects Ees who engage in sympathy strike in support of lawful primary strike by sister U of same E; respect for integrity of picket line may well be source of strength of whole collective bargaining process in which every U member has legitimate and protected economic interest)

N.L.R.B. v. Southern California Edison Company 646 F.2d 1352 (C.A. 9, Jun 1981)
(activities for neutral aid or protection not limited to those w/i E-ee relationship or those aimed at changing conditions of employment; section 7 (of Act) protects Ees' concerted lobbying for changes in national policy regarding job security)

Local 175, Automobile Workers, (UAW) v. N.L.R.B. 645 F.2d 1151 (C.A.D.C. Mar 1981)
(distribution of leaflets in nonworking areas of plant during nonworking time by U concerning U endorsed candidates for public office, not protected, since insufficient relationship to Ee's interests to come w/i guarantee of Section 7 mutual aid and protection where principal thrust of leaflet was to induce Ees to vote for specific candidates, not educate them on political issues relevant to their employment)

0184 RIGHT TO REFRAIN FROM EXERCISE OF SECTION 7 RIGHTS

Texaco Oil Company 259 NLRB No. 062
(Ees who are sick or disabled at onset of strike have Section 7 right to refrain from declaring their position on strike while medically excused)

United States Postal Service 258 NLRB No. 193
(violation where supervisor threatened U steward with disciplinary action for refusing to attend meeting unless informed in advance of purpose, since meeting did not concern supervisor-Ee relationship which existed between them as supervisor was addressing Ee in his U steward capacity and by threatening Ee in connection with his performance as U steward interfered with his Sec. 7 rights to engage or not engage in U activities as steward)

Sav-On Drugs, Inc. JD-(SF)-214-81
(statements to Ees and applicants for employment that they would have to join (particular) U as condition of employment and posting of letter threatening Ees that they would not be scheduled for work unless they joined U, held violative)

Planned Parenthood of Alameda and San Francisco Counties JD-(SF)-294-80
(informing Ee she was to be put on probation for failing to voice her concerns in constructive manner where she failed to attend meeting with management on her own time to discuss working conditions, and had allegedly made statements regarding incompetency of management to third parties, unlawful, since refraining from exercising her Section 7 right to attend meeting, protected; further, E lacked sufficient evidence of Ee's criticism to third parties on which to base honest belief of misconduct required for punitive action; fact probation never put into effect did not nullify unlawful threat to discipline)

N.L.R.B. v. Gold Standard Enterprises, Inc., et al. 679 F.2d 673 (C.A. 7, May 1982)
(threatening Ees with retaliation for engaging in concerted activities, violative even if Ees have not attempted or even contemplated exercising their Section 7 rights)

0184-5000 Subject to membership requirement of valid agreement

N.L.R.B. v. Machinists Local 1327, District Lodge 115 608 F.2d 1219 (C.A. 9, 1979)
(U member has right to resign from U but U can proscribe rule which limits right to resign during strike to protect its members and U during that critical period)

0188 RIGHT TO BE FREE FROM UNFAIR, IRRELEVANT, OR INVIDIOUS TREATMENT BY REPRESENTATIVE

The Buffalo Newspaper Guild, Local 26, and The Newspaper Guild, AFL-CIO-CLC (Buffalo Courier Express, Inc.) 265 NLRB No. 048
(U member who filed UC ptn with Bd engaged in protected activity notwithstanding Bd's rules permit only E or U to file such ptn as proceeding was initiated for purpose of requesting Bd to reconsider its policy and such proceedings are as deserving of protection as those filed in conformity with existing standards)

0192 RIGHTS DERIVED FROM OTHER FEDERAL LABOR STATUTES

Carpenters Local Union No. 35 (Klaus Martin, an Individual) 264 NLRB No. 108
(public policy considerations dictate that Ees be afforded full and unimpeded access to other governmental agencies, and in administering Act Bd must consider full panoply of congressional labor policies, including those embodied in LMRDA, in determining legality of conduct engaged in by a respondent)

2000 NATURE OF ACTIVITIES PROTECTED

2001 GENERALLY

Douglas Aircraft Company, Component of McDonnell Douglas Corporation 260 NLRB No. 180
(E's contention that in order to have violation of 8(a)(1) E must have knowledge of concerted nature of Ee activity, but that it lacked such knowledge with regard to Ee's distribution to Ees of his open letter to E protesting E's time restriction on Ees' use of plant vending machines, rejected, where Ee informed security guards, at gate at which he was distributing, that letter pertains to several hundred people, and letter itself put E on notice when it referred to work force as being subject to restriction which we find frustrating)

Hudson T. Marsden, A Sole Proprietorship 259 NLRB No. 118
(Ees who refused to work outside on rainy day and went home w/o informing E engaged in protected concerted activity and discharge violative)

Louisiana Council No. 17, AFSCME, AFL-CIO 250 NLRB No. 072
(so long as concerted activity is not unlawful, in breach of contract or disloyal, Ees engaged in concerted activity do not lose protection of Act simply because their activity contravenes E's rule or policies; application of Sec. 7 of Act does not depend on manner in which Ees choose to press despute, but rather on matter they are protesting)

Norton Concrete Company of Longview, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 172

Wayne County Neighborhood Legal Services, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 180
(fact that Ees who participate in concerted activities are not members of same U, or Ees of same E, does not alter concerted nature of activity or deprive it of protection accorded such activity by Act)

N.L.R.B. v. Haberman Construction Company 641 F.2d 351 (C.A. 5, Apr. 1981)
(E conduct inherently destructive of important Ee rights is (1) conduct which jeopardizes U's position as bargaining agent or diminishes U's capacity effectively to represent Ees, and (2) conduct which directly and unambiguously penalizes or deters protected activity)

2001-5000 Concerted activity defined

Richdel, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 064
(mere enlisting of other Ees' assistance in furtherance of personal dispute between Ee and supervisor does not draw activity undertaken in furtherance of that dispute into protections of Act; no other Ees had experienced similar problems with supervisor and Ee was not acting on behalf of other Ees)

London Chop House, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 083
(bargaining committee member's initial support of contract ratification and his later decision and action taken in opposition to ratification held protected activity and not ethically and morally reprehensible; and his actions were concerted since gravamen of C alleged that he was engaged in U, or intra-U, activity and, consequently, fact that he was acting alone is immaterial)

Sherwood Ford, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 116
(Ee's protesting E's failure to pay holiday pay on behalf of herself and other Ees, protected, notwithstanding Ee's telling office manager she was tired of being lied to as part of res gestae, since Ee's language was not so inaccurate or offensive as to remove her from Act's protection)

Cox Enterprises, Inc., d/b/a Atlanta Newspapers 264 NLRB No. 120
(conversation involving 1 speaker and 1 listener can be concerted activity as long as remarks have some relation to group action in interest of Ees. Where remarks were about rumored strike, speaker's failure to state explicitly or to demonstrate otherwise that she supported rumored strike is insufficient to disqualify conversation as protected activity regardless whether or not supervisor is listener)

Mills Patrol Service, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 065
(during meeting with E's president and vice president, Ee's discussing possibility of obtaining sick benefits, medical coverage and U representation held not protected concerted activity as Ee did not discuss these matters with any Ee, none knew of his efforts, and no uniform plan where any changes made to one Ee would have to apply to all Ees)

Transport Service Co. 263 NLRB No. 125
(discharge of Ee who refused to drive truck which was overweight and in violation of state law (though w/i tolerances allowed by states and therefore exempt from criminal prosecution), violative, as Ee was engaged in protected concerted activity when he refused to drive; refusals to violative state law are presumptively protected concerted actively; moreover, inquires into private motivations for asserting such reasons is limited to whether it was asserted in good faith or maliciously)

M K Laboratories, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 021
(Ees, acting in concert, have Sec. 7 right to attend unemployment compensation hearings involving discharge of fellow Ee, which is to be balanced against E's interest in efficiently operating his business)

Douglas Aircraft Company, Component of McDonnell Douglas Corporation 260 NLRB No. 180
(Ee's distribution to Ees of his open letter to E protesting E's new time restriction on Ees' use of plant vending machines held group action rather than personal gripe, where letter was in response to group concern and had sanction of U steward; letter's purpose was to advance Ees' common interest and concern over restriction and was for their mutual aid and protection; and Ee's conduct would have been concerted and protected irrespective of whether he was overtly designated by other Ees to act on their behalf, or whether he had outlined to them what he was going to do)

Magnolia Manor Nursing Home, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 040
(Ee's conduct in arguing with E about her refusal to participate in E's insurance program and in protesting E's failure to provide paycheck stub with salary deductions listed held to constitute individual rather than concerted action)

Kyle & Stephen, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 087
(Ees held engaged in protected concerted activity where they pursued their wage claim under state law)

Mount Desert Island Hospital 259 NLRB No. 080
(Ee who wrote letter to newspaper setting forth Ee complaints about working conditions at E engaged in protected concerted activity where Ee had engaged in discussions with fellow Ees regarding alleged deficiencies in pay, benefits, and working conditions at E's facility)

Cal-Walts, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 126
(an individual's actions may be concerted in nature if they relate to conditions of employment that are matters of mutual concern to all affected Ees; in such circumstances an Ee doesn't have to actually act in concert with others)

Smithfield Packing Co. 258 NLRB No. 022
(discharge of Ees who refused to work overtime more than the 8 hours E had predicted they would work violative as Ees were engaged in protected concerted activity as previous unannounced concerted refusal to work overtime prompted by dissatisfaction with E's overtime policies was presumptively concerted activity; moreover, their refusal to work does not lose its protected status because it took place during overtime hours and was not previously announced)

McLean Trucking Company 257 NLRB No. 179
(Ee's complaint to other Ees that terminal manager asked him not to tell anyone he was being paid for extra time when he returned late to the terminal after experiencing mechanical troubles with his truck, held protected)

Brookline Corporation d/b/a Hi Fi Buys 257 NLRB No. 166
(Ees' concerted protest of another Ee's discharge and their weeking improved wages and hours held protected concerted activities w/i meaning of the Act)

Rai Research Corporation 257 NLRB No. 127
(displaying in his car windshield sign reading Please don't feed management. They only suck blood, violative as language was aimed at shaking co-workers out of their lethargy and hence protected)

Greyhound Lines, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 088
(Ee's physically writing dictated letter from U to E concerning alleged harassment of Ees held protected concerted activity)

Ross's Stores, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 076
(individual Ee's protesting E's assigning Sunday work to Ee and other Ees held to have been concerted activity, since Ee's protest concerned issue which earlier had been subject of group protest and Ee was acting on behalf of other Ees who shared Ee's concern)

Atlas Minerals, Division of Atlas Corporation 256 NLRB No. 042
(contention that single Ee, when utilizing agency involved in regulating Ee working conditions, is not engaged in concerted activity under analysis of various cts, rejected by ALJ, since Bd law is binding upon him, and E's threat to terminate an Ee for going to agency was made to all Ees and applied with equal force to chill collective and individual recourse to agency)

Zurn Industries, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 098
(Ee's statement to hell with way management wants that skip, we need it for safety; it's the way we want it, not the way they want it, held protected and not insubordinate because it was expression of opinion on occupational safety)

Red Ball Motor Freight, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 111
(Ee's complaint to management regarding their order of recalling Ees and requiring that Ees use their vacation time during period of forced layoff held protected concerted activity; Ee's complaint constituted effort to gain benefit not only for herself but for her coworker and other senior Ees as well)

Red Ball Motor Freight, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 111
(Ee's comment, made in presence of coworkers, that another Ee should not start work until time set by E held concerted activity, since remark was attempt to induce fellow Ees not to perform work for which they would not be paid)

Timet, A Division of Titanium Metals Corporation of America 251 NLRB No. 157
(discharge of Ee who complained to supervisor about his raise and then circulated letter offering to represent Ees to management to obtain cost-of-living adjustment violative as Ee's action was intended to produce group activity and constituted concerted protected activity)

National Wax Company 251 NLRB No. 147
(Ee inquiring about merit pay increase for himself held not concerted activity where he was not acting on behalf of any other Ee and his endeavors, even if successful, would not directly relate to or advance likelihood of merit wage increases for any other Ee)

E. A. Nord Company 250 NLRB No. 068
(discharge of Ee because of his expressed intent to file contractual grievance unlawful, conduct was concerted since it could establish precedent for other Ees)

Lutheran Social Service of Minnesota, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 018
(derogatory comments of two Ees concerning management and expression of differences regarding policies and programs, not concerted, notwithstanding Ees together iterated various attitudes, since no effort made during more than 3 months to cultivate dissatisfaction into confrontational form of expression where Ees did not invite other Ees into coalition, formulated no agenda, filed no grievances, nor made any demands)

Sentry Investigation Corp. 249 NLRB No. 130
(Ees have no statutorily protected right to be represented by outside counsel in investigatory or disciplinary interviews requested by their E; representation of Ee by his personal attorney is not equivalent of U representation w/i meaning of NLRB v. Weingarten; nor does representation of by his personal attorney constitute concerted activity w/i purview of Act as construed in Glomac Plastics)

Colonial Stores Incorporated 248 NLRB No. 142
(where Ee and her husband, a non-Ee, circulated ptn among Ees protesting E's alleged failure to abide by bargaining agreement and U's failure to enforce agreement, and subsequently the husband drove to E's parking lot with signs stating, E had no regard for its Ees' rights, Bd held Ee's displaying signs in her husband's car constituted protected concerted activity, since it was protest concerned with E's adherence to grievance settlement under terms of contract, a subject of potential concern to other Ees, and it was not undertaken for unlawful purpose or in unlawful manner)

Charles H. McCauley Associates, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 047
(Ee demanding improvement of wages, pensions, and health benefits held concerted activity rather than effort to obtain objective only for self, since Ee's demands would inure to benefit of all Ees; moreover, Ee had spoken to several of his fellow Ees and apprised them of his intentions and they had not expressed disinterest in his taking action)

Ontario Knife Company 247 NLRB No. 168
(fact that Ee, who together with another Ee had grievance discussion with supervisor, walked out alone held not to prevent walkout from being protected concerted activity, where grievance in question was group concern of Ees, and Ee and other Ee were engaged in group action up to the point when Ee walked out alone following supervisor's off-color remarks made during grievance discussion)

Fall River Savings Bank 247 NLRB No. 088
(questioning order of seniority in which Ees are called for weekend work found concerted, since seniority is a matter of common concern)

Wayne & Co. Installers JD-(SF)-170-83
(Ee is engaged in protected concerted activities when he or she, either acting alone or in concert with fellow Ees, complains or inquires about contract violations)

Avis-Rent-A-Car Systems, Inc. JD-62-82
(Ee who files grievance either on his own behalf or behalf of fellow Ees is engaged in protected concerted activity, notwithstanding there may be no merit to grievance, therefore discharge of suspended Ee who came on E's property, to file grievance over suspension violative)

High Energy Corporation JD-109-83
(discharge of Ees who walked off job to protest unsafe working conditions violative as Ees engaged in protected activity and protection is not lost because Ees did not give prior notice, moreover, it is immaterial whether Ees were correct about the unsafe conditions)

Gastown, A Division of Enco Marketing Company JD-66-82
(Ee who testified at unemployment compensation hearing for coworker engaged in protected activity)

Lang Manufacturing Company JD-(SF)-298-81
(various protests voiced by Ees held concerted in character where they were directed at E's uniform pay system having common application to Ees as whole)

Linx Corporation JD-588-81
(Ees' temporarily withholding their services until they were assured that their paychecks were good held protected concerted activity where E had spotty record of untimely payment)

Westinghouse Electric Corporation JD-(ATL)-40-81
(U steward's refusal to work overtime in order to attend U meeting concerted activity notwithstanding Ee acted alone where E had contractual obligation to honor steward's request to leave job for U business)

Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. JD-(ATL)-88-81
(Ees were engaged in concerted activities for purpose of their mutual aid and protection when they complained to regional manager concerning methods employed by district manager in his handling of problems at store)

Meat Cutters, Local 391 JD-(SF)-304-80
(filing of grievance with E and subsequent calls to officials of E to check on veracity of supervisor's discharge threats held protected concerted activity)

Meat Cutters, Local 391 JD-(SF)-304-80
(grievance that dealt at least in part with areas of supervisor's performance which had impact on both Ees' job interests and their ability to perform tasks for which they were hired was grievance over working conditions, rather than attack on supervisor; as such, Ees conduct was protected)

Scott Paper Company JD-623-80
(Ee's alleged concern about safety conditions held not to be concerted where there was no evidence that, at any time, any of his co-Ees showed concern as to safety of operation, and he did not consult any other Ee before his refusal to perform assigned task)

Shuttle Motor Corporation JD-327-80
(Ee's inquiry of state agency regarding legality of back-stubbing i.e., E refusing to pay for current work in order to recoup where Ee had been paid too much for previous work, not concerted, where back-stubbing was not matter of common C among Ees; further, Ee called agency before any adverse action taken against him and subsequent back-stubbing against him rectified)

Public Service Company of New Mexico JD-(SF)-157-80

B & F Turgeon, Inc. JD-274-80
(if Ees are engaged in group activity it is considered concerted and existence of group need not be communicated to management)

Ontario Knife Company v. N.L.R.B. 637 F.2d 840 (C.A. 2, Dec. 1980)
(not only must ultimate objective be mutual but activity must be concerted or, if taken by an individual, must be looking toward group action)

Frank Briscoe Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 637 F.2d 946 (C.A. 3, 1981)
(filing charges with EEOC held concerted activity where charges filed w/i 3 days of layoff; nature of complaints similar; complaints referred to discrimination against other Ees)

Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel Corp. v. N.L.R.B. 618 F.2d 1009 (C.A. 3, 1980)
(Ees' refusals to operate crane for safety reasons held concerted activity rather than individual action, since there was some group action by Ees involved in interest of Ee safety, U was also involved by filing C with OSHA concerning potential danger to all Ees, Ees involved acted as spokesmen for safety of all Ees, and their action was undertaken for mutual aid or protection)

Tyler Business Services, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 680 F.2d 338 (C.A. 4, June 1982)
(Ee's remarks to one of E's most important customers concerning unlawful discharge of part-time Ee and lack of insurance for part-time Ees held not protected concerted activity, since, in order to establish that single Ee is engaged in such activity, evidence must show that Ee is seeking either to enforce a bargaining agreement, to induce group action, or to act on behalf of other Ees, and such showing was not made herein; and personal concerns or missions are insufficient to demonstrate concerted action)

Krispy Kreme Doughnut Corp. v. N.L.R.B. 635 F.2d 304 (C.A. 4, 1980)
(Ee's refusal to forego workman's compensation claim did not constitute protected concerted activity, since there was no evidence that action of solitary Ee here contemplated any group activity or that he was in fact . . . acting on behalf of or as representative of other employees; at most his action can be said to have been for the benefit of other employees only in a theoretical sense)

Pioneer Natural Gas Company v. N.L.R.B. 662 F.2d 408 (C.A. 5, Nov. 1981)
(Ee's telling fellow Ee to go to supervisor about another coworker's racially discriminatory remarks against fellow Ee, not concerted protected activity where first Ee never suggested it was a collective effort)

N.L.R.B. v. Datapoint Corporation 642 F.2d 123 (C.A. 5, Apr 8, 1981)
(where Ee, in rude and beligerant manner, complained to fellow Ees about E's plan to layoff Ees for 1 week while plant moved to new location, discharge of Ee not violative as such activity is not protected where no evidence that Ee had object of initiating or inducing or preparing for group action; activity which consists of mere talk, in order to be protected, must be talk looking toward group action)

Brown & Root, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 634 F.2d 816 (C.A. 5, 1980)
(activity concerted where two individuals among twenty EEs who had ceased work and sought shelter to avoid unsafe conditions when rain began to blow on electrical equipment with which they were working refused to obey foreman's order to return to work, since two Ees acted in concert and minimum number not required by Section 7)

Anchortank, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 618 F.2d 1153 (C.A. 5, 1980)
(Section 7 protects concerted activity by Ees; and one Ee's request for presence of another unit Ee at an interview is concerted activity)

Anchortank, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 618 F.2d 1153 (C.A. 5, 1980)
(before R election is held, presence of U representative (at interview) does not have effect on other Ees essential to satisfaction of Interboro standard for concerted activity; thus Ee's actions in seeking presence of the representative at that time does not constitute concerted activity; but Ee's request for U representation by U which has won challenged election is protected concerted activity)

Timet, a Division of Titanium Metals Corporation of America v. N.L.R.B. 671 F.2d 973 (C.A. 6, Mar. 1982)
(preparing for group activity by telling E that he intended to organize Ees to protest dissatisfaction with amount of salary increase and conveying this intention to some Ees held protected notwithstanding he was discharged before any Ees had opportunity to join him)

Timet, a Division of Titanium Metals Corporation of America v. N.L.R.B. 671 F.2d 973 (C.A. 6, Mar. 1982)
(drafting and circulating letter in which Ee offered to represent Ees to management to obtain cost-of-living adjustment held protected notwithstanding he was discharged before any Ee joined him as he was preparing for group activity)

Bay Wood Industries, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 666 F.2d 1011 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1981)
(not made solely on behalf of individual Ee, but it must be made on behalf of other Ees or at least be made with object of inducing or preparing for group action and have some arguable basis in collective bargaining agreement)

Supreme Optical Company, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 628 F.2d 1262 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(attendance of 5 Ees at unemployment compensation hearing at request of former Ee held protected in view of sufficiently close nexus to terms and conditions of employment since termination of particular Ee potentially affects relationship between all Ees and E)

Pelton Casteel, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 627 F.2d 23 (C.A. 7, July 1980)
(ct reversed Bd finding of unlawful discharge where record did not support conclusion that Ee's continuous complaints about job rates and mandatory overtime were more than individual gripes, and was only one of several items E considered in disciplining Ee for poor attitude)

Koch Supplies, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 646 F.2d 1257 (C.A. 8, Apr 1981)
(Ee's complaints to E about E's promise of vacation benefits to new Ee, unprotected where it was not shown that complaining Ee intended that her activities would relate to group action)

Albertson's, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 661 F.2d 939(T) (C.A. 9, Sep. 1981)

(in finding discharge not unlawful, ct relied in part on existence of substantial doubt that dischargee's alleged U activity, consisting of seeking enforcement of contract as to break periods, was in fact more than dischargee's pursuance of her own complaint of discontent)

N.L.R.B. v. Brewton Fashions, Inc., a Division of Judy Bond 682 F.2d 918 (C.A. 11, Aug. 1982)

(refusal of two women to individually push heavy carts held protected and concerted where they had good-faith belief they would be physically injured by pushing cart alone and task had formerly been done by men)

Lee G. Kohls v. N.L.R.B. 629 F.2d 173 (C.A.D.C., 1980)

(discharge of Ee for refusing to drive assigned truck because breaks were not good enough for me, not unlawful, since protest and refusal not concerted and Interboro Contractors doctrine not applied, notwithstanding contention was Ee was asserting contractual right, where Ee was not asserting right on behalf of anyone other than himself nor speaking for others, no evidence Ee and U working in concert to assert contract, and fact Ee withdrew grievance filed on his behalf by U)

2017 NOT ALL CONCERTED ACTIVITIES PROTECTED

Keyway, A Division of Phase Inc. 263 NLRB No. 172

(Bd applies same standard to health care institutions as it does to other enterprises in determining whether Ees have engaged in unprotected conduct)

Zurn Industries, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 088

(Ee's statement to hell with way management wants that skip, we need it for safety; it's the way we want it, not the way they want it, found not insubordinate and held protected)

Fall River Savings Bank 247 NLRB No. 088

(protected activity's protection not lost because of Ee's being unpleasant, rude or impolite in course of such activity)

2017-0800 Activity of such character as to render employee unfit for further service

Richmond Tank Car Company 264 NLRB No. 025

(profanity in violation of plant rule which was provoked by E's unresponsiveness to Ees' well founded concerns about safety conditions and which were kind of language commonly heard in industrial workplace was not so egregious or flagrant as to remove protection of the Act or so violent or serious as to render Ee uttering it unfit for service and justify discharge)

Tyler Business Services, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 088

(E's statements that he believed E's failure to provide part-time Ees hospitalization benefits was unfair, protected; nor was statement rendered unprotected by his remarks to third party concerning personal lives of E's officials since remarks did not relate to E's product or operations nor constitute deliberate intent to impugne company)

F. W. Woolworth Co. 251 NLRB No. 152

(violation where E suspended, then discharged Ee allegedly for insubordination where Ee insisted on asking E question during E's captive audience anti-U propaganda speech in disobedience of E's gag on Ee participation; E had right to protest gag and did not engage in misconduct sufficient to remove protection of Act where he used no threats, profanity or inciteful language)

Lutheran Social Service of Minnesota, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 018

(derogatory comments about E's management by Ees of center for disturbed and displaced youth and expression of differences regarding policies not protected, since aimless rather than concerted, and nature of Ees' concerns was not effect of policies on own working conditions but on quality of program and welfare of residents inasmuch as these are peculiarly management's concern; further, Ees' use of profanity in criticizing management in presence of residents and disrupting and demoralizing effect of their actions on other Ees, particularly in view of E's mission, rendered them unfit for further service)

United States Postal Service 250 NLRB No. 002

(assuming U steward uttered obscenity toward supervisor in course of formally investigating possible grievance over working conditions on behalf of unit Ee when supervisor failed to see steward immediately and directly, such utterance was part of res gestae of investigation and was not so flagrant or egregious as to remove protection of Act)

Childers Manufacturing Company, Inc. JD-(SF)-11-82

(while remarks by Ee, participating in protected activity of meeting with E to obtain wage increase, may have been offensive to E, they were not so disruptive of E's right to maintain order as to render Ee unfit for further service; Ee's right to express his concern on wage increase issue was not lost because of his lack of deference to E, since his action was not so extreme as to fall outside Act's protection)

2017-1700 Activities tending to disrupt employer's or union's operations

G.T.A. Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Restaurant Horikawa 260 NLRB No. 029

(Ee who engaged in non-violent concerted activity of joining in with 30 other non-Ee demonstrators and boisterously marching through E's restaurant during crowded dinner hour not protected where such conduct was disruptive of E's business and transgressed boundaries by which even non-violent conduct protesting E's ULP's is deemed protected by Act; therefore, discharge not violative)

Mount Desert Island Hospital 259 NLRB No. 080

(letter to newspaper which set forth poor working conditions at hospital protected where intention was not to harass, disparage, or harm E)

United States Steel Corporation 253 NLRB No. 083

(Ee's refusal to report to office as directed by supervisor, unprotected, as it undermined E's right to maintain discipline and order)

Lutheran Social Service of Minnesota, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 018

(derogatory comments about E's management by Ees of center for disturbed and displaced youth and expression of differences regarding policies not protected, since aimless rather than concerted, and nature of Ees' concerns was not effect of policies on own working conditions but on quality of program and welfare of residents inasmuch as these are peculiarly management's concern; further, Ees' use of profanity in criticizing management in presence of residents and disrupting and demoralizing effect of their actions on other Ees, particularly in view of E's mission, rendered them unfit for further service)

Anco Insulations, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 081

(company's refusal to permit contractor's lawfully discharged Ee to work for another contractor at company's construction site not violative where Ee, individually, picketed entrance gate at construction site causing other Ees using such gate to stay off job; Ee picketed to protest his discharge not to protest safety conditions or other working conditions; since Ee sought something for himself only, his picketing was not concerted activity protected by Act)

The Learning Castle, Inc. JD-669-80

(discharge of 2 Ees who refused to perform driving part of their job assignments not violative as this was true reason, not fact that Ees had telephoned insurance agent and State agency asking questions concerning driving on job)

Excavation-Construction, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 660 F.2d 1015 (C.A. 4, Oct. 1981)

(discharging Ees for concertedly refusing to work specific job on Saturday because it did not pay time and half held not violative where Ees knew that E would pay only straight time and rule that Saturday work was voluntary but if Ee signed up for that day must work on any job assigned by E and penalty for not working was discharge. Claim that Ees were engaged in 1 day strike rejected, since Ees only refused to work that specific job that day and not other jobs which was equivalent to Ees seeking to work under terms prescribed by them which is not protected activity)

Giant Food Markets, Inc. and S. S. Kresge Company v. N.L.R.B. 633 F.2d 18 (C.A. 6, 1980)

(remand for evidence on effect of relocating, pursuant to TRO, area standards pickets from private property near store entrance to public area across parking lot at entrance to 2-store shopping center and to determine, (1) whether picketing at store entrance is protected, and (2) whether E's peaceful demand that pickets leave, violated 8(a)(1))

Can-Tex Industries, A Division of Harsco Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 683 F.2d 1183 (C.A. 8, July 1982)

(E did not violate Act when it discharged 13 Ees who shut off their extrusion machines and left work to protest their dissatisfaction with wages and holidays because Ees' action caused E to lose two days' production and Ees could have walked off job w/o shutting off machines as machines could run w/o supervision w/o damage; thus Ees did more than stop work-they interfered with company property and was usurpation of E's option of continuing production; thus Ees were engaged in unprotected activity)

2017-3300 Cessation of work for personal reasons

Henry J. Kaiser Company 259 NLRB No. 001

(while Ee's adverse criticism of his foreman for performing overtime work claimed by Ee was protected, manner in which Ee protested was not protected where E subsequently had no right to protest foreman's performance of overtime work by refusing to work for which he was discharged for cause)

Ontario Knife Company 247 NLRB No. 188

(Ee's walkout held protected concerted activity, even assuming that supervisor's off color remarks were proximate cause of Ee's personal decision to walk out, since supervisor's statements must be considered in context of entire conversation between Ee and supervisor regarding Ee's grievance, which was clearly protected concerted activity, and off color remarks perticularly emphasized that supervisor was unwilling to consider seriously Ee's complaint)

Bay Wood Industries, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 666 F.2d 1011 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1981)

(dismissal of Ee because he refused to operate saw unless guard was installed on saw to protect Ee's fingers not violative, since Ee's complaints and actions did not constitute concerted activities; Ee enlisted no other Ees in this dispute, nor did he file grievance nor did he attempt to represent any interests other than his own; Ee's complaint did not meet test for concerted activities enunciated in Aro, Inc. v. N.L.R.B., 596 F.2d 713 (1979))

2017-4000 No impact upon terms and conditions of employment

Good Samaritan Hospital & Health Center 265 NLRB No. 092

(discharge of two occupational therapists by coordinator of agency providing developmental therapy for learning disabled children, because therapists complained of coordinator's mismanagement of program and inappropriate treatment model to be used by agency held not violative, since therapists were in no way disturbed or troubled by any personal demands imposed on them by coordinator's policy decisions; welfare of children was therapists' concern; therapists criticisms and recommendations related to disputes outside objectives of mutual aid or protection provisions of NLRA)

Keyway, A Division of Phase Inc. 263 NLRB No. 172

(discharge of Ees who collectively walked out (for approximately 3 hours) from facility, engaged in prevention and treatment of alchoholism, drug abuse and domestic violence, in protest of discharge of past clinical director, criticizing new director, and expressing concern over quality of treatment of E's clients, not violative, since record contained no evidence that identity and capability of director involved had direct impact on Ees' own job interests; walk out not protected activity, since it did not encompass protest by Ees over actual terms and conditions of their employment)

Keyway, A Division of Phase Inc. 263 NLRB No. 172

(failure of nonE's supervisor to meet with Ees which played role in Ees walking off job, unprotected since such reason does not relate to Ees' terms and conditions of employment if only because supervisor employed by E who was not E of Ees)

Champion Parts Rebuilders, Inc., Northeast Division 260 NLRB No. 098

(Ee who filed grievance over alleged failure of E's vice-president to wear safety glasses in plant was not engaged in protected activity as E's conduct had no direct or reasonably foreseeable impact upon terms and conditions of employment of unit Ees; thus, E's remarks concerning Ee's grievance filing activity not violative)

2017-5000 Resort to prohibited means

Lutheran Social Service of Minnesota, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 018

(derogatory comments about E's management by Ees of center for disturbed and displaced youth and expression of differences regarding policies not protected, since aimless rather than concerted, and nature of Ees' concerns was not effect of policies on own working conditions but on quality of program and welfare of residents inasmuch as these are peculiarly management's concern; further, Ees' use of profanity in criticizing management in presence of residents and disrupting and demoralizing effect of their actions on other Ees, particularly in view of E's mission, rendered them unfit for further service)

Bechtel Incorporated 248 NLRB No. 158

(neither Ees' daily repetition of action contrary to supervisor's express instructions and to work rule they had admittedly received was protected where Ees resorted to self-help to impose their chosen terms rather than grieve their work rules dispute, nor was their refusal to sign resulting warning slips which refusal was in support of and inseparable from their prior insubordination)

Texas Instruments Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 637 F.2d 822 (C.A. 1, 1981)

(discharge of U adherents for violation of E's valid security rule not violative where: Ees published E's confidential wage survey report which Ees had obtained outside of normal course of employment (each page of report was stamped strictly private), Ee manual set forth E's rule against disclosure of confidential information; moreover, Ees' organizing activity not dependent on access to confidential information)

2017-6700 Activities prohibited by statute

Timothy Kasmoch and David G. Kasmoch d/b/a Warrendale Garage and Trucking JD-174-82

(it is not necessary that complaint by Ee to E regarding working conditions be found to be meritorious in order to hold that activity was protected; it is sufficient if complaint by Ee to E regarding working conditions was apparently reasonable, made for legitimate purposes, and was not fabricated for personal motives)

Gullett & Gould Ltd. JD-676-80

(requiring driver to drive tractor-trailer which exceeded state's legal length restrictions held concerted as well as protected activity)

2017-6900 Conduct violating valid provisions of contract

Pioneer Finishing Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 667 F.2d 199 (C.A. 1, Nov. 1981)

(contract which contained specific limitations on access of U officials to E's premises to performance of specific duties, not including distribution of literature, and established bulletin board for posting official notices does not waive Ees' rights to circulate literature dealing with employment conditions)

N.L.R.B. v. Maryland Shipbuilding and Drydock Company 683 F.2d 109 (C.A. 4, July 1982)

(Ee who stopped work for one-half hour to pursue grievance over work assignment which he believed violated safety provision of collective bargaining agreement was not engaged in protected activity where contract prohibited any work stoppage and established three step procedure for resolution of grievances; moreover, situation did not rise to level of abnormally dangerous which would protect stoppage in face of no-strike clause; thus suspension of Ee for work stoppage not violative)

2017-9100 Conduct in derogation of bargaining representation

Villa Care, Inc., d/b/a Edmonds Villa Care Center 249 NLRB No. 095

(Ees' demand for premium pay for working on short crew and strike in support thereof not unprotected where demand was not in derogation of U's status as bargaining representative and not a demand for unlawful unilateral change by E)

United Brick and Clay Workers of America Local No. 957, AFL-CIO (Ralco Sewing Industries) JD-290-80

(Ee labor organization's posting on bulletin board of notices seeking to continue its solicitation of Ees' grievances so as to continue negotiating with E over grievances which should have been processed through contractual grievance procedure held unprotected, since posting was in continued derogation of certified U which was Ees' lawful representative)

2033 BOARD HAS FUNCTION OF BALANCING CONFLICTING EMPLOYEE AND EMPLOYER INTERESTS

Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company 261 NLRB No. 002

(Bd required to balance U's need for relevant, but assertedly confidential, information against any legitimate and substantial confidentiality interests established by E)

Anchortank, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 618 F.2d 1153 (C.A. 5, 1980)

(E's property rights must yield to Ee's request for U representation when U has been certified or voluntarily recognized as bargaining agent; at interview U representative is better able to fulfill Weingarten functions than is another Ee)

N.L.R.B. v. Truck Drivers, Oil Drivers, Filling Station and Platform Workers Union, Local 705, Teamsters 630 F.2d 505 (C.A. 7, 1980)

(in denying enforcement of Bd's findings that E's dismissal of Ees was unlawful, ct stated that Bd had failed to consider E's legitimate business interest, or to balance Ee's right to ptn against E's right to performance of assigned duties in loyal manner)

F. W. Woolworth Co. v. N.L.R.B. 655 F.2d 151 (C.A. 8, 1981)

(ct affd Bd's findings that Ee's interrupting E's anti-U captive audience meeting with questions was not part of any plan to disrupt E's meeting and thus was concerted activity, and that discharging Ee for such interruptions was unlawful; Bd's balancing of Ee's right to engage in concerted activity against E's right to maintain order and respect held neither illogical nor arbitrary where Ee's conduct was not egregious or a challenge or threat to E's above-mentioned right)

Lone Star Steel Company v. N.L.R.B. 639 F.2d 545 (C.A. 10, 1980)

(successorship clause which restricted sale or disposition of operations only to Es who agreed to assume bargaining agreement not unlawful and was mandatory subject of bargaining; Bd fairly balanced rights of E and Ees)

2060 EMPLOYEES' MISTAKEN BELIEF AS TO VALIDITY OF GRIEVANCE IMMATERIAL

Keyway, A Division of Phase Inc. 263 NLRB No. 172

Artley Incorporated 260 NLRB No. 107

(U steward who asserted good faith claim for premium pay under contract provision did not forfeit protection of Act when claim turned out not to be covered by contract and discharge violative)

Maryland Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co. 256 NLRB No. 069

(E protesting what he considered to be violation of safety provisions of bargaining agreement regarding working in remote areas, protected, since efforts to obtain compliance with bargaining agreement protected even if Ee acting alone, it was reasonable to believe area in which Ee was assigned to work would be considered remote due to diminished presence of Ees during his shift, and further, effort to obtain compliance with agreement protected even if Ee's construction of agreement wrong)

2083 UNION ACTIVITY NEED NOT BE INVOLVED OR COLLECTIVE BARGAINING CONTEMPLATED

Cox Enterprises, Inc., d/b/a Atlanta Newspapers 264 NLRB No. 120

(discharging Ee for telling E about strike rumor violative notwithstanding she did not state that she supported rumored strike as Ee speech to supervisor or another Ee must be protected because it is often essential means of achieving group goals)

Interstate Security Services, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 002

(where interview was such that Ee could reasonably believe it result in disciplinary action against him, he has the right to request representation at that meeting, notwithstanding E is non-U facility; thus his refusal to participate in meeting is protected and his discharge for such refusal violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Southern California Edison Company 646 F.2d 1352 (C.A. 9, Jun 1981)

(activities for neutral aid or protection not limited to those w/i E-ee relationship or those aimed at changing conditions of employment; section 7 (of Act) protects Ees' concerted lobbying for changes in national policy regarding job security)

3000 REFUSAL TO CROSS PICKET LINE

3001 GENERALLY

3001-5000 Employer may replace non-striking employee refusing to cross line if business reasons so require

Browning-Ferris Industries, Chemical Services, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 009

(E's contention that he replaced drivers who had refused to cross picket line because he needed all his drivers two days hence rejected, since E could not demonstrate that replacements were ever needed where he had often scheduled assignments to accomodate drivers w/o adversely affecting business operations)

N.L.R.B. v. Southern California Edison Company 646 F.2d 1352 (C.A. 9, Jun 1981)

(when refusal to cross stranger picket line results in only partial work stoppage, E must demonstrate legitimate business reason for replacing Ee)

3033 AT PREMISES OF ANOTHER EMPLOYER

3033-0100 Generally

Browning-Ferris Industries, Chemical Services, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 009

(Ees' refusing to cross picket line at another E's plant protected regardless of whether it was motivated by sympathy for strikers or by fear)

3033-5000 Primary picket line

Erie Haven, Inc. JD-194-82

Padd, Inc. d/b/a Truckee Meadows Construction Co. JD-(SF)-308-81

(discharge of Ee who refused to cross picket line at another E's where he was to make delivery violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Southern California Edison Company 646 F.2d 1382 (C.A. 9, Jun 1981)

(section 7 (of Act) protects Ees who engage in sympathy strike in support of lawful primary strike by sister U of same E; respect for integrity of picket line may well be source of strength of whole collective bargaining process in which every U member has legitimate and protected economic interest)

3033-7500 Secondary picket line

N.L.R.B. v. Southern California Edison Company 646 F.2d 1382 (C.A. 9, Jun 1981)

(sympathy striker's refusal to cross stranger picket line does not violate general no-strike clause, since underlying dispute is between secondary E and its U; dispute is not subject to arbitration provisions of sympathetic striker's collective bargaining agreement)

3067 AT OWN EMPLOYER'S PREMISES

3067-1700 Primary line of another union at employee's place of work

Inland Steel Company 264 NLRB No. 015

(Ee's refusal to cross picket line of Ees represented by another local on strike against contractor performing work at his E's facility, protected, where picketing not violative of Section 8(b)(4) since complied with Moore Drydock criteria, and right to engage in sympathy strike not explicitly waived by broad no-strike clause or by U's or Ee's previous failure to assert that no-strike clause did not encompass sympathy strikes)

Joseph Charles Tafarella A.K.A. Steve Rossi, and Total Productions Concepts, Inc. JD-(SF)-212-81

(discharge of U musicians for refusing to cross picket line of another U at hotel at which they were working)

3067-5000 As result of sympathy strike

Inland Steel Company 264 NLRB No. 015

(It has long been established that sympathy strikers are accorded no greater protection than is available to primary strikers. Therefore, if a sympathy striker honors picket line which is illegal, whether or not he has knowledge of its illegality, he, like primary striker, is engaged in unprotected activity)

Inland Steel Company 264 NLRB No. 015

(Ee's refusal to cross picket line of Ees represented by another local on strike against contractor performing work at his E's facility, protected, where picketing not violative of Section 8(b)(4) since complied with Moore Drydock criteria, and right to engage in sympathy strike not explicitly waived by broad no-strike clause or by U's or Ee's previous failure to assert that no-strike clause did not encompass sympathy strikes)

St. Regis Paper Company 253 NLRB No. 162

(suspension or discharge of sympathy strikers for refusing to cross picket line at own E's premises in violation of no-strike clause not unlawful, where overall bargaining history pointed decisively to conscious waiver of right to engage in sympathy strikes during contract period)

AMCAR Division, ACF Industries, Incorporated 247 NLRB No. 138

(U did not waive Ees' right to engage in sympathy strikes or to honor picket lines of other Us picketing at E's plant, where contract's no-strike provision did not expressly refer to such activity, and bargaining history shows U understood no-strike clause as not covering activity in question; while E adopted contrary position, U did not capitulate to E's interpretation but preserved its ability to contest E's position)

N.L.R.B. v. Gould, Inc., Switchgear Division 638 F.2d 159 (C.A. 10, 1980)

(Ees' right to honor own U's lawful picket line at their E's premises and directed at non-U contractor held protected where sympathy strike was spontaneous action of ees, was not directed or induced by U w/i 8(b)(4)(i) and where U made no threat to force E to c/d/b with non-U contractor w/i 8(b)(4)(ii))

4000 OBJECTIVE AS DETERMINANT OF PROTECTED STATUS OF ACTIVITY

4001 GENERALLY

Brookline Corporation d/b/a Hi Fi Buys 257 NLRB No. 166

(discharge of Ees engaged in lawful concerted activities violative where E's district manager, in response to Ees' asking if they were discharged, said they were acting too much like a U instead of saying no)

4001-5000 Racial discrimination

Pioneer Natural Gas Company v. N.L.R.B. 662 F.2d 408 (C.A. 5, Nov. 1981)

(Ee's telling fellow Ee to go to supervisor about another coworker's racially discriminatory remarks against fellow Ee, not concerted protected activity where first Ee never suggested it was a collective effort)

4033 OBJECTIVES WARRANTING PROTECTION OF ACTIVITY

Union Independiente De Empleados De Servicios Legales De Puerto Rico (Corporation de Servicios Legales De Puerto Rico, Inc.) 249 NLRB NO. 147

(U's contention that its picketing, threatening strike or work stoppage and related conduct were not aimed at removal of E's representative but solely at his resort to violence, and therefore U's actions constituted protected activity since his presence on job threatened Ee safety, rejected; in labor dispute Act allows Ees to engage in any concerted activity unless it falls, as herein, w/i proscription of 8(b)(1)(B) which is not conditioned upon perfect conduct by representative and places some limitation on Ees' right to strike)

4033-0300 Educating fellow employees regarding employment problems

Boston Mutual Life Insurance Company 259 NLRB No. 172

(U steward who gave advice to new insurance agents on company procedures engaged in protected activity notwithstanding E did not appreciate substance of advice given as steward was explaining agent's rights under contract)

Mathews Ready Mix, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 002

(U activist's statement to fellow Ee that he was not receiving same wage as comparable Ee and telling him to request raise held protected)

Fun Striders, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 087

(distribution of literature containing inflamatory political material protected where it also referred to many matters dealing with employment relationship)

Koch Supplies, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 160

(discharge of Ee who complained to management about superior terms of employment given to new Ee violative where Ee had discussed subject with other Ees, mentioned to E that its action was detrimental to Ee morale and was thus not aimed at solving personal problem but included welfare of others)

Special Machine and Engineering, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 077
(Ee's posting wage and classification scale of another E on union bulletin board at plant where employed held protected concerted activity since material was not, as contended, want-ad but, relevant to union business)

Edward Blankstein, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 623 F.2d 320 (C.A. 3, 1980)
(Ee who contacted other Ees to interest them in obtaining group hospitalization insurance was engaged in protected concerted activity as she was not acting solely for herself)

Timet, a Division of Titanium Metals Corporation of America v. N.L.R.B. 671 F.2d 973 (C.A. 6, Mar. 1982)
(drafting and circulating letter in which Ee offered to represent Ees to management to obtain cost-of-living adjustment held protected notwithstanding he was discharged before any Ee joined him as he was preparing for group activity)

4033-0800 Holding union or employee meeting

Church's Fried Chicken, Inc. JD-(SF)-301-79

4033-1100 Protesting lawful discharge

Brookline Corporation d/b/a Hi Fi Buys 257 NLRB No. 166
(Ees' concerted protest of another Ee's discharge and their seeking improved wages and hours held protected concerted activities w/i meaning of the Act)

Go-Lightly Footwear, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 008
(walk out by Ees in support of discharged Ee, plus picketing outside plant with placards referring to unkept promises by E, to scab labor, and to unfairness to minorities reasonably relates to matters protected by Act; and there was no requirement that Ees had to undertake less drastic forms of protest before walking off their jobs)

4033-1200 Criticizing or protesting actions of supervisor

Keyway, A Division of Phase Inc. 263 NLRB No. 172
(discharge of Ees who collectively walked out (for approximately 3 hours) from facility, engaged in prevention and treatment of alchobolism, drug abuse and domestic violence, in protest of discharge of past clinical director, criticizing new director, and expressing concern over quality of treatment of E's clients, not violative, since record contained no evidence that identity and capability of director involved had direct impact on Ees' own job interests; walk out not protected activity, since it did not encompass protest by Ees over actual terms and conditions of their employment)

Calvin D. Johnson Nursing Home 261 NLRB No. 044
(Ee complaints about their supervisor's treatment of them have consistently been held to constitute protected concerted activity)

Avalon-Carver Community Center 255 NLRB No. 141
(Ee who prepared grievance on behalf of other Ees criticizing performance of supervisor engaged in protected concerted activity and discharge violative)

Pacific Coast International Meat Co. 248 NLRB No. 183
(Ees complaining about supervisor's continual threats of discharge and favoritism in allocating work, protected)

Sheraton Puerto Rico Corp. d/b/a Puerto Rico Sheraton Hotel 248 NLRB No. 113
(discharge of Ees for drafting, mailing, and distributing letter which complained about manager's operation of hotel and which was signed by supervisors as well as other Ees and sent to E, violative since Ees' conduct constituted legitimate concerted activity w/i meaning of Sec. 7, and discharge of supervisory/managerial personnel for their participation was also violative because of natural tendency of these discharges to discourage Ees from exercising rights guaranteed them in Sec. 7)

Roadway Express, Inc. JD-(SF)-238-82
(U steward who met with supervisor for purpose of questioning supervisor's authority under U contract to conduct performance interview with Ee absent U representation held protected concerted activity, since this was not merely case of Ee pursuing rights which he believes were granted him by U contract but, rather, Ee in his official U capacity as steward asserting an interpretation of contract with ramifications extending beyond prospective grievant's problem)

United Parcel Service, Inc. JD-644-81
(Ee's aiding in writing and distributing U article criticizing E's management for goofing off, protected)

Mid-City Beverage Dist., Inc. JD-(SF)-253-81
(sending letter to high level management complaining about manner in which supervisor exercised his supervisory authority, protected)

Radiator Specialty JD-339-80 [illegible] Gypsum Company JD-442-80

N.L.R.B. v. Container Corporation of America 649 F.2d 1213 (C.A. 6, May 1981)
(in notice posted on plant bulletin board, U vice president's letter containing his perception of E's attitude toward grievance steps, though referring to management in derogatory manner, held protected, as U rhetoric that is abusive or insulting is protected)

Sullair P.T.O., Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 641 F.2d 500 (C.A. 7, Feb 19, 1981)
(discharging Ee for obscene language directed at management when he voiced concern about E's change in gasoline policy held not violative, as he had previously been warned about such behavior and complaint about gas policy was not even motivating factor in discharge)

4033-1300 Attempting to ask question at employer's antiunion meeting

N.L.R.B. v. Southern Plasma Corp. 626 F.2d 1287 (C.A. 5, 1980)
(discharge of Ee for conduct at E-Ee meeting violative as Ees were discussing employment terms with E)

4033-1500 Protesting layoffs

N.L.R.B. v. Greyhound Lines, Inc. 660 F.2d 354 (C.A. 8, Sep 1981)
(suspension of two Ees because they issued press release announcing intent of drivers to strictly obey speed limit over holiday weekend violative as Ees were engaged in protected activity where release related to ongoing labor dispute over 55 mph requirement, did not disparage E's reputation, and was not maliciously motivated)

4033-1700 Protesting employment practices based on racial and other minority group considerations

I. T. O. Corporation of Baltimore 255 NLRB No. 138
(Ee's participation in picketing aimed not at E but at rectification of racially discriminatory personnel practices in city's harbor held to constitute exercise of constitutionally protected freedom of expression and, particularly since Ee made common cause with other Ees in such action, to constitute protected concerted activity)

Honeywell, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 019
(Ee's criticism of E's promotion policy as being racially motivated constitutes protected concerted activity)

Frank Briscoe Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 637 F.2d 946 (C.A. 3, 1981)
(laid off Ees who filed charges with EEOC involved in protected concerted activity and refusal to reinstate while charges pending violative)

4033-1800 Protesting employment practices based on sex condiderations

Paul Stuart, Inc. JD-140-80

Blaw-Knox Foundry & Mill Machinery Inc., Wheeling Works Division v. N.L.R.B. 646 F.2d 113 (C.A. 4, Apr 1981)
(where supervisor allegedly sexually harrassed Ee's cousin, Ee's action of protesting to supervisor not concerted activity but merely action of individual Ee who was neither attempting to enforce collective bargaining agreement nor acting on behalf of a group)

N.L.R.B. v. Downslope Industries, Inc., and Greenbrier Industries, Inc. 676 F.2d 1114 (C.A. 6, Apr. 1982)
(freedom from sexual harassment is a working condition which Ees may organize to protect)

4033-1900 Enforcing a State Employment standard

John Rooney, David Hinman and Beverly Foster, d/b/a Rooney's At The Mart 247 NLRB No. 125

Peninsula Association for Retarded Children and Adults JD-(SF)-269-80
(filing of wage claims before state agency protected concerted activity even if individual acts on his own)

N.L.R.B. v. Bighorn Beverage 614 F.2d 1238 (C.A. 9) (1980)
(filing of safety C with state agency by Ee acting alone not protected concerted activity in absence of collective-bargaining agreement as there is no agreement to implement which would be source of Ee's claimed rights)

4033-2100 Soliciting fellow employees to sign union card

Paramount Mining Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 631 F.2d 346 (C.A. 4, Oct. 1980)
(U supporter's attempt to persuade fellow Ee to sign U card, not protected, where the attempt was accompanied with volgar threats and uninvited shaking or patting head of the fellow Ee)

4033-2200 Protesting unlawful discharge

Limestone Apparel Corp. 255 NLRB No. 101
(where Ees went out on strike because they were outraged at firing of two U adherents)

Crown Cork & Seal Company, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 004
(E's hostility to Ee (U advocate) was evidenced by E's adverse references to Ee's attitude which E had linked to Ee's protected efforts to obtain reinstatement of a discharged Ee)

4033-2400 Protesting working Sundays or holidays

Technicolor Graphic Services, Inc., South Dakota Operations 262 NLRB No. 153
(Ee committee members' signing letter alleging discriminatory treatment by E in curtailing Christmas party activities and in granting of time off on New Year's Eve, protected notwithstanding absence of showing that actual events supported allegations of discrimination)

Rose's Stores, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 076
(individual Ee's protesting E's assigning Sunday work to Ee and other Ees held to have been concerted activity, since Ee's protest concerned issue which earlier had been subject of group protest and Ee was acting on behalf of other Ees who shared Ee's concern)

4033-2500 Protesting change in bonus policy

Isla Verde Hotel Corporation d/b/a Hotel Holiday Inn De Isla Verde 259 NLRB No. 073
(strike and actions of Ees in striking held protected where strike occurred in protest against E's unlawful unilateral discontinuance of Christmas bonus and its refusal to bargain over such unilateral discontinuance)

David D. Sutherland, d/b/a Maaco Auto Painting and Body Work v. N.L.R.B. 646 F.2d 1273 (C.A. 8, Apr 1981)
(discharge of Ee for approaching E and expressing Ees' dissatisfaction with wages and bonus plan violation as Ee had spoken to other Ees and was attempting to obtain benefits for all Ees)

4033-2600 Protesting overtime

Smithfield Packing Co. 258 NLRB No. 022
(discharge of Ees who refused to work overtime more than the 8 hours E had predicted they would work violative as Ees were engaged in protected concerted activity as previous unannounced concerted refusal to work overtime prompted by dissatisfaction with E's overtime policies was presumptively concerted activity; moreover, their refusal to work does not lose its protected status because it took place during overtime hours and was not previously announced)

Illinois Bell Telephone Company 255 NLRB No. 063
(E who disciplined shop steward and U vice president for posting notices informing Ees of their right to seek U representation if E requested Ees to work mandatory overtime violated Act; U was not advocating Ees to refuse to work overtime which could be unprotected partial strike but rather was engaging in protected activity of urging Ees to seek help through U)

Westinghouse Electric Corporation JD-(ATL)-40-81
(U steward's refusal to work overtime in order to attend U meeting concerted activity notwithstanding Ee acted alone where E had contractual obligation to honor steward's request to leave job for U business)

Chipmore Manufacturing Co., Inc. JD-432-80
(strike protesting making overtime mandatory where it had previously been optional, protected)

Malibu Grand Prix Corp. JD-(SF)-90-80
(concerted refusal to work overtime presumptively protected where there was no bargaining relationship, only inchoate relationship with U which did not provide structured procedures for conflict resolution)

N.L.R.B. v. Adams Delivery Service, Inc. 623 F.2d 96 (C.A. 9, July 1980)
(discharge of Ee for protesting lack of contractually-guaranteed overtime pay to U representative, violative, as consultation with U representative to resolve employment dispute is more than mere griping and is not w/i category of obtaining objectives only for himself)

4033-2800 Protesting deprivation of overtime

Henry J. Kaiser Company 259 NLRB No. 001
(Ee's complaints about not being given adequate overtime work held not only protected but also concerted activity where there were number of Ees who were disturbed about distribution of overtime to U members rather than to members of other locals (travelers); Ee's complaint was merely extension of same kind of complaint that other travelers had made, and his complaint may have tended to redound to benefit of all travelers)

Lane Trenching, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 183
(threat to discharge Ee if he continued to make contractual overtime claims held violative, since Ee has statutorily protected right to seek to enforce contract)

4033-3000 Seeking assistance of Union representative or co-worker at investigatory interview

Tokheim Corporation 263 NLRB No. 210
(fact that Ees are not represented by U at time of discharge interview would not, of itself, detract from Ee's right to representation at interview)

Tokheim Corporation 263 NLRB No. 210
(denying Ee any representation at discharge meeting when Ee asked for witness, not unlawful, where sole purpose of meeting was to inform Ee of her discharge and discussion which ensued after Ee was informed of discharge was insufficient to convert meeting into interview requiring Weingarten protections regardless of whether Ee merely requested witness as distinguished from a representative)

A & T Manufacturing Company 265 NLRB No. 201
(refusal to permit former U steward to accompany Ee to interview which resulted in Ee being interviewed about decline in his production violative of Section 8(a)(1) since Ee denied opportunity to have fellow Ee present during course of interview which could reasonably lead to discipline and in view of continued interview of Ee after request, notwithstanding Ees of E were unrepresented; however, no violation of Section 8(a)(5) since E had lawfully withdrawn recognition from U)

Bridgeport Hospital 265 NLRB No. 054
(E lawfully issued warning notices to security guards solely for walking out of meeting on instructions of U representative because E denied Ees request to have steward present at meeting to discuss vandalism on E's property and suspicions that guard themselves might be involved in such incidents; though walkout was concerted, Ees had been assured meeting was not disciplinary investigation, and thus, walkout not protected because not done to protest term or condition of employment)

Northwest Engineering Company 265 NLRB No. 026
(E did not violate Act when it denied request of Ee to have U representative present during lunchroom meeting of group of Ees, purpose of which was to review work rules; Weingarten rights do not attach when purpose of meeting is not investigatory and here no questions were asked and no discipline meted out; and fact that meeting may have been prompted by Ee misconduct does not establish that it was investigatory or disciplinary. Weingarten not concerned with punishments for future offenses but relates to past conduct for which Ees fear current sanctions)

Northwest Engineering Company 265 NLRB No. 026
(suspension of Ee for insubordination by using vulgarity to supervisor at meeting called by Ee to discuss work rules not violative where E did not violate Act by having Ees attend meeting as this was not type of meeting to which Weingarten rights attach, notwithstanding insurbordinate Ee had been singled out as one guilty of rule infractions because no discipline was intended for this conduct and thus presence of U representative unnecessary)

Consolidated Freightways Corporation of Delaware 264 NLRB No. 076
(Weingarten rights are not hinged on Ee's personality; nor may steward, regardless of his knowledge of labor law and participation in grievance procedure, be compelled to forgo Sec. 7's guarantee of right to mutual aid of other Ees)

Bodolay Packaging Machinery, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 038
(E violated Act where it denied Ee's request for representation at an interview which Ee believed would lead to discipline, compelled Ee to attend interview w/o representation, and issued oral written warning as result of interview)

L. A. Water Treatment, Division of Chromalloy American Corporation 263 NLRB No. 022
(Ee's request for presence of former U steward at disciplinary interview, held protected where no other U representative or steward was available at time of interview, E made no attempt to locate steward and did not offer to delay interview until steward could be located, contract did not require presence of U representative at interviews, and E and U had reached no oral understanding establishing procedure for representation at interviews)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 263 NLRB No. 015
(denial of Ee's request for witness at meeting with supervisor and with E's industrial relations counsel, unlawful, where Ee had reason to believe meetings would involve discipline, and notwithstanding no U was in picture representing Ees)

Interstate Security Services, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 002
(where interview was such that Ee could reasonably believe it result in disciplinary action against him, he has the right to request representation at that meeting, notwithstanding E is non-U facility; thus his refusal to participate in meeting is protected and his discharge for such refusal violative)

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company 262 NLRB No. 127
(E violated Act when it refused to inform two Ees or their U representative of the nature of the matter which was being investigated and on which they were to have an interview with E; this follows Bd's finding in Climax Molybdenum Company 227 NLRB 1189, which held that Ees have Sec. 7 right to consult with their U representative before any interview to which

Weingarten rights attach and for consultation to be meaningful, Ees must be informed of nature of misconduct and a general statement as to the subject matter of the interview . . . will suffice)

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company 263 NLRB No. 127
(E violated Act when it refused to inform two Ees or their U representative of the nature of the matter which was being investigated and on which they were to have an interview with E; this follows Bd's finding in Climax Molybdenum Company 227 NLRB 1189, which held that Ees have Sec. 7 right to consult with their U representative before any interview to which Weingarten rights attach and for consultation to be meaningful, Ees must be informed of nature of misconduct and a general statement as to the subject matter of the interview . . . will suffice)

Materials Research Corporation 262 NLRB No. 122
(unrepresented Ees were entitled to right of representation by coworker at investigatory interview, as Weingarten right is derived from Sect. 7's protection of concerted action for mutual aid or protection and requires E to respect Ee's choice or forego interview)

Materials Research Corporation 262 NLRB No. 122
(interview is for investigatory purposes where E elicits information which provides further basis for any discipline meted out notwithstanding E may have already made up its mind to discipline Ee)

Salt River Valley Water Users' Association 262 NLRB No. 129
(E who denied Ee's request for U representative at disciplinary meeting and then discharged him for refusing to answer questions at interview violated Act because Ee was engaged in protected concerted activity when he refused to participate in interview (no interview held to have occurred) w/o presence of U representative and discharge was for this refusal not for underlying misconduct)

Gulf States 261 NLRB No. 119
(denial of U representative at meeting to inform Ee of previously made decision to discipline him, violative, where E's additional conduct at meeting of delving into Ee's justification for his actions and, in effect, sought further facts in support of its actions against Ee removed meeting from narrow holding of Baton Rouge Water Works Co., 246 NLRB 995, and, accordingly, a right to U representation attached)

ITT Lighting Fixtures, Division of ITT Corporation 261 NLRB No. 034
(under Weingarten, if Ee refuses interview (with E) w/o representative, E is free to proceed as it chooses as long as it does not base discipline on (Ee's) refusal)

ITT Lighting Fixtures, Division of ITT Corporation 261 NLRB No. 034
(meeting of supervisors and Ee held investigatory and not disciplinary where Ee was questioned about his conduct and suspension was announced at second meeting; assuming that only 1 meeting was held and E made up its mind beforehand to discipline Ee, questioning Ee for some 10 to 15 minutes about his conduct went beyond limits prescribed by Bd for disciplinary interview in seeking facts or evidence to support disciplinary action; therefore, Ee requesting representation during meeting, which was denied, was exercising his Weingarten rights under Sec. 7)

St. Francis Hotel 260 NLRB No. 174
(where E and U had entered into settlement agreement guaranteeing Ees Weingarten rights, E did not engage in post settlement violation when it issued memorandum to supervisors which set forth their obligation under settlement agreement to include giving Ee opportunity to have U representative present at disciplinary meeting, setting forth role of shopsteward as observer, assisting Ee to answer questions but who was not allowed to speak for Ee; although memorandum is ambiguous it was never communicated to Ees, no Ees were aware of its existence there is no evidence that Ees could have been misled by memorandum to forego their Weingarten rights)

E. I. Du Pont De Nemours and Company 259 NLRB No. 161
(E violated Act when he refused Ees request to have U steward present at investigory interview, an interview he reasonably feared prospect of discipline)

Georgia Kraft Company, Woodcraft Division 258 NLRB No. 121
(Weingarten rights not available to Ee being reprimanded for tardiness where Ee waived such rights by saying I'm late again then said I know I'm wrong and waived his right to a witness (to reprimand) when supervisor offered it: Ee's disclosure was not result of any E questioning; furthermore E had made up its mind already to issue reprimand when Ee told to sign written reprimand)

Sun Petroleum Products Company, A Division of
Sun Oil Company of Pennsylvania 257 NLRB No. 048
(indefinite suspension of Ee who refused to work overtime not violative notwithstanding Ee requested presence of witness at interview called to discuss his refusal and E refused, because although Weingarten rights would normally attach where as here the Ee did not know what the motive of interview was, in this instance no meeting took place and E conducted an independent investigation of Ee's case, making its decision based on results of that investigation which is its right under Weingarten)

Sun Petroleum Products Company, A Division of
Sun Oil Company of Pennsylvania 257 NLRB No. 048
(by going from plant floor to supervisor's office but not entering office for investigatory meeting, Ee did not lose his Weingarten rights)

United States Postal Service 256 NLRB No. 012
(denial of Ee's request for U representation at disciplinary interview, unlawful, where there was no waiver of U representation consonant with Bd standards for waiver of Ee's Weingarten rights; even if contract could be interpreted as waiving Ee's rights of U representation, it was not clear that waiver would apply herein since contract waiver was ambiguous; moreover, E had reasonable fear of discipline in view of prior similar situation, and E not only denied request but also failed to offer Ee option of continuing interview unaccompanied by U representative or having no interview at all)

Price Pfister, A Division of Norris Industries 256 NLRB No. 021
(E's refusal to allow Ee to have U representative present at meeting to inform her of suspension violative where although E had made decision to suspend Ee prior to meeting it began meeting with question creating investigatory meeting)

Crown Cork & Seal Company, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 004
(disciplinary interview held prior to other meetings with E violative, but later meetings which were confined to announcement and issuance of previously decided disciplinary actions only, not violative)

Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc. 254 NLRB No. 102
(E who held investigatory meeting with Ees and refused to allow them to have U representative present while he questioned them regarding stolen merchandise and cash violated Act; moreover, waiver Ees signed at beginning of interview, agreeing to be interviewed and acknowledging that they were free to leave at anytime does not constitute waiver of Weingarten rights where request for U representation made subsequent to signing)

Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc. 254 NLRB No. 102
(no violation despite investigatory nature of interview where Ee did not request presence of U representative at interview)

Appalachian Power Company, John E. Amos Plant 253 NLRB No. 135
(in Weingarten SCt endorsed Bd's view that Ee must request representation)

Appalachian Power Company, John E. Amos Plant 253 NLRB No. 135
(denial of Ee's request for presence of U steward at disciplinary interview with maintenance superintendent not violative where Ee's call to U steward prior to interview was not effective invocation of Ee's Weingarten rights, since maintenance superintendent was not privy to call to U steward; therefore, request not directed to official who is in position to grant or deny request)

Stewart-Warner Corporation 253 NLRB No. 016
(Weingarten rights do not attach to meeting between supervisor and Ee intended to clarify Ee's duties or to set forth plant safety rules with no disciplinary overtones)

Kahn's and Company, Division of Consolidated
Food Co. 253 NLRB No. 004
(denial of Ee's request for U [illegible]resentative during investigative interview in which he was discharged, [illegible]tive; discharge itself is not independent violation of 8(a)(1) where it is unrelated to exercise of Weingarten rights)

General Motors Corporation 251 NLRB No. 121
(E proceeding with interview after Ee requested U representation interfered with Ee's Weingarten rights; no voluntary waiver of these rights occurred where Ee was constrained to respond to E's inquiries)

Great Western Coca Cola Bottling Company, d/b/a Houston Coca Cola Bottling Company 251 NLRB No. 122
(no violation of Ee's right to have representative at interviews with E concerning Ee's suspension and then discharge for excessive tardiness where purpose of interviews was to announce and implement previously determined disciplinary action; E had decided respectively to suspend and to discharge Ee before meetings, on basis of facts which it had obtained w/o talking to Ee; see Baton Rouge Water Works 246 NLRB No. 161 (1979))

Roadway Express, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 138
(supervisor's refusing Ee's request for U representation during interview regarding Ee's suspension for violating E's rule concerning coffee breaks while driving truck held violative, since interview was disciplinary rather than investigative; disciplinary action had to be taken if violation of E's rule had in fact occurred)

Amoco Texas Refining Company 251 NLRB No. 202
(deferral to arbitrator's decision that Ee was obligated to obey supervisor's order to step aside for private conversation between themselves w/o U steward even though supervisor did not answer Ee's question of whether conversation would involve discipline since award not repugnant to Act)

Kraft Foods, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 006
(effectively depriving Ee, who was involved in forklift accident and fight with another Ee, of his right to U representation at investigatory interview which Ee reasonably believed might result in disciplinary action unless U representative was present, violative)

Texaco, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 063
(E who instructed U representative that he must remain silent during interview of Ee relating to his possible misconduct on job violated Act as Weingarten right to representation includes not only presence of representative but also active assistance where confrontation threatens Ee's job security)

Texaco, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 063
(E who required U representative to remain silent during meeting with Ee held solely for purpose of informing him of 3-day suspension did not violate Act as E is not statutorily obligated to furnish representation at such interview and thus fact that representative was required to remain silent irrelevant)

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company 251 NLRB No. 061
(E who insisted that U steward remain silent during investigatory interview violated Act as mere presence of steward while Ee was being interrogated about alleged theft of company property is insufficient to alter inbalance which SCt sought to allevaiate in its Weingarten decision)

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company 251 NLRB No. 061
(denying Ee presence of U steward at meeting between E and Ee not violative where sole purpose of meeting was to inform Ee of her discharge as Weingarten does not apply to meetings held for such purposes)

Illinois Bell Telephone Company 251 NLRB No. 128
(Ee entitled to have any Ee present with her at disciplinary meeting with E and E's refusal to allow anyone but Ee with official U status be present, violative)

Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph 251 NLRB No. 159
(refusal of Ee's request for U representative to be present at investigatory meeting made when Ee became aware that meeting might result in disciplinary action against her, and imposition of discipline for conduct which was subject of interview, violative)

Coyne Cylinder Company 251 NLRB No. 198
(E's interview of Ee violated Ee's Weingarten rights where, prior to interview, no final decision had been made whether to discharge Ee for smoking marijuana during his lunch breaks and E denied Ee's request made during interview to have U representative present during remainder of interview)

Coyne Cylinder Company 251 NLRB No. 198
(Weingarten rights do not extend to allowing Ee to produce witnesses on his behalf)

Coyne Cylinder Company 251 NLRB No. 198
(where other Ees were discharged for same offense charging party accused of, he had reasonable basis to believe discipline was in offing when called for interview)

Prudential Insurance Company of America 251 NLRB No. 213
(where E conducted investigatory interview with disciplinary overtones and denied Ee's request for U representative to be present and failed to offer Ee options of continuing interview w/o U representative or discontinuing interview, it violated Act; no management right to secure information from Ee absent requested U representatory interview with disciplinary overtones)

United Telephone Company of Florida 251 NLRB No. 101
(test for determining whether Ee reasonably believes interview might reasonably result in disciplinary action is measured by objective standards under all circumstances of the case rather than by Ees subjective motivations)

Airco Alloys, a Division of Airco, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 081
(Weingarten rights attach prior to decision on discipline)

First National Supermarkets, Inc. d/b/a Pick-N-Pay Supermarkets, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 162
(where Ee did not request U representation at disciplinary meeting no Weingarten violation exists; moreover, fact that discipline was justified is not determinative)

Gary Concrete Products, Inc. JD-(ATL)-65-82
(unsatisfactory Ees who were discharged prior to their request for witness were not deprived of Weingarten rights and E did not violate Act)

Continental Air Transport Co., Inc. JD-125-82

Service Spring Company A Division of Garlock, Inc. A Wholly-Owned Subsidiary of Colt Industries JD-123-82
(counseling was part of disciplinary procedure as results placed in personnel file and meeting was investigaroty in nature even if purpose is to rationalize E's decision to discipline; therefore, when Ee requested witness, request was denied, and meeting held Weingarten violation occurred because Weingarten rights are derived principally from Sec. 7 right of mutual aid and is not dependent on representational rights under Sec. 8(a)(5))

Brookwood Furniture, Division of U.S. Industries JD-(Atl)-4-82
(Ee's Weingarten rights not violated notwithstanding E denied Ee's request for U representative to be present at meeting where sole purpose of meeting was to inform Ee that note detailing problems with quality of his work was being placed in his personnel file)

U. S. Postal Service JD-(SF)-96-81
(refusing to permit Ee, upon request, to have U representative present during investigatory interview (with E) which Ee reasonably believed might result in disciplinary action and actually suspending Ee, violative)

Wolverine World Wide, Inc. JD-183-80
(discipline and ultimate discharge of Ee for her refusal to leave her work station w/o being accompanied by Ee representative to attend meeting with supervisor which she believed could result in imposition of discipline not violative for Ee has no protected right to refuse to go to office and can be lawfully disciplined for such refusal; See Roadway Express 246 NLRB No. 180 overruling Glomac Plastics 234 NLRB 1309)

Wolverine World Wide, Inc. JD-183-80
(Ee's rights were not violated where she was denial presence of Ee representative at interview with E as sole purpose was to inform her that decision had already been made to discharge her; See Baton Rouge 246 NLRB No. 161)

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company v. N.L.R.B. 667 F.2d 470 (C.A. 5, Feb. 1982)
(investigatory interview conducted with requested U representative not violative notwithstanding E told U representative not to answer any questions but to let Ee answer and Ee confessed to theft of E's property despite fact that U representative had instructed him prior to interview not to answer questions because E's conduct did not interfere with U representative's ability to clarify facts or bring additional facts to E's attention after Ee finished speaking)

Lennox Industries, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 637 F.2d 340 (C.A. 5, 1981)
(under Weingarten an Ee is entitled to U representative only when interview in question is investigatory i.e. when designed to elicit answers to work-related questions which might affect Ee or bargaining unit, and Ee reasonably fears that discipline might result from interview; thus where purpose of meeting is disciplinary rather than investigatory, i.e. where meeting designed simply to impose discipline, no U representative is required...., similarly where purpose of meeting is supervisory rather than investigatory i.e., designed to show Ee how to improve work performance, no right to U representative inheres)

(ct rejected language of other cts which suggested that it is only when disciplinary action is probable or seriously considered that right of representation arises, since purpose of interview may be to decide whether Ee should be disciplined, and also interview which E does not intend to result in discipline may result in discipline either then, or in building case culminating in discipline at later date; it is whenever risk of discipline reasonably inheres in investigatory interview that U representative is required, and not merely when discipline is probable or seriously considered)

Good Hope Refineries, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 620 F.2d 57 (C.A. 5, 1980)
(violation where personnel manager required Ee to participate in absence-counseling interview w/o U representation, since personnel manager had authority to approve absence and unapproved absence could result in discipline)

Anchortank, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 618 F.2d 1153 (C.A. 5, 1980)
(before R election is held, presence of U representative (at interview) does not have effect on other Ees essential to satisfaction of Interboro standard for concerted activity; thus Ee's actions in seeking presence of the representative at that time does not constitute concerted activity; but Ee's request for U representation by U which has won challenged election is protected concerted activity)

Anchortank, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 618 F.2d 1153 (C.A. 5, 1980)
(E's property rights must yield to Ee's request for U representation when U has been certified or voluntarily recognized as bargaining agent; at interview U representative is better able to fulfill Weingarten functions than is another Ee)

Anchortank, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 618 F.2d 1153 (C.A. 5, 1980)
(compelling Ee to attend investigatory interview, which Ee reasonably believed might result in disciplinary action, when his request for U R has been denied, held violative)

Anchortank, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 618 F.2d 1153 (C.A. 5, 1980)
(Weingarten protection applies to both investigatory and disciplinary interviews save only those conducted for exclusive purpose of notifying Ee of previously determined disciplinary action)

Anchortank, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 618 F.2d 1153 (C.A. 5, 1980)
(Section 7 does not grant Ee right to representation at interview conducted solely to inform Ee of, and acting upon, predetermined disciplinary decision)

N.L.R.B. v. Kahn's and Company, Division of Consolidated Food Company 694 F.2d 1070 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1982)
(Ee's request to have U steward present when he was interviewed concerning his overstaying his allotted time in restroom, held protected)

General Motors Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 674 F.2d 576 (C.A. 6, Apr. 1982)
(E's ignoring Ee's request for U representation at third investigatory interview with E (though no request was made at first two interviews) concerning report of Ee's presence at nearby bowling alley during working hours held violative and Bd's c/d order enforced, since Ee had right to U representation under SCt's decision in NLRB v. J. Weingarten, Inc., 420 U.S. 251 (1975) and once request made Ee has absolute right to U representative and such right is not waived by answering questions of E who ignores request)

Spartan Stores, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 628 F.2d 953 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(Bd finding that Ee was discharged for refusing to participate in interview he reasonably believed could result in disciplinary action w/o U representation reversed, since substantial evidence did not support Bd's application of Weingarten doctrine where Ee had no reasonable grounds to believe that interview might result in his discipline after E gave assurances that it would not, and concomitantly, Ee's action of getting steward himself, contrary to established policy that supervisor would summon steward upon Ee's request and orders of supervisors, does not imply possible disciplinary action)

Super Valu Xenia, a Division of Super Valu Stores, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 627 F.2d 13 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(ct held contrary to Bd that Ee during disciplinary interview waived any right to U representation when Ee decided to proceed with meeting w/o U stewards present)

N.L.R.B. v. Illinois Bell Telephone Company 674 F.2d 618 (C.A. 7, Mar. 1982)
(Ee found not to have waived her right to have U representative present at investigatory interview, where after being informed U steward that she requested was not on premises she was not informed that she might terminate interview or suspend it until U officer could be present)

N.L.R.B. v. Illinois Bell Telephone Company 674 F.2d 618 (C.A. 7, Mar. 1982)
(Ee who asked E at outset of investigatory interview, should I have someone in here with me, someone from the U found to have sufficiently direct request for U representation and E's denial violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Illinois Bell Telephone Company 674 F.2d 618 (C.A. 7, Mar. 1982)
(U representative Ee requests need not be U steward or officer)

Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 664 F.2d 1095 (C.A. 8, Nov. 1981)
(make whole relief, including back pay and reinstatement, improper where Ees were discharged for admittedly stealing goods from E and not for requesting U assistance at investigatory interview; Section 10(c) of Act, precludes back pay order and reinstatement under such circumstances)

N.L.R.B. v. Texaco, Inc. 639 F.2d 124 (C.A. 9, 1981)
(Ees possess right to have U representative present at investigatory interviews with their E where risk of discipline reasonably inheres; right to presence of U representative does not, however, extend to meeting which is held solely for purpose of informing Ee of disciplinary decision)

N.L.R.B. v. Texaco, Inc. 639 F.2d 124 (C.A. 9, 1981)
(E's refusal to permit representative to speak, and relegating him to role of passive observer, violative since E did not afford Ee representation to which he was entitled)

N.L.R.B. v. Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph 676 F.2d 499 (C.A. 11, May 1982)
(E who violated Act by refusing Ee's request for U representative at disciplinary meeting not required to expunge record of 2 week suspension which followed interview nor pay backpay, because, here, disciplinary action lawful as not result of any information obtained at interview but of information E had prior to interview and no animus exhibited against Ee for invoking Weingarten rights)

4033-3100 Protesting employer's racist tactics

New York University Medical Center 261 NLRB No. 118
(Ees' distribution of leaflets accusing E of using the security guards for fascist gestapo tactics to intimidate black and Spanish workers held protected concerted activity, since Ees did not know that statement was false nor was it published with reckless disregard for whether statement was false or not; while use of term fascist gestapo is not condoned, SCt has stated that the most repulsive speech enjoys immunity provided it falls short of a deliberate or reckless untruth)

4033-3300 Employee's advising other employees of right to file charges with Board

Hotel & Restaurant Employees and Bartenders Union Local 2 JD-(SF)-178-80
(Ee's advising other Ees of right to file charges with Bd against E held protected activity)

4033-3500 Seeking union membership or representation

Comet Fast Freight, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 040
(discharge of Ee for his refusal to drive truck he alleged was unsafe not violative as Ee was not engaged in concerted activity where he was only Ee who complained about truck's condition and testified that I was looking out for myself, not the other drivers; thus, while Ee's subjective lack of concern for his fellow Ees is not controlling, fact that other Ees did not share his concerns about truck shows he was acting alone)

Sealy Mattress Company of Michigan, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 011
(discharge of Ee for joining U violative notwithstanding he may not have been properly part of unit he sought to join since his efforts were protected activity against which E could not lawfully retaliate)

Burnup & Sims, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 142
(discharge of Ees assertedly because they failed to report to work held violative where E had given Ees permission to be absent from work to consult with Bd, EEOC, attorney and labor U concerning Ees' job security and other work problems notwithstanding work was interrupted; E's motive irrelevant as reason for discharge was for engaging in protected concerted activities)

Public Services Planning and Analysis Corporation, d/b/a Airport Connection JD-(SF)-310-79

4033-3900 Performance of union representative's duties

United States Postal Service 252 NLRB No. 083
(U representative seeking to honor Ee's request for U representation will be deemed protected activity)

N.L.R.B. v. Villa Avila, Palm Springs Sun Dial and Tom Sawyer Construction Co. 673 F.2d 281 (C.A. 9, Mar. 1982)
(Ees covered by bargaining agreements have rights that are protected under Section 7 of Act. These rights include right to be visited by U representatives at reasonable times and places to conduct legitimate U business. In balancing rights of persons in possession of property against statutory rights of Us to exercise Section 7 rights, Bd has broadly construed Section 7 and has given U representative benefit of presumption that required visits to job site are required for legitimate Section 7 purposes until contrary appears)

4033-4100 Demanding compliance with union contract

Vincent Brass & Aluminum Co. 264 NLRB No. 070
(E's superintendent threatening to layoff whole shift because of exercise of their contractual right to bid on jobs, unlawful)

John Geer Chevrolet Co., Inc., d/b/a Parkwood Chevrolet 262 NLRB No. 034
(Ee who protested unilateral change in layoff provisions of existing contract engaged in protected concerted activity)

General Motors Corporation, Assembly Division 261 NLRB No. 075
(discharge of Ee for leaving plant to consult physician when injured, after being denied permission by supervisor, unlawful, where contract provided that supervisor must grant request to visit physician under such circumstances; whether Ee had punched out before seeking permission, immaterial)

Western Marine Electronics, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 057

City Disposal Systems, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 073
(when Ee makes complaints concerning safety matters embodied in contract, he is acting not only in his own interest but is attempting to enforce contract in interest of all Ees covered by contract)

Maryland Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co. 256 NLRB No. 069
(E protesting what he considered to be violation of safety provisions of bargaining agreement regarding working in remote areas, protected, since efforts to obtain compliance with bargaining agreement protected even if Ee acting alone, it was reasonable to believe area in which Ee was assigned to work would be considered remote due to diminished presence of Ees during his shift, and further, effort to obtain compliance with agreement protected even if Ee's construction of agreement wrong)

OMC Stern Drive, A Division of Outboard Marine Corporation 253 NLRB No. 062
(Ees who pursue in good faith alleged mistaken interpretation of contract are engaged in protected activity and do not forfeit protection of Act)

McLean Trucking Company 252 NLRB No. 104
(discharge of Ee and subsequent conversion of discharge into suspension and written warning because he refused to drive tractor-trailer which he honestly and reasonably believed to be unsafe held unlawful, since refusal was right Ee was at liberty to exercise under contract even though at time of refusal he had not made any specific reference to contract)

Albertsons, Inc. 252 NLRB NO. 081
(discharge of Ee for insistence on break periods provided for in collective-bargaining agreement violative)

Clayton Construction Corporation 250 NLRB No. 121
(U steward's protests against E's assignment of work to another Ee as contrary to contract, protected)

Pay-Wood Industries, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 096

(although Ee acted alone, his Cs concerning job safety and refusal to operate allegedly unsafe machine, are concerted activities since Cs were grievances w/i framework of contract that affects rights of all Ees in unit)

Colonial Stores Incorporated 248 NLRB No. 142

(part-time Ee and her non-Ee husband's circulating ptn among Ees during non-working time stating that E was not complying with contract provision requiring it to maintain greatest possible number of full-time job and that, if U failed to make E adhere to agreement, Ees were not getting full representation, held protected concerted activity notwithstanding that Ee was trying to gain more hours of employment for herself; ptn involved matters of obvious concern to Ees and, moreover, other Ees signed the ptn)

Colonial Stores Incorporated 248 NLRB No. 143

(where Ee and her husband, a non-Ee, circulated ptn among Ees protesting E's alleged failure to abide by bargaining agreement and U's failure to enforce agreement, and subsequently the husband drove to E's parking lot with signs stating, E had no regard for its Ees' rights, Bd held Ee's displaying signs in her husband's car constituted protected concerted activity, since it was protest concerned with E's adherence to grievance settlement under terms of contract, a subject of potential concern to other Ees, and it was not undertaken for unlawful purpose or in unlawful manner)

Blaw-Knox Foundry & Mill Machinery 247 NLRB No. 36

(complaint of female Ee and co-worker concerning offensive touching of female's person by supervisor held concerted, protected protest against working conditions and effort to enforce contract)

Roadway Express, Inc. JD-(SF)-250-82

(U steward who met with supervisor for purpose of questioning supervisor's authority under U contract to conduct performance interview with Ee absent U representation held protected concerted activity, since this was not merely case of Ee pursuing rights which he believes were granted him by U contract but, rather, Ee in his official U capacity as steward asserting an interpretation of contract with ramifications extending beyond prospective grievant's problem)

Wayne & Co. Installers JD-(SF)-170-82

(Ee is engaged in protected concerted activities when he or she, either acting alone or in concert with fellow Ees, complains or inquires about contract violations)

Palau Corporation JD-(SF)-28-82

Westinghouse Electric Corporation JD-(ATL)-40-81

(U steward's refusal to work overtime in order to attend U meeting concerted activity notwithstanding Ee acted alone where E had contractual obligation to honor steward's request to leave job for U business)

Stearns-Roger, Inc. JD-10-81

(even if grievance is unmeritorious)

Huron Cement Division, National Gypsum Company JD-770-80

(suspension of Ee not unlawful, since for cause rather than for presenting grievance, where after being reprimanded for absenteeism Ee threatened to file grievance over supervisors doing unit work, repeatedly called supervisor approbrious term in abusive and hostile fashion in front of other Ees and refusing direct order to leave premises thereby losing protection of Section 7)

Evans Plumbing Company JD-(ATL)-15-80

(Ees' questioning E about his failure to send payments to U's vacation fund as required in contract, protected activity)

Redman Construction Company, Inc. JD-(SF)-105-80

(discharge of Ee who sought to implement contractual benefits regarding overtime pay violative irrespective of whether asserted claims are found meritorious)

N.L.R.B. v. Maryland Shipbuilding and Drydock Company 683 F.2d 109 (C.A. 4, July 1982)

(Ee who stopped work for one-half hour to pursue grievance over work assignment which he believed violated safety provision of collective bargaining agreement was not engaged in protected activity where contract prohibited any work stoppage and established three step procedure for resolution of grievances; moreover, situation did not rise to level of abnormally dangerous which would protect stoppage in face of no-strike clause; thus suspension of Ee for work stoppage not violative)

McLean Trucking Company v. N.L.R.B. 689 F.2d 605 (C.A. 6, Sept. 1982)

(ct held substantial evidence supported Bd's finding that drivers were unlawfully disciplined for engaging in protected and concerted activity when they refused to drive tractor-trailor they believed to be unsafe pursuant to U instructions invoking provision of collective bargaining agreement; E's reliance on Jim Causley Pontiac, 675 F.2d 125 (6th Cir. 1982), unwarranted where ct held, inter alia, that E knew that drivers made their complaints pursuant to U activity; ct also reaffirmed its rejection of Interboro doctrine)

N.L.R.B. v. Clayton Construction Corporation 652 F.2d 6 (C.A. 8, June 1981)

(U steward's assertion that E's assignment of work to certain Ees was in violation of its agreement with U protected, even if assertion is ultimately found incorrect)

Albertson's, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 661 F.2d 939(T) (C.A. 9, Sep. 1981)

(discharge of Ee allegedly for engaging in protected activity of seeking enforcement of contract as to break periods, not unlawful, where evidence showed that Ee would have been fired for incompetence despite any U activity, and there was substantial doubt that alleged U activity was in fact more than Ee's pursuance of her own complaint of discontent)

N.L.R.B. v. W. Carter Maxwell, dba Pioneer Concrete Co. 637 F.2d 698 (C.A. 9, 1981)

(discharge of Ee for attempting to enforce overtime provisions of collective-bargaining agreement violative)

4033-4200 Demanding contract wage

Western Marine Electronics, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 087

4033-4300 Enlisting union's assistance in appointment of steward

Moon Equipment Company 262 NLRB No. 076

(Ee's conduct in asking on behalf of all Ees, for better hospitalization and additional holiday held protected concerted activity)

Harper & Arterburn Co., Inc. 255 NLRB No. 106

(enlisting U's assistance in appointment of steward on job and talking about U on job, protected)

4033-4900 Obtaining wage increase

Moon Equipment Company 262 NLRB No. 076

(Ee's conduct in asking company official for wage increase for himself and fellow Ee held protected concerted activity, where company official's adverse testimony was discredited, and fellow Ee was found to have authorized Ee to speak on his behalf concerning wages)

Pettibone Corporation 255 NLRB No. 131

Jimmy Kilgore Trucking Company 254 NLRB No. 112

(Ees joining together and discussing wages and work, later presenting E with demand for commission rate increase, and expressing desire not to work following day because of unsafe conditions on job held protected concerted activity)

Timet, A Division of Titanium Metals Corporation of America 251 NLRB No. 157

(discharge of Ee who complained to supervisor about his raise and then circulated letter offering to represent Ees to management to obtain cost-of-living adjustment violative as Ee's action was intended to produce group activity and constituted concerted protected activity)

National Wax Company 251 NLRB No. 147

(Ee inquiring about merit pay increase for himself held not concerted activity where he was not acting on behalf of any other Ee and his endeavors, even if successful, would not directly relate to or advance likelihood of merit wage increases for any other Ee)

David D. Sutherland d/b/a Maaco Auto Painting and Body Work 249 NLRB No. 184

(discharge of Ee who acted as spokesman to express dissatisfaction to E about Ees' wages and working conditions, unlawful, where discharge was motivated by disturbance created by Ee in registering such dissatisfaction)

AAR Technical Service Center 249 NLRB No. 176

(letter written by disgruntled Ee who had been denied pay raise he thought he deserved not protected where it contained threats to sabotage E's product)

Charles H. McCauley Associates, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 067

(Ee demanding improvement of wages, pensions, and health benefits held concerted activity rather than effort to obtain objective only for self, since Ee's demands would inure to benefit of all Ees; moreover, Ee had spoken to several of his fellow Ees and apprised them of his intentions and they had not expressed disinterest in his taking action)

General Warehouse Corp. 247 NLRB No. 142

(assignment of more onerous and undesirable work to leader of Ee movement rejecting E's request for Ees' waiver of cost of living increase held violative)

Professional Ambulance Service of Middlesex JD-848-80

(discharging ambulance EMT attendant for attempting to induce other Ees to strike in support of demand for increased wages, violative, although Ee denied activity and believed that state's Abandonment Law prohibited strikes)

Royal Travel Corporation JD-306-80

N.L.R.B. v. American Spring Bed Manufacturing Co., d/b/a American Chain Link Fence Co. 670 F.2d 1236 (C.A. 1, Feb. 1982)
(Ee's discussion of his wages, because it touched off chain of discourse among his fellow Ees, protected activity)

Timet, a Division of Titanium Metals Corporation of America v. N.L.R.B. 671 F.2d 973 (C.A. 6, Mar. 1982)
(preparing for group activity by telling E that he intended to organize Ees to protest dissatisfaction with amount of salary increase and conveying this intention to some Ees held protected notwithstanding he was discharged before any Ees had opportunity to join him)

N.L.R.B. v. James R. McCaffrey and Edward A. Cook, d/b/a ABC Concrete Company 619 F.2d 620 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(Ee's going into E's office together to request increase in salaries and pay for overtime upheld as concerted protected activity; determination thereof need not be premised, as E claimed, on finding of prior requests or constant complaints by employees culminating in a labor dispute but may be activity taking place at same time demand is made)

David D. Sutherland, d/b/a Maaco Auto Painting and Body Work v. N.L.R.B. 646 F.2d 1273 (C.A. 8, Apr 1981)
(discharge of Ee for approaching E and expressing Ees' dissatisfaction with wages and bonus plan violation as Ee had spoken to other Ees and was attempting to obtain benefits for all Ees)

4033-5000 Protesting qualifications for benefit plans

Tyler Business Services, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 088
(E's statements that he believed E's failure to provide part-time Ees hospitalization benefits was unfair, protected; nor was statement rendered unprotected by his remarks to third party concerning personal lives of E's officials since remarks did not relate to E's product or operations nor constitute deliberate intent to impugne company)

4033-5100 Protesting pay shortages

Searle Auto Glass, Inc. d/b/a Best Glass Company 264 NLRB No. 169
(dishcarge of glazier unlawful, notwithstanding E's assertion that discharge was because of Ee's suspected activities in skimming operation and because he was engaged in glazing work in competition with E, since asserted reasons were found a sham herein and real reason was Ee's filing wage claim against E with state labor commission, in view of E's explanation to state labor department after Ee had filed for unemployment compensation that reason for discharge was Ee's filing of unjustifiable wage claim against E)

American Spring Bed Manufacturing Co., d/b/a American Chain Link Fence Co. 255 NLRB No. 098
(Ee's initiation of wage rate discussions with other Ees because he believed he had not received wages promised him, protected)

Robert Batchelor d/b/a Batchelor Electric Co., a sole proprietorship 254 NLRB No. 156
(discharge of electrician assertedly because of tardiness and failure to follow orders held violative where there was no evidence that Ee failed to follow orders, no other Ee had ever been discharged for similar record of tardiness and reason for discharge was Ee's not working in protest of E's refusal to pay Ee at prevailing wage rate on government projects; protest viewed as concerted activity objective which was matter of common interest and concern to all Ees)

Quality Broadcasting Corp. of San Juan d/b/a WQBS–AM Radio Station La Gran Cadena 254 NLRB No. 118
(Bd reaffirmed its previous D/O agreeing with ALJ that discharge of Ee was unlawful, notwithstanding E's assertion that reason for discharge was its dissatisfaction with Ee's work performance, where E's real motive for discharge was Ee's activities in connection with overtime pay claims; Bd held ALJ's method of analysis was sufficient to satisfy any of various causality tests that have been articulated as appropriate for this type of case)

J. N. Moser Trucking, Incorporated 249 NLRB No. 106
(Ee engaged in protected concerted activity when he pressed his claim for travel pay and refused to cooperate with E in its attempt to defend against claims made by Wage and Hour Division of U.S. Department of Labor)

A. J. Librero Disposal Cartage and Trucking, Inc. d/b/a A. J. Librero Disposal Service, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 118

Elliott Carpet Installations JD-(SF)-93-82
(discharge of Ee who constantly discussed with other Ees his dissatisfaction with travel allowance he was receiving under U contract for commuting to job, unlawful, notwithstanding caused disruption on job or fact Ee refused to contact U in order to settle matter, where E never talked with Ee before discharging him and Ee was trying to convince other Ees they too should be receiving more pay under contract)

Standard-Coosa-Thatcher Carpet Yarn Division, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 691 F.2d 1133 (C.A. 4, Sept. 20, 1982)
(threatening Ee with discharge for protesting shortages in paycheck violative as protest is clearly concerted activity; moreover, truth or falsity of Ee's views does not deprive such activity of its protection)

4033-5200 Refusing to work without pay

Red Ball Motor Freight, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 111
(Ee's comment, made in presence of coworkers, that another Ee should not start work until time set by E held concerted activity, since remark was attempt to induce fellow Ees not to perform work for which they would not be paid)

4033-5300 Protesting change in computing pay (piece rate, etc.)

Herman Brothers, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 121
(driver not deemed to have voluntarily quit pursuant to rule that would consider drivers as having quit where they failed to report their availability for work for three days, but rather discharged, since motivating factor in E's action was driver's circulating letter opposing provision in proposed bargaining contract which would substitute mileage for number of hours worked as basis for computing drivers' wages)

Meatxcorp (Formerly Seymour Packing Division of Seymour America, Inc.) 281 NLRB No. 047
(refusing to work at reduced piecework rates)

4033-5400 Protesting withdrawal of incentive wage increases

Enterprise Products, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 125
(discharge of Ee because of his remarks in ans to E's announcement of proposed production incentive of free tickets to athletic and other events rather than wage increase, violative where Ee responded that he would be hard pressed to improve production if increased production would be rewarded as proposed by E; Ee's remarks constituted protected activity and were not, as contended, threat to slow down production)

4033-5500 Protesting working conditons

Ebb Tide Processing, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 100
(female Ee's complaining about being confronted by drunken supervisor, whether amorous or not, found protected activity and concerted, since matter was important to all Ees and investigated by E's board because of concern about other female Ees)

American Freight System, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 018
(discharge of driver for refusing to drive truck which he reasonably believed to be unsafe because of good faith belief that truck's tires were unsafe held violative, since driver's reasonable concern about safety of tires constituted attempt to enforce contract provisions reguarding Ee rights not to be compelled to operate unsafe equipment; thus, his conduct amounted to protected concerted activity)

Barry S. Solof, M.D., A Professional Corporation, d/b/a The Victoria Medical Group and The West Jefferson Medical Group 264 NLRB No. 019
(discharge of Ees who refused to work until management heard their grievances concerning, inter alia lack of (medical) supervision of their paramedical responsibilities held violative, since such lack was matter plainly affecting Ees' terms and conditions of employment and their insistance that they be heard was protected activity)

Diversified Case Company, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 119
(Ees who walked off job to protest extreme cold in shop engaged in protected activity, notwithstanding they did not recite what conditions would have to be met prior to their return to work)

Serendippity-Un-Ltd and Tigerrr, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 100
(Ees' concerted walkout because of their perceived serious health and safety violations in plant, which was later confirmed by OSHA, and because of their perceived inadequate coverage of E's health insurance plan held concerted protected activity, especially since they had no bargaining representative, and notwithstanding reasonableness of Ees' perception, any lack of notification to E of intent to cease work or reasons therefor, and alternative methods of solving problems; nor was Ee action any less protected even though they were not in economic confrontation or because supervisor played prominent role in trigering walkout)

Farmland Soy Processing Company 263 NLRB No. 18
(discharging Ee for not immediately signing orientation form for new Ees concerning safety conditions and procedures and asking for more time to read form, violative as this incident was pretext in ivew of E's later statement to dischargee's co-worker in which E admitted he was looking for way to discharge Ee, E told Ee in discharge interview that he had been picking on E, and this referred to Ee's many complaints about safety)

Steak and Ale Restaurant, Sharonville 263 NLRB No. 014
(discharge of Ees who engaged in protected concerted activity of protesting E's tip policy, lack of bus boy assistance and changes in health case programs, violative)

Dupont Puerto Rico, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 128
(Ee's inquiry of warehouse manager with regard to denial of raise to fellow Ee because of his five absences and his inquiry as to E's personnel policy on sick leave, disability, and promotions, protected)

Wagner-Smith Company 262 NLRB No. 130
(discharge of 4 Ees for complaining about hazardous working conditions violative)

W. C. Electrical Co., Inc. 262 NLRB No. 066
(discharge of Ee for protesting discontinuance of E's practice of providing sick pay, violative since sick pay is term and condition of employment and Ee had obtained support of fellow Ees before speaking to E about sick leave policy; activity in protest of discontinued past practice involves matter of mutual concern to Ees and this common concern was not negated because it coincided with dischargee's individual sick pay concern)

Lafayette Steel Erector, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 160
(discharge of Ee who protested E's failure to provide Ees who worked high off ground with safety belts violated Act as Ee engaged in protected activity, notwithstanding Ee chose to protest by removing his shirt which was violation of E's rules)

Roadway Express, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 078
(E's placing of poster on bulletin board and distribution of newspaper from another subdivision of U protesting E's use of production cards at another facility of E held protected concerted activity, since Ees have no less interest in or concern about work rule that has been imposed than one that is being considered; in former situation Ees may legitimately protest use and application of rule and seek its rescission, and here E's actions were clearly designed to make his fellow Ees aware that such a legitimate protest might be appropriate)

Teresa Coal Company, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 047
(miners refusal to work after E's failure to comply with their request that road into mine be repaired so that mantrip could be used to ride into mine in view of miners' fear that scoop being used to carry them into mine was unsafe and their concern about delay in carrying out injured Ee, protected, whether or not conditions complained of were objectively unsafe, since concerned solely with concerted presentation of grievances, and right to cease work in support thereof and not with question cognizable under Section 502 of Act)

Fibracan Corp. 259 NLRB No. 014
(safety conditions in plant and quantity of production which has bearing on job evaluation)

Tamara Foods, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 100
(strike protesting unhealthy conditions not rendered unprotected by fact strike was in breach of plant rule and plant had been found not to violate OHSA regulations)

L & M Radiation, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 030
(layoff of Ees who had been very active in protesting about poor working conditions to management violative)

A.P.F. Electronics, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 068
(Ee contacting U representative regarding making and receiving phone calls on job, protected; fact that grievance may be groundless does not in any way affect protected right of Ee to bring it to attention of U representative)

True Drilling Company 257 NLRB No. 072
(intoxicated Ee with whom Ees refused to work on oil rig not abnormally hazardous condition w/i Section 502; nor were Ees justified in their refusal where only danger cited was that Ee might fall from board above platform onto Ees where Ee did not wear hard hat and would be strapped on board. Ees refusal and walkout held voluntary quit)

Trans Air Supply Company, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 023
(leadman's attempt to improve working conditions at request of fellow Ees which resulted in heated argument with plant superintendent over need for fans to be turned on to clear smoke and fumes from work area held protected, where he obeyed order to return to work area yet continued protest; E invited such protest by telling Ees to bring problems directly to him)

Maryland Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co. 256 NLRB No. 089
(E protesting what he considered to be violation of safety provisions of bargaining agreement regarding working in remote areas, protected, since efforts to obtain compliance with bargaining agreement protected even if Ee acting alone, it was reasonable to believe area in which Ee was assigned to work would be considered remote due to diminished presence of Ees during his shift, and further, effort to obtain compliance with agreement protected even if Ee's construction of agreement wrong)

Bronco Wine Company 256 NLRB No. 013
(disciplinary warning issued to Ees who complained about lack of parts and materials violative as complaints related to terms and conditions of employment)

Pettibone Corporation 255 NLRB No. 151
(Ees' discussion of working conditions, e.g. lack of air conditioning, poor lighting, empty boxes blocking passage ways and partially blocking fire exit, with supervisor after his announcement that they would have to do all inventory unlike previous year in which part of work was sent out, held protected)

Ogden & Moffett Company 254 NLRB No. 181
(laying drivers off because they and their fellow Ees made complaints to state agency regarding overloaded or defective trailers and also because they refused to operate trailers they considered overloaded or defective, violative)

Borman's, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 130
(asking Ees to remove, or turn inside out, T-shirts with Company name and words I's tired of bustin my ass, violative as purpose of shirts was to publicize grievance, did not interfere with order and discipline; it villified no company official and language used is not so obscence as to be objectionable)

Jimmy Kilgore Trucking Company 254 NLRB No. 112
(Ees joining together and discussing wages and work, later presenting E with demand for commission rate increase and expressing desire not to work following day because of unsafe conditions on job held protected concerted activity)

Oakwood Manor, Inc., d/b/a Danville Nursing Home 254 NLRB No. 106
(walkout by 5 aides in protest over assignment to fewer hours and accusations of vandalism of Ee's car held protected and discharge for walkout held violative; Ees did not lose protection by their failure to give 10 days notice required by 8(g) as no U called, instigated or promoted work stoppage)

Newport News Shipbuilding & Dry Dock Company 254 NLRB No. 043
(discharge of Ee after his election to U office and increased activity regarding safety conditions violative)

Quality Drywall Company, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 078
(work stoppage and Ee meeting were of concerted nature triggered by Ees' displeasure and complaints over deplorable conditions of portable toilets at work site, and were protected activities)

ITT Continental Baking Company American Bakeries Company, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 149
(protesting use of hot bun pans which made working conditions more onerous than usual, protected)

Universal City Studios, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 142
(talking to other Ees about working conditions held protected)

Consolidated Freightways 253 NLRB No. 137
(protesting operation of tractor under unsafe and dangerous conditions)

Jim Causley Pontiac, Division Jim Causley, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 101
(Ee who filed complaint with State Health Department engaged in protected concerted activity and E found to have knowledge of concerted nature of activity where E was aware State complaint form filled out with plural pronoun we where complaint form identified area of shop where discriminatee and other Ee worked, listed paint fumes as hazard and in past many Ees had complained to E about fumes and evidence that many Ees had discussed poor ventilation system, complaining to management)

Service Machine & Shipbuilding Corp. 253 NLRB No. 088
(simultaneous, spontaneous refusal of four welders to work in the rain held concerted protected activity, where one of them expressed fear of illness as result thereof; moreover, testimony showed that they felt danger of electrical shock so apparent that comment on it to supervisors was unnecessary)

Deister Concentrator Company, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 040
(Ees protest to E about working along side Ee with suspected health problem protected activity)

McLean Trucking Company 252 NLRB No. 104
(discharge of Ee and subsequent conversion of discharge into suspension and written warning because he refused to drive tractor-trailer which he honestly and reasonably believed to be unsafe held unlawful, since refusal was right Ee was at liberty to exercise under contract even though at time of refusal he had not made any specific reference to contract)

Irvin H. Whitehouse & Sons Company 252 NLRB No. 140
(discharge of Ees who refused to work because of safety hazards violative where contract did not contain no-strike provision)

E. R. Carpenter Co. 252 NLRB No. 096
(discharging Ees for refusing to work in toxic atmosphere in deteriorating moon suits, violative where Ees were concerned not only about unsanitary nature of the suits, but also about holes in suits and possibility that toxic fumes were passing through the holes; Ees had good-faith belief that their working conditions were dangerous and this alone rendered their refusal to work protected)

Hawthorne Mazda, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 038
(Ee held engaged in protected concerted activity where he had been instrumental in securing fellow Ees' support in form of pts for confronting E's management with their concerns regarding, pay, scheduling, and lack of a changing room; in securing meeting at which concerns could be addressed; and in presenting concerns to management in a way that conveyed their group nature, with Ee acting as spokesman for Ees in communicating with management which knew he was acting in that capacity)

Pay-Wood Industries, Inc. 269 NLRB No. 056
(although Ee acted alone, his Cs concerning job safety and refusal to operate allegedly unsafe machine, are concerted activities since Cs were grievances w/i framework of contract that affects rights of all Ees in unit)

Anco Insulations, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 081
(threat by contractor to discharge Ee because he had registered complaint over safety of insulating work being done on furnace installation by another contractor at construction project held violative since such complaint constituted protected concerted activity)

Bucyrus-Erie Company 247 NLRB No. 069
(discharge of probationary Ee violative where E asserted reason for discharge was crack in weld Ee had completed but no other Ee had ever been discharged for that reason and true motive for discharge was Ee's protesting unsafe working conditions, a protected concerted activity)

Blaw-Knox Foundry & Mill Machinery 247 NLRB No. 36
(complaint of female Ee and co-worker concerning offensive touching of female's person by supervisor held concerted, protected protest against working conditions and effort to enforce contract)

Corbin-Dykes Electric Company JD-(SF)-208-82
(individual Ee's complaints involving safety deemed protected and concerted as long as complaints are based on reasonable belief that existing condition was dangerous, hazardous or unsafe, or that collective bargaining agreement had been violated; reasonableness of Ee's belief is based upon circumstances as they existed and not upon whether in fact there actually existed such danger or that E had actually violated agreement)

Ground Round Restaurant, A Division of Howard Johnson JD-(SF)-191-82
(Ees of restaurant who had, after conferring among themselves and expressing dissatisfaction with manager regarding new work schedule which resulted in reduced hours with possible loss of insurance benefits and with other working conditions, requested meeting with owner, were engaged in protected activity when they gathered in bar area before end of shift to await arrival of owner, since no customers in bar, service not disrupted, Ees had completed duties, and there was no violence)

Francrete Corporation JD-(NY)-87-82
(discharge of Ee for filing too many reports concerning unsafe vehicles violative as such conduct is protected concerted activity where other drivers had voiced similar concerns)

Timothy Kasmach and David G. Kasmach d/b/a Warrendale Garage and Trucking JD-174-82
(it is not necessary that complaint by Ee to E regarding working conditions be found to be meritorious in order to hold that activity was protected; it is sufficient if complaint by Ee to E regarding working conditions was apparently reasonable, made for legitimate purposes, and was not fabricated for personal motives)

Timothy Kasmach and David G. Kasmach d/b/a Warrendale Garage and Trucking JD-174-82
(discharge of truck driver because he refused to operate truck based on his belief that loaded truck would be overweight under laws of 2 states held violative, since such refusal is protected concerted activity; discharge had effect, intended or not, of serving as warning to other drivers that they were in danger of losing their jobs if they refused to violate state laws by operating overweight vehicles)

High Energy Corporation JD-100-82
(discharge of Ees who walked off job to protest unsafe working conditions violative as Ees engaged in protected activity and protection is not lost because Ees did not give prior notice, moreover, it is immaterial whether Ees were correct about the unsafe conditions)

E. A. Fuller Bentleys, Inc. d/b/a Bentleys Lounge JD-698-81
(Ees ceasing work and requesting meeting with management to concertedly present complaints about harassment, protected, whether justified or not)

Johns-Manville, Private Carriage JD-(ATL)-89-81
(discharge not violative where Ee's protests concerning alleged unsafe conditions of front axle tires of truck, were not concerted activity since protests had no object to cause E to change its policies concerning criterion of safety for front tires which it had established but was solely for Ee's own benefit)

Brodart, Inc. JD-148-81
(supervisor who threatened to discharge Ees for complaining about hazardous working conditions, a protected activity violated Act notwithstanding he had no authority to implement threat as Ees may not have been aware that he lacked authority)

American Youth Soccer Organization JD-(SF)-29-81
(Ees' presentation of grievances protected where Ees acted concertedly, notwithstanding Ees did not follow procedure in Ee handbook where they presented grievances simultaneously rather than in two steps to individuals designated to receive grievances and also transmitted list of grievances to E's board of directors although manual had no provision for grievances to go to board, since under Section 7 Ees have right to file grievances where they will do most good w/o fear of reprisal)

Perry Cap & Set Screw Company JD-671-80
(suspension of U committeeman allegedly for walking off job because management failed to meet with him and other Ees, violative, where Ee tried to arrange meeting between Ees and management about working conditions and he had informed his supervisors of medical appointment and would not work that day of meeting)

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company JD-(SF)-322-80
(U steward's activity in seeking action from supervisor regarding matters of common concern to maintenance Ees (private telephones, private break facilities, taxi service for female Ees who worked late comparable to that afforded E's female office Ees) held protected)

Alaga Whitfield Foods, Inc. JD-504-80
(discharge of Ee truckdrivers who refused to work because of violence occurring on highway in independent trucker's protest violative, as Ees' activity protected because of safety concerns)

Batavia Nursing Convalescent Inn, Inc. JD-23-80
(soliciting Ees to take their complaints to individual whom Ee considered to be boss of facility though he had no official connection with E at that time rather than through regular channels held to have been concerted activity where Ees' complaints and dissatisfaction were directed to employment conditions of concern to other Ees and protected because boss's conduct was such that even though he had officially severed his connection with E he was held agent of E)

Public Services Planning and Analysis Corporation, d/b/a Airport Connection JD-(SF)-310-79
(presenting informal complaints to E relating to wages, hours, and other terms and conditions of employment)

Emblematic Jewellry Products of U.S.A., Inc. JD-814-79
(work stoppage to protest cancellation of coffee breaks)

Pioneer Finishing Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 667 F.2d 199 (C.A. 1, Nov. 1981)
(Ee who distributed leaflet protesting safety conditions in plant engaged in protected concerted activity)

N.L.R.B. v. Charles H. McCauley Associates, Inc. 657 F.2d 685 (C.A. 5, 1981)
(Ee's discussion at meeting with E's officers and supervisors concerning lifetime employment contract for himself and improvement for all Ees in areas of health benefits, pension rights, wage increases, bonuses, and layoff policy, and expression of intent to discuss such problems with other Ees held protected concerted activity, where prior to meeting Ee had discussed working conditions with other Ees, and he advanced complaints at meeting on behalf of all Ees, although w/o their express support; and his complaints were not personal but a clear predicate for group activity)

Brown & Root, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 634 F.2d 816 (C.A. 5, 1980)
(Ees ceasing work and seeking shelter to avoid unsafe conditions where rain was blowing on electrical equipment with which they were working, protected)

McLean Trucking Company v. N.L.R.B. 689 F.2d 605 (C.A. 6, Sept. 1982)
(ct held substantial evidence supported Bd's finding that drivers were unlawfully disciplined for engaging in protected and concerted activity when they refused to drive tractor-trailor they believed to be unsafe pursuant to U instructions invoking provision of collective bargaining agreement; E's reliance on Jim Causley Pontiac, 675 F.2d 125 (6th Cir. 1982), unwarranted where ct held, inter alia, that E knew that drivers made their complaints pursuant to U activity; ct also reaffirmed its rejection of Interboro doctrine)

N.L.R.B. v. Downslope Industries, Inc., and Greenbriar Industries, Inc. 676 F.2d 1114 (C.A. 6, Apr. 1982)

Jim Causley Pontiac, Division Jim Causley, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 675 F.2d 125 (C.A. 6, Apr. 1982)
(although affirming finding that discharged Ee's filing of MIOSHA complaint was protected concerted activity, ct for second time remanded case to Bd to determine whether E had actual knowledge of concertedness of Ee's actions where Bd on previous remand had relied on evidence already submitted and applied wrong standard in holding that it was sufficient if E knew or should have known that Ee's actions were concerted)

N.L.R.B. v. Lloyd A. Fry Roofing Company, Inc. of Delaware 651 F.2d 442 (C.A. 6, June 1981)
(Ee's articulating at meetings between drivers and E complaints about condition of trucks and comparing them unfavorably with E's prior equipment held protected)

Bowman's, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 676 F.2d 1138 (C.A. 6, May 1982)

Great Lakes Steel, Division of National Steel Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 625 F.2d 131 (C.A. 6, July 1980)

(ct upheld Bd finding that Ee's possession of pamphlet critical of E's ambulance policy with intent to distribute among other Ees was protected activity and subsequent discharge for such Ee activity violative as supported by substantial evidence on record)

Vic Tanny International, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 622 F.2d 237 (C.A. 6, 1980)

(Ees jointly participating in walkout to present job related grievances to E held engaged in protected concerted activity regardless of whether or not Ees are members of U; E, having same options available to him as to E faced with economic strike by U Ees, entitling him to pay Ees who left work, or to replace Ees with other workers, is prohibited from discharging, or threatening to discharge, unorganized Ees involved herein because they engaged in protected concerted activity)

Vic Tanny International, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 622 F.2d 237 (C.A. 6, 1980)

(unorganized Ees who jointly participate in walkout to present job related grievances to E are engaged in protected concerted activity regardless of whether or not they are U members; no distinction exists in Act or its remedies between organized and unorganized Ees who act in concert to deal with their grievances)

Jim Causley Pontiac, Division Jim Causley, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 620 F.2d 122 (C.A. 6, 1980)

(ct agreed with Bd that Ee's complaints to E and MIOSHA of excessive paint fumes and danger of their proximity to gas heater pilot lights were protected concerted activity, where complainant got the other affected Ee's permission to use his name and referred to him in complaint, however, ct remanded case to Bd for finding on issue, not addressed by Bd, as to whether E knew of other Ee's involvement and that activity in question was concerted)

Irvin H. Whitehouse & Sons Co. v. N.L.R.B. 659 F.2d 830 (C.A. 7, Sept. 1981)

(where safety issue is one that must be submitted to binding arbitration, obligation not to strike over matter is considered to be coterminus and any stoppage violates implied no-strike clause unless safety hazzard suddenly arose and presented immediate threat; i.e., Washington Aluminum situation)

Carlson Roofing Co., Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 627 F.2d 77 (C.A. 7, 1980)

(in discussion with E Ees voicing their opposition in orderly fashion to E's interpretation of contract provision that Ees had to work alone on jobs and no Ee flatly refused to work alone, held protected concerted activity)

N.L.R.B. v. Tamara Foods, Inc. 692 F.2d 1171 (C.A. 8, Nov. 1982)

(Bd did not err in concluding that walkout because of ammonia fumes in workplace was concerted protected activity, in view of facts strikingly similar to those in Washington Aluminum case, particularly where Ees were not represented by U and had no collective bargaining agreement; contention that Bd should have determined whether walkout was protected by objective standard of danger and whether Ees had an alternative and that Bd should have balanced Ees' rights against E's superior rights against E's superior rights, rejected)

N.L.R.B. v. Bighorn Beverage 614 F.2d 1238 (C.A. 9) (1980)

(filing of safety C with state agency by Ee acting alone not protected concerted activity in absence of collective-bargaining agreement as there is no agreement to implement which would be source of Ee's claimed rights)

Lee G. Kohls v. N.L.R.B. 629 F.2d 173 (C.A.D.C., 1980)

(discharge of Ee for refusing to drive assigned truck because breaks were not good enough for me, not unlawful, since protest and refusal not concerted and Interboro Contractors doctrine not applied, notwithstanding contention was Ee was asserting contractual right where Ee was not asserting right on behalf of anyone other than himself nor speaking for others, no evidence Ee and U working in concert to assert contract, and fact Ee withdrew grievance filed on his behalf by U)

4033-5800 Protesting work quotas

Fibracan Corp. 259 NLRB No. 014

(safety conditions in plant and quantity of production which has bearing on job evaluation)

4033-6000 Protesting performance of employee's work by other employees

Interior Alterations, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 093

(Ees' protesting assignment of contractual unit work to nonunit Ees and seeking to implement terms of contract, protected)

4033-6100 Protesting racial harassment by outsiders

J. W. Microelectronics Corporation 259 NLRB No. 089

(work stoppage to protest community members' racially motivated verbal and physical harassment of Ees as they left work held protected concerted activity where, notwithstanding harassment did not occur on job, Ees' problem existed only because of their attendance at work and harassment was not beyond E's control, since he was tenant of property on which harassment occurred)

4033-6200 Protesting employer's unauthorized use of union label

Exhibition, Inc. JD-543-81

4033-6400 Protesting financial management of trust fund or benefit plan

Pacemaker Yacht Co., A Division of Mission Marine, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 095

(discharge and failure to reinstate Ees who struck E, contrary to contractual no-strike clause, to protest failure of U's health and welfare fund to fulfill its contractual medical insurance obligations held violative, since no-strike pledge relied upon by E did not constitute clear and unequivocal waiver of Ees' right to strike against actions of third party (Fund) which affected terms and conditions of employment)

4033-6500 Protesting promotion policy

N.L.R.B. v. Ford Motor Company 683 F.2d 156 (C.A. 6, July 1982)

4033-6600 Protesting removal of supervisor

Keyway, A Division of Phase Inc. 263 NLRB No. 172

(discharge of Ees who collectively walked out (for approximately 3 hours) from facility, engaged in prevention and treatment of alchoholism, drug abuse and domestic violence, in protest of discharge of past clinical director, criticizing new director, and expressing concern over quality of treatment of E's clients, not violative, since record contained no evidence that identity and capability of director involved had direct impact on Ees' own job interests; walk out not protected activity, since it did not encompass protest by Ees over actual terms and conditions of their employment)

The American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees 263 NLRB No. 121

(for strike protesting discharge of supervisor to be protected it must be shown that identity of and capability of supervisor had direct impact on Ees job interests and that Ees were concern with job impact and not merely assisting supervisor inpersonal plight)

S. L. Industries Inc. and Extruded Products, Corp. 252 NLRB No. 151

(walkout by Ees to protest discharge of low level supervisor who was sympathetic to Ee problems held to have been protected activity, since identity and capability of supervisor involved had direct impact on Ees' own job interests)

Emblematic Jewellry Products of U.S.A., Inc. JD-614-79

(discharge of supervisor)

Puerto Rico Food Products Corp., et al. v. N.L.R.B. 619 F.2d 153 (C.A. 1, 1980)

(Ees' strike over discharge of supervisor not protected activity where protest was not over actual conditions of employment of Ees; none of Ees who protested gave slightest indication that discharged supervisor's assistance to their unionization efforts motivated their protest)

4033-7600 Seeking removal of supervisor

Allied Industrial Workers of America, AFL-CIO, Region 8 265 NLRB No. 077

(filing of internal charges with E, a U, to cause impeachment of its regional director not protected, since Ee activities to cause changes in management personnel are not protected)

Sheraton Puerto Rico Corp. d/b/a Puerto Rico Sheraton Hotel 248 NLRB No. 113

(discharge of Ees for drafting, mailing, and distributing letter which complained about manager's operation of hotel and which was signed by supervisors as well as other Ees and sent to E, violative since Ees' conduct constituted legitimate concerted activity w/i meaning of Sec. 7, and discharge of supervisory/managerial personnel for their participation was also violative because of natural tendency of these discharges to discourage Ees from excercising rights guaranteed them in Sec. 7)

N.L.R.B. v. Sheraton Puerto Rico Corp., d/b/a Puerto Rico Sheraton Hotel 651 F.2d 49 (C.A. 1, June 1981)

(enforcement denied of Bd order in case involving discharge of supervisors and some Ees for writing letter to E's president criticizing general manager and requesting his removal from that position where there was not substantial evidence in record that such managerial protest concerned actual conditions of non-supervisory employment; ct noted that enforcement might have been granted if non-supervisory Ees had written letter, participated signifi-

Medical Center News, Inc. d/b/a Health Care News 263 NLRB No. 139

(discharge of Ee for protesting along with fellow Ees at E sponsored meeting fact that they frequently had to hold their paychecks because of insufficient funds in E's account violative as such protest is protected concerted activity)

Cal-Walts, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 126

Linx Corporation JD-686-81

(Ees' temporarily withholding their services until they were assured that their paychecks were good held protected concerted activity where E had spotty record of untimely payment)

4033-9100 Protesting intra-union election procedures

Carpenters Local Union No. 35 (Klaus Martin, an Individual) 264 NLRB No. 108

(U members, one of whom was trustee, were engaged in procedures and of alleged misuse of U funds by financial secretary; also investigation into misuse of funds by contacting credit U for information protected activity; thus, discharge of these members, who were also U Ees, for intra-U activity and not for any Ee misconduct, violative)

4033-9200 Engaging in intraunion activities

Carpenters Local Union No. 35 (Klaus Martin, an Individual) 264 NLRB No. 108

(U members, one of whom was trustee, were engaged in procedures and of alleged misuse of U funds by financial secretary; also investigation into misuse of funds by contacting credit U for information protected activity; thus, discharge of these members, who were also U Ees, for intra-U activity and not for any Ee misconduct, violative)

East Texas Motor Freight 262 NLRB No. 105

(denying dissident U Ee right to post intra-U political literature on company bulletin board located in Ees' break room held violative where E permitted other Ees to use bulletin board for other than official U business but denied dissident U Ee right to advertise his U activity on board; E enforced otherwise legimate contractual limitation on use of bulletin board in disparate manner)

Welfare and Pension Funds, Blasters, Drillrunners and Miners Union Local No. 29 and Their Trustees Louis Sanzo, Amadio A. Patise, Paul Crowley, and Theodore King 251 NLRB No. 168

(Ee of U pension fund involved in protected intra-U activity when he protested to President of U.S. about loss of U jobs, how members were referred to jobs, sought reelection as secretary-treasurer of U; discharge for such activity violative)

Local 24, Hotel & Restaurant Employees (George Dora, an Individual) JD-414-82

(Ee's extensive intra-U efforts to remove his suspension from job referral list, by seeking assistance of every U official he could reach, held protected U activity)

Allied Supermarkets, Inc. JD-401-81

(E in bankruptcy, by preventing Ee from posting on bulletin board and distributing intra U election campaign material in cafeteria during non-work time and in non-work area violated Act as right to run in intra U election is protected and U has no power to waive these rights in contract, which, in effect U did by agreeing to overly broad no-solicitation no-distribution clause)

4033-9300 Protesting hiring or job assignment practices

Red Ball Motor Freight, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 111

(Ee's complaint to management regarding their order of recalling Ees and requiring that Ees use their vacation time during period of forced layoff held protected concerted activity; Ee's complaint constituted effort to gain benefit not only for herself but for her coworker and other senior Ees as well)

Firestone Steel Products Company, A Division of Firestone Tire and Rubber Company 248 NLRB No. 089

(protesting job assignment outside Ees' work classification, protected)

Kasler Corporation, Continental Heller Corp., and Fruin-Colnon Corp., A Joint Venture JD-(SF)-118-82

(violation where Ee was discharged for raising jurisdictional dispute issue with U steward of another trade)

Brockway Glass Company, Inc. JD-(SF)-117-81

(discharge of probationary Ee, hired to do carton assembling, assertedly for complaining about this being assigned to janitorial work, for going to the U, and refusing to perform assigned janitorial work, held unlawful, where other unsatisfactory probationary Ees were granted extensions of their probation when their work was unsatisfactory, there was no credible evidence to support finding that Ee refused to do assigned work or was insubordinate, and Ee had statutory right to engage in U activities)

New York State United Teachers JD-(NY)-53-81

(reprimand of Ee who had filed grievance regarding Ees' job assignments which was then in arbitration for telling delegates of affiliated organizations of E about arbitration case and which E did not want divulged, violative, since Ee's remarks concerned grievance, did not disparage his E nor reach level of impropriety or disloyalty to E which would result in remarks losing its protected nature)

Master Painting & Sheeting, Inc. JD-(SF)-119-80

(Ees who protested about E's practice of having same Ee be both U steward and foreman engaged in protected concerted activity as possibility of conflict of interest directly related to their conditions of employment)

N.L.R.B. v. Slotkowski Sausage Company 620 F.2d 642 (C.A. 7, 1980)

(discharge of Ee who chronically complained that he wished to be driver rather than shipping department Ee not violative as Ee was engaged in unprotected unilateral attempt to promote himself; moreover, fact that U represented drivers immaterial because Ee was not employed as driver, never became part of drivers' unit and no U security clause existed so that Ee was not attempting to seek benefits under collective-bargaining agreement)

Hendricks County Rural Electric Membership Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 603 F.2d 25 (C.A. 7, 1979)

(circulation of ptn criticizing E's refusal to reinstate injured Ee held protected, since issue was one about which Ees had legitimate interest in making known their views to management)

4033-9400 Publicizing inability to reach agreement

New York State United Teachers JD-(NY)-53-81

(reprimand of Ee who had filed grievance regarding Ees' job assignments which was then in arbitration for telling delegates of affiliated organizations of E about arbitration case and which E did not want divulged, violative, since Ee's remarks concerned grievance, did not disparage his E nor reach level of impropriety or disloyalty to E which would result in remarks losing its protected nature)

4033-9500 Publicizing organizational efforts

St. Joseph Hospital Corporation 260 NLRB No. 089

(Ee's conduct in causing to be published in U newspaper an article under her name which, in addition to seeking support of other Us in demonstration to be conducted on E's premises in furtherance of a U's organizational efforts at E's facility, was highly critical of E and stated that E has continually lied to, harassed, and even threatened to jail U representative held protected w/i context of concerted activity)

4033-9600 Publicizing adverse working conditions

Interstate Security Services, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 082

(Ees engaged in protected activity where they generated newspaper article about labor dispute at E which revealed some of E's internal operation as Ees are protected in expressing views on pending labor disputes to public so long as such expressions do not constitute disloyalty or disparagement of E's product or reputation and discharge for such conduct violative)

Mount Desert Island Hospital 259 NLRB No. 080

(Ee who wrote letter to newspaper setting forth Ee complaints about working conditions at E engaged in protected concerted activity where Ee had engaged in discussions with fellow Ees regarding alleged deficiencies in pay, benefits, and working conditions at E's facility)

D & D Supermarket, Inc. JD-292-82

(by warning Ee not to talk to other Ees about working conditions, E effectively precluded Ee from engaging in concerted activity and thereby violated Act)

4067 OBJECTIVES RENDERING ACTIVITIES UNPROTECTED

Aher Plastics Company, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 147

(Ee's defacement with derogatory comments of announcement of Christmas party, which Ees criticized because given in lieu of bonus, held not to constitute part of res gestae of concerted activities, since they are distinguish-able from that type of excusable exuberant misconduct occurring spontaneously and concurrent with protected activity)

4067—Cont.

4067-0100 Generally

Timothy Kasmach and David G. Kasmach d/b/a Warrendale Garage and Trucking JD-174-82

(individual acting alone may engage in protected concerted activity but it must appear, at very least, that activity was engaged in with object of initiating or inducing or preparing for group action or that it had some relation to group action in interest of Ees)

The Ohio Casualty Insurance Co. JD-292-81

(discharge of Ee who protested work assignment in loud, vulgar language not violative notwithstanding she was communicating with other Ees as this is mere griping which Act does not protect)

Timet, a Division of Titanium Metals Corporation of America v. N.L.R.B. 671 F.2d 973 (C.A. 6, Mar. 1982)

(drafting and circulating letter in which Ee offered to represent Ees to management to obtain cost-of-living adjustment held protected notwithstanding he was discharged before any Ee joined him as he was preparing for group activity)

4067-1000 To obtain objective only for self

Richdel, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 064

(mere enlisting of other Ees' assistance in furtherance of personal dispute between Ee and supervisor does not draw activity undertaken in furtherance of that dispute into protections of Act; no other Ees had experienced similar problems with supervisor and Ee was not acting on behalf of other Ees)

Grocery Carts, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 140

(E's conversation with manager in which she asked his opinion about raise for herself in joking manner held unprotected because it was not concerted; she acted w/o knowledge of other Ees, did not tell them about her request, no Ees were considering group action, and she asked only for his opinion of more pay solely for herself)

Mills Patrol Service, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 065

(during meeting with E's president and vice president, Ee's discussing possibility of obtaining sick benefits, medical coverage and U representation held not protected concerted activity as Ee did not discuss these matters with any Ee, none knew of his efforts, and no uniform plan where any changes made to one Ee would have to apply to all Ees)

W. C. Electrical Co., Inc. 262 NLRB No. 066

(discharge of Ee for protesting discontinuance of E's practice of providing sick pay, violative since sick pay is term and condition of employment and Ee had obtained support of fellow Ees before speaking to E about sick leave policy; activity in protest of discontinued past practice involves matter of mutual concern to Ees and this common concern was not negated because it coincided with dischargee's individual sick pay concern)

Comet Fast Freight, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 040

(discharge of Ee for his refusal to drive truck he alleged was unsafe not violative as Ee was not engaged in concerted activity where he was only Ee who complained about truck's condition and testified that I was looking out for myself, not the other drivers; thus, while Ee's subjective lack of concern for his fellow Ees is not controlling, fact that other Ees did not share his concerns about truck shows he was acting alone)

Overseas Motors, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 105

(threatening to discharge Ee if he filed charge with Bd and first suspending him and then discharging him after he filed charges violative notwithstanding original reason Ee wished to file charge involved denial of wage increase and concerned only himself and was not concerted activity)

Mount Desert Island Hospital 259 NLRB No. 080

(Ee who wrote letter to newspaper setting forth Ee complaints about working conditions at E engaged in protected concerted activity where Ee had engaged in discussions with fellow Ees regarding alleged deficiencies in pay, benefits, and working conditions at E's facility)

Faulkner Hospital 259 NLRB No. 052

(Ee's writing of letter on behalf of discharged fellow Ee which was voluntarily undertaken in support of and in concert with statutory Ee, not unprotected since it was not action taken alone or solely on matter of personal concern)

Distler Brothers Printing Company 258 NLRB No. 084

(threatening court action against E through family attorney, not concerted, protected activity where it involved only Ee's individual work performance)

City Disposal Systems, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 073

(when Ee makes complaints concerning safety matters embodied in contract, he is acting not only in his own interest but is attempting to enforce contract in interest of all Ees covered by contract)

Thomas Industries, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 094

(attempting to file grievance against another Ee regarding provocation of fight on E's property, not protected, since mere fact alleged incident occurred on company property does not by itself, link it sufficiently with conditions of employment to make it a matter of mutual aid and protection w/i purview of Section 7 of Act)

Red Ball Motor Freight, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 111

(fact that Ee was not specifically chosen as spokesperson by Ees to speak for them in discussions with supervision was irrelevant to issue of concerted activity, since it was clear that Ee spoke on Ees' behalf as well as her own)

Jim Causley Pontiac, Division Jim Causley, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 101

(Ee who filed complaint with State Health Department engaged in protected concerted activity and E found to have knowledge of concerted nature of activity where E was aware State complaint form filled out with plural pronoun we where complaint form identified area of shop where discriminatee and other Ee worked, listed paint fumes as hazard and in past many Ees had complained to E about fumes and evidence that many Ees had discussed poor ventilation system, complaining to management)

United States Steel Corporation 253 NLRB No. 083

(Ee's insistence on having safety men present when he inspected factory cranes for repair found not protected activity where he spoke only himself, not for or in concert with other Ees)

Timet, A Division of Titanium Metals Corporation of America 251 NLRB No. 157

(discharge of Ee who complained to supervisor about his raise and then circulated letter offering to represent Ees to management to obtain cost-of-living adjustment violative as Ee's action was intended to produce group activity and constituted concerted protected activity)

National Wax Company 251 NLRB No. 147

(Ee inquiring about merit pay increase for himself held not concerted activity where he was not acting on behalf of any other Ee and his endeavors, even if successful, would not directly relate to or advance likelihood of merit wage increases for any other Ee)

Koch Supplies, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 160

(discharge of Ee who complained to management about superior terms of employment given to new Ee violative where Ee had discussed subject with other Ees, mentioned to E that its action was detrimental to Ee morale and was thus not aimed at solving personal problem but included welfare of others)

United Investment Corporation d/b/a Santa's Bakery 249 NLRB No. 150

(Ee's filing of claim with state agency held concerted as well as protected activity even if Ee had acted as individual in so doing; here, however, he had also discussed the matter and gone to state office to file claim with other Ees acting in concert with him to seek mutual aid and agency's protection; moreover E was aware of concerted nature of Ee's conduct)

Pay-Wood Industries, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 056

(although Ee acted alone, his Cs concerning job safety and refusal to operate allegedly unsafe machine, are concerted activities since Cs were grievances w/i framework of contract that affects rights of all Ees in unit)

Capitol Ornamental Concrete Specialties, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 109

(complaining about condition of road in Ee parking lot not concerted activity where no evidence that any other Ees had ever complained or even discussed the matter; thus not matter of common concern)

Anco Insulations, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 081

(company's refusal to permit contractor's lawfully discharged Ee to work for another contractor at company's construction site not violative where Ee, individually, picketed entrance gate at construction site causing other Ees using such gate to stay off job; Ee picketed to protest his discharge not to protest safety conditions or other working conditions; since Ee sought something for himself only, his picketing was not concerted activity protected by Act)

Reeves Transportation Company JD-(ATL)-82-82

(Ee's complaint to management in resistance to her pay being changed from salary to hourly, being assigned to telephone switchboard, and her quarrel with her assignment to duplicate payments job, held unprotected since all of Ee's complaints were unique to her and would not inure to benefit of other Ees)

Francrete Corporation JD-(NY)-97-82

(Ee who continually complained to E about alleged shortages in his paycheck was not engaged in protected activity as he was concerned solely with pressing his personal claim for additional compensation for his time)

Palex Corporation JD-(SF)-28-82

Johns-Manville, Private Carriage JD-(ATL)-89-81

(discharge not violative where Ee's protests concerning alleged unsafe conditions of front axle tires of truck, were not concerted activity since protests had no object to cause E to change its policies concerning criterion of safety for front tires which it had established but was solely for Ee's own benefit)

Peninsula Association for Retarded Children and Adults JD-(SF)-209-80

(filing of wage claims before state agency protected concerted activity even if individual acts on his own)

Scott Paper Company JD-623-80
(Ee's alleged concern about safety conditions held not to be concerted where there was no evidence that, at any time, any of his co-Ees showed concern as to safety of operation, and he did not consult any other Ee before his refusal to perform assigned task)

Public Service Company of New Mexico JD-(SF)-157-80
(Ee's refusal to comply with company policy that Ees furnish description or map to place to where they live when they gave company post office box as address, not protected, since reason was personal one of not wanting former wife to know where he lived; nor did fact Ee spoke to other Ees about his refusal, implying E wanted information to check up on sick leave make activity concerted where Ee was simply advertising his own defiance)

Public Service Company of New Mexico JD-(SF)-157-80
(Ee's refusal to show E marriage license to verify fact of marriage for purpose of insurance coverage for which only spouses and dependents were eligible, not protected, where Ee had first requested coverage for wife prior to marriage and E had no proof of her subsequent eligibility; Ee's refusal was personal rather than concerted, and he was not enforcing contract right)

Public Service Company of New Mexico JD-(SF)-157-80
(Ee of public utility drafting letter to TV station and showing it to other Ees in which he stated that consumer is being rolled over by utility monopolies, not protected, since Ee wrote as consumer and stock holder, letter was not directed at improvement in conditions for Ees but was motivated by personal vendetta)

Public Service Company of New Mexico JD-(SF)-157-80
(Ee's writing letter to E's insurance supervisor concerning E's refusal to extend insurance coverage to his new wife w/o seeing marriage certificate and in which he called company officials insulting names, not protected, since letter not attempt to enforce contract right but was simply personal diatribe)

Giuliano Apparel Corp. JD-162-80
(Ee's leaving work early because she was too cold held not to constitute protected concerted activity where cold temperature was localized at Ee's work station and was therefore not matter of concern to other Ees that day and there was no evidence that Ee was seeking to advance common interest)

N.L.R.B. v. American Spring Bed Manufacturing Co., d/b/a American Chain Link Fence Co. 670 F.2d 1236 (C.A. 1, Feb. 1982)
(Ee's discussion of his wages, because it touched off chain of discourse among his fellow Ees, protected activity)

Edward Blankstein, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 623 F.2d 320 (C.A. 3, 1980)
(Ee who contacted other Ees to interest them in obtaining group hospitalization insurance was engaged in protected concerted activity as she was not acting solely for herself)

Tyler Business Services, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 680 F.2d 338 (C.A. 4, June 1982)
(Ee's remarks to one of E's most important customers concerning unlawful discharge of part-time Ee and lack of insurance for part-time Ees held not protected concerted activity, since, in order to establish that single Ee is engaged in such activity, evidence must show that Ee is seeking either to enforce a bargaining agreement, to induce group action, or to act on behalf of other Ees, and such showing was not made herein; and personal concerns or missions are insufficient to demonstrate concerted action)

Blaw-Knox Foundry & Mill Machinery Inc., Wheeling Works Division v. N.L.R.B. 646 F.2d 113 (C.A. 4, Apr 1981)
(where supervisor allegedly sexually harrassed Ee's cousin, Ee's action of protesting to supervisor not concerted activity but merely action of individual Ee who was neither attempting to enforce collective bargaining agreement nor acting on behalf of a group)

Krispy Kreme Doughnut Corp. v. N.L.R.B. 635 F.2d 304 (C.A. 4, 1980)
(Ee's refusal to forego workmen's compensation claim did not constitute protected concerted activity, since there was no evidence that action of solitary Ee here contemplated any group activity or that he was in fact . . . acting on behalf of or as representative of other employees; at most his action can be said to have been for the benefit of other employees only in a theoretical sense)

Scooba Manufacturing Company v. N.L.R.B. 694 F.2d 82 (C.A. 5, Dec. 1982)
(Ee's remark that it would be nice to have a U, that a lot of things would not be going on that were going on, not protected, since it was merely made as part of a personal dispute with supervisor; there was no showing that collective Ee action was contemplated, no record of organizational effort or talk of collective bargaining, and no claim that Ee purported to act for others or threatened to contact U)

N.L.R.B. v. Datapoint Corporation 642 F.2d 123 (C.A. 5, Apr 8, 1981)
(where Ee, in rude and belligerant manner, complained to fellow Ees about E's plan to layoff Ees for 1 week while plant moved to new location, discharge of Ee not violative as such activity is not protected where no evidence that Ee had object of initiating or inducing or preparing for group action; activity which consists of mere talk, in order to be protected, must be talk looking toward group action)

City Disposal Systems, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 683 F.2d 1005 (C.A. 6, July 1982)
(discharge of Ee who refused to drive truck he believed to be unsafe not violative where Ee was not engaged in concerted activity as he was acting solely for himself, did not attempt to warn other Ees that truck was unsafe, did not seek assistance of U representative in effort to avoid driving truck, and only made isolated comment to E that E cared more about garbage than men)

Bay Wood Industries, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 666 F.2d 1011 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1981)
(dismissal of Ee of because he refused to operate saw unless guard was installed on saw protect Ee's fingers not violative, since Ee's complaints and actions did not constitute concerted activities; Ee enlisted no other Ees in this dispute, nor did he file grievance nor did he attempt to represent any interests other than his own; Ee's complaint did not meet test for concerted activities ununciated in Aro, Inc. v. N.L.R.B., 596 F.2d 713 (1979))

United Parcel Service v. N.L.R.B. 654 F.2d 12 (C.A. 6, July 1981)
(discipline of Ee who refused to open door of truck, alleging that it was unsafe not violative as Ee's complaint about unsafe conditions was not made on behalf of any other Ees and was therefore not concerted activity)

Jim Causley Pontiac, Division Jim Causley, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 620 F.2d 122 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(ct agreed with Bd that Ee's complaints to E and MIOSHA of excessive paint fumes and danger of their proximity to gas heater pilot lights were protected concerted activity, where complainant got the other affected Ee's permission to use his name and referred to him in complaint, however, ct remanded case to Bd for finding on issue, not addressed by Bd, as to whether E knew of other Ee's involvement and that activity in question was concerted)

N.L.R.B. v. Town & Country LP Gas Service Company 687 F.2d 187 (C.A. 7, Aug. 1982)
(Ee who filed grievance pursuant to collective-bargaining agreement over his discharge engaged in Sec. 7 activity notwithstanding grievance was primarily individual complaint as its resolution which provided for reinstatement and backpay created precedent affecting all other Ees)

N.L.R.B. v. Slotkowski Sausage Company 620 F.2d 642 (C.A. 7, 1980)
(discharge of Ee who chronically complained that he wished to be driver rather than shipping department Ee not violative as Ee was engaged in unprotected unilateral attempt to promote himself; moreover, fact that U represented drivers immaterial because Ee was not employed as driver, never became part of drivers' unit and no U security clause existed so that Ee was not attempting to seek benefits under collective-bargaining agreement)

David D. Sutherland, d/b/a Manco Auto Painting and Body Work v. N.L.R.B. 646 F.2d 1273 (C.A. 8, Apr 1981)
(discharge of Ee for approaching E and expressing Ees' dissatisfaction with wages and bonus plan violation as Ee had spoken to other Ees and was attempting to obtain benefits for all Ees)

Koch Supplies, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 646 F.2d 1257 (C.A. 8, Apr 1981)
(Ee's complaints to E about E's promise of vacation benefits to new Ee, unprotected where it was not shown that complaining Ee intended that her activities would relate to group action)

N.L.R.B. v. Bighorn Beverage 614 F.2d 1238 (C.A. 9) (1980)
(filing of safety C with state agency by Ee acting alone not protected concerted activity in absence of collective-bargaining agreement as there is no agreement to implement which would be source of Ee's claimed rights)

Lee G. Kohls v. N.L.R.B. 629 F.2d 173 (C.A.D.C., 1980)
(discharge of Ee for refusing to drive assigned truck because brakes were not good enough for me, not unlawful, since protest and refusal not concerted and Interboro Contractors doctrine not applied, notwithstanding contention was Ee was asserting contractual right, where Ee was not asserting right on behalf of anyone other than himself nor speaking for others, no evidence Ee and U working in concert to assert contract, and fact Ee withdrew grievance filed on his behalf by U)

4067-3000 Personal problems

General Electric Corporation, Installation & Service Engineering Division 256 NLRB No. 126
(walking off job protest over Ee with 2 union cards held not protected where no other Ee participated, U steward declined to join him, and his object was not enforcement of collective bargaining agreement)

N.L.R.B. v. Adams Delivery Service, Inc. 623 F.2d 96 (C.A. 9, July 1980)

(discharge of Ee for protesting lack of contractually-guaranteed overtime pay to U representative, violative, as consultation with U representative to resolve employment dispute is more than mere griping and is not w/i category of obtaining objectives only for himself)

4067-6000 To compel unlawful conduct

Transport Service Co. 263 NLRB No. 125

(discharge of Ee who refused to drive truck which was overweight and in violation of state law (though w/i tolerances allowed by states and therefore exempt from criminal prosecution), violative, as Ee was engaged in protected concerted activity when he refused to drive; refusals to violative state law are presumptively protected concerted actively; moreover, inquires into private motivations for asserting such reasons is limited to whether it was asserted in good faith or maliciously)

4067-9000 Employee's bad faith, knowledge of falsity, intent to harass, or similar improper motives

Interstate Security Services, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 002

(Ees engaged in protected activity where they generated newspaper article about labor dispute at E which revealed some of E's internal operation as Ees are protected in expressing views on pending labor disputes to public so long as such expressions do not constitute disloyalty or disparagement of E's product or reputation and discharge for such conduct violative)

Wagner-Smith Company 262 NLRB No. 130

(merits of Ee's complaints irrelevant to determination of whether Ee's conduct protected under Act, so long as complaint not made in bad faith)

St. Joseph Hospital Corporation 260 NLRB No. 089

(E held to have unlawfully maintained and to have given effect to work rule which prohibited, inter alia, utterance of inadvertent or unknowingly false statements which Bd has held protected w/i context of concerted activity; also rule was unlawful in that it was overly broad because it prohibited making of such statements during Ees' nonworking time and while off company property)

Missouri Towing & Barge, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 089

(Ee was not engaged in protected activity when he knowingly filed false workmen's compensation claim)

AAR Technical Service Center 249 NLRB No. 176

(letter written by disgruntled Ee who had been denied pay raise he thought he deserved not protected where it contained threats to sabotage E's product)

Pioneer Finishing Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 667 F.2d 199 (C.A. 1, Nov. 1981)

(leaflet distributed by Ee describing unsafe conditions at E's plant although inflamatory is not removed from protection of Act since statements made are rhetorical hypebole and there is no evidence that they were made maliciously or without some foundation in fact)

Standard-Coosa-Thatcher Carpet Yarn Division, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 691 F.2d 1133 (C.A. 4, Sept. 20, 1982)

(threatening Ee with discharge for protesting shortages in paycheck violative as protest is clearly concerted activity; moreover, truth or falsity of Ee's views does not deprive such activity of its protection)

N.L.R.B. v. Lummus Industries, Inc. 679 F.2d 229 (C.A. 11, June 1982)

(Ee who made telephone survey of Ees to elicit their concerns over contract and whether they had heard or believed rumors of sellout by U to E engaged in protected activity since no evidence survey taken was accusing company of bribery knowing such accusation was false or with reckless disregard for truth)

4067-9300 Disloyalty of employees

Cooperativa De Credito Y Ahorro Vegabajena 261 NLRB No. 161

(picketing by asking credit U members to withdraw money from Credit-U-E is simply asking them to c/d/b with E which is protected activity)

Inland Steel Company 257 NLRB No. 013

(wearing T-shirt with vulgar slogan (INLAND SUCKS) that rediculed E, protected, where no management official said anything to E about T-shirt or even saw him wearing it during working hours no less told Ee to take it off)

Tyler Business Services, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 088

(E's statements that he believed E's failure to provide part-time Ees hospitalization benefits was unfair, protected; nor was statement rendered unprotected by his remarks to third party concerning personal lives of E's officials since remarks did not relate to E's product or operations nor constitute deliberate intent to impugne company)

Borman's, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 130

(asking Ees to remove, or turn inside out, T-shirts with Company name and words I's tired of bustin my ass, violative as purpose of shirts was to publicize grievance, did not interfere with order and discipline; it villified no company official and language used is not so obscene as to be objectionable)

Public Service Company of New Mexico JD-(SF)-157-80

(Ee of public utility drafting letter to TV station and showing it to other Ees in which he stated that consumer is being rolled over by utility monopolies, not protected, since Ee wrote as consumer and stock holder, letter was not directed at improvement in conditions for Ees but was motivated by personal vendetta)

Misericordia Hospital Medical Center v. N.L.R.B. 623 F.2d 808 (C.A. 2, 1980)

(Ees of hospital preparing report for accrediting authority catagloging alleged inadequacies in operation of hospital held protected activity since matters considered involving working conditions; Section 7 protection not lost by seeking relief outside E-Ee relationship, nor did report constitute disloyal statement outside Section 7 protection)

N.L.R.B. v. Greyhound Lines, Inc. 660 F.2d 354 (C.A. 8, Sep 1981)

(suspension of two Ees because they issued press release announcing intent of drivers to strictly obey speed limit over holiday weekend violative as Ees were engaged in protected activity where release related to ongoing labor dispute over 55 mph requirement, did not disparage E's reputation, and was not maliciously motivated)

American Cast Iron Pipe Company, a corporation v. N.L.R.B. 600 F.2d 132 (C.A. 8, 1979)

(maintaining rule which forbids false, vicious or malicious statements about company, its Ees, its products, or methods of manufacture, unlawful, since rule not limited to maliciously false statements but also included merely false statements; further, E may not justify promulgation of broad rule by its need to protect itself from disloyal statements but rather must meet need by rule limited to disloyal statements)

6020-0100 Generally

A. Duie Pyle, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 092

(Bd has differentiated between those cases in which Ees have arguably exceeded bounds of lawful conduct during strike in moment of animal exuberance from those cases in which misconduct is so flagrant or egregious as to require subordinat thus, E is not entitled to discharge striker for engaging in threats unless they are accompanied by physical acts or gestures that would provide added emphasis or meaning to striker's words sufficient to warrant finding that striker should not be reinstated)

Georgia Kraft Company, Woodcraft Division 258 NLRB No. 121

(strikers' stopping only 2 trucks, while on picket line, out of 125 vehicles entering and leaving E's plant daily, held insufficient to prove blocking of access to plant or to establish mass picketing)

Atlas Metal Parts Co., Inc. 252 NLRB No. 029

(picket line activity is generally protected, and the duty of going forward with evidence of conduct which would remove mantle of statutory protection is upon Respondent if, upon such alleged misconduct, it bases its post-strike employment decisions)

Union Independiente De Empleados De Servicios Legales De Puerto Rico (Corporation de Servicios Legales De Puerto Rico, Inc.) 249 NLRB NO. 167

(U's contention that its picketing, threatening strike or work stoppage and related conduct were not aimed at removal of E's representative but solely at his resort to violence, and therefore U's actions constituted protected activity since his presence on job threatened Ee safety, rejected; in labor dispute Act allows Ees to engage in any concerted activity unless it falls, as herein, w/i proscription of 8(b)(1)(B) which is not conditioned upon perfect conduct by representative and places some limitation on Ees' right to strike)

Giant Food Markets, Inc. and S. S. Kresge Company v. N.L.R.B. 633 F.2d 18 (C.A. 6, 1980)

(remand for evidence on effect of relocating, pursuant to TRO, area standards pickets from private property near store entrance to public area across parking lot at entrance to 2-store shopping center and to determine, (1) whether picketing at store entrance is protected, and (2) whether E's peaceful demand that pickets leave, violated 8(a)(1))

6020-3300 Violence

East Texas Motor Freight 262 NLRB No. 101

(local U's processing intra-U charges against 2 dissident members resulting in their suspension; one for 6 months and other for 3 years, not violative, since findings were based on sufficient cause (violence) unrelated to protected activity)

6030 REFUSAL TO CROSS PICKET LINE

6030-0100 Generally

Saint Luke's Hospital 258 NLRB No. 045
(asking health care Ee, who indicated that he would not cross picket line during anticipated strike, if he was pressured into that decision, violative as supervisor made no mention of whether pressure brought on Ee during working time)

6030-2300 Primary line of another union at another employer

Erie Haven, Inc. JD-194-82

N.L.R.B. v. Southern California Edison Company 646 F.2d 1352 (C.A. 9, Jun 1981)
(section 7 (of Act) protects Ees who engage in sympathy strike in support of lawful primary strike by sister U of same E; respect for integrity of picket line may well be source of strength of whole collective bargaining process in which every U member has legitimate and protected economic interest)

6050 STRIKE ACTIVITY

Isla Verde Hotel Corporation d/b/a Hotel Holiday Inn De Isla Verde 259 NLRB No. 073
(strike and actions of Ees in striking held protected where strike occurred in protest against E's unlawful unilateral discontinuance of Christmas bonus and its refusal to bargain over such unilateral discontinuance)

East Chicago Rehabilitation Center, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 135
(striking Ees did not lose protections afforded health care Ees under Act, notwithstanding E's contention that strike caused disruptions in patient care, where walkout involved fewer than half of day-shift Ees, with remaining Ees and supervisors working as scheduled, strike lasted only 2 hours and there was no showing that strike jeopardized any patient's safety or health)

Seattle-First National Bank 258 NLRB No. 164
(fact that U members, engaged in strike activity of disseminating labor dispute information at struck operation's location, are not employed by such operation, does not affect protected nature of their activity)

Professional Ambulance Service of Middlesex JD-548-80
(discharging ambulance EMT attendant for attempting to induce other Ees to strike in support of demand for increased wages, violative, although Ee denied activity and believed that state's Abandonment Law prohibited strikes)

6050-0117 Effect of Section 13

Kaiser Steel Corporation 259 NLRB No. 085
(refusing to permit striking Ees to remove their personally owned tools from plant during strike held violative of Sections 7 and 13 where non striking Ees were permitted to remove tools, as use of such economic weapon frustrated strikers' ability to find other employment during strike)

6050-0133 Limitations on right to strike must be narrowly construed

United States Steel Corporation 264 NLRB No. 010
(sympathy striker who distributed leaflets urging other Ees to join strike engaged in protected concerted activity and his suspension violative; notwithstanding contract contained no-strike clause as Bd has long held that sympathy strikes are not encompassed by no-strike clauses absent clear waiver)

Pacemaker Yacht Co., A Division of Mission Marine, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 095
(discharge and failure to reinstate Ees who struck E, contrary to contractual no-strike clause, to protest failure of U's health and welfare fund to fulfill its contractual medical insurance obligations held violative, since no-strike pledge relied upon by E did not constitute clear and unequivocal waiver of Ees' right to strike against actions of third party (Fund) which affected terms and conditions of employment)

6050-0150 Activities constituting participation in strike

Texaco Oil Company 259 NLRB No. 062
(those Ees who at onset of strike were sick or disabled entitled to accident or sick benefits during strike until they have affirmatively shown support of strike; fact those medically excused exhibited some strike support after medical release and testified if physically able they would have joined strike, irrelevant, nor did visit to picket line by Ee on leave manifest sufficient public support of strike to deny Ee continued entitlement to accident and sick benefits)

Charge Card Association 247 NLRB No. 119
(Ees who called in sick in protest of their grievances were strikers engaged in protected concerted activity)

6050-1200 What constitutes strike

Ground Round Restaurant, A Division of Howard Johnson JD-(SF)-191-82
(Ees of restaurant who had, after conferring among themselves and expressing dissatisfaction with manager regarding new work schedule which resulted in reduced hours with possible loss of insurance benefits and with other working conditions, requested meeting with owner, were engaged in protected activity when they gathered in bar area before end of shift to await arrival of owner, since no customers in bar, service not disrupted, Ees had completed duties, and there was no violence)

6050-1220 Cessation of work

Barry S. Selaf, M.D., A Professional Corporation, d/b/a The Victoria Medical Group and The West Jefferson Medical Group 264 NLRB No. 019
(discharge of Ees who refused to work until management heard their grievances concerning, inter alia lack of (medical) supervision of their paramedical responsibilities held violative, since such lack was matter plainly affecting Ees' terms and conditions of employment and their insistance that they be heard was protected activity)

Diversified Case Company, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 119
(Ees who walked off job to protest extreme cold in shop engaged in protected activity, notwithstanding they did not recite what conditions would have to be met prior to their return to work)

Nanticoke Homes, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 107
(work stoppage over working conditions, Ee parking lot, and wages, protected)

Alaga Whitfield Foods, Inc. JD-504-80
(discharge of Ee truckdrivers who refused to work because of violence occurring on highway in independent trucker's protest violative, as Ees' activity protected because of safety concerns)

N.L.R.B. v. Maryland Shipbuilding and Drydock Company 683 F.2d 109 (C.A. 4, July 1982)
(Ee who stopped work for one-half hour to pursue grievance over work assignment which he believed violated safety provision of collective bargaining agreement was not engaged in protected activity where contract prohibited any work stoppage and established three step procedure for resolution of grievances; moreover, situation did not rise to level of abnormally dangerous which would protect stoppage in face of no-strike clause; thus suspension of Ee for work stoppage not violative)

Brown & Root, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 634 F.2d 816 (C.A. 5, 1980)
(cessation of work to avoid unsafe conditions where rain began to blow on electrical equipment with which Ees were working held not strike)

6050-1240 Spontaneous work stoppage as walkout

Diversified Case Company, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 119
(Ees who left work after protesting to E over bitterly cold working conditions and shortages in their paychecks stating that they would return next day, were involved in protected concerted strike activity and their discharges violative; moreover, fact that one Ee did not return to work next day or thereafter does not remove him from Act's protection where Ees who did return were told they had been fired and other Ee's timecard was missing and thus Ee could assume that if he were to return on the next day he was scheduled to work he would have been fired also)

Go-Lightly Footwear, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 068
(walk out by Ees in support of discharged Ee, plus picketing outside plant with placards referring to unkept promises by E, to scab labor, and to unfairness to minorities reasonably relates to matters protected by Act; and there was no requirement that Ees had to undertake less drastic forms of protest before walking off their jobs)

Go-Lightly Footwear, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 068
(while Ees violated company rules when they walked off job w/o punching out and w/o notifying their supervisor, their walk out did not lose protection of Act because of violations of those kinds of rules; although existence of those rules could be significant if Ees had engaged in series of short-term walkouts, or even if they had planned to do so, here there was only one walkout and no evidence of any plan to undertake any more)

Go-Lightly Footwear, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 068
(Ee's refusal to work rest of the day after Ees she had walked off job with returned to work held protected, since Ee's decision to do so was integral part of protest about employment conditions at plant, and E, who fired all Ees engaged in walk out, made no distinction in its reaction to Ee's activities when she was acting directly in concert with her fellow Ees and when she departed for remainder of day)

Firestone Steel Products Company, A Division of Firestone Tire and Rubber Company 248 NLRB No. 069
(departure from plant after refusing to perform assigned duties and effort to see management to complain about assignment held strike)

High Energy Corporation JD-100-82
(discharge of Ees who walked off job to protest unsafe working conditions violative as Ees engaged in protected activity and protection is not lost because Ees did not give prior notice, moreover, it is immaterial whether Ees were correct about the unsafe conditions)

Vic Tanny International, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 622 F.2d 237 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(spontaneous banding together of Ees in form of work stoppage as manifestation of their disagreement with E's conduct in changing certain duties from voluntary basis to assigned work held protected concerted activity)

Vic Tanny International, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 622 F.2d 237 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(Ees jointly participating in walkout to present job related grievances to E held engaged in protected concerted activity regardless of whether or not Ees are members of U; E, having same options available to him as to E faced with economic strike by U Ees, entitling him to pay Ees who left work, or to replace Ees with other workers, is prohibited from discharging, or threatening to discharge, unorganized Ees involved herein because they engaged in protected concerted activity)

Vic Tanny International, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 622 F.2d 237 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(unorganized Ees who jointly participate in walkout to present job related grievances to E are engaged in protected concerted activity regardless of whether or not they are U members; no distinction exists in Act or its remedies between organized and unorganized Ees who act in concert to deal with their grievances)

6050-1260 Refusal to perform portion of assigned duties

Daniel Construction Company 264 NLRB No. 104
(discharge of Ee who refused to perform job task which he believed unsafe not violative as Ee was not engaged in protected activity; Ee was not contending that E was not following safety procedures and was not engaged in strike because he was trying to choose which job tasks he would perform)

Vic Koenig Chevrolet 263 NLRB No. 088
(discharge of Ee who had crossed picket line and then refused to perform portion of usual duties not violative as Ee was engaging in partial strike—accepting pay for performing part of work while avoiding disadvantage of complete strike action--and such conduct not protected by Act)

Excavation-Construction, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 660 F.2d 1015 (C.A. 4, Oct. 1981)
(discharging Ees for concertedly refusing to work specific job on Saturday because it did not pay time and half held not violative where Ees knew that E would pay only straight time and rule that Saturday work was voluntary but if Ee signed up for that day must work on any job assigned by E and penalty for not working was discharge. Claim that Ees were engaged in 1 day strike rejected, since Ees only refused to work that specific job that day and not other jobs which was equivalent to Ees seeking to work under terms prescribed by them which is not protected activity)

6050-1280 Refusal to work overtime, Sundays, or holidays

Illinois Bell Telephone Company 255 NLRB No. 063
(E who disciplined shop steward and U vice president for posting notices informing Ees of their right to seek U representation if E requested Ees to work mandatory overtime violated Act; U was not advocating Ees to refuse to work overtime which could be unprotected partial strike but rather was engaging in protected activity of urging Ees to seek help through U)

6050-2900 Intermittent, recurrent, or partial strike

Keyway, A Division of Phase Inc. 263 NLRB No. 172
(attempt to maintain benefits of remaining in paid Ee status while refusing, nonetheless, to perform all work they were hired to do)

Illinois Bell Telephone Company 255 NLRB No. 063
(E who disciplined shop steward and U vice president for posting notices informing Ees of their right to seek U representation if E requested Ees to work mandatory overtime violated Act; U was not advocating Ees to refuse to work overtime which could be unprotected partial strike but rather was engaging in protected activity of urging Ees to seek help through U)

N.L.R.B. v. GAIU Local 13-B, Graphic Arts International Union 682 F.2d 304 (C.A. 2, June 1982)
(Ees refusal to perform overtime work as required by U rule banning overtime, unprotected where overtime was mandatory and lawfully required, rule was imposed as bargaining tactic rather than as response to E's ULP as contended, and rule jeopardized employment relationship, imperiled Ees' livelihood by subjecting them to discharge or other discipline, and impaired national labor policy)

Excavation-Construction, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 660 F.2d 1015 (C.A. 4, Oct. 1981)
(discharging Ees for concertedly refusing to work specific job on Saturday because it did not pay time and half held not violative where Ees knew that E would pay only straight time and rule that Saturday work was voluntary but if Ee signed up for that day must work on any job assigned by E and penalty for not working was discharge. Claim that Ees were engaged in 1 day strike rejected, since Ees only refused to work that specific job that day and not other jobs which was equivalent to Ees seeking to work under terms prescribed by them which is not protected activity)

6050-3700 Limitations of Section 8(d)

6050-3717 Legislative history

N.L.R.B. v. Mar-Len Cabinets, Inc. 659 F.2d 995 (C.A. 9, Oct. 1981)

6050-3762 Notice to mediation agencies mandatory

N.L.R.B. v. Mar-Len Cabinets, Inc. 659 F.2d 995 (C.A. 9, Oct. 1981)
(burden of notifying agencies on first party seeking to terminate or modify agreement, other party's refusal to agree to modifications desired does not affect this obligation. Burden does not shift with twists and turns of bargaining negotiations)

6050-3762-2800 Purpose to give agencies time to intervene

N.L.R.B. v. Mar-Len Cabinets, Inc. 659 F.2d 995 (C.A. 9, Oct. 1981)
(notice provision is not concerned with good faith, it is designed to give mediation services time to intervene before disruptive economic action is taken by one of parties; unilateral departure during 60 day waiting period from terms of contract prohibited whether or not strike or lockout follows)

6050-3762-8300 Strike prohibited until expiration of contract

N.L.R.B. v. Mar-Len Cabinets, Inc. 659 F.2d 995 (C.A. 9, Oct. 1981)

6050-5000 Effect of section 502 - abnormally dangerous condition

True Drilling Company 257 NLRB No. 072
(intoxicated Ee with whom Ees refused to work on oil rig not abnormally hazardous condition w/i Section 502; nor were Ees justified in their refusal where only danger cited was that Ee might fall from board above platform onto Ees where Ee did not wear hard hat and would be strapped on board. Ees refusal and walkout held voluntary quit)

6050-5001 Generally

N.L.R.B. v. Tamara Foods, Inc. 692 F.2d 1171 (C.A. 8, Nov. 1982)
(Sec. 502 does not modify Ee rights under Sec. 7)

6050-5075 Refusal to perform assigned duties

American Freight System, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 018
(discharge of driver for refusing to drive truck which he reasonably believed to be unsafe because of good faith belief that truck's tires were unsafe held violative, since driver's reasonable concern about safety of tires constituted attempt to enforce contract provisions reguarding Ee rights not to be compelled to operate unsafe equipment; thus, his conduct amounted to protected concerted activity)

Baker Marine Corporation 238 NLRB No. 091
(no violation where E suspended and discharged Ees for refusing to work on legs being assembled for drilling rig in contravention of no-strike clause since, contrary to GC's contention that such work was abnormally dangerous w/i Sec. 502 of Act, conditions considered dangerous by Ees had been in existence w/o change for considerable period of time and had been previously accepted by Ees w/o complaint)

True Drilling Company 257 NLRB No. 072
(permanently replacing and refusing to reinstate Ees who walked off job, stating they did not want to work on oil rig with Ee who was allegedly intoxicated, not unlawful, since Ees voluntarily quit; intoxicated Ee did not meet objective test of abnormally hazardous condition w/i Section 502, where only danger cited was that intoxicated Ee might fall from board above platform onto Ees where Ee did not wear hard hat, worked in that position only for short time and would be strapped to board)

6050-6200 Effect of no-strike agreements

AMCAR Division, ACF Industries, Incorporated 247 NLRB No. 130
(U did not waive Ees' right to engage in sympathy strikes or to honor picket lines of other Us picketing at E's plant, where contract's no-strike provision did not expressly refer to such activity, and bargaining history shows U understood no-strike clause as not covering activity in question; while E adopted contrary position, U did not capitulate to E's interpretation but preserved its ability to contest E's position)

6050-6210 Contractual waiver of protected employee rights will be narrowly construed

United States Steel Corporation 264 NLRB No. 010
(Bd will not defer to arbitrators' award which is repugnant to Act, and here where arbitrator upheld suspension of sympathy striker for violating contractual no-strike clause deferral is inappropriate because Bd and cts have held that waiver of right to engage in sympathy strikes will not be inferred from general no strike clause and any waiver must be clear and unmistakable and there is no such evidence of waiver; moreover, under doctrine of coterminous application Bd and cts have refused to find sympathy strike to be encompassed in broad no-strike pledges)

N.L.R.B. v. Southern California Edison Company 646 F.2d 1352 (C.A. 9, Jun 1981)
(waiver of right to strike or engage in sympathy strike may be implied by binding arbitration clause; even in case of express no-strike clause, waiver of right to strike is generally coterminous with scope of arbitration clause)

6050-6220 Agreement must be interpreted in light of entire contract

Irvin H. Whitehouse & Sons Company 252 NLRB No. 160
(contract containing provision requiring disputes to be referred to Joint Local Trade Board for arbitration not found to contain no-strike clause where section concerning safety does not directly state that those disputes be submitted to final and binding arbitration and clause is silent as to fines or remedial actions)

N.L.R.B. v. Southern California Edison Company 646 F.2d 1352 (C.A. 9, Jun 1981)

6050-6260 Not applicable in case of walkout or refusal to work due to abnormally dangerous conditions

N.L.R.B. v. Maryland Shipbuilding and Drydock Company 683 F.2d 109 (C.A. 4, July 1982)
(Ee who stopped work for one-half hour to pursue grievance over work assignment which he believed violated safety provision of collective bargaining agreement was not engaged in protected activity where contract prohibited any work stoppage and established three step procedure for resolution of grievances; moreover, situation did not rise to level of abnormally dangerous which would protect stoppage in face of no-strike clause; thus suspension of Ee for work stoppage not violative)

Irvin H. Whitehouse & Sons Co. v. N.L.R.B. 659 F.2d 830 (C.A. 7, Sept. 1981)
(binding arbitration provision covered disputes over safety where contract contained clause which provides that parties will cooperate in prevention of accidents and in protection and promotion of safety and health of Ees, though this clause, unlike others, did not specify fines or prescribe corrective action for their violations, nor was safety clause explicitly linked to arbitration procedure)

Irvin H. Whitehouse & Sons Co. v. N.L.R.B. 659 F.2d 830 (C.A. 7, Sept. 1981)
(where safety issue is one that must be submitted to binding arbitration, obligation not to strike over matter is considered to be coterminus and any stoppage violates implied no-strike clause unless safety hazzard suddenly arose and presented immediate threat; i.e., Washington Aluminum situation)

6050-6280 Right to strike against ULP may be waived by explicit contractual provision

N.L.R.B. v. Southern California Edison Company 646 F.2d 1352 (C.A. 9, Jun 1981)

6050-7500 Unprotected strikes

Isadore Spiegel, an Individual t/a Spiegel Trucking Company; Spiegel Trucking Company, Inc.; I & L Trucking Company, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 020
(Bd held strike protected concerted activity contrary to E's contention that strike was unprotected because E was defrauded of large sums of money immediately preceeding strike; however it was not established that Ees knew about or participated in fraud or that strike was caused by or in furtherance of fraud)

6050-7520 Strike in violation of 8(d)

Barry S. Solof, M.D., A Professional Corporation, d/b/a The Victoria Medical Group and The West Jefferson Medical Group 264 NLRB No. 019
(since discriminatees were not subject to notice requirement of Sec. 8(g) of Act, they also were not subject to penalties set out in Sec. 8(d) of Act)

Greens Disposal Service 233 NLRB No. 097
(U's failure to send notice to state agency rejected as defense to E's refusal to reinstate strikers, where no appropriate agency existed in state)

6050-7530 Activity in violation of section 8(g)

Barry S. Solof, M.D., A Professional Corporation, d/b/a The Victoria Medical Group and The West Jefferson Medical Group 264 NLRB No. 019
(Ees of medical clinic who refused to work until management heard their grievances do not constitute labor organization; and thus, were not required to give notice under Sec. 8(g) of Act of intended work stoppage; however, 8(g) of Act does not apply only to work stoppages in support of bargaining demands)

East Chicago Rehabilitation Center, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 126
(failure of Ees to provide 8(g) notice did not render walkout unprotected since notice requirements of Sec. 8(g) run to Us, not Ees; failure of Ees to give such notice prior to striking health care institution does not deprive strike of its normally protected character)

A & D Davenport Transportation, Inc. and San-Fair Special Service Transportation, A Division of A & D Davenport Transportation, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 079
(E's contention that it was a health care institution and that Ees forfeited protection of Act by engaging in concerted refusal to work w/o giving 10 days notice pursuant to Sec. 8(g) of Act rejected, since strictures of Sec. 8(g) apply only to labor organizations as defined in Sec. 2(5) and here, group (unaffiliated with any existing labor organization) was totally unstructured and was doing nothing more than presenting grievances and thus was not statutorily defined labor organization)

Oakwood Manor, Inc., d/b/a Danville Nursing Home 256 NLRB No. 108
(walkout by 5 aides in protest over assignment to fewer hours and accusations of vandalism of Ee's car held protected and discharge for walkout held violative; Ees did not lose protection by their failure to give 10 days notice required by 8(g) as no U called, instigated or promoted work stoppage)

Villa Care, Inc., d/b/a Edmonds Villa Care Center 249 NLRB No. 095
(walkout by two nurses aides held not to have lost protection under Sec. 8(g), notwithstanding their failure to give 10 days' notice of intent to strike, since Sec. 8(g) does not apply where labor organization is not involved, and strike here did not involve labor organization, and E and U were not then discussing issue which precipitated strike)

Montefiore Hospital and Medical Center v. N.L.R.B 621 F.2d 510 (C.A. 2, 1980)
(doctors' strike in sympathy with striking unionized Ees at health care institution held protected as to Sec. 8(g) notwithstanding lack of notice to E, in view of 8(g) language applying only to labor organizations and not individuals, legislative history focusing on large scale and not individual activity, and purpose of giving health care institutions enough notice to arrange for patient care - doctors here created no danger or risk of harm to patients)

6050-7550 Sit-in strikes

Ground Round Restaurant, A Division of Howard Johnson JD-(SF)-191-82
(Ees of restaurant who had, after conferring among themselves and expressing dissatisfaction with manager regarding new work schedule which resulted in reduced hours with possible loss of insurance benefits and with other working conditions, requested meeting with owner, were engaged in protected activity when they gathered in bar area before end of shift to await arrival of owner, since no customers in bar, service not disrupted, Ees had completed duties, and there was no violence)

6050-7560 Strike creating risk of property damage

Con-Tex Industries, A Division of Harsco Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 683 F.2d 1183 (C.A. 8, July 1982)
(E did not violate Act when it discharged 13 Ees who shut off their extrusion machines and left work to protest their dissatisfaction with wages and holidays because Ees' action caused E to lose two days' production and Ees could have walked off job w/o shutting off machines as machines could run w/o supervision w/o damage; thus Ees did more than stop work-they interfered with company property and was usurpation of E's option of continuing production; thus Ees were engaged in unprotected activity)

6050-7570 Strike to compel unlawful act

Villa Care, Inc., d/b/a Edmonds Villa Care Center 249 NLRB No. 095
(Ees' demand for premium pay for working on short crew and strike in support thereof not unprotected where demand was not in derogation of U's status as bargaining representative and not a demand for unlawful unilateral change by E)

6050-7580 Strike in violation of no-strike agreement

United States Steel Corporation 264 NLRB No. 010
(Bd will not defer to arbitrators' award which is repugnant to Act, and here where arbitrator upheld suspension of sympathy striker for violating contractual no-strike clause deferral is inappropriate because Bd and cts have held that waiver of right to engage in sympathy strikes will not be inferred from general no strike clause and any waiver must be clear and unmistakable and there is no such evidence of waiver; moreover, under doctrine of coter- mission application Bd and cts have refused to find sympathy strike to be encompassed in broad no-strike pledges)

Owens-Corning Power and Process, a Division of Owens-Corning Fiberglas, Inc. JD-(SF)-208-80
(where Ees engaged in economic strike which was initially rendered unprotected by breach of no-strike clause, E's later condonation of strike by reinstatement of strikers and its agreement that the slate would be wiped clean estopped it from asserting unlawful nature of strike)

The Dow Chemical Company v. N.L.R.B. 636 F.2d 1352 (C.A. 3, 1980)
(E's unilateral announcement and implementation of a shift change from a 7 to 5 day work week held not to justify strike protesting E's action, since U breached contract's no-strike clause w/o exhausting grievance procedures; strike was over conflicting interpretations of contract, and it would be unrealistic to suggest that no-strike clause was not intended to apply to dispute over meaning of contract; consequently, Bd's finding that strike was not breach of contract cannot be sustained as an application of rule of contract interpretation as to coverage of no-strike provision announced in SCt's Mastro Plastics decision)

Caterpillar Tractor Co. v. N.L.R.B. 638 F.2d 140 (C.A. 7, Sept. 1981)
(strike not protected, notwithstanding contention strike ULP and no waiver under contract to strike regarding ULP since contract provided that there would be no strikes until grievance procedure exhausted and grievance on underlying dispute was pending; nor was E's unlawful unilateral changes regarding transfers serious labor dispute w/i Mastro Plastics so as to preclude waiver of right to strike regarding ULPs)

N.L.R.B. v. Southern California Edison Company 646 F.2d 1352 (C.A. 9, Jun 1981)
(sympathy striker's refusal to cross stranger picket line does not violate general no-strike clause, since underlying dispute is between secondary E and its U; dispute is not subject to arbitration provisions of sympathetic striker's collective bargaining agreement)

6050-8300 Wildcat strike

Keyway, A Division of Phase Inc. 263 NLRB No. 172
(discharge of Ees who collectively walked out (for approximately 3 hours) from facility, engaged in prevention and treatment of alchoholism, drug abuse and domestic violence, in protest of discharge of past clinical director, criticizing new director, and expressing concern over quality of treatment of E's clients, not violative, since record contained no evidence that identity and capability of director involved had direct impact on Ees' own job interests; walk out not protected activity, since it did not encompass protest by Ees over actual terms and conditions of their employment)

Virginia Electric and Power Company 262 NLRB No. 144
(wildcat strike held unprotected in view of no-strike clause and grievance-arbitration procedure in contract and U had filed grievance protesting Ee discharge which precipitated strike)

6050-8700 Sympathy strike

United States Steel Corporation 264 NLRB No. 010
(sympathy striker who distributed leaflets urging other Ees to join strike engaged in protected concerted activity and his suspension violative; notwithstanding contract contained no-strike clause as Bd has long held that sympathy strikes are not encompassed by no-strike clauses absent clear waiver)

Geiger & Peters, Inc. JD-(SF)-248-81
(Ees' refusal to cross lawful picket line protected as sympathy strike notwithstanding E's good-faith belief that picket line was violative w/i meaning of 8(b)(4)(D))

Montefiore Hospital and Medical Center v. N.L.R.B 621 F.2d 510 (C.A. 2, 1980)
(doctors' strike in sympathy with striking health care institution Ees lost protection of Act as sympathy strike when doctors discouraged patients from entering clinic by telling them at picket line, in reckless disregard of truth or falsity of their statements, that they could not be taken care of at clinic; such misconduct went beyond limits of fair persuasion and honest appeals to public)

N.L.R.B. v. Southern California Edison Company 646 F.2d 1352 (C.A. 9, Jun 1981)
(section 7 (of Act) protects Ees who engage in sympathy strike in support of lawful primary strike by sister U of same E; respect for integrity of picket line may well be source of strength of whole collective bargaining process in which every U member has legitimate and protected economic interest)

N.L.R.B. v. Southern California Edison Company 646 F.2d 1352 (C.A. 9, Jun 1981)
(right to engage in sympathy strikes may be waived by collective bargaining agreement)

N.L.R.B. v. Southern California Edison Company 646 F.2d 1352 (C.A. 9, Jun 1981)
(Bd analyzes language of collective bargaining agreement and factual circumstances of labor controversy to determine whether U has waived right to engage in sympathy strikes; contract need not explicitly prohibit sympathy strikes to show intent to waive right to engage in such activity)

N.L.R.B. v. Southern California Edison Company 646 F.2d 1352 (C.A. 9, Jun 1981)
(sympathy striker's refusal to cross stranger picket line does not violate general no-strike clause, since underlying dispute is between secondary E and its U; dispute is not subject to arbitration provisions of sympathetic striker's collective bargaining agreement)

N.L.R.B. v. Southern California Edison Company 646 F.2d 1352 (C.A. 9, Jun 1981)
(sympathy strike cannot be enjoined pending arbitration of scope of no-strike clause, since agreement to arbitrate disputes does not necessarily imply promise to refrain from sympathy strikes pending arbitration)

6060 STATEMENTS REGARDING EMPLOYER'S LABOR RELATIONS

Interstate Security Services, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 082
(Ees engaged in protected activity where they generated newspaper article about labor dispute at E which revealed some of E's internal operation as Ees are protected in expressing views on pending labor disputes to public so long as such expressions do not constitute disloyalty or disparagement of E's product or reputation and discharge for such conduct violative)

6060-3000 Derogatory remark in context of protected activity

Rai Research Corporation 257 NLRB No. 127
(displaying in his car windshield sign reading Please don't feed management. They only suck blood, violative as language was aimed at shaking co-workers out of their lethargy and hence protected)

Trans Air Supply Company, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 023
(Ee's use of profane epithet during argument over working conditions found not insubordinate and held protected as Ee's use of profane epithet occurred after discharge and supervisor had earlier referred to Ee with variation of same epithet)

Inland Steel Company 257 NLRB No. 013
(wearing T-shirt with vulgar slogan (INLAND SUCKS) that ridiculed E, protected, where no management official said anything to E about T-shirt or even saw him wearing it during working hours no less told Ee to take it off)

Tyler Business Services, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 088
(E's statements that he believed E's failure to provide part-time Ees hospitalization benefits was unfair, protected; nor was statement rendered unprotected by his remarks to third party concerning personal lives of E's officials since remarks did not relate to E's product or operations nor constitute deliberate intent to impugne company)

Bowman's, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 130
(asking Ees to remove, or turn inside out, T-shirts with Company name and words I's tired of bustin my ass, violative as purpose of shirts was to publicize grievance, did not interfere with order and discipline; it villified no company official and language used is not so obscene as to be objectionable)

Timet, A Division of Titanium Metals Corporation of America 251 NLRB No. 157
(where unlawfully discharged Ee distributed letter derogatory to E after ALJ issued decision, Ee entitled to reinstatement as letter stated truth about his discharge and repeated his original offer to represent Ees concerning matters of common concern)

Go-Lightly Footwear, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 008
(picketing Ees' conversations with newspaper reporter, advising him of placards used in picketing and about E's alleged favoritism and misleading employment advertisements held protected, since Ees do not lose Act's protection merely because they choose to use channels outside the immediate E-Ee relationship)

Pioneer Finishing Corporation 247 NLRB No. 182
(leaflet distributed by Ees to other Ees critical of E's safety conditions, although not accurate representations of fact, constituted concerted protected activity; leaflet's statements were mere rhetorical hyperbole and were not intended nor understood as representations of fact)

New York State United Teachers JD-(NY)-53-81
(reprimand of Ee who had filed grievance regarding Ees' job assignments which was then in arbitration for telling delegates of affiliated organizations of E about arbitration case and which E did not want divulged, violative, since Ee's remarks concerned grievance, did not disparage his E nor reach level of impropriety or disloyalty to E which would result in remarks losing its protected nature)

6060-6700 Truth of statement not proper test

Tyler Business Services, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 088

Pioneer Finishing Corporation 247 NLRB No. 182
(leaflet distributed by Ees to other Ees critical of E's safety conditions, although not accurate representations of fact, constituted concerted protected activity; leaflet's statements were mere rhetorical hyperbole and were not intended nor understood as representations of fact)

N.L.R.B. v. Lummus Industries, Inc. 679 F.2d 229 (C.A. 11, June 1982)

(Ee who made telephone survey of Ees to elicit their concerns over contract and whether they had heard or believed rumors of sellout by U to E engaged in protected activity since no evidence survey taken was accusing company of bribery knowing such accusation was false or with reckless disregard for truth)

6070 STATEMENTS REGARDING EMPLOYER'S BUSINESS

6070-2500 Defamation of employer's product not protected

Interstate Security Services, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 002

New York University Medical Center 261 NLRB No. 118

Planned Parenthood of Alameda and San Francisco Counties JD-(SF)-294-80

(while Ees complaints to third party regarding incompetency of management or vilification of E's product may in certain situations consituted unprotected activity, E must have, at very least, honestly held belief that Ee engaged in such serious acts of misconduct before taking punitive action)

Montefiore Hospital and Medical Center v. N.L.R.B 621 F.2d 510 (C.A. 2, 1980)

(doctors' strike in sympathy with striking health care institution Ees lost protection of Act as sympathy strike when doctors discouraged patients from entering clinic by telling them at picket line, in reckless disregard of truth or falsity of their statements, that they could not be taken care of at clinic; such misconduct went beyond limits of fair persuasion and honest appeals to public)

6070-5000 Derogatory remark in context of protected activity protected

Standard Motor Products, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 088

(utterance of inadvertently or unknowingly false statements made by Ees in context of concerted activity is protected under Act)

Professional Porter & Window Cleaning Co., Division of Propoco, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 034

(Ee's writing letter to former E about working conditions of new subcontractor and determination of work held protected as purpose was not to injure her new E but to encourage improvement in working conditions)

Aker Plastics Company, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 147

(Ee's defacement with derogatory comments of announcement of Christmas party, which Ees criticized because given in lieu of bonus, held not to constitute part of res gestae of concerted activities, since they are distinguishable from that type of excusable exuberant misconduct occurring spontaneously and concurrent with protected activity)

Boston Mutual Life Insurance Company 259 NLRB No. 172

(U steward who gave advice to new insurance agents on company procedures engaged in protected activity notwithstanding E did not appreciate substance of advice given as steward was explaining agent's rights under contract)

Tyler Business Services, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 088

(E's statements that he believed E's failure to provide part-time Ees hospitalization benefits was unfair, protected; nor was statement rendered unprotected by his remarks to third party concerning personal lives of E's officials since remarks did not relate to E's product or operations nor constitute deliberate intent to impugne company)

Go-Lightly Footwear, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 008

(picketing Ees' conversations with newspaper reporter, advising him of placards used in picketing and about E's alleged favoritism and misleading employment advertisements held protected, since Ees do not lose Act's protection merely because they choose to use channels outside the immediate E-Ee relationship)

Allied Aviation Service Company of New Jersey, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 026

(Ee's letters to E's customers regarding lack of safety in E's function of servicing commercial aircraft held concerted protected activity since Ees may properly communicate with third party in order to obtain latter's assistance where communication is related to legitimate ongoing labor dispute between Ees and E, and communication does not constitute disparagement of E's product or reputation)

Planned Parenthood of Alameda and San Francisco Counties JD-(SF)-294-80

(while Ees complaints to third party regarding incompetency of management or vilification of E's product may in certain situations consituted unprotected activity. E must have, at very least, honestly held belief that Ee engaged in such serious acts of misconduct before taking punitive action)

Tribal American Consulting Corporation JD-(SF)-314-80

(Ees' meeting with newspaper reporter and discussing alleged improprieties and withdrawal of federal funding of child development center)

Misericordia Hospital Medical Center v. N.L.R.B. 623 F.2d 808 (C.A. 2, 1980)

(Ees of hospital preparing report for accrediting authority catagloging alleged inadequacies in operation of hospital held protected activity since matters considered involving working conditions; Section 7 protection not lost by seeking relief outside E-Ee relationship, nor did report constitute disloyal statement outside Section 7 protection)

Great Lakes Steel, Division of National Steel Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 625 F.2d 131 (C.A. 6, July 1980)

(ct upheld Bd finding that Ee's possession of pamphlet critical of E's ambulance policy with intent to distribute among other Ees was protected activity and subsequent discharge for such Ee activity violative as supported by substantial evidence on record)

6070-6000 Truth of statement not proper test

Professional Porter & Window Cleaning Co., Division of Propoco, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 034

(whether Ee's statement is protected by Act is not determined by truth or falsity of statement)

6070-7900 Good faith in misrepresenting facts relevant

American Cast Iron Pipe Company, a corporation v. N.L.R.B. 600 F.2d 132 (C.A. 8, 1979)

(maintaining rule which forbids false, vicious or malicious statements about company, its Ees, its products, or methods of manufacture, unlawful, since rule not limited to maliciously false statements but also included merely false statements; further, E may not justify promulgation of broad rule by its need to protect itself from disloyal statements but rather must meet need by rule limited to disloyal statements)

6080 ACTIVITIES IN SUPPORT OF UNION

Louisiana Council No. 17, AFSCME, AFL-CIO 250 NLRB No. 072

(solicitation by U council's Ees of state international organization, which involved matters relating to wages, hours, and working conditions, and their seeking and obtaining aid of state organization's president in transmitting resolution concerning discharge of Ee by council to parent organization's president held protected)

6080-0800 Enlistment of third party support or representation

Louisiana Council No. 17, AFSCME, AFL-CIO 250 NLRB No. 072

(Ee-staff members of U council held not to have engaged in unprotected activity in securing assistance of state labor organization's president in transmitting to parent organization's president resolution calling for reinstatement of Ee discharged by council; bargaining representative has broad discretion in selecting those individuals in organization it desires to act on its behalf, and it also has largely unfettered discretion in seeking and obtaining from others aid it may need to fulfill its statutory representative responsibilities)

6080-1700 Participation in Board proceedings

6080-1767 Formal hearing

N.L.R.B. v. Joseph, d/b/a Meat Packers International 605 F.2d 466 (C.A. 9, 1979)

(discharge of Ee, who had testified at prior Bd proceedings, in order to make room for one reinstated disciminatee not violative where Ee was least competent of workers available; management was entitled to make such selection in order to comply with order of ALJ)

6080-3300 Supplying information to Board agents

Crown Cork & Seal Company, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 004

6080-8700 Obtaining information for union

Wilson Foods Corporation JD-(SF)-272-80

(after E refused to supply data on job classification, brackets assigned to jobs, and wages to U president per request by International, his speaking with Ees on plant floor to obtain data, after end of shift, held protected, notwithstanding he violated plant rule by not securing foreman's permission to talk on plant floor)

Texas Instruments Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 637 F.2d 822 (C.A. 1, 1981)

(discharge of U adherents for violation of E's valid security rule not violative where: Ees published E's confidential wage survey report which Ees had obtained outside of normal course of employment (each page of report was stampted strictly private), Ee manual set forth E's rule against disclosure of confidential information; moreover, Ees' organizing activity not dependent on access to confidential information)

6085 FILING LAW SUITS AGAINST EMPLOYER

Dickran Kassaian v. N.L.R.B. 630 F.2d 36 (C.A. 1, 1980)

(discharge of Ee for calling E's bank with misinformation about E forming credit union with that bank (an illegal activity) and threatening to sue both E and bank, not violative, as Ee's calls were not protected and clearly exceeding bounds of protected activity; also no evidence that E had any other motivation for Ee's discharge)

6090 OTHER FORMS OF ACTIIVITIES PROTECTED

Louisiana Council No. 17, AFSCME, AFL-CIO 250 NLRB No. 072
(so long as concerted activity is not unlawful, in breach of contract or disloyal, Ees engaged in concerted activity do not lose protection of Act simply because their activity contravenes E's rule or policies; application of Sec. 7 of Act does not depend on manner in which Ees choose to press despute, but rather on matter they are protesting)

6090-0200 Solicitation on behalf of union

PPG Industries, Inc., Lexington Plant, Fiber Glass Division 251 NLRB No. 156
(discharge of U activist assertedly for talking U on her break while Ee was working violative where U activist did not interfere with her own or other Ee's work)

6090-0300 Distribution of literature

United States Steel Corporation 264 NLRB No. 010
(sympathy striker who distributed leaflets urging other Ees to join strike engaged in protected concerted activity and his suspension violative; notwithstanding contract contained no-strike clause as Bd has long held that sympathy strikes are not encompassed by no-strike clauses absent clear waiver)

New York University Medical Center 261 NLRB No. 118
(Ee literature, otherwise protected, loses such status only in limited circumstances, such as if literature contains attack on E's products or services, material so disruptive as to threaten plant discipline, or malicious falsehood)

New York University Medical Center 261 NLRB No. 118
(Ees' distribution of leaflets accusing E of using the security guards for fascist gestapo tactics to intimidate black and Spanish workers held protected concerted activity, since Ees did not know that statement was false nor was it published with reckless disregard for whether statement was false or not; while use of term fascist gestapo is not condoned, SCt has stated that the most repulsive speech enjoys immunity provided it falls short of a deliberate or reckless untruth)

Douglas Aircraft Company, Component of McDonnell Douglas Corporation 260 NLRB No. 180
(refusal to permit Ee to distribute to Ees during nonwork time in nonwork area his open letter to E protesting E's new time restriction on Ees' use of plant vending machines, unlawful, where E was well aware that Ee wanted to pass out to fellow Ees letter which protested institution of restriction affecting, and of concern to, Ees; Ee, who had discussed matter with fellow Ees and had steward's approval, was ensuring that E and Ees were aware of extent of Ee dissatisfaction over restriction; and Bd has repeatedly held similar activity to be protected and concerted)

Douglas Aircraft Company, Component of McDonnell Douglas Corporation 260 NLRB No. 180
(Ee's distribution to Ees of his open letter to E protesting E's new time restriction on Ees' use of plant vending machines held group action rather than personal gripe, where letter was in response to group concern and had sanction of U steward; letter's purpose was to advance Ees' common interest and concern over restriction and was for their mutual aid and protection; and Ee's conduct would have been concerted and protected irrespective of whether he was overtly designated by other Ees to act on their behalf, or whether he had outlined to them what he was going to do)

Douglas Aircraft Company, Component of McDonnell Douglas Corporation 260 NLRB No. 180
(E's contention that in order to have violation of 8(a)(1) E must have knowledge of concerted nature of Ee activity, but that it lacked such knowledge with regard to Ee's distribution to Ees of his open letter to E protesting E's time restriction on Ees' use of plant vending machines, rejected, where Ee informed security guards, at gate at which he was distributing, that letter pertains to several hundred people, and letter itself put E on notice when t referred to work force as being subject to restriction which we find frustrating)

Douglas Aircraft Company, Component of McDonnell Douglas Corporation 260 NLRB No. 180
(Ee's distribution to Ees of open letter to E protesting E's restriction on use of plant vending machines was protected and was not attempt to bypass contracting U; contracting parties cannot waive Ees' Sec. 7 rights which might be seriously diluted by banning distribution such as that herein; there was no evidence that production or discipline made controls necessary; and, consequently, Ee was not required to proceed through contract grievance procedure nor to seek redress only through U; moreover contract prohibitions against districution were overly broad and were unlawfully applied to Ee's distribution)

Douglas Aircraft Company, Component of McDonnell Douglas Corporation 260 NLRB No. 180
(Ee's distribution to Ees of his open letter to E protesting E's time restriction on Ees' use of plant vending machines held protected concerted activity, notwithstanding E's contention that letter was libelous, scurrilous, or contained statements so disloyal as to forfeit protection of Act; Ee herein was expressing displeasure regarding restriction in effort to make E aware of Ees' dissatisfaction therewith and, as such, it was related to E's labor policy; and E's hypersensitivity to unclear and sarcastic statements in letter did not convert otherwise protected activity into unprotectd activity)

Fun Striders, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 087
(distribution of literature containing inflamatory political material protected where it also referred to many matters dealing with employment relationship)

National Southwire Aluminum 247 NLRB No. 178
(E's statements to U adherent to get rid of U literature and clean up U literature do not rise to level of promulgation against distribution of literature but does interfere with Ee rights to distribute literature)

Texas Instruments Incorporated 247 NLRB No. 037
(E's rule requiring discharge of any Ee who disclosed classified materials to unauthorized persons held invalid as it was applied to Ees distributing leaflets containing --strictly private area wage surveys of E and its competitors, since Ees were engaged in protected concerted activity; Ees were encouraging collective action to improve wages; none of E's reasons for rule qualified as sufficient business justification to validate rule as applied in instant case)

Pioneer Finishing Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 667 F.2d 199 (C.A. 1, Nov. 1981)
(Ee who distributed leaflet protesting safety conditions in plant engaged in protected concerted activity)

Texas Instruments Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 637 F.2d 822 (C.A. 1, 1981)
(discharge of U adherents for violation of E's valid security rule not violative where: Ees published E's confidential wage survey report which Ees had obtained outside of normal course of employment (each page of report was stamped strictly private), Ee manual set forth E's rule against disclosure of confidential information; moreover, Ees' organizing activity not dependent on access to confidential information)

Fun Striders, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 658 F.2d 716 (C.A. 9, 1981)
(distribution of literature that is purely political is unprotected activity; where, however, leaflets contain non-political matter as well as political matter related to Ee interests, distribution is protected)

6090-0600 Holding union or employee meeting

Bromet Property Management Corporation JD-(SF)-80-81
(violation, where E informed Ee who had acted as spokesman for Ees who deserved to bring concerns to attention of E, that Ees were not to have anymore meetings, and that Ee would be fired if Ees held anymore meetings, and upon being informed Ees intended to have another meeting, fired Ee)

Public Services Planning and Analysis Corporation, d/b/a Airport Connection JD-(SF)-310-79
(vowing to E to meet outside management's presence with other Ees to discuss common concerns relating to conditions of employment)

6090-0700 Attempts by employees to change representative's attitude toward particular bargaining subject

Colonial Stores Incorporated 248 NLRB No. 142
(part-time Ee and her non-Ee husband's circulating ptn among Ees during non-working time stating that E was not complying with contract provision requiring it to maintain greatest possible number of full-time job and that, if U failed to make E adhere to agreement, Ees were not getting full representation, held protected concerted activity notwithstanding that Ee was trying to gain more hours of employment for herself; ptn involved matters of obvious concern to Ees and, moreover, other Ees signed the ptn)

6090-1000 Implementation of contract by stewards

Apollo Clothes, Inc. JD-206-82

6090-1200 Invocation of terms of collective bargaining agreement

Interior Alterations, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 093
(Ees' protesting assignment of contractual unit work to nonunit Ees and seeking to implement terms of contract, protected)

Babcock & Wilcox Company d/b/a B & W Construction Company 263 NLRB No. 001
(U member's threat to file intra-U charge against supervisor held protected notwithstanding Sec. 8(b)(1)(B) violation which resulted from U's pursuit of charge, since threat was not unlawful and violation of Sec. 8(b)(1)(B) occurred only when U acted in response to charge; fact that U member stated he would implement his contractual rights through intra-U charge rather than through contractual grievance procedure should not remove him from Act's protection)

Corbin-Dykes Electric Company JD-(SF)-208-82
(individual Ee's complaints involving safety deemed protected and concerted as long as complaints are based on reasonable belief that existing condition was dangerous, hazardous or unsafe, or that collective bargaining agreement had been violated; reasonableness of Ee's belief is based upon circumstances

as they existed and not upon whether in fact there actually existed such danger or that E had actually violated agreement)

ITT McDonnel and Miller, A Unit of Fluid Handling Division of International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. JD-337-82

(Ee's conduct in interfering with supervisor's removal of grievances which Ee had posted on E's bulletin boards, made available to U under contract, not protected, since E's conduct was neither reasonably related to assertion of contract right nor reasonable in the circumstances in view of Ee's actions in physically blocking supervisor's removal of grievances and his exit from bulletin board area; although Ee may take reasonable steps to enforce his view of bargaining agreement, such steps do not include physical confrontation)

Hanson Rubber Company JD-290-82

(discharge of Ee for uttering obscenity during course of meeting with E dealing with contract provision concerning pay for negotiating sessions violative as Ee was engaged in protected concerted activity and his conduct was not so egregious to remove it from protection of Act where it was uttered in heat of an argument)

Palsa Corporation JD-(SF)-20-82

Public Service Company of New Mexico JD-(SF)-157-80

(Ee's refusal to show E marriage license to verify fact of marriage for purpose of insurance coverage for which only spouses and dependents were eligible, not protected, where Ee had first requested coverage for wife prior to marriage and E had no proof of her subsequent eligibility; Ee's refusal was personal rather than concerted, and he was not enforcing contract right)

Public Service Company of New Mexico JD-(SF)-157-80

(Ee's writing letter to E's insurance supervisor concerning E's refusal to extend insurance coverage to his new wife w/o seeing marriage certificate and in which he called company officials insulting names, not protected, since letter not attempt to enforce contract right but was simply personal diatribe)

N.L.R.B. v. Adams Delivery Service, Inc. 623 F.2d 96 (C.A. 9, July 1980)

(discharge of Ee for protesting lack of contractually-guaranteed overtime pay to U representative, violative, as consultation with U representative to resolve employment dispute is more than mere griping and is not w/i category of obtaining objectives only for himself)

Leo G. Kohls v. N.L.R.B. 629 F.2d 173 (C.A.D.C., 1980)

(discharge of Ee for refusing to drive assigned truck because breaks were not good enough for me, not unlawful, since protest and refusal not concerted and Interboro Contractors doctrine not applied, notwithstanding contention was Ee was asserting contractual right, where Ee was not asserting right on behalf of anyone other than himself nor speaking for others, no evidence Ee and U working in concert to assert contract, and fact Ee withdrew grievance filed on his behalf by U)

6090-1600 Acting as union steward or officer

Cook Paint and Varnish Company 258 NLRB No. 166

(consultation between U steward and Ee potentially subject to E discipline, involving conversations as well as notes kept by steward in course of fulfilling his representational function in grievance/arbitration procedure involving Ee, held protected activity)

Apollo Clothes, Inc. JD-296-82

Salem Gravure Division of World Color Press, Inc. JD-182-81

(U shop steward's use of obscenity toward supervisor when supervisor handed him copy of notice relating to strict enforcement of E's rules toward Ees, not protected where U requested that it be given all notices made by E applicable to its Ees, and E voluntarily complied with request; U representative is not thereby authorized to spout every kind of obscenity which comes to mind and then request and obtain protection of Act)

Master Painting & Sheeting, Inc. JD-(SF)-119-80

(Ees who protested about E's practice of having same Ee be both U steward and foreman engaged in protected concerted activity as possibility of conflict of interest directly related to their conditions of employment)

Pioneer Finishing Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 667 F.2d 199 (C.A. 1, Nov. 1981)

(where contract contained prohibitions against U officials distributing literature on E's premises, and official is also Ee, it will not be assumed that such Ee has waived any of his rights unless he has done so specifically or unless his activities are distructive to collective bargaining process)

Hammermill Paper Company v. N.L.R.B. 658 F.2d 155 (C.A. 3, 1981)

Cook Paint and Varnish Company v. N.L.R.B. 648 F.2d 712 (D Ct D.C., Apr 1981)

(ct remanded case for further proceedings as to whether U steward was entitled to special protection due to his status as U steward in regard to being compelled to answer questions at pre-arbitration interview concerning grievance of fellow Ee in which steward may have been initially responsible for processing grievance; altho ct recognized possible serious infringement on protected activity if representatives were required to submit to compulsory interviews, it indicated that blanket rule would be inappropriate)

6090-1700 Attempts by employees to change union leadership

East Texas Motor Freight 262 NLRB No. 101

(denying dissident U Ee right to post intra-U political literature on company bulletin board located in Ees' break room held violative where E permitted other Ees to use bulletin board for other than official U business but denied dissident U Ee right to advertise his U activity on board; E enforced otherwise legimate contractual limitation on use of bulletin board in disparate manner)

N.L.R.B. v. Transcon Lines 599 F.2d 719 (C.A. 5, 1979)

(material, distributed by U dissident, attacking incumbent U's leadership and proposing opposition to incumbent officers in upcoming election held protected)

N.L.R.B. v. Lummus Industries, Inc. 679 F.2d 229 (C.A. 11, June 1982)

(Ee who distributed leaflet which criticized both E and U and sought improvement of U representation engaged in protected concerted activity)

6090-1800 Activities as a safety committeeman

Atlas Minerals, Division of Atlas Corporation 256 NLRB No. 022

(Ee's participation, as miner's representative, in mine safety inspection conducted by federal agency held protected activity)

6090-1900 Participation in concerted activity at another employer's premises or with another employer's employees

N.L.R.B. v. Faulkner Hospital 691 F.2d 51 (C.A. 1, Oct. 1982)

(E's discharge of Ee who gave statement to Ee of another E closely allied with first E to use in his unemployment compensation hearing and statement was also used in grievance proceeding for that Ee, violative as Ee who gave statement was engaged in protected concerted activity whether grievant won or lost, because circumstances of another Ee's discharge were at issue in unemployment compensation hearing and bore sufficiently close nexus to terms and conditions of employment to be protected)

6090-2400 Circulation of petition to obtain time off for holiday season

Pyromatics, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 141

(E's contention that Ee's circulation of ptn for obtaining holiday season time off did not relate to mutual aid and protection of Ees, rejected, in view of use of term hours in Sec. 8(d)'s definition of collective bargaining, as term used in Sec. 7, as conferring with respect to wages, hours, and other terms and conditions of employment: in view thereof, collective request for time off cannot be conceived as not protected under Sec. 7; and leaves of absence have been found bargainable, and thus a term or condition of employment)

6090-2500 Attendance or testifying at unemployment compensation proceedings

M K Laboratories, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 021

(Ees, acting in concert, have Sec. 7 right to attend unemployment compensation hearings involving discharge of fellow Ee, which is to be balanced against E's interest in efficiently operating his business)

N.L.R.B. v. Faulkner Hospital 691 F.2d 51 (C.A. 1, Oct. 1982)

(E's discharge of Ee who gave statement to Ee of another E closely allied with first E to use in his unemployment compensation hearing and statement was also used in grievance proceeding for that Ee, violative as Ee who gave statement was engaged in protected concerted activity whether grievant won or lost, because circumstances of another Ee's discharge were at issue in unemployment compensation hearing and bore sufficiently close nexus to terms and conditions of employment to be protected)

Supreme Optical Company, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 628 F.2d 1262 (C.A. 6, 1980)

(attendance of 5 Ees at unemployment compensation hearing at request of former Ee held protected in view of sufficiently close nexus to terms and conditions of employment since termination of particular Ee potentially affects relationship between all Ees and E)

6090-3300 Wearing or otherwise displaying union insignia or signs

Midstate Telephone Company 262 NLRB No. 167

(Ees' reporting to work wearing T-shirts on which appeared facsimile of E's logo depicting logo as cracked and displaying accompanying slogan, I survived Midstate strike of 1971-1975-1979 held protected, where T-shirts worn by Ees were clearly directed at promoting solidarity by publicizing that Ees had survived recent prolonged 5-month strike and there were no special circumstances which would warrant deviation from general rule protecting right of Ees to wear insignia at work pertaining to Us or working conditions)

Inland Steel Company 257 NLRB No. 063
(wearing T-shirt with vulgar slogan (INLAND SUCKS) that rediculed E, protected, where no management official said anything to E about T-shirt or even saw him wearing it during working hours so less told Ee to take it off)

The Nestle Company 248 NLRB No. 106
(enforcing company rule prohibiting wearing jewelry and nonuniform clothing w/i E's production areas held violative where rule was not applied to non-U related jewelry and clothing worn by Ees not favoring U; rule was discriminatorily enforced)

Pay 'N Save Corporation 247 NLRB No. 184
(right to wear U buttons is legitimate form of U activity)

St. Joseph's Hospital of The Franciscan Sisters of Milwaukee, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 128
(wearing of arm band with U insignia not protected in hospital setting where arm band superimposed on uniform was highly obtrusive)

Coors Container Company v. N.L.R.B. 628 F.2d 1283 (C.A.D.C.)
(Ees' display of sign urging boycott of E's product held concerted protected activity, notwithstanding E's contention that Bd's finding to that effect unlawfully interfered with enforcement of E's rule prohibiting boycottsigns on E's premises necessary for maintaining plant securityand avoiding incidents at plant gates; prohibition was not justified by special circumstances inasmuch as sign was displayedover mile from any work facility, and wording was not so provocative as to remove protection of Act)

Coors Container Company v. N.L.R.B. 628 F.2d 1283 (C.A.D.C.)
(Ees' decision to display sign urging boycott of E's product held not rendered unprotected even if fear of picketing strikers played a part in their decision to do so, since fear was not sole motivating factor inasmuch asEe's were also motivated by desire to encourage strikers)

6090-3300 Discussion between employees about possibility of joining union in order to secure benefits

Cardinal Systems, A Division of Hospitality Motor Inns, Inc., d/b/a Cummins Component Plant 259 NLRB No. 065
(manager's telling Ees that she didn't want Ees to be talking over telephones about U; she didn't want Ees to call one another; nor did she want 1st-shift Ees to be talking to 2nd-shift Ees; all violative, since requests constituted prohibition against Ees exercise of their statutory rights on nonworking time)

F.W.I.L. Lundy Bros. Restaurant, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 057
(announcement by manager to assembled Ees that he did not want them to discuss U, held violative)

6090-3400 Discussing wages

Donnelly Manufacturing Co. Division of Brockhouse Corp. 265 NLRB No. 196
(Ees discussing amount of their pay raises given by E with other Ees of E, protected)

6090-4200 'Griping' to other employees about working conditions

Lutheran Social Service of Minnesota, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 018
(derogatory comments about E's management by Ees of center for disturbed and displaced youth and expression of differences regarding policies not protected, since aimless rather than concerted, and nature of Ees' concerns was not effect of policies on own working conditions but on quality of program and welfare of residents inasmuch as these are peculiarly management's concern; further, Ees' use of profanity in criticizing management in presence of residents and disrupting and demoralizing effect of their actions on other Ees, particularly in view of E's mission, rendered them unfit for further service)

Elliott Carpet Installations JD-(SF)-93-82
(discharge of Ee who constantly discussed with other Ees his dissatisfaction with travel allowance he was receiving under U contract for commuting to job, unlawful, notwithstanding caused disruption on job or fact Ee refused to contact U in order to settle matter, where E never talked with Ee before discharging him and Ee was trying to convince other Ees they too should be receiving more pay under contract)

The Ohio Casualty Insurance Co. JD-292-81
(discharge of Ee who protested work assignment in loud, vulgar language not violative notwithstanding she was communicating with other Ees as this is mere griping which Act does not protect)

The Ohio Casualty Insurance Co. JD-292-81
(Ee's statement to another Ee in response to comment by other Ee during conversation in loud vulgar language considered mere griping and thus unprotected; therefore, discharge for this conduct not violative)

Washington University School of Medicine, A Division of the Washington University JD-154-81

Floyd Monroe & Sons, Inc. JD-80-81
(supervisor telling Ees that they were not to discuss their problems among themselves but were to take them only to supervisors held violative, since instruction prevented Ees from discussing matters concerning their wages, hours or other conditions of employment among themselves)

Public Services Planning and Analysis Corporation, d/b/a Airport Connection JD-(SF)-310-79
(raising matters of mutual concern with other Ees relating to wages, hours, and other terms and conditions of employment)

N.L.R.B. v. American Spring Bed Manufacturing Co., d/b/a American Chain Link Fence Co. 670 F.2d 1236 (C.A. 1, Feb. 1982)
(Ee's discussion of his wages, because it touched off chain of discourse among his fellow Ees, protected activity)

N.L.R.B. v. Datapoint Corporation 642 F.2d 123 (C.A. 5, Apr 8, 1981)
(where Ee, in rude and beligerent manner, complained to fellow Ees about E's plan to layoff Ees for 1 week while plant moved to new location, discharge of Ee not violative as such activity is not protected where no evidence that Ee had object of initiating or inducing or preparing for group action; activity which consists of mere talk, in order to be protected, must be talk looking toward group action)

6090-4900 Invocation of Board processes (see also 8(a)(4))

The Buffalo Newspaper Guild, Local 26, and The Newspaper Guild, AFL-CIO-CLC (Buffalo Courier Express, Inc.) 265 NLRB No. 048
(U member who filed UC ptn with Bd engaged in protected activity notwithstanding Bd's rules permit only E or U to file such ptn as proceeding was initiated for purpose of requesting Bd to reconsider its policy and such proceedings are as deserving of protection as those filed in conformity with existing standards)

Bay State Gas Company 255 NLRB No. 089
(discharge of Ee who had filed charge with Bd not violative where discharge took place 1 month after charge withdrawn, discharged for excessive absenteeism and GC failed to establish prima facie case that Ee was discharged for protected activity)

OMC Stern Drive, A Division of Outboard Marine Corporation 253 NLRB No. 062
(while finding it unnecessary to pass on 8(a)(4) portion of complaint on basis of which ALJ found that U steward's suspension and discharge violated 8(a)(4); as well as 8(a)(3), Bd found that E interfered with statutorily protected right to file charges and present testimony to Bd by giving unexcused absences to Ees, who gave last minute notice from work, after E learned that they went to Bd's Regional Office)

Giant Food, Inc. 232 NLRB No. 182
(Ee who urged another Ee to aid U by supporting its objections to election involved in protected activity not harrassment and discharge violative; moreover, E's belief that had Ee engaged in misconduct does not justify discharge where in fact he had not engaged in such misconduct)

St. Regis Paper Company 247 NLRB No. 105
(statements to Ees that filing ULP charges against E could lead to plant closure held violative)

Clark & Hinojosa, Attorneys at Law, A Professional Corporation 247 NLRB No. 089
(refusal to pay benefits to discharged Ee, to whom E promised one-half month's salary as post-termination pay, held violative inasmuch as E treated Ee differently than other discharged Ees because of Ee's expressed intent to seek redress from Bd)

Clark & Hinojosa, Attorneys at Law, A Professional Corporation 247 NLRB No. 089
(complainants who mistakenly seek to invoke Bd processes considered w/i Sec. 8(a)(4)'s protective reach)

Carl Karcher Enterprises JD-(SF)-227-82
(filing of ULP charges)

6090-5000 Organizing protest regarding working conditions

Sun Belt Linens, Inc., d/b/a South Texas Linen Service (Laundry and Dye House Workers, Local 281, a/w Teamsters) 260 NLRB No. 174
(Ee's encouraging other Ees during nonworking time to engage in walkout if Ees were required to work beyond 6 p.m. without being provided a meal held protected concerted activity)

6090-5200 Right to resign from union

N.L.R.B. v. Machinists Local 1327, District Lodge 115 608 F.2d 1219 (C.A. 9, 1979)
(U member has right to resign from U but U can proscribe rule which limits right to resign during strike to protect its members and U during that critical period)

6090-5400 Opposition to union hierarchy

Lummus Industries, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 079

General Truck Drivers, Warehousemen & Helpers Union, Local 980, et al. (Nelson Freight Lines, Inc., et al.) 240 NLRB No. 096

(member criticizing administration of U official, protected, notwithstanding member had not declared his candidacy to oust official)

Local 394, Laborers' (Building Contractors Association of New Jersey) 247 NLRB No. 085

(attempts to restrict hiring hall referrals to non-pensioners)

Master Painting & Sheeting, Inc. JD-(SF)-119-80

(Ees who protested about E's practice of having same Ee be both U steward and foreman engaged in protected concerted activity as possibility of conflict of interest directly related to their conditions of employment)

N.L.R.B. v. Transcon Lines 599 F.2d 719 (C.A. 5, 1979)

(material, distributed by U dissident, attacking incumbent U's leadership and proposing opposition to incumbent officers in upcoming election held protected)

6090-5450 Reform group

Central Storage and Transfer Co. of Harrisburg 263 NLRB No. 089

(E's refusal to hire former Ee because it was aware that discriminatee was member of Teamsters for a Democratic U a reform group w/i U and opposed E's training program, length of workday and notion of giving up negotiated benefits if necessary to sustain economically troubled company, violative, as this refusal based on his expression of protected U-related matters including advocating strict adherence to Master Freight Agreement)

6090-5600 Opposition to bargaining representative

London Chop House, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 083

(Bd has held that Act protects Ees against actions taken in reprisal for their activities in opposition to U and, specifically, such protection applies for activities in opposition to contract ratification; contract ratification votes and procedures are internal U matters upon which E is not free to intrude; and protection of Act is not lost because Ees, engaged in opposition to U, concurrently hold official position in U)

London Chop House, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 083

(bargaining committee member's initial support of contract ratification and his later decision and action taken in opposition to ratification held protected activity and not ethically and morally reprehensible; and his actions were concerted since gravamen of C alleged that he was engaged in U, or intra-U, activity and, consequently, fact that he was acting alone is immaterial)

N.L.R.B. v. Lummus Industries, Inc. 679 F.2d 229 (C.A. 11, June 1982)

(Ee who distributed leaflet which criticized both E and U and sought improvement of U representation engaged in protected concerted activity)

6090-5800 Contacting union representative

A.P.F. Electronics, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 068

(Ee contacting U representative regarding making and receiving phone calls on job, protected; fact that grievance may be groundless does not in any way affect protected right of Ee to bring it to attention of U representative)

6090-5900 Organizing protest regarding change in working conditions

Lutheran Social Service of Minnesota, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 018

(derogatory comments about E's management by Ees of center for disturbed and displaced youth and expression of differences regarding policies not protected, since aimless rather than concerted, and nature of Ees' concerns was not effect of policies on own working conditions but on quality of program and welfare of residents inasmuch as these are peculiarly management's concern; further, Ees' use of profanity in criticizing management in presence of residents and disrupting and demoralizing effect of their actions on other Ees, particularly in view of E's mission, rendered them unfit for further service)

Floyd Monroe & Sons, Inc. JD-80-81

(discharge of school bus driver assertedly because she had been troublemaker, agitator and bitch on wheels held violative where Ee was discharged solely because she had urged her fellow Ees to engage in strike to protest announced wage cut)

6090-6300 Discussion filing or presentation of grievances

Barry S. Salaf, M.D., A Professional Corporation, d/b/a The Victoria Medical Group and The West Jefferson Medical Group 264 NLRB No. 019

(discharge of Ees who refused to work until management heard their grievances concerning, inter alia lack of (medical) supervision of their paramedical responsibilities held violative, since such lack was matter plainly affecting Ees' terms and conditions of employment and their insistence that they be heard was protected activity)

Champion Parts Rebuilders, Inc., Northeast Division 260 NLRB No. 098

(Ee who filed grievance over alleged failure of E's vice-president to wear safety glasses in plant was not engaged in protected activity as E's conduct had no direct or reasonably foreseeable impact upon terms and conditions of employment of unit Ees; thus, E's remarks concerning Ee's grievance filing activity not violative)

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company 260 NLRB No. 086

(action of U steward protesting E's practice of red lining Ees who had refused to work overtime protected, and stewards outburst during confrontation with E does not make him lose Act's protection, thus E's warning steward and later suspending him for 4 hours for his outburst violative)

San Diego County Association For The Retarded 259 NLRB No. 136

(discharge of Ees who sought to resolve their grievances through strike action rather than through E's established grievance procedure held unlawful, since Ees were engaged in strike for purpose of causing E to resolve their work-related grievances in manner satisfactory to Ees)

Trans Air Supply Company, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 023

(leadman's attempt to improve working conditions at request of fellow Ees which resulted in heated argument with plant superintendent over need for fans to be turned on to clear smoke and fumes from work area held protected, where he obeyed order to return to work area yet continued protest; E invited such protest by telling Ees to bring problems directly to him)

Lamar Advertising Associates of Dayton d/b/a Lamar Outdoor Advertising 257 NLRB No. 022

(discharge of Ee who had taken active roll in presenting common grievances of Ees, checked out U rates of pay and argued with E to obtain such rates for Ees violative as Ee was engaged in protected concerted activity)

Avalon-Carver Community Center 255 NLRB No. 141

(Ee who prepared grievance on behalf of other Ees criticizing performance of supervisor engaged in protected concerted activity and discharge violative)

Hacienda Hotel and Casino 254 NLRB No. 007

(rule against Ees either individually or concertedly initially seeking recourse with respect to matters pertaining to wages, hours or working conditions through means other than U, overbroad)

OMC Stern Drive, A Division of Outboard Marine Corporation 253 NLRB No. 042

(E's exception to ALJ's reliance on previous disciplinary warnings as evidence of animosity that E held toward U steward and his U activities, overruled; steward's activities were good faith attempts to process grievances, and alleged violations by him of grievance procedure were, at most, technical and were not so clearly transgressions as to remove grievance activity from protection of Act; moreover, steward's good faith is shown by fact that his use of working time to conduct U business other than processing grievances ceased once arbitrator ruled that such activity violated contract)

Omark-RCBS, A Division of Omark Industries 252 NLRB No. 089

(E's statements requesting Ees to deal directly with management, asking for complaints or gripes and requesting opportunity to resolve problems, held violative since they constituted clear attempt to dissuade Ees from supporting U by soliciting grievances and holding out possibility of more favorable treatment)

Ford Motor Company 251 NLRB No. 066

(Ees who file grievances, civil suits or ULP charges in protest of E's promotional policies to supervisory positions, protected)

Hawthorne Mazda, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 038

(Ee held engaged in protected concerted activity where he had been instrumental in securing fellow Ees' support in form of ptn for confronting E's management with their concerns regarding, pay, scheduling, and lack of a changing room; in securing meeting at which concerns could be addressed; and in presenting concerns to management in a way that conveyed their group nature, with Ee acting as spokesman for Ees in communicating with management which knew he was acting in that capacity)

United States Postal Service 250 NLRB No. 002

(assuming U steward uttered obscenity toward supervisor in course of formally investigating possible grievance over working conditions on behalf of unit Ee when supervisor failed to see steward immediately and directly, such utterance was part of res gestae of investigation and was not so flagrant or egregious as to remove protection of Act)

Colonial Stores Incorporated 248 NLRB No. 143

(where Ee and her husband, a non-Ee, circulated ptn among Ees protesting E's alleged failure to abide by bargaining agreement and U's failure to enforce agreement, and subsequently the husband drove to E's parking lot with signs stating, E had no regard for its Ees' rights, Bd held Ee's displaying signs in her husband's car constituted protected concerted activity, since it was protest concerned with E's adherence to grievance settlement under terms of contract, a subject of potential concern to other Ees, and it was not undertaken for unlawful purpose or in unlawful manner)

Lane Trenching, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 183
(threat to discharge Ee if he continued to make contractual overtime claims held violative, since Ee has statutorily protected right to seek to enforce contract)

Van Hoaren Specialized Carriers, Inc., A Subsidiary of Dobson Heavy Haul, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 171

St. Regis Paper Company 247 NLRB No. 166
(statements linking loss of work and overtime to U's pursuit of grievance under contract held violative, since statements tended to create chilling effect on Ees' rights to file or process grievances)

St. Regis Paper Company 247 NLRB No. 166
(transferring work from one of E's plants to another of E's plants in another city to eliminate overtime, subject of an Ees' grievance, held violative, since grievance was protected activity)

Oscar Roberts Company JD-334-82

Avis-Rent-A-Car Systems, Inc. JD-62-82
(Ee who files grievance either on his own behalf or behalf of fellow Ees is engaged in protected concerted activity, notwithstanding there may be no merit to grievance, therefore discharge of suspended Ee who came on E's property, to file grievance over suspension violative)

Kimberly-Clark Corporation JD-(SF)-291-81

E. A. Fuller Bentleys, Inc. d/b/a Bentleys Lounge JD-498-81
(Ees ceasing work and requesting meeting with management to concertedly present complaints about harassment, protected, whether justified or not)

Roadway Express JD-(ATL)-25-81
(discharge not violative where Ee would have been discharged in accordance with contract even in absence of any protected conduct with respect to filing of grievances or workmen's compensation claim)

Stearns-Roger, Inc. JD-10-81
(even if grievance is unmeritorious)

Planned Parenthood of Alameda and San Francisco Counties JD-(SF)-294-80
(Ees voluntarily attending meeting with management on own time to discuss working conditions, or refraining from attending, protected)

Batavia Nursing Convalescent Inn, Inc. JD-23-80
(soliciting Ees to take their complaints to individual whom Ee considered to be boss of facility though he had no official connection with E at that time rather than through regular channels held to have been concerted activity where Ees' complaints and dissatisfaction were directed to employment conditions of concern to other Ees and protected because boss's conduct was such that even though he had officially severed his connection with E he was held agent of E)

N.L.R.B. v. St. Anne's Hospital 648 F.2d 67 (C.A. 1, May 1981)
(protest by operating room nurses against hospital's call-in policy)

United States Postal Service v. N.L.R.B. 652 F.2d 409 (C.A. 5, July 1981)
(Act's protection of E's conduct during grievance meeting does not necessarily terminate instant E ends discussion. Bd may extend protection to cooling off period of brief duration at termination of grievance meetings, since protection of Ees' participation in grievance meetings would be seriously threatened if E could at any emotional or argumentative point during meeting call immediate halt to operation of Act. Appropriateness and duration of cooling off period will depend on facts of each case and determination left to Bd's discretion)

N.L.R.B. v. Ford Motor Company 683 F.2d 156 (C.A. 6, July 1982)

N.L.R.B. v. Mr. A's Restaurant 647 F.2d 171(T) (C.A. 9, Mar 1981)
(filing grievance)

6090-6400 Employee meetings concerning grievances

Ferry Cap & Set Screw Company JD-671-80
(suspension of U committeeman allegedly for walking off job because management failed to meet with him and other Ees, violative, where Ee tried to arrange meeting between Ees and management about working conditions and he had informed his supervisors of medical appointment and would not work that day of meeting)

6090-6600 Dealing with public agencies regulating working conditions

Stauffer Chemical Company 263 NLRB No. 179
(E's maintaining rule prohibiting Ees (environmental engineers) from contacting government agencies (polluting authorities of EPA) directly for information relating to occupational health and safety standards regarding removal of organic waste from effluent water held not violative, since rule was valid on its face and E demonstrated legitimate and substantial business justification for its rule; Ees used such information for interpreting EPA regulations for E's Environmental control Department; rule (in issue) operated to establish orderly way of obtaining work-related information)

IMCO/International Measurement & Control Company, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 100
(closure of plant for afternoon with no pay to Ees because of Ees' complaints to health department regarding unsanitary conditions in plant due to presence of cats adopted by E, unlawful, where neither health department nor actual conditions required closure)

Ciampi Transportation Company 256 NLRB No. 173
(going to Wage-Hour labor-board to file complaint)

Burnup & Sims, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 142
(discharge of Ees assertedly because they failed to report to work held violative where E had given Ees permission to be absent from work to consult with Bd, EEOC, attorney and labor U concerning Ees' job security and other work problems notwithstanding work was interrupted; E's motive irrelevant as reason for discharge was for engaging in protected concerted activities)

Atlas Minerals, Division of Atlas Corporation 256 NLRB No. 022
(contention that single Ee, when utilizing agency involved in regulating Ee working conditions, is not engaged in concerted activity under analysis of various cts, rejected by ALJ, since Bd law is binding upon him, and E's threat to terminate an Ee for going to agency was made to all Ees and applied with equal force to chill collective and individual recourse to agency)

United Services For The Handicapped 251 NLRB No. 117
(issuing reprimand and threatening to discharge Ee for not following grievance procedure, when he complained to CETA official that he, as recalled discriminatee, was working only two or three hours per day while newly hired drivers under CETA were working full time held violative, since Ee's activities in protesting his part-time status were protected activity)

Frank Briscoe Incorporated 247 NLRB No. 006
(contention that laid-off black Ees who filed EEOC charges engaged in protected concerted activity only with respect to other black Ees in laid-off group because black Ees could only succeed with EEOC at expense of white Ees in group, rejected; action by Ee group to vindicate right against discrimination constitutes protected concerted activity on behalf of all Ees)

Carl Karcher Enterprises JD-(SF)-227-83
(Ee's initiation and registration of complaints with State OSHA, relating to unsafe conditions at E's facility, and advanced on behalf of all Ees thereat, held protected concerted activity, notwithstanding Ee's stated objective of achieving revenge against E for refusing to promote him; Ee was not acting in irresponsible or hostile manner with reckless purpose to injure when he sought assistance of E in correcting what he believed were unsafe conditions verified in OSHA inspections; and revenge was not motivating factor in Ee's efforts, which were based on legitimate, substantive grounds relating to job safety)

The Learning Castle, Inc. JD-669-80
(discharge of 2 Ees who refused to perform driving part of their job assignments not violative as this was true reason, not fact that Ees had telephoned insurance agent and State agency asking questions concerning driving on job)

Boro Buses Co. JD-480-80
(Ee's seeking assistance of United States Department of Labor, while attempting to pursue grievance concerning his seniority, protected)

Shuttle Motor Corporation JD-327-80
(Ee's inquiry of state agency regarding legality of back-stubbing i.e., E refusing to pay for current work in order to recoup where Ee had been paid too much for previous work, not concerted, where back-stubbing was not matter of common C among Ees; further, Ee called agency before any adverse action taken against him and subsequent back-stubbing against him rectified)

N.L.R.B. v. Lloyd A. Fry Roofing Company, Inc. of Delaware 651 F.2d 442 (C.A. 6, June 1981)
(Ee's filing Equipment Complaint Report and Federal Highway Administration's Driver Vehicle Condition Report held protected as purpose was to eliminate safety hazard's on E's trucks)

N.L.R.B. v. Bighorn Beverage 614 F.2d 1238 (C.A. 9) (1980)
(filing of safety C with state agency by Ee acting alone not protected concerted activity in absence of collective-bargaining agreement as there is no agreement to implement which would be source of Ee's claimed rights)

(Ee was not engaged in protected activity when he knowingly filed false workmen's compensation claim)

Bay State Gas Company 255 NLRB No. 099
(discharge of Ee for excessive absenteeism who had filed workmen's compensation claim not violative where GC failed to establish prima facie case that protected activity was cause for discharge)

Crown Cork & Seal Company, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 004
(filing and pursuit of OSHA charges were concerted activities)

Ogden & Moffett Company 254 NLRB No. 101
(laying drivers off because they and their fellow Ees made complaints to state agency regarding overloaded or defective trailers and also because they refused to operate trailers they considered overloaded or defective, violative)

G. B. Williams Company 252 NLRB No. 146
(soliciting withdrawal of charges filed by Ees with State Human Rights Department and threatening job security of Ee if he didn't withdraw charge, unlawful)

United Services For The Handicapped 251 NLRB No. 117
(issuing reprimand and threatening to discharge Ee for not following grievance procedure, when he complained to CETA official that he, as recalled discriminatee, was working only two or three hours per day while newly hired drivers under CETA were working full time held violative, since Ee's activities in protesting his part-time status were protected activity)

Stafford Construction Co. 250 NLRB No. 128

United Investment Corporation d/b/a Santo's Bakery 249 NLRB No. 100
(Ee's filing of claim with state agency held concerted as well as protected activity even if Ee had acted as individual in so doing; here, however, he had also discussed the matter and gone to state office to file claim with other Ees acting in concert with him to seek mutual aid and agency's protection; moreover E was aware of concerted nature of Ee's conduct)

John Rooney, David Hinman and Beverly Foster, d/b/a Rooney's At The Mart 247 NLRB No. 125

Niagara Falls Sightseeing By Sheridan, Inc. JD-447-82
(filing of claim for unemployment compensation pursuant to state statute protected and concerted as matter of interest to other Es)

Methadone Maintenance Health Program, Inc. JD-173-82

California Pacific National JD-(SF)-260-81
(questioning Ee about whether he had filed OSHA complaint violative)

Wise Machine Co., Inc. JD-308-81
(discharge of U adherent allegedly because Ee pursued claim for workmen's compensation benefits, not violative where no Ee ever had been disciplined by E for filing any claim whether for workmen's compensation, unemployment compensation or accident and sickness benefits; sole reason for Ee's discharge was his actually having worked for another E while off on disability claim)

Roadway Express JD-(ATL)-28-81
(discharge not violative where Ee would have been discharged in accordance with contract even in absence of any protected conduct with respect to filing of grievances or workmen's compensation claim)

Peninsula Association for Retarded Children and Adults JD-(SF)-269-80
(filing of wage claims before state agency protected concerted activity even if individual acts on his own)

Roadway Express, Inc. JD-201-80
(with Department of Transportation; protected)

Frank Briscoe Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 637 F.2d 946 (C.A. 3, 1981)

Krispy Kreme Doughnut Corp. v. N.L.R.B. 635 F.2d 304 (C.A. 4, 1980)
(Ee's refusal to forego workmen's compensation claim did not constitute protected concerted activity, since there was no evidence that action of solitary Ee here contemplated any group activity or that he was in fact . . . acting on behalf of or as representative of other employees; at most his action can be said to have been for the benefit of other employees only in a theoretical sense)

Jim Causley Pontiac, Division Jim Causley, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 675 F.2d 125 (C.A. 6, Apr. 1982)
(although affirming finding that discharged Ee's filing of MIOSHA complaint was protected concerted activity, ct for second time remanded case to Bd to determine whether E had actual knowledge of concertedness of Ee's actions where Bd on previous remand had relied on evidence already submitted and applied wrong standard in holding that it was sufficient if E knew or should have known that Ee's actions were concerted)

N.L.R.B. v. Lloyd A. Fry Roofing Company, Inc. of Delaware 651 F.2d 442 (C.A. 6, June 1981)
(Ee's filing Equipment Complaint Report and Federal Highway Administration's Driver Vehicle Condition Report held protected as purpose was to eliminate safety hazard's on E's trucks)

Jim Causley Pontiac, Division Jim Causley, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 620 F.2d 122 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(ct agreed with Bd that Ee's complaints to E and MIOSHA of excessive paint fumes and danger of their proximity to gas heater pilot lights were protected concerted activity, where complainant got the other affected Ee's permission to use his name and referred to him in complaint, however, ct remanded case to Bd for finding on issue, not addressed by Bd, as to whether E knew of other Ee's involvement and that activity in question was concerted)

6090-8100 Attending or serving as witness in hearings before government agencies

The American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees 262 NLRB No. 121
(testifying in court case bought by discharged supervisor to vindicate her rights under strike settlement agreement, not protected, since it was not shown that identity of supervisor, and hence her reinstatement as result of ct decision, would affect working conditions)

Gentown, A Division of Emro Marketing Company JD-66-82
(Ee who testified at unemployment compensation hearing for coworker engaged in protected activity)

N.L.R.B. v. Faulkner Hospital 691 F.2d 51 (C.A. 1, Oct. 1982)
(E's discharge of Ee who gave statement to Ee of another E closely allied with first E to use in his unemployment compensation hearing and statement was also used in grievance proceeding for that Ee, violative as Ee who gave statement was engaged in protected concerted activity whether grievant won or lost, because circumstances of another Ee's discharge were at issue in unemployment compensation hearing and bore sufficiently close nexus to terms and conditions of employment to be protected)

6090-9300 Refusing to perform job assignment

Transport Service Co. 263 NLRB No. 125
(discharge of Ee who refused to drive truck which was overweight and in violation of state law (though w/i tolerances allowed by states and therefore exempt from criminal prosecution), violative, as Ee was engaged in protected concerted activity when he refused to drive; refusals to violative state law are presumptively protected concerted actively; moreover, inquires into private motivations for asserting such reasons is limited to whether it was asserted in good faith or maliciously)

Florida Steel Corporation 262 NLRB No. 102
(discharge of Ee who refused to drive truck not violative as he was discharged for refusal to perform assigned task; moreover, although he had reported to E that truck was unsafe and in need of repair, upon his reassignment to it two days later he made no attempt to ascertain if it had been repaired (which was normal policy) but merely refused to drive truck giving no explanation and was thus not engaged in protected activity)

Babcock & Wilcox, B & W Construction Company 255 NLRB No. 068
(no violation for discharging two Ees who refused to perform assertedly dangerous job in violation of no stoppage of work clause in contract and GC did not rely on Section 502; fact that Ees did not use word refuse is of no consequence nor fact that supervisor did not threaten Ees with discharge if they did not perform work)

Deister Concentrator Company, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 040
(Ees protest to E about working along side Ee with suspected health problem protected activity)

Timothy Kasmoch and David G. Kasmoch d/b/a Warrendale Garage and Trucking JD-174-82
(it is not necessary that complaint by Ee to E regarding working conditions be found to be meritorious in order to hold that activity was protected; it is sufficient if complaint by Ee to E regarding working conditions was apparently reasonable, made for legitimate purposes, and was not fabricated for personal motives)

Timothy Kasmoch and David G. Kasmoch d/b/a Warrendale Garage and Trucking JD-174-82
(discharge of truck driver because he refused to operate truck based on his belief that loaded truck would be overweight under laws of 2 states held violative, since such refusal is protected concerted activity; discharge had effect, intended or not, of serving as warning to other drivers that they were in danger of losing their jobs if they refused to violate state laws by operating overweight vehicles)

Gullett & Gould Ltd. JD-676-80
(discharging Ee for refusing to drive tractor-trailer into state in violation of state's length restrictions, violative)

Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel Corp. v. N.L.R.B. 618 F.2d 1009 (C.A. 3, 1980)
(refusal of Ees to perform job assignment for safety reasons)

City Disposal Systems, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 683 F.2d 1005 (C.A. 6, July 1982)
(discharge of Ee who refused to drive truck he believed to be unsafe not violative where Ee was not engaged in concerted activity as he was acting solely for himself, did not attempt to warn other Ees that truck was unsafe, did not seek assistance of U representative in effort to avoid driving truck, and only made isolated comment to E that E cared more about garbage than men)

United Parcel Service v. N.L.R.B. 654 F.2d 12 (C.A. 6, July 1981)
(discipline of Ee who refused to open door of truck, alleging that it was unsafe not violative as Ee's complaint about unsafe conditions was not made on behalf of any other Ees and was therefore not concerted activity)

Irvin H. Whitehouse & Sons Co. v. N.L.R.B. 659 F.2d 830 (C.A. 7, Sept. 1981)
(where safety issue is one that must be submitted to binding arbitration, obligation not to strike over matter is considered to be coterminus and any stoppage violates implied no-strike clause unless safety hazzard suddenly arose and presented immediate threat; i.e., Washington Aluminum situation)

N.L.R.B. v. Browton Fashions, Inc., a Division of Judy Bond 682 F.2d 918 (C.A. 11, Aug. 1982)
(refusal of two women to individually push heavy carts held protected and concerted where they had good-faith belief they would be physically injured by pushing cart alone and task had formerly been done by men)

Leo G. Kohls v. N.L.R.B. 629 F.2d 173 (C.A.D.C., 1980)
(discharge of Ee for refusing to drive assigned truck because breaks were not good enough for me, not unlawful, since protest and refusal not concerted and Interboro Contractors doctrine not applied, notwithstanding contention was Ee was asserting contractual right, where Ee was not asserting right on behalf of anyone other than himself nor speaking for others, no evidence Ee and U working in concert to assert contract, and fact Ee withdrew grievance filed on his behalf by U)

6095 OTHER FORMS OF ACTIVITY UNPROTECTED

ITT McDonnel and Miller, A Unit of Fluid Handling Division of International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. JD-337-82
(Ee's conduct in interfering with supervisor's removal of grievances which Ee had posted on E's bulletin boards, made available to U under contract, not protected, since E's conduct was neither reasonably related to assertion of contract right nor reasonable in the circumstances in view of Ee's actions in physically blocking supervisor's removal of grievances and his exit from bulletin board area; although Ee may take reasonable steps to enforce his view of bargaining agreement, such steps do not include physical confrontation)

Local 175, Automobile Workers, (UAW) v. N.L.R.B. 648 F.2d 1151 (C.A.D.C. Mar 1981)
(distribution of leaflets in nonworking areas of plant during nonworking time by U concerning U endorsed candidates for public office, not protected, since insufficient relationship to Ee's interests to come w/i guarantee of Section 7 mutual aid and protection where principal thrust of leaflet was to induce Ees to vote for specific candidates, not educate them on political issues relevant to their employment)

6095-6000 Seeking assistance of counsel at investigatory or disciplinary interview

Sentry Investigation Corp. 249 NLRB No. 120
(Ees have no statutorily protected right to be represented by outside counsel in investigatory or disciplinary interviews requested by their E; representation of Ee by his personal attorney is not equivalent of U representation w/i meaning of NLRB v. Weingarten; nor does representation of by his personal attorney constitute concerted activity w/i purview of Act as construed in Glomac Plastics)

8000 INDEPENDENT ACTIVITIES OF EMPLOYEES REPRESENTED BY RECOGNIZED UNION

8025 TYPES OF ACTIVITY

8025-6000 Protest not an attempt to engage in direct negotiations

United Brick and Clay Workers of America Local No. 957, AFL-CIO (Ralco Sewing Industries) JD-200-80
(Ee labor organization's posting on bulletin board of notices seeking to continue its solicitation of Ees' grievances so as to continue negotiating with E over grievances which should have been processed through contractual grievance procedure held unprotected, since posting was in continued derogation of certified U which was Ees' lawful representative)

8033 SANCTION OF ACTIVITY BY REPRESENTATIVE

8033-7800 Absence of sanction

Virginia Electric and Power Company 263 NLRB No. 144
(self-designated committee representing wildcat strikers was not engaged in protected concerted activities when it asked to meet with E during strike as basic objective of Act is to encourage negotiation and enforcement of collective bargaining agreements between Es and duly designated representative of Ees and such strikers was destructive of Us rights and obligations and U tried to get Ees back to work and told Ees strike was illegal)

8067 OBJECTIVES OF ACTIVITIES IN RELATION TO REPRESENTATIVES POSITION

8067-5000 Inconsistent with representatives position

Virginia Electric and Power Company 262 NLRB No. 144

(self-designated committee representing wildcat strikers was not engaged in protected concerted activities when it asked to meet with E during strike as basic objective of Act is to encourage negotiation and enforcement of collective bargaining agreements between Es and duly designated representative of Ees and such strikers was destructive of Us rights and obligations and U tried to get Ees back to work and told Ees strike was illegal)

General Warehousemen, Local 598, Teamsters JD-(SF)-196-80

N.L.R.B. v. Lummus Industries, Inc. 679 F.2d 229 (C.A. 11, June 1982)

(Ee who distributed leaflet which criticized both E and U and sought improvement of U representation engaged in protected concerted activity)

N.L.R.B. v. Lummus Industries, Inc. 679 F.2d 229 (C.A. 11, June 1982)

(Ee who made telephone survey of Ees to elicit their concerns over contract and whether they had heard or believed rumors of sellout by U to E engaged in protected activity since no evidence survey taken was accusing company of bribery knowing such accusation was false or with reckless disregard for truth)

8067-8700 Effort to persuade union to take more aggressive position with respect to employer's adverse actions

General Electric Company 253 NLRB No. 155

(Ee's statement that if they had good U leadership like old John L., men would probably hit the bricks until things straightened out held protected and not incitement to engage in wildcat strike)

9000 REFRAINING FROM PROTECTED ACTIVITY

512 EMPLOYER INTERFERENCE WITH EMPLOYEE SECTION 7 RIGHTS (8(a)(1))

0100 GENERALLY

Palas Corporation JD-(SF)-28-82

(illegality of E's conduct determined by whether conduct had tendency to interfere with free exercise of Ee rights under Act)

Soule Glass and Glazing Co., et al. v. N.L.R.B. 652 F.2d 1055 (C.A. 1, May 1981)

(elements of Section 8(a)(1) violation are determined by reference to objective test; it is not necessary to show that particular Ees actually felt coerced, or that E intended to produce impermissible effect; rather only need show that E's actions would tend to coerce reasonable Ee; however, E can defend on grounds of business justification and then there is violation only when Sec. 7 rights outweighs business justification for E's actions)

N.L.R.B. v. Burger Transfer & Storage Co. 678 F.2d 679 (C.A. 7, May 1982)

(test of interference with right of self-organization is not whether attempt at coercion has succeeded or failed, but whether E has engaged in conduct which reasonably tends to interfere with, restrain or coerce Ee in free exercise of their Section 7 rights)

Fun Striders, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 686 F.2d 716 (C.A. 9, 1981)

(violation of one of Sections 8(a)(2)-(5) will support a finding that Section 8(a)(1) has been derivatively violated)

Fun Striders, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 686 F.2d 716 (C.A. 9, 1981)

(independent violation of Sec. 8(a)(1) is established by showing: (1) that Ees are engaged in protected activities; (2) that E's conduct tends to interfere with, restrain, or coerce Ees in those activities; and (3) that E's conduct is not justified by legitimate and substantial business reason)

0117 SCOPE OF PROSCRIPTION

0117-5000 Extends to employers other than those of employees engaged in protected activity

N.L.R.B. v. Villa Avila, Palm Springs Sun Dial and Tom Sawyer Construction Co. 673 F.2d 281 (C.A. 9, Mar. 1982)

(Section 2(3) of Act states that Ees protected by act shall not be limited to Ees of particular Er. Thus Ees of U subcontractors protected from acts of non-U general contractors in control of job site)

0125 INDIVIDUALS AFFECTED

0125-1200 Laid off employees

E. R. Carpenter Co. 260 NLRB No. 091

(E's failure to recall laid off U adherent during general recall not violative where E followed routine recall procedures and Ee was not home to receive phone call requesting return to work; moreover, fact that Ee was one of best workers not relevant where past work performance had no bearing upon order of recall)

Philips Industries, Inc. Lau Division JD-424-82

(refusal to reinstate laid off Ee to former position because he filed grievance under collective-bargaining agreement violative)

0125-1400 Former employees

Mineola Ford Sales, Ltd. 258 NLRB No. 052

(E's request that discharged Ee submit detailed information to E each week concerning Ee's efforts to obtain interim employment and hours worked and amounts of earnings in such employment, not unlawful, since E was interrogated not about U or other concerted protected activities, but rather about matters of legitimate concern to E regarding its possible backpay liability; and lack of any obligation to comply on dischargee's part is not sufficient to make request for information unlawful; W. W. Granger, Inc., 255 NLRB No. 145, distg)

W. W. Grainger, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 145

(E who questioned discharged Ee who was seeking reinstatement in Bd proceeding about his U activity violated Act where it failed to observe Johnnie's Poultry safeguards; it is recognized that E's power to coerce a current or prospective Ee is greater than discharged Ee who may be reinstated, however this distinction does not justify diminution of Johnnie's Poultry safeguards)

W. W. Grainger, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 145

(interrogation of former Ee who voluntarily quit concerning U activities without observing Johnnie's Poultry safeguards not violative of Act as danger of coercion is absent)

Schlegel Oklahoma, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 012

(discharged Ee found statutory Ee for purposes of finding threat against him and other Ee unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. Southern Plasma Corp. 626 F.2d 1287 (C.A. 5, 1980)

(refusal to rehire discharged Ee not violative of Sec. 8(a)(1) as Sec. 8(a)(1) deals with Ee rights and applicant no longer Ee)

Motor Inn of Perrysburg, Inc. d/b/a Holiday Inn of Perrysburg v. N.L.R.B. 647 F.2d 692 (C.A. 6, May 1981)

(threat to terminate restaurant operation rather than bargain with U, not violative, since evidence disclosed that any such threat was made only to former Ees and did not suggest threat was to be recommunicated to then current Ees)

0125-1800 Union stewards

Haco Engineering Company 265 NLRB No. 062

(telling former Ee he would not rehire him because of his past activities as U steward violative)

Champion Parts Rebuilders, Inc., Northeast Division 260 NLRB No. 090

(warning issued to U steward for minor infraction violative where done in retaliation for stewards filing grievance over foreman's performing bargaining unit work)

Clarklift of St. Louis, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 062

(discharge of U steward for instructing Ees to falsify work tickets and using his office as steward to gain special favors for himself not violative where sole cause for discharge was unprotected activity of steward)

Cook Paint and Varnish Company 258 NLRB No. 166

(in seeking to obtain from U steward representing Ee in grievance/arbitration procedure information relating to grievance, E may not unilaterally determine relevance of information and its entitlement to obtain such information through threats of discipline against steward; such actions restrain Ees in their willingness to candidly discuss matters with their representative and also inhibit stewards in obtaining needed information)

Cook Paint and Varnish Company 258 NLRB No. 166

(threatening U steward with discipline for refusing to submit to questioning and to submit written material kept in course of steward's representation of Ee in grievance/arbitration proceeding, unlawful, where steward's participation throughout grievance process was result of execution of duties as steward, questioning impinged upon protected activity of Ee and steward, and such conduct cast chilling effect over all Ees and stewards in disciplinary matters; however, Bd did not herein hold that all discussions between Ees and stewards are confidential and protected or that stewards are, in all instances, insulated from interrogation)

Cook Paint and Varnish Company 258 NLRB No. 166

(where E unlawfully questioned and threatened U steward for not submitting information concerning consultations with Ee about his grievance, Bd rejected E's defense that, pursuant to bargaining obligation of Sec. 8(d), steward was obligated to turn over documents in his possession relating to grievance, obtained in course of representing Ee; no case supports proposition that notes kept by steward representing Ees are subject to requirements of supplying relevant information; and, even if information was relevant to bargaining and E was entitled to it, Act provides appropriate mechanism for E to assert its rights, but E rejected such course)

United States Postal Service 258 NLRB No. 193

(threatening U steward with discipline if he did not return to his work station not violative as steward was not engaged in protected activity at time)

United States Postal Service 258 NLRB No. 193
(refusing to allow U steward to leave his work area contrary to normal policy violative when in retaliation for steward's protected activity as shop steward)

United States Postal Service 258 NLRB No. 193
(violation where supervisor threatened U steward with disciplinary action for refusing to attend meeting unless informed in advance of purpose, since meeting did not concern supervisor-Ee relationship which existed between them as supervisor was addressing Ee in his U steward capacity and by threatening Ee in connection with his performance as U steward interfered with his Sec. 7 rights to engage or not engage in U activities as steward)

New York Telephone Company JD-(NY)-76-82
(discipline of U steward for using his desk phone for U business not violative where no one was supposed to use office phones for personal or U business and there was phone available in Ee lounge which steward could use on his break or lunch time)

0125-1600 Employees of person other than respondent

Monongahela Steel Corporation JD-392-80
(successor's refusal to hire applicant because while employed by predecessor he was leader of concerted group activity designed to establish level of wages and benefits and nature of working conditions under which they would be employed when successor took over, unlawful)

0125-2800 Off-duty employees

S. B. Thomas, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 132
(notwithstanding laid-off Ee's testimony that she was waiting to be recalled, laid-off Ee held not off-duty Ee during period she was leafletting U material on E's premises, where there were no objective factors entered into evidence such as E's experience, future plans, circumstances of layoff, whether there was decline in business, etc.; accordingly, GC did not make requisite showing that Ee enjoyed reasonable expectancy of recall)

Central Solano County Hospital Foundation, Inc., d/b/a Intercommunity Hospital 255 NLRB No. 048
(E's no-access rule restricting off-duty Ees from remaining on hospital premises cannot be used to prohibit solicitation by off-duty Ees, since it did not prohibit access for all purposes; rule did not meet standard enunciated in Tri-County Medical Center, Inc., 222 NLRB 1089 (1976))

0125-3700 Employees not engaged in protected activity

N.L.R.B. v. Rich's Precision Foundry, Inc. 667 F.2d 613 (C.A. 7, Dec. 1981)
(layoff of 2 Ees caused by reduction in work due to discriminatory dischrge of 2 other Ees violative as layoffs would not have occurred but for discriminatory action)

0125-5800 Seasonal employees

Maine Apple Growers, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 060
(delaying recall, after election, of seasonal apple packers, who had requested raise in wages and had directed grievance letter to E's board of directors, assertedly because they were responsible for low production held violative where E's business justification for its action had not been established; E's unlawful statement to Ees that agitation had to cease coupled with its unexplained deviation from its normal method of disciplining overly talkative Ees established E's unlawful motive)

0125-6700 Probationary employees

Georgia Kraft Company, Woodkraft Division 258 NLRB No. 121
(refusal of E to process grievance over discharge of probationary Ee because of his absenteeism not violative, since probationary Ee had no rights to such proceeding and grievance was not presented in conformity with contract terms)

Walker Die Casting, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 004
(discharging probationary Ees while on strike, violative)

Bucyrus-Erie Company 247 NLRB No. 089
(discharge of probationary Ee violative where E asserted reason for discharge was crack in weld Ee had completed but no other Ee had ever been discharged for that reason and true motive for discharge was Ee's protesting unsafe working conditions, a protected concerted activity)

Brockway Glass Company, Inc. JD-(SF)-117-81
(statement by E's assistant personnel manager that probationary Ee was terminated because —(he) went to the U, held violative)

0125-7000 Apprentices

Firmat Manufacturing Corp. 255 NLRB No. 153
(discharge of U card signer who was associated with E as an apprentice in educational program violative, notwithstanding he was not Ee w/i meaning of Sec. 2(3), since his discharge was integral part of pattern of conduct aimed at ridding shop of U adherents and penalizing Ees for their U activities)

0125-7200 Employees legitimately absent from work (sick leave, vacation, etc.)

Texaco, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 165
(when during course of economic strike, E ceased paying accident and sick benefits to 3 Ees who had been out of work on authorized sick leave prior to inception of strike it violated Act where it had no knowledge that Ees supported strike and fact that they were U members and had supported strikes in past not enough to show they supported this strike)

0125-7800 Supervisors

Gurabo Lace Mills, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 044
(issuance of warning to Ee found to be supervisor not violative of Sec. 8(a)(3) although in retaliation for engaging in U activities as supervisors are not protected under Act; warning also not violative under Sec. 8(a)(1) as Bd has disavowed integral pattern of conduct rationale as basis for finding violation of Sec. 8(a)(1). See Chevrolet, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 58 (1982))

Bechtel Power Corporation 264 NLRB No. [illegible]
(refusal to rehire supervisor who quit over alleged unlawful appointment of job steward, not unlawful, since such protest was not protected activity; Bd would not find appointment which prompted supervisor to quit unlawful absent notice and litigation of issue)

H. H. Robertson Company 263 NLRB No. 170
(E violates Section 8(a)(1) by discharging supervisor for providing information to Bd regarding ULPs since providing of such information assists Ees in obtaining vindication of their rights through Bd's processes)

Serendippity-Un-Ltd and Tigerrr, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 100
(in light of Bd's Parker-Robb Chevrolet decision issued subsequent to issuance of ALJ's decision, Bd reversed ALJ's finding that discharge of supervisor for participating in strike in protest over working conditions at E's plant violated 8(a)(1), since in Parker-Robb Bd held that discharge of supervisors for participating in U or concerted activity is not unlawful)

Earl Kuhns, d/b/a Frenchy's K & T and Earl's News Stand 263 NLRB No. 007
(discharge of supervisor because he failed to issue written disciplinary warnings to pro-U Ees so that E would be able to discharge them, violated Act as this interferes with rights of nonsupervisory Ees by permitting supervisors to respect statutory rights of Ees w/o fear of reprisal)

Roma Baking Company 263 NLRB No. 004
(discharge of supervisor who was vigorous U supporter not violative as protection of Act does not extend to supervisors who are disciplined or discharged for participation in U or concerted activity; See, Parker-Robb Chevrolet, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 58)

Howard Johnson Motor Lodge 261 NLRB No. 123
(asking supervisor if she had heard any U talk, what were Ees unhappy about, if she had attended U meeting or signed U card, not violative, since it is not unlawful for E to request or require such information from supervisor)

World Evangelism, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 088
(discharge of supervisor because he was unable to control U activity of Ees not violative where record does not establish that E expected supervisor to use coercive or unlawful means to further E's position or that it suggested he engage in any ULPs)

Beech Branch Coal Company 260 NLRB No. 122
(discharge of supervisor for siding with Ees against management over new work hours imposed by management, not violative; no exceptions)

Quick Find Co. 259 NLRB No. 144
(interrogation of supervisor by asking him if he knew about election ptn that E had just received held not violative, notwithstanding supervisor's wife, an Ee, was present, as E's interrogation of supervisor was legitimate and did not radiate unlawful fallout on Ee)

Cal-Walts, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 126
(termination of supervisor, not unlawful, since not for his refusal to unlawfully discharge Ees inasmuch as he did not perceive he was being ordered to commit unlawful act and did discharge Ees; nor was there pattern of unlawful conduct affecting Ees and supervisors alike where distinction between rights of Ees and supervisors can not be perceited by Ees as supervisor did not encourage or participate in same protected activity which caused unlawful discharge of Ees)

Hadison Manufacturing Company 256 NLRB No. 054
(discharge of supervisor who objected to unlawful layoff of Ee, encouraged recall of Ee, and made proposals which would have obstructed E's illegal goals, not unlawful, since supervisor's actions did not constitute refusal to engage in ULPs and facts did not fall strictly w/i Section 8(a)(1) violation for firing supervisor because he would not engage in ULPs; notwithstanding E understood supervisor would not cooperate in its desire to rid itself of U adherents; however his discharge violative on theory it was integral part of scheme to discharge Ees in his department for their U activities)

Empire Gas, Inc. of Denver 254 NLRB No. 076
(discharge of supervisor, unlawful where he was discharged contemporaneously with Ees for participating with them in bringing concerted presure upon E for favorable resolution of their complaint regarding futher bonus payments, and such discharge impacted directly upon statutorily protected rights of Ees)

Times Herald Printing Company 232 NLRB No. 043
(discharge of supervisory Ees for engaging in U activities not violative where discharges in no way affected other Ees' rights)

B. E. & K., Inc. 252 NLRB No. 036
(interrogation of supervisors concerning their or others' U membership desires, or activities, not unlawful)

Childers Manufacturing Company, Inc. JD-(SF)-11-82
(in order for Bd to exercise jurisdiction over supervisory discipline or discharge, GC must, under doctrine that it must be integral part of a pattern of conduct aimed at penalizing Ees for their U activities, make affirmative showing that supervisory discipline is being used in order to strike down or attempt to strike down Ees' statutory rights; only when it is established that supervisory discipline is a necessary element in pattern of ULPs directed at Ees can it then be concluded that such discipline satisfies integral part doctrine and is w/i Bd's jurisdiction)

Albuquerque's Best Tires, d/b/a A. B. Tires JD-(SF)-283-81
(discharge of two supervisors who had protested working conditions not violative as act does not protect supervisory Ees; moreover E proved they were discharged for cause)

Pess, Inc.; J. Pess Inc.; and Riverside Warehouse, Inc. JD-441-81

Comfort Health Corporation d/b/a Kendallville Nursing Home JD-329-80
(discharge of supervisor solely for that supervisor's own U activities does not contravene...Act)

Belcher Towing Company v. N.L.R.B. 614 F.2d 88 (C.A. 5, Mar. 1980)
(E's discharge of ship's captain for refusal to enforce no solicitation rule requiring him to report all U activity on board his boat, unlawful, notwithstanding captain was supervisor since discharge motivated by his refusal to participate in unlawful surveillance)

N.L.R.B. v. Downslope Industries, Inc., and Greenbriar Industries, Inc. 676 F.2d 1114 (C.A. 6, Apr. 1982)
(discharge of supervisor who had complained of sexual harassment by another supervisor along with discharge of her supervisees who had been hired by supervisor and were either related to or friends of supervisor and who made similar complaints, unlawful, and supervisor ordered reinstated, since she was used as conduit to discharge her supervisees and squelch Section 7 activity or was an integral part of attempt by E to discourage exercise of Sec. 7 rights by Ees)

N.L.R.B. v. Nevis Industries, Inc., d/b/a Fresno Townehouse 647 F.2d 905 (C.A. 9, June 1981)
(cts have found that Es violated 8(a)(1) by conduct toward supervisors and ordered reinstatement in 3 basic situations; first, discipline of supervisor for refusing to commit ULP; second, discipline of supervisor for testifying before Bd; and third, discharge of supervisor as pretext for terminating pro-U crew which he had hired as his own crew)

Operating Engineers, Local 400 268 NLRB No. 168
(terminating independent contract for janitorial service of Ee's wife because Ee engaged in protected activity)

Brunswick Hospital Center, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 112
(statements made by E to alleged discriminatee expressing E's annoyance with organizational efforts of alleged discriminatee's wife who was an Ee, held violative, since statements interfered with alleged discriminatee's rights under the Act)

Maine Apple Growers, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 060
(failure to recall Ee because she lived with her mother, U advocate, who was also Ee but one E did not want to come back to work, violative)

Charles Dean d/b/a Hopp Topp Mfg. Co. 280 NLRB No. 154
(telling Ee that Ee had better talk to his brother, fellow Ee, and get him to vote no in election or brother would not be working there any longer, violative)

0125-8900 Managerial employee

Seven-Up Bottling of Phoenix, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 085

0125-9000 Confidential employees

N.L.R.B. v. Hendricks County Rural Electric Membership Corp. 454 US 170 (U.S. SCt. Dec. 1981)
(discharge of confidential secretary who protested discharge of fellow Ee violative where secretary did not act in confidential capacity, with respect to labor relations matters and was thus protected by Act)

0125-9800 Applicants for employment

J. M. Tanaka Construction, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 675 F.2d 1029 (C.A. 9, Apr. 1982)
(requiring job applicant to sign agreement that E would pay him and not U all fringe benefits and would be responsible for reimbursement to U if problem arose, held violative of Ees' right to organize because they might conclude that this was binding agreement to remain non-U)

0133 ISOLATED ACTS

Carruthers Ready Mix, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 090
(coercive remark made to striker in presence of other strikers, not isolated, since its coercive effect could be far reaching)

Complas Industries, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 186
(E's questioning of one Ee about another Ee's work performance and U activity, unlawful since it was neither isolated nor innocuous and did not meet Johnnie's Poultry standards, where Ee was questioned more than one time on same subject by high management official and was not assured against reprisals or informed that he was free to refuse to answer; neither Johnnies Poultry nor later cases have limited requirements of that case strictly to attorneys)

Musicians Union Local 47, etc. (American Broadcasting Company, etc.) 256 NLRB No. 068
(U's unlawful withholding of member's paychecks transmitted by Es through U, for nonpayment of dues held not de minimis, notwithstanding checks had ultimately been transmitted to member and U had promulgated curative notice, where notice did not satisfy Bd's standards for effective repudiation of ULPs inasmuch as it did not refer to withholding of member's paychecks nor state that U would refrain from doing so as lever to extract members' dues, notice was not published until 5 months after member received checks, and E had engaged in similar actions with respect to other members)

Douglas & Lomason Company 253 NLRB No. 009
(E's violations not isolated, or de minimis since E's actions were reasonably calculated to coerce Ees in exercise of their Section 7 rights)

Brooks Cameras, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 116
(interrogation which, although addressed to single Ee, concerned all Ees in unit and sought information that could be used to discourage or prevent unionization of these Ees found neither isolated nor minimal)

Safeway Stores, Inc. JD-482-82
(isolated threat of suspension for contacting U about work related problem before coming to E found technical violation not meriting order)

Mr. Herbert of California, Inc. JD-(SF)-83-81
(E's asking prospective supervisor suppose there is a vote, How are you going to vote?; not violative, since statements were too vague and ambiguous; statements reflected isolated interrogation conducted in noncoercive setting)

Byrne Sand & Gravel Co., Inc. JD-314-80
(supervisor asking Ee what's this I hear about U, not unlawful, where isolated incident and absent U animus)

Borman's, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 676 F.2d 1138 (C.A. 6, May 1982)
(E's forbidding Ees from advertising grievance by wearing a shirt with the slogan 'I'm tired of bustin' my ass' not violative, since E's conduct was isolated and no substantial evidence supported Bd's finding that wearing of T-shirt constituted exercise of any right protected under NLRA)

N.L.R.B. v. Brooks Cameras, Inc. 691 F.2d 912 (C.A. 9, Nov. 1982)
(interrogation isolated and minimal and no remedial order warranted, where E had good faith belief individual questioned was supervisor, no other Ees present at interrogation, and no indication individual questioned told fellow Ees of incident)

Childers Manufacturing Company, Inc. JD-(SF)-11-82
(in order for Bd to exercise jurisdiction over supervisory discipline or discharge, GC must, under doctrine that it must be integral part of a pattern of conduct aimed at penalizing Ees for their U activities, make affirmative showing that supervisory discipline is being used in order to strike down or attempt to strike down Ees' statutory rights; only when it is established that supervisory discipline is a necessary element in pattern of ULPs directed at Ees can it then be concluded that such discipline satisfies integral part doctrine and is w/i Bd's jurisdiction)

0142 DE MINIMIS VIOLATIONS

Holladay Park Hospital 262 NLRB No. 026
(in determining whether particular action warrants finding of violation and affording a remedy, it is irrelevant that respondent may not have engaged in any other unlawful acts, or that U has been successful in negotiating a contract despite respondent's unlawful conduct, or that the Ees have discontinued their protected concerted activities because of respondent's unlawful conduct)

0142—Cont.

Douglas & Lomason Company 263 NLRB No. 009
(E's violations not isolated, or de minimis since E's actions were reasonably calculated to coerce Ees in exercise of their Section 7 rights)

Edgar L. Landen t/a Speed Mail Service 261 NLRB No. 064
(E's unexplained change w/o warning during U campaign of time of distribution of Ees' paychecks from Friday morning to Friday afternoon so that Ees could not cash them at noon held not de minimis or noncoercive; unlawful motive became unmistakably clear upon E's sudden resumption of its established practice of morning distribution after U lost election and it is unlikely Ees missed import of this sudden action)

Brooks Cameras, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 116
(interrogation which, although addressed to single Ee, concerned all Ees in unit and sought information that could be used to discourage or prevent unionization of these Ees found neither isolated nor minimal)

Gibbs Die Casting Aluminum Corporation JD-267-81
(unlawful promulgation and enforcement of no-solicitation rule not so de minimis as not to warrant remedial order, where E maintained rule at time of incipient U organizational efforts; and although only one U activist may have been disciplined, coercion of U activist inherently tends to have impact well beyond immediate object)

N.L.R.B. v. Brooks Cameras, Inc. 691 F.2d 912 (C.A. 9, Nov. 1982)
(interrogation isolated and minimal and no remedial order warranted, where E had good faith belief individual questioned was supervisor, no other Ees present at interrogation, and no indication individual questioned told fellow Ees of incident)

0150 ACTS OR STATEMENTS NEUTRALIZING COERCIVE EFFECT OF PREJUDICIAL CONDUCT

The Broyhill Company 260 NLRB No. 183
(posting of notice that disavowed supervisor's unlawful statements, declared it would not in that manner or any other manner interfere with Ees' Sec. 7 rights, and named those rights on day after E learned of said statements obviated need for additional remedial action; posting 5 weeks after ULP was timely and sooner than posting in litigated cases; publication was adequate where notice was on E's bulletin board and 3 Ees testified to seeing it--to imply that other Ees might have had no chance to see it was speculation; and notice was sufficiently specific although it did not name supervisor or mention circumstances, since Bd notices do not do so)

Association of Apartment Owners of The Whaler on Kaanapali Beach 255 NLRB No. 010
(E's statements in Ee meeting that if U come in wage rates would be set by U-master agreement not violative where upon questioning by Ees, E agreed that wages would be negotiable, thus neutralizing potentially violative statement)

Scoggin, Inc. JD-439-81
(E's president telling Ees, who had contacted U and secured authorization cards, in angry tone he could not believe Ees sought U representation behind his back, not implied threat nor unlawful, in view of presence of U representatives and their immediate intervention, reassurance to Ees, and explanation to Ees and E's president that Ees were protected under federal law from discharge for U activities)

CRC Pipeline Equipment, a Division of Crutcher Resources Corporation JD-(SF)-140-80
(supervisor threatening Ees with discharge if they continued to wear U buttons, not unlawful, where E had no proclivity towards ULPs, E promptly informed supervisors that Ees were free to wear U buttons, specifically advised Ees threatened that threats were not position of E and that they were free to wear buttons, and posted notice to that effect on bulletin board)

N.L.R.B. v. American Spring Bed Manufacturing Co., d/b/a American Chain Link Fence Co. 670 F.2d 1236 (C.A. 1, Feb. 1982)
(use of U adherent as translator for anti-U speech by E not violative where translating just ministerial function, part of Ee's daily responsibilities and group that needed translation was small so easy for Ee to convey true feelings)

0150-5000 Neutralizing effect not attained

Electric Hose and Rubber Company 262 NLRB No. 014
(E's statement that NLRA requires it to bargain in good faith not sufficient disclaimer as to negate fears of plant closure, job loss, frozen or reduced wages which where all mentioned by Ees possible results of unionization)

The Celotex Corporation 259 NLRB No. 159
(threat by supervisor to Ee who opposed U during critical period that if U won, E would go by book, violative, because such threat might inhibit Ee from changing his mind about U)

Lake Development Management Co. 259 NLRB No. 069
(E's threat to discharge Ees for U activity during discussion with Ee concerning U meeting, violative notwithstanding E's contention that threat was effectively retracted, since E's subsequent statement to Ees that they could attend U meetings w/o fear of termination was not effective repudiation of E's unlawful conduct, where E's statement did not disavow E's threat as unlawful, disavow E's other contemporaneous unlawful conduct, or give assurances to Ees that E in future would not interfere with Sec. 7 rights)

Southern Moldings, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 115
(posting of valid no-solicitation, no-distribution rule did not effectively repudiate unlawful rule where E took no positive steps to inform Ees that rule had been changed, old rule was posted throughout most of pre-election campaign, and new rule was posted for the 9 days immediately preceding election)

Musicians Union Local 47, etc. (American Broadcasting Company, etc.) 265 NLRB No. 065
(U's unlawful withholding of member's paychecks, transmitted by Es through U, for nonpayment of dues held not de minimis, notwithstanding checks had ultimately been transmitted to member and U had promulgated curative notice, where notice did not satisfy Bd's standards for effective repudiation of ULPs inasmuch as it did not refer to withholding of member's paychecks nor state that U would refrain from doing so as lever to extract members' dues, notice was not published until 5 months after member received checks, and E had engaged in similar actions with respect to other members)

Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc. 263 NLRB No. 023
(supervisor's statement that he could no longer support Ee's application for management position because of Ee's U activities unlawful, notwithstanding supervisor's later repudiation of remarks)

Semi-Serv, Division of Catalox Corporation 263 NLRB No. 106
(E's rescission of unlawful no solicitation rules does not preclude finding of violation where Ees were not effectively notified of rescission)

Stanley M. Feil, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 065
(supervisor asking Ee what she thought of speech in opposition to U by E's president, unlawful, since question necessarily constituted attempt to ascertain Ee's feelings about U and had coercive effect where supervisor had previously interrogated Ee)

Sturdi-Craft, Inc. JD-(SF)-151-82
(where supervisors had threatened Ees with plant shutdown if the U came in, imposed more rigorous work scheduled and discharged U's key in-plant organizer, subsequent series of campaign letters which stated that supervisors who threatened shutdown had spoken without authority and gave assurances that plant would not be shutdown if U came in, not effective enough to preclude E from having to take further remedial action in light of other ULPs which were not mentioned in letters)

Kimberly-Clark Corporation JD-(SF)-291-81
(no effective repudiation of threats of E's assistant superintendent by disavowals and assurances of E's employee relations manager where not all threats repudiated and in view of subsequent proscribed conduct, and attempted disavowal by E's manager was untimely to effectively neutralize threats made ten months previously)

Graves Trucking, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 692 F.2d 470 (C.A. 7, Nov. 1982)
(in affirming Bd finding the E was responsible for physical assault by supervisor on U steward who was engaged in protected concerted activity since incident pertained to matters w/i responsibilities E had conferred on supervisor, ct concluded that E's single expression of disapproval after the fact did not suffice as a repudiation where such disapproval was not made known to all Ees affected and, in any event, was accompanied and followed by reiteration of supervisor's authority)

Weather Tamer, Inc. and Tuskegee Garment Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 676 F.2d 483 (C.A. 11, May 1982)
(statements couched in terms of E's opinion of deleterious effects U would have on competitive position of plant, violative where they were not carefully phrased on basis of objective fact and clear implication was that Ees' continued employment and plant's reopening were contingent upon vote against U; E's assurance to Ees that outcome of election would not determine future of plant could not remove threatening import of E's other messages)

0167 ATTITUDE OR MOTIVE OF EMPLOYER

Fairleigh Dickinson University 264 NLRB No. [illegible]
(test for whether interrogation is coercive. It is well settled that test of interference, restraint, or coercion under Section 8(a)(1) does not turn on E's motive or whether coercion succeeded or failed. Test is whether E engaged in conduct which it could reasonably be said, tends to interfere with free exercise of Ees' rights under Act)

CTS Keene, Inc. 267 NLRB No. 141

Baltimore Rebuilders, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 611 F.2d 1372 (C.A. 4)
(in same way that E, unmotivated by intent to discourage U membership, may make decisions having foreseeable effect of discouraging U membership, so also may U make decisions reasonably calculated to further welfare of all Ees it represents, non-U as well as U, even though foreseeable result of decision may be to encourage U membership)

0167-3300 Neutral attitude

Central Freight Lines, Inc. 266 NLRB No. 063
(terminal manager's telling leadman not to participate in U activities and to remain neutral)

0167-6700 Antiunion attitude

Air Products and Chemicals, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 045
(E's extreme hostility to U organizers during prior campaign, one year earlier, used as background in evaluating ULP allegations in instant proceeding)

Gasley Industries, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 189
(E's president's reference to his Ees' plans made during U's organizing campaign held violative, since reference was made to Ees' U activities and in context of E's animus towards U and was veiled, though clear, reference to (Ees') U activity)

Advanced Mining Group, Div. of Republic Corp., Lucerne Facility 260 NLRB No. 073
(letter to unit Ees from E's vice president making clear E's opposition to U and instructing Ees do not sign a U card — under any circumstances — you don't know what it's going to cost you in the future. held violative)

Advanced Mining Group, Div. of Republic Corp., Lucerne Facility 260 NLRB No. 073
(E's making clear, by letter and speech to its assembled Ees that their choice is simply between no U or strikes, violence, layoffs and related adverse consequences held violative in context of E's intense anti-U campaign and accompanying acts of discrimination and coercion)

Limestone Apparel Corp. 255 NLRB No. 101
(E's dislike for Us communicated to his Ees is factor which may be evaluated, along w/o other pertinent evidence, in arriving at actual cause of Ees' discharge)

Crown Cork & Seal Company, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 004
(E's hostility to Ee (U advocate) was evidenced by E's adverse references to Ee's attitude which E had linked to Ee's protected efforts to obtain reinstatement of a discharged Ee)

Edgar L. Landen t/a Speed Mail Service 251 NLRB No. 064
(E's unexplained change w/o warning during U campaign of time of distribution of Ees' paychecks from Friday morning to Friday afternoon so that Ees could not cash them at noon held not de minimis or noncoercive; unlawful motive became unmistakably clear upon E's sudden resumption of its established practice of morning distribution after U lost election and it is unlikely Ees missed import of this sudden action)

Permanent Label Corporation 248 NLRB No. 021
(where most of E's anti-U activity occurred after violative discharge of 2 U adherents, this activity can be used to support finding of E's anti-U attitude immediately prior to discharge)

Eight In One Pet Products, Inc. JD-(NY)-106-82
(in absence of evidence of E's animus towards U, discriminatory motive (on part of E) may not be inferred)

Marion Distributing Company, Inc. JD-702-80
(it is reasonable unlawful statements made to U representative were intended to be related to Ees directly involved; such statements demonstrate E's antiunion animus and are violative as if directly communicated to Ees)

Cardinal Heating and Cooling, Inc. JD-825-79
(anti-U animus may be shown by conduct that does not violate Sec. 8(a)(1))

Jack Horton d/b/a Horton Construction Company JD-797-79
(layoff motivated by Ees U activity violative, and showing of animous independent of layoff itself is not essential element in finding discrimination)

Bandag, Incorporated v. N.L.R.B. 583 F.2d 765 (C.A. 5)

0167-8300 Motive

Frank J. Schroeder d/b/a National Apartment Leasing Company 263 NLRB No. 080
(telling Ee that E would fold and everyone would lose their jobs if U's organizing efforts succeeded, violative; such remarks may reasonably be said to interfere with free exercise of Ee rights under Act and neither speaker's intent nor successful effect of remarks on Ee is material)

T.H.E. Co. d/b/a L. D. Brinkman Southeast 261 NLRB No. 026
(Bd rule for purposes of Sec. 8(a)(1) is that it is not E's intent or effect of conduct, but whether conduct may reasonably be said to have tendency to interfere with exercise of Ee rights under Act)

Magnolia Manor Nursing Home, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 049
(E's statement to Ees on different occasions that, if he were able to remove 30 percent of U supporters, he would be able to win election, unlawful; such statement was highly persuasive of E's unlawful motive in refusing to recognize and bargain with U and in discharging or failing to retain certain U Ees who had been employed by predecessor E)

Wayne Construction, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 062
(discriminatory motive, otherwise established, is not disproved by E's proof that it did not weed out all U adherents)

Saint Luke's Hospital 258 NLRB No. 049
(supervisor's asking Ees why they wanted U and whether it was related to her supervisory activity violative, as E interference, restraint and coercion does not turn on motive but whether conduct may reasonably be said to interfere with free exercise of Ee rights)

Burnup & Sims, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 143
(discharge of Ees assertedly because they failed to report to work held violative where E had given Ees permission to be absent from work to consult with Bd, EEOC, attorney and labor U concerning Ees' job security and other work problems notwithstanding work was interrupted; E's motive irrelevant as reason for discharge was for engaging in protected concerted activities)

Limestone Apparel Corp. 255 NLRB No. 101
(timing of discharge is persuasive evidence as to E's motivation)

Maine Apple Growers, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 069
(delaying recall, after election, of seasonal apple packers, who had requested raise in wages and had directed grievance letter to E's board of directors, assertedly because they were responsible for low production held violative where E's business justification for its action had not been established; E's unlawful statement to Ees that agitation had to cease coupled with its unexplained deviation from its normal method of disciplining overly talkative Ees established E's unlawful motive)

Intermountain Rural Electric Association 253 NLRB No. 164
(manager's remark to U adherent that he had been thinking of suspending her and that she would probably be fired if she failed to report for work despite having doctor's note to take leave, violative, since remark was motivated by adherent's U activities)

Chester Valley, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 190
(neither E intent not to threaten Ees nor absence of Ee coercion in reaction to E's threats render threats lawful, since test of interference and coercion under 8(a)(1) does not depend on E's motive nor on successful effects of coercion; rather, legality is determined by whether conduct may reasonably be said to have tendency to interfere with exercise of Ee rights under Act)

Norton Concrete Company of Longview, Inc. 240 NLRB No. 172
(motive or whether coercion succeeded or failed immaterial to prove violation of Sec. 8(a)(1); test is whether E has engaged in conduct which reasonably tends to interfere with free exercise of Ee rights under Act)

Permanent Label Corporation 248 NLRB No. 021
(fact that E converted violative discharge to suspension w/o pay does not legalize discharge as discriminatory motive still exists)

Bell Industries, Inc. JD-479-82
(asking Ee repeatedly why he did not take advantage of availability of E furnished T-shirts with anti-U message to wear something more comfortable than too warm flannel shirt, unlawful, since coercive regardless of motivation)

Eight In One Pet Products, Inc. JD-(NY)-106-82
(in absence of evidence of E's animus towards U, discriminatory motive (on part of E) may not be inferred)

Lovard Industries, Limited JD-293-82
(ordering U adherent Ees to get the hell out held violative where E's order was motivated by U filing charge)

The Berry Schools v. N.L.R.B. 653 F.2d 966 (C.A. 5, Aug 1981)
(management can take unfavorable action for good cause, or bad cause or no cause at all; it has, as master of its own business affairs, complete freedom with but one specific definite qualification; it may not take unfavorable action when real motivating purpose is to do that which Sec. 8(a)(1) forbids)

The Berry Schools v. N.L.R.B. 653 F.2d 966 (C.A. 5, Aug 1981)
(E's knowledge of Ee's protected activity and its biased attitude could not support finding of ULP; unlawful motivation can not be based solely on general bias or anti-U attitude of E, whether proved or conceded, but must be established by other facts in each individual case)

TRW-United Greenfield Division v. N.L.R.B. 637 F.2d 410 (C.A. 5, 1981)
(test for violation of 8(a)(1) is whether E's questions, threats, or statements tend to be coercive, not whether Ees are in fact coerced and statement must be evaluated in light of totality of circumstances)

Ad Art, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 645 F.2d 669 (C.A. 8, Dec 9, 1980)
(respondent's contention that Bd's standard for measuring motivation was incorrect, that it should have used dominant motive rather than motivation in large measure or in large part, rejected; Bd is not required to use particular language in its findings in each case and in this case it has not been demonstrated that there is a meaningful difference between Bd's finding that discharge was in large measure or in large part unlawfully motivated and a finding that the dominant motive was unlawful)

Fun Striders, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 658 F.2d 716 (C.A. 9, 1981)
(although anti-U motive is required in Sec. 8(a)(3) violations, it is not essential element of Sec. 8(a)(1) violations; nonetheless, motive is relevant)

N.L.R.B. v. Wirmer and Becker Contracting Engineers, and Electrical Workers Local Union 497 654 F.2d 731(T) (C.A. 9, June 1981)
(Section 8(a)(1), 8(a)(2), 8(b)(1)(A) and 8(b)(2) are violated only when actor's true purpose in discriminating was to encourage or discourage U membership; intent must be proved specifically unless actor's conduct implied prohibited motive)

L'Eggs Products, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 619 F.2d 1337 (C.A. 9, 1980)
(If discharge is motivated by both legitimate business consideration and protected U activity, improper motive must be shown to be dominant one for discharge to be violative)

0183 INDIRECT INTERFERENCE

EMR Photoelectric, A Division of Sangamo Weston Inc. 251 NLRB No. 214
(Bd's statement made in Fedelity Telephone that A respondent is responsible only for the remarks it makes to Ees and not for the impressions that Ees may derive from remarks was not intended to license interference with Ees' rights by use of subtlety, innuendo, and inference, prohibiting only blunt and categorical acts of restraint and coercion)

5006-0100 Generally

Cardio Data Systems Corp. 264 NLRB No. 011
(fact that Ee may on occasion start discussion with supervisors about U held not to excuse coercive and intimidating statements made by supervisors)

Conair Corporation 261 NLRB No. 178
(fact that 8(a)(1) statement is uttered by friendly supervisor does not lessen severity of impact of such statement and, in fact, warnings from such friendly source may carry an even greater aura of reliability and truthfulness and, therefore, bedoubly effective)

Conair Corporation 261 NLRB No. 178
(E's proffer of evidence to show that its supervisors were instructed not to make unlawful statements is no defense to supervisors' statements found unlawful herein, since the only question is whether statements were in fact made)

Conair Corporation 261 NLRB No. 178
(coercive and unlawful effect of statement is not blunted merely because accompanied by laughter or made in an offhand way)

Advanced Mining Group, Div. of Republic Corp., Lucerne Facility 260 NLRB No. 073
(Section 8(a)(1) and Section 8(c) of Act, when read together, leave E free to communicate to his Ees his views respecting Us so long as that communication does not contain a threat of reprisal or force or promise of benefit)

Magnolia Manor Nursing Home, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 040
(Bd is entitled to consider emphatic anti-U attitudes as background against which to measure impact on Ees of management's statements and conduct)

Magnolia Manor Nursing Home, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 040
(in finding 8(a)(1) violations, ALJ considered fact that E's statements were part of overall pattern of conduct aimed at coercing Ees in exercise of their statutory rights and that E had the power to hire and fire Ees; moreover, E never gave assurances against reprisal and, in some cases, did make threats of reprisal)

Atlas Minerals, Division of Atlas Corporation 256 NLRB No. 022
(supervisor's remark to Ee that he was told by his superior not to show favoritism to Ee and to keep an eye on him, not unlawful, since evidence did not meet GC'sburden of showing that Act had been violated by threat sounding in protected activity)

Marion Distributing Company, Inc. JD-702-80
(it is reasonable unlawful statements made to U representative were intended to be related to Ees directly involved; such statements demonstrate E's antiunion animus and are violative as if directly communicated to Ees)

N.L.R.B. v. Cable Vision, Inc. 660 F.2d 1 (C.A. 1, Sept. 1981)
(Bd correctly examined E's remarks in determining coercive effect of its conversations with Ees from listener's point of view, and taking into account the economic dependence of Ees on their Es and necessary tendency of former, because of that relationship, to pick up intended implications of the latter that might be more readily dismissed by a more disinterested ear)

TRW, Incorporated v. N.L.R.B. 654 F.2d 307 (C.A. 5, 1981)
(E may communicate to his Ees any of his views about Us so long as no threat of reprisal is involved)

TRW-United Greenfield Division v. N.L.R.B. 637 F.2d 410 (C.A. 5, 1981)
(test for violation of 8(a)(1) is whether E's questions, threats, or statements tend to be coercive, not whether Ees are in fact coerced and statement must be evaluated in light of totality of circumstances)

Weather Tamer, Inc. and Tuskegee Garment Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 676 F.2d 483 (C.A. 11, May 1982)
(test is not whether E actions regarding effects he perceives unionization will have on operation of his plant actually have effect of restraining or coercing Ees, but whether they would tend to have such effect)

5006-1700 Coercive character question of fact for Board

N.L.R.B. v. Garry Manufacturing Company 630 F.2d 934 (C.A. 3, 1980)
(cts should defer to Bd expertise, particularly where Ees may be especially sensitive to implied threats)

5006-1701 Generally

St. Francis Hospital 263 NLRB No. 109
(E's statement to Ees at Ee meeting, to effect that Ees cannot count on having better benefits—and Ees shouldn't be fooled by fact that U can help Ees, not violative, since statement was found to constitute permissable electioneering; although E implied bargaining would take anywhere up to several years, he did not also imply that E would engage in bad-faith bargaining)

Bill Johnson's Restaurants, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 660 F.2d 1335 (C.A. 9, Nov 1981)
(test is whether interrogation tends to be coercive not whether Ee was in fact coerced)

5006-1733 Inherently harmless statements may become coercive as part of course of conduct

St. Francis Hospital 263 NLRB No. 109
(E statements, which individually were unobjectionable are not objectionable by virtue of their repetition)

St. Francis Hospital 263 NLRB No. 109
(supervisor saying, in response to Ee's refusal to talk to supervisor because Ee was too busy when requested, okay just wait until you want to talk to me about something, held not violative, since statement, standing alone was too nebulous to constitute unlawful threat of reprisal; no evidence linking supervisor's statement to any job action supervisor might take against Ee)

St. Francis Hospital 249 NLRB No. 017
(E's statement that if U won election it would refuse U demands, causing U to strike and Ees to lose jobs would not be violative standing alone but in context of E's other anti-U statements showing inevitability of strike and job loss it is violative)

Werth Engineering, Inc. JD-295-80
(questioning of Ee by E about his U activities is inherently coercive and fact that supervisor and Ee are personal friends is immaterial)

N.L.R.B. v. Laredo Coca Cola Bottling Company 613 F.2d 1338 (C.A. 5) (1980)
(in assessing E's activity alleged to constitute unlawful restraint or coercion, relevant inquiry is not limited to examining ostensible meaning or likely impact on Ees of E's statement; scope of inquiry must encompass entire pattern of E conduct)

J. M. Tanaka Construction, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 675 F.2d 1029 (C.A. 9, Apr. 1982)
(asking Ees what did you have to sign (U card) for? held violative where E did not give reason for question or assurance of no reprisal, asked Ees other than charging party and had pattern of hostility toward U)

5006-1767 Must be considered in connection with surrounding circumstances

St. Francis Hospital 263 NLRB No. 109
(supervisor saying, in response to Ee's refusal to talk to supervisor because Ee was too busy when requested, okay just wait until you want to talk to me about something, held not violative, since statement, standing alone was too nebulous to constitute unlawful threat of reprisal; no evidence linking supervisor's statement to any job action supervisor might take against Ee)

St. Francis Hospital 263 NLRB No. 109
(E's statement concerning its labor relations advisor (Modern Management Inc., a/k/a 2M in E's anti-U campaign) over whom Ees felt really under duress that If U wins, 2M stays. If U doesn't win, 2M goes held violative, since in event of U victory, management would continue to keep them (Ees) under duress)

Grove Valve and Regulator Company 262 NLRB No. 035
(statements made by E in speeches to Ees prior to election which emphasized inevitability of strikes, threatened loss of strikers jobs and plant closure violative especially in light of fact that they were made in context of other violative conduct)

Dutch Boy, Inc., Glow-Lite Division 262 NLRB No. 001
(vice-president's remark to Ees, in response to Ee question whether U would be help to E, made in context of E's numerous ULPs during U campaign, that his prior job was best he had ever had — but company went broke after U came in... held violative as implied threat to Ees that U victory in election would result in loss of jobs)

Gauley Industries, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 189
(E's president's reference to fact that his family would fight Ees to the end, and his opn that their (Ees') U activity would fail to succeed, not violative when considered independently of president's threat of plant closure)

Gauley Industries, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 189
(E's president's reference to his Ees' plans made during U's organizing compaign held violative, since reference was made to Ees' U activities and in context of E's animus towards U and was veiled, though clear, reference to (Ees') U activity)

Truck Stations, Inc., d/b/a Woody's Truck Stops 258 NLRB No. 094
(where E issued warning to two Ees, one U member and one not and told non-U member that only reason she received warning was to avoid appearance of harrassing U member, statement violated Act as it could be construed as evidence of E's willingness to retaliate against Ees for their U activities and also to engage in subterfuge to avoid legal scrutiny of its actions)

Warehouse Groceries Management, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 021
(telling Ees that store would not close did not cure various threats of closure where E distributed pamphlet with photo of 2 stores and stated that the U was in both these stores and they are now closed)

Stewart-Warner Corporation 253 NLRB No. 016
(foreman's threat to discharge Ee because of his participation in U activity violative, not withstanding foreman and Ee were friends as impact of statement is probably greater in view of source)

Marine World USA 251 NLRB No. 161
(where ct found E's announcements to Ees concerning withholding of wage increase and comments about incumbent U contained no express threat of reprisal or force or promise of benefit and remanded case to Bd for consideration of whether threat of reprisal or force or promise of benefit can be inferred from surrounding circumstances, Bd held that although E's statements were critical of U, threat of reprisal or force or promise of benefit cannot be inferred from the circumstances and concluded, under ct's analysis, announcements were not violative)

Blue Bird Body Company 251 NLRB No. 196
(E's prepared anti U speech made to eligible voters prior to election, violative where E used symbol of living or dying Bluebird as reference to company E and such use was implied threat of plant closure or removal if Ees chose U to be their representative)

The Nestle Company 248 NLRB No. 106
(foreman's statements to U adherent that Ee's U was a loser, -- no good and bunch of crooks, held not violative, where statements were made in natural give and take of shoptalk where Ees vigorously campaigned for their favored organization)

Carl Karcher Enterprises JD-(SF)-227-82
(interrogation of Ees about their U or protected activities may or may not amount to coercion, depending upon manner in which it is done and surrounding circumstances; objective test to be applied in determining whether questions are unlawfully coercive is whether conduct reasonably tends to interfere with free exercise of Ees' statutory rights)

New Mayo, Inc., d/b/a Mayo Products Company JD-(ATL)-18-81
(placing bumper stickers which in effect stated give E a chance vote 'No' along with letters expressing futility of voting for U in Ee pay envelopes just prior to election, violative)

Giallem Apparel Corp. JD-162-80
(E president's statement to Ees that he didn't think U would do Ees any good, that nobody would shove contract down his throat, and that he was only boss, not unlawful, where E president expressed willingness to sign contract with U and his remarks about benefit to Ees of contract reflected expression of opinion about how little benefit this would be to Ees rather than message of futility)

J. P. Stevens & Co., Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 638 F.2d 676 (C.A. 4, 1980)
(ct modified Bd finding Section 8(a)(1) violation in E's comment to Ee that company did not need U and any more U cards to include additional violation of calling Ee's attention to unlawful notice posted by E to dissuade solicitation of U cards during course of conversation)

TRW-United Greenfield Division v. N.L.R.B. 637 F.2d 410 (C.A. 5, 1981)
(test for violation of 8(a)(1) is whether E's questions, threats, or statements tend to be coercive, not whether Ees are in fact coerced and statement must be evaluated in light of totality of circumstances)

N.L.R.B. v. Laredo Coca Cola Bottling Company 613 F.2d 1338 (C.A. 5) (1980)
(supervisor's asking Ee shortly before election about U's prospects and who do you think will win election, and E president's asking another Ee if he had written letter critical of E officials, violative, in view company hostility toward U that was clearly manifested to Ees)

N.L.R.B. v. Brewton Fashions, Inc., a Division of Judy Bond 682 F.2d 918 (C.A. 11, Aug. 1982)
(proper evaluation of the evidence, however, requires more than merely examining a list of factors since intimidation may occur even if all factors cut in favor of the E)

5006-3300 Coercive effect of statements

A & T Manufacturing Company 265 NLRB No. 201
(informing Ee that E was n longer U, not unlawful, since not coercive inasmuch as simply true statement of fact)

Brunswick Hospital Center, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 112
(threat made by E to guard that two striking nurses were troublemakers and no matter what outcome of strike would be, they would not be employed again by E held violative, notwithstanding threat was made to guard not member of unit of nurses; guards not supervisors as defined in Act and customary exclusionary language in Act does not presume guards are supervisors; both guards and nurses had Ee status, therefore threat was coercive)

St. Francis Hospital 263 NLRB No. 109
(E's statement concerning its labor relations advisor (Modern Management Inc., a/k/a 2M in E's anti-U campaign) over whom Ees felt really under duress that If U wins, 2M stays. If U doesn't win, 2M goes held violative, since in event of U victory, management would continue to keep them (Ees) under duress)

Dutch Boy, Inc., Glow-Lite Division 262 NLRB No. 001
(E's letter to Ees falsely claiming that business was down held violative, since letter was implied threat that unionization could tip scales against (E's) survival; letter failed to reveal work was transferred elsewhere)

Modern Manufacturing Company, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 078
(E's asking Ees to vote NO in election found coercive, where, although such request standing alone might not constitute unlawful conduct, here throughout U's organizational campaign, E engaged in various unlawful activities, including threats, coercive interrogations, and terminations based on Ee U activities)

Modern Manufacturing Company, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 078
(E's letter advising Ees not to sign U cards, coercive)

Sterling Sugars, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 071
(falsely accusing Ee of soliciting other Ees' signatures on U cards during worktime on company premises, violative)

St. Mary's Home, Inc. t/a St. Mary's Infant Home 258 NLRB No. 134
(telling Ees that they could be sued for lending their names in support of legitimate U propaganda, unlawful)

Daniel Construction Company, A Division of Daniel International Corporation 257 NLRB No. 176
(E's misstatement of law that Ee would have to join U if it won election, not violative since statement contained no threat to interfere with Ees' rights and was therefore not coercive)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours & Company, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 033
(advising Ees who were named discriminatees in ULP proceedings that notices stating such were inserted in their personnel files, not unlawful)

Metropolitan Life Insurance Company 256 NLRB No. 100
(asking U adherent who intended to resign in near future if it would be fair for him to vote in election in view of fact that Ee intended to leave shortly, violative, where remark was made a week before election and E had already told Ee that he would be permitted to remain employed at company until end of year; Ee decided not to vote in election)

Jax Mold & Machine, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 129
(supervisor's question, Do you reckon we could have chance to get rid of U held coercive, notwithstanding both may have been friends)

PPG Industries, Inc., Lexington Plant, Fiber Glass Division 251 NLRB No. 156
(Bd held supervisor's stating to Ee that, in his opinion, E had planned to open new weaving process in named town, but because of what had happened, they didn't think that they would held unlawful and declined to consider opinion nature of supervisor's statement or his status as low-level supervisor to be conclusive, since Ees can reasonably assume that supervisor is privy to decisions of E's management, supervisor's comment because of what has happened can be reasonably construed as referring to U election or campaign, and the remark was made in course of extensive unlawful activity by E)

Marine World USA 251 NLRB No. 161
(where ct found E's announcements to Ees concerning withholding of wage increase and comments about incumbent U contained no express threat of reprisal or force or promise of benefit and remanded case to Bd for consideration of whether threat of reprisal or force or promise of benefit can be inferred from surrounding circumstances, Bd held that although E's statements were critical of U, threat of reprisal or force or promise of benefit cannot be inferred from the circumstances and concluded, under ct's analysis, announcements were not violative)

Billings Chrysler-Plymouth, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 089
(E's statement to Ee that it would be wise to wait until U was certified before he joined not violative as protected statement of opinion)

Chester Valley, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 190
(neither E intent not to threaten Ees nor absence of Ee coercion in reaction to E's threats render threats lawful, since test of interference and coercion under 8(a)(1) does not depend on E's motive nor on successful effects of coercion; rather, legality is determined by whether conduct may reasonably be said to have tendency to interfere with exercise of Ee rights under Act)

Magnesium Casting Company, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 107
(statement to job inspector that she was lying about U adherent's job production count, that matter was serious and that she had better brush up her story, unlawful, since it restrained inspector in her protected right and obligation to give testimony under Act)

Norton Concrete Company of Longview, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 172
(Ees' subjective response to threat of job loss by E is irrelevant as objective basis is used to determine if E's statement violates Act)

Hall of Mississippi, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 119
(supervisor's statement to Ees that supervisors would be fired for allowing U to come in, violative)

Pullman Trailmobile, A Division of Pullman Incorporated 249 NLRB No. 059
(foreman's action in throwing U grievance in trash container with comment, this is what I think of your damn U unlawful)

The Nestle Company 248 NLRB No. 106
(foreman's statements to U adherent that Ee's U was a loser, – no good and bunch of crooks, held not violative, where statements were made in natural give and take of shoptalk where Ees vigorously campaigned for their favored organization)

Big Star #189 JD-375-82
(stating during employment interview that E was non-U and E would like to keep it that way, not unlawful, where E's expression of preference, absent any additional remark, did not give statement a coercive character)

Scoggin, Inc. JD-433-81
(E's president telling Ees, who had contacted U and secured authorization cards, in angry tone he could not believe Ees sought U representation behind his back, not implied threat nor unlawful, in view of presence of U representatives and their immediate intervention, reassurance to Ees, and explanation to Ees and E's president that Ees were protected under federal law from discharge for U activities)

Datagraphix, Inc. JD-(SF)-344-80
(supervisor's statement to Ees, on occasion of their orientation session that Ees be aware of what you are signing, not unlawful where statement inferred no unlawful limitation upon or improper E intrusion into U activities of Ees)

Highland Foods, Inc. and Vickable Industrial Corporation JD-364-80
(announced isolation of Ee who was attempting to organize Ees, violative)

Consumer Enterprises, Inc. JD-342-80
(remarks to Spanish-speaking Ees blaming Ees' U activity or their signing of U cards for U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Services raid at E's plant in search of illegal immigrants, violative)

Giuliana Apparel Corp. JD-142-80
(E president's statement to Ee that heads would roll if he found out who was behind U, unlawful)

Cardinal Heating and Cooling, Inc. JD-835-79
(E's statement to Ee that he knew some of the Ees wanted to be represented by U and that he was going to go that way any way, not unlawful, where E's brief statement took place after Ees executed U cards and was not calculated to elicit information or create impression of surveillance)

K & K Gourmet Meats, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 640 F.2d 460 (C.A. 3, 1981)
(E's comments to Ee that U would be blocked are not violative as this statement is not coercive in character and falls w/i Section 8(c) protection which allows for exchange of information between U and management)

Heilstrom Co., a subsidiary of Brown Group, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 629 F.2d 305 (C.A. 3, 1980)
(test of coercion is not whether misconduct proves effective, but whether under circumstances existing it may reasonably tend to coerce Ees)

Standard-Coosa-Thatcher Carpet Yarn Division, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 691 F.2d 1133 (C.A. 4, Sept. 20, 1982)
(E's statement to U adherent during campaign, that he thought she was on his side, is violative as it has tendency to intimidate, especially given absence of any apparent legitimate reason for conduct)

McLean Trucking Company v. N.L.R.B. 626 F.2d 1168 (C.A. 4, 1980)
(superintendent's inquiry to Ee about contacting U, not unlawful, since it lacked coercive effect and was an honest corroborating repetition of Ee's own U business agent's volunteered information to superintendent)

Pioneer Natural Gas Company v. N.L.R.B. 662 F.2d 408 (C.A. 5, Nov. 1981)
(supervisor's statement that Ee's reprimand might be due to U activities not unlawful when considered with later statement that he (supervisor) would get a lawyer to see if something could be done; Ee was encouraged to assert her rights rather than coerced)

N.L.R.B. v. Robin American Corporation 654 F.2d 1022 (C.A. 5, 1981)
(ct held that evidence amply supported the tendency of interrogations and threats during critical period to coerce)

Central Freight Lines, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 624 F.2d 1301 (C.A. 5, Aug. 1980)
(prior case law establishes that even the Bd's determination involving statements alleged to be in violation of Section 8(a)(1) of the Act are to be reviewed under the usual substantial evidence standard. The focus is on whether or not the words themselves or the context in which they are used suggest an element of coercion)

N.L.R.B. v. Gold Standard Enterprises, Inc., et al. 679 F.2d 673 (C.A. 7, May 1982)
(tendency of E's statement to produce coercive effect judged from standpoint of economically dependent Ee)

J. M. Tanaka Construction, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 675 F.2d 1029 (C.A. 9, Apr. 1982)
(asking Ees what did you have to sign (U card) for? held violative where E did not give reason for question or assurance of no reprisal, asked Ees other than charging party and had pattern of hostility toward U)

Bill Johnson's Restaurants, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 660 F.2d 1335 (C.A. 9, Nov 1981)
(test is whether interrogation tends to be coercive not whether Ee was in fact coerced)

N.L.R.B. v. Chatfield-Anderson Co., Inc., dba Truss-Span Co. 606 F.2d 266 (C.A. 9, 1979)
(notwithstanding ct affirming Bd's finding of violations, ct stated that threats were generally mild and company issued disclaimers which tended to dissipate coercive impact; furthermore, statements made by low-level supervisors are more likely to express individual views and less likely to influence Ee's decision than statements by high-level officials which bears the imprint of company policy)

5006-5000 Kinds of statements

Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel Corp. v. N.L.R.B. 618 F.2d 1009 (C.A. 3, 1980)
(supervisor's statement to disciplined Ee that if Ee had kept his mouth shut at disciplinary hearing, discipline would not have been imposed, not unlawful, where supervisor did not initiate conversation but only responded to comment made by Ee, whole exchange totaled only 2 minutes, remark was not made in hostile or vindictive tone, and Ee's conduct at hearing made remark not inappropriate)

5006-5010 Antiunion statements, generally

Danzansky-Goldberg Memorial Chapels, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 112
(violation, where supervisor asked Ee when she was applicant and new Ee how she felt about Us, warned her that U adherents who were poor role models would try to recruit her into U and that she should let supervisor know if harassed in any way, informed her that owner was opposed to U, and advised her to stay out of U)

ABC Liquors, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 174
(informing Ee that another Ee was being transferred from store to warehouse in order to vote against U in upcoming election, violative)

Granite City Journal, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 140
(E official's anti-U statements to Ee, stating he knew where Ee was vis-a-vis U, accusing Us of having outlived their purpose and being communistic, and implying that he was fearful of losing his job and that he would do whatever was necessary to save his career, while accusing Ee of participating in conduct which was ruining his life, not unlawful, since official's assumption that he knew where Ee stood in regard to U was more rhetorical than informational as alleged, and there was no threat of unspecified reprisals)

Eau Claire Press Company 260 NLRB No. 148
(suggesting to U adherent that she stop U activity before election was held, violative)

Marathon Letourneau Company, Longview Division 256 NLRB No. 054
(supervisor's conduct in thumping Ee's U button for emphasis while stating that Ee had better quit worrying about outside interference, other people, and get his act together, unlawful)

Marathon Letourneau Company, Longview Division 256 NLRB No. 054
(supervisor's conduct in touching Ee's U button and telling him that he could stay but U button would have to go, not unlawful, since such nebulous remark does not reasonably tend to interfere with Ee's statutory rights)

Marathon Letourneau Company, Longview Division 256 NLRB No. 054
(supervisor's statement to Ee that he should not be wearing U button, not unlawful; while E's edicts concerning supervisors' do's and don'ts during U campaign, of which supervisor was aware, are not controlling since supervisor's convictions will override management's policies, in any event supervisor's remark was not coercive or restrained Ee's exercise of his statutory rights)

Sanitas Cura, Inc. d/b/a Parkview Acres Convalescent Center 255 NLRB No. 149
(telling Ees not to discuss U, violative)

Walker Die Casting, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 034
(telling Ee who returned to work after strike began to mind her own knitting violative, as it referred to her pre-strike U activities)

EMR Photoelectric, A Division of Sangamo Weston Inc. 251 NLRB No. 214
(E's statements that unionization would subject Ees to grave risk and that E would respond to selection of U by action that would jeopardize Ees' livelihood, unlawful, even though E, from time to time, asserted that it would bargain in good faith, that it intended no reprisals, and attempted to cite consequences of unionization as results that could happen)

Magnesium Casting Company, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 107
(E's statement to Ee that maybe all this wouldn't have been happening if Ees had not tried to get U in, unlawful, since Ee could reasonably interpret statement as reference to his discharge and discharge and discipline of other Ees during U campaign)

Central Freight Lines, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 063
(terminal manager's telling leadman not to participate in U activities and to remain neutral)

Transportation Manpower Services of Ohio, Inc. JD-(SF)-192-82
(successor E's telling prospective Ees that it could hire no more than 50 percent of predecessor work force, violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Proler International Corporation 635 F.2d 351 (C.A. 5, 1981)
(E's personnel director asking Ees whether they were going to attend U meeting that day, and when an Ee answered she wasn't sure, stating that if Ee did attend she should not sign any papers because U would be lying, held not unlawful since w/i E's section 8(c) right to express opinion as no threat or promise of benefit made where question merely prefaced later remarks, occured at end of routine conversation was not aimed at determining if Ees supported U or part of larger unlawful campaign of interrogation)

J. M. Tanaka Construction, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 675 F.2d 1029 (C.A. 9, Apr. 1982)
(asking Ees what did you have to sign (U card) for? held violative where E did not give reason for question or assurance of no reprisal, asked Ees other than charging party and had pattern of hostility toward U)

Weather Tamer, Inc. and Tuskegee Garment Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 676 F.2d 483 (C.A. 11, May 1982)
(no violation, where, in letter, E advised Ees of scheduled election, stated E was opposed to U, and asked Ees too consider pros and cons of U representation before signing cards)

5006-5015 That employer would refuse to bargain with union

Granite City Journal, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 140
(E's statement to Ee, during anti-U diatribe herein found not unlawful, that he would not permit U to tell him how to run his business held unlawful, since it gave rise to reasonable assumption, in view of E's vehement opposition to U, that statement was a warning that E would resist bargaining with U)

Bedford Farmers Cooperative 259 NLRB No. 165
(manager's remark, during time E was bargaining with U, that it would be hard to ever get a contract agreed on because Board of Directors couldn't agree on contract, not violative, since manager did not suggest bargaining would be futile but that it would be difficult)

Bedford Farmers Cooperative 259 NLRB No. 165
(manager's remark, overheard by two Ees, that E was not required to sign any contract with U held violative, since Ees concluded E had no intention of joining in collective bargaining with U)

5006-5046 Informing employees that wages or benefits could not be increased because of union campaign or objections

Alpha Cellulose Corporation 265 NLRB No. 010
(E's letter to Ees declaring that wages and benefits would be frozen during contract negotiations held unlawful and interference with election, since E thereby misinformed Ees by stating that negotiations prevented wage increases and implied that rejection of U would free E to grant raises and other benefits, thereby leading Ees to conclude that penalty was attached to exercise of their rights in choosing U; E has general duty to proceed as it would have in absence of U and, even during negotiations, E may lawfully implement benefits which have become conditions of employment by virtue of prior commitment or practice)

Schnadig Corporation 265 NLRB No. 020
(supervisor informing Ee who was U organizer when Ee requested his annual raise that E couldn't give Ee raise right now before election, since U might view it as bribery, and that supervisor was uncertain as to when evaluation for raise was due, not unlawful, absent evidence E would have given Ee raise at that time in absence of U activity)

Schnadig Corporation 265 NLRB No. 020
(denying Ee anticipated annual wage increase because of his U activity, and informing Ee when Ee inquired about increase after election that increase could not be granted until U certified, unlawful)

Champion Road Machinery International Corporation 254 NLRB No. 123
(supervisor's telling Ees that E could not grant early performance reviews because it would look like bribery due to Ees' U organizing campaign, unlawful)

Texas Industrial Services JD-(SF)-188-80

A.S.K., a subsidiary of Intermedics JD-(SF)-161-80
(E informing Ee on advice of counsel he could not give Ee wage increase in view of U activity, not unlawful, since rescission was correction of error in offering unlawful increase)

Mather Federal Credit Union JD-(SF)-8-80

Southside Electric Cooperative, Inc. JD-800-79
(falsely attributing rescission of wage increase to U held violative as effort to undermine U's standing among Ees)

N.L.R.B. v. Cable Vision, Inc. 660 F.2d 1 (C.A. 1, Sept. 1981)
(violation, where E impliedly blamed U for E's decision to withhold wage increases)

(telling applicant he would not be hired because he was honoring U picket line at another retail store held violative)

Niagara Falls Sightseeing By Sheridan, Inc. JD-447-82
(telling Ee that filing for unemployment compensation on basis of his reduced hours of work was reason he was laid off, unlawful)

Alpha Beta Company JD-201-82
(E's informing Ees laid off or formerly employed at one of its facilities that its refusal to hire Ees at another of its facilities was due to Ee's U membership, unlawful)

Transportation Manpower Services of Ohio, Inc. JD-(SF)-192-82
(telling prospective Ees that it was hiring Ee because he was not member of U, violative)

John Campbell t/d/b/a Chef John's Restaurant JD-49-81
(telling applicants for employment that E would not hire predecessor's Ees who were picketing facility on behalf of U, violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Consolidated Freightways Corporation of Delaware 651 F.2d 436 (C.A. 6, Mar 1981)
(E's refusal to hire former president of local U who had threatened to break E's manager's arms and legs and informing applicant who was later hired that it did not hire U president because of his protected activities, not unlawful, notwithstanding existence of mixed motive for refusal to hire, absent evidence threats were pretext for refusal to hire or that explanation for refusal interfered with Ee's rights under Act)

N.L.R.B. v. Bolsa Drainage, Inc. 639 F.2d 789(T) (C.A. 9, 1981)
(telling Ee that U activity was cause of E's unwillingness to give wage increases or to reinstate Ees, violative)

5006-5050 Misleading or distorted explanation of Act

Alpha Cellulose Corporation 265 NLRB No. 010
(E's letter to Ees declaring that wages and benefits would be frozen during contract negotiations held unlawful and interference with election, since E thereby misinformed Ees by stating that negotiations prevented wage increases and implied that rejection of U would free E to grant raises and other benefits, thereby leading Ees to conclude that penalty was attached to exercise of their rights in choosing U; E has general duty to proceed as it would have in absence of U and, even during negotiations, E may lawfully implement benefits which have become conditions of employment by virtue of prior commitment or practice)

General Electric Company 264 NLRB No. 126
(statements to Ees during U campaign that selection of U would mean loss of communication with managements on subjects not covered by U's grievance procedure are violative as threat and misrepresentation of Sec. 9(a) rights)

R. L. White Company, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 069
(telling Ee that E had right to discharge economic striker violative as misstatement of law and threat to discharge in event of strike)

St. Rita's Medical Center 261 NLRB No. 067
(statement concerning that once U was in you can't vote it out although not completely true, was not so blatant as to constitute per se violation of Act)

Magnolia Manor Nursing Home, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 040
(E's thinly veiled attacks on U and promulgation of erroneous labor law to the effect that because Ees had no contract there was no U, unlawful)

Beck Studios, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 044
(E's implying (in event it chose to agree to U security provisions in bargaining agreement) that it would discharge Ees for nonmembership in U even if it had reason to believe that such membership was not available to them on same terms and conditions generally available to other members, or that membership was denied or terminated for reasons other than their failure to tender periodic dues and initiation fees uniformly required as condition of acquiring or retaining membership held violative as egregious misrepresentation of law relative to Ee's rights in event E agrees to U shop)

Dimensions in Metal, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 078
(E's statement that no Bd could make us put (discriminatorily discharged Ee) back to work, violative)

Jensen Sound Laboratories 258 NLRB No. 181
(statement to Ees that any attempts to decertify U would result in U imposing heavy fines on its members violative as being contrary to Bd law)

Daniel Construction Company, A Division of Daniel International Corporation 257 NLRB No. 176
(E's misstatement of law that Ee would have to join U if it won election, not violative since statement contained no threat to interfere with Ees' rights and was therefore not coercive)

Harrison Steel Castings Company 262 NLRB No. 059
(statement by E that after economic strike ends those replaced will have no job to return to violative as it is ambiguous in that it could lead Ees to think that if they struck they would be terminated)

Limestone Apparel Corp. 255 NLRB No. 101
(if Ees select U, they gave up right to come to E and present their own grievances held violative)

Dick Seidler Enterprises, d/b/a Joe & Dodie's Tavern 254 NLRB No. 045
(E's communication to Ees that they would absolutely lose all direct access to management if they chose to be represented by U and that E would be legally obligated to deal solely through U was erroneous statement of Ees' Sec. 9(a) rights and unlawful threat of loss of benefits)

Taylor-Dunn Manufacturing Company 252 NLRB No. 118
(violation by misstating law by implying that Ees, in order to retain jobs if U wins, would have to pay U fines, assessments and have dues checkoff, in view of these statements being made in context of repeated unlawful threats and statement that victory for U would destroy job security)

Peat Manufacturing Company 252 NLRB No. 153
(telling economic strikers that they were not going to get their jobs back, violative, since they were entitled their jobs once strike had ended, they applied for reinstatement and openings for which they were qualified became available)

Edward A. Utlaut Foundation, Inc. d/b/a Edward A. Utlaut Memorial Hospital and Fair Oaks Nursing Home 249 NLRB No. 162
(violation and interference where E misstated law on strikers' rights by declaring that it had no duty to rehire Ees who were replaced during strike and thus threatened Ees with future permanent loss of employment if they engaged in economic strike)

Madison Newspapers, Inc. JD-197-82
(informing Ees that strikers would not have to be recalled and that E was committed to not hiring them back, unlawful since E was obligated to recall them pursuant to preferential hiring list instituted by E upon strikers' unconditional offer to return)

Dick Seidler Enterprises, d/b/a Joe & Dodie's Tavern JD-(SF)-339-80
(threatening Ees with loss of access to management if U became Ees' representative, unlawful, where E conveyed message to Ees by letter on day before election that if U represented Ees, Ees could not deal directly with E and E would be legally obligated to deal solely through U regarding all aspects of Ees' terms of employment; E thereby misstated Ees' statutory rights under Sec. 9(a))

Tri-Supply Company of Beaumont, Inc. JD-(SF)-29-80
(telling Ees that if U won election there would be no automatic wage increases or other benefits, but that wages and benefits would be frozen by law while negotiations are going on between E and U, often times for many months, violative)

Peavey Company v. N.L.R.B. 648 F.2d 460 (C.A. 7, May 1981)
(telling Ee she was confidential Ee and not allowed to participate in U activities)

5005-5051 Informing employees that protected activity was reason for transfer or denial of transfer

Electric Hose and Rubber Company 262 NLRB No. 014
(informing Ee that his right to transfer to new facility was denied because of his U activities, violative)

Union Oil Company of California, Polymer PLant 258 NLRB No. 188

Western Marine Electronics, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 057
(violation, where Ee transferred from machine shop to dusty, monotonous sanding job after he filed grievance contending he was in unit covered by bargaining agreement and was not receiving contract wage or benefits, and after meeting on his grievance Ee was told he was being transferred because of grievance)

Williams and Lane, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 074
(E who required Ees to resign from U before he would transfer them to new non-U facility violated Act)

L. M. Berry and Company 254 NLRB No. 003
(advising U adherent that but for her U activities she could be transferred as desired, violative)

5006-5052 Informing employee that protected activity was reason for warning

RAHCO, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 030

East Texas Motor Freight 262 NLRB No. 101
(letter to dissident U Ee warning him of discipline connected with E's disparate enforcement of contractual limitation on use of bulleting board)

C. R. Adams Trucking, Inc., and Michael Cates 262 NLRB No. 067
(telling Ees that they must join U prior to 30-day grace period, or they will be discharged, violative)

Truck Stations, Inc., d/b/a Woody's Truck Stops 258 NLRB No. 094
(where E issued warning to two Ees, one U member and one not and told non-U member that only reason she received warning was to avoid appearance of harrassing U member, statement violated Act as it could be construed as evidence of E's willingness to retaliate against Ees for their U activities and also to engage in subterfuge to avoid legal scrutiny of its actions)

Maine Apple Growers, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 060
(E's statement to Ees, who requested wage raise and directed grievance letter to E's Board of Directors, that agitating talk must cease held violative, since it was, in instant case, intended to interfere with, restrain, and coerce Ees)

Standard-Coosa-Thatcher Carpet Yarn Division, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 691 F.2d 1133 (C.A. 4, Sept. 20, 1982)

5006-5053 Futile to join or choose union

Woodview Rehabilitation Center 265 NLRB No. 122
(violation where E made speech to Ees in which it threatened that they would lose benefits, would no longer be able to resolve their grievances by going to E if they selected U to represent them, and threatened that selection of U would be futile since E, not U, would decide on manpower requirements and timing of pay raises)

Alpha Cellulose Corporation 265 NLRB No. 010
(statements in E's letters to Ees that they would be unable to find employment with area employers after being replaced in strike held not predictions of consequences of unionization, but unlawful, where statements were not-so-subtle threat that Ees who engaged in protected activities would be blacklisted by E and would, for discriminatory reasons, be denied employment by other Es, since E's letters made no mention of unemployment in area nor spoke to general problems of unemployed persons gaining employment and, instead, suggested that replaced striker would not be hired by other Es, thereby impressing upon Ees folly and futility of electing U)

Acme Motors, Inc., t/a Acme Datsun 263 NLRB No. 077
(informing Ees that it would be futile for them to select U and/or seek to use Bd processes or seek its protection, violative)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 263 NLRB No. 015
(informing Ees that if U were selected E would negotiate with U by listening to U's proposals and then making single final overall counterproposal package which U could accept, but if U did not, strike would result, unlawful, since Ees could reasonably conclude that Ees would end up with no better terms and conditions of employment than if they had no representation and thus it was futile to select U to represent them)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 263 NLRB No. 015
(supervisor informing Ees that He didn't see that company would give any more than they were giving regardless of whether we went U or not, unlawful)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 263 NLRB No. 015
(supervisor indicating that if E had to bargain with U it would listen, but that was all it would have to do, unlawful, since conveyed to Ees idea it would make no difference to Ees' situation if U represented them)

South Nassau Communities Hospital 262 NLRB No. 145
(management executive's remarks at regularly scheduled monthly staff meeting, in response to question raised regarding U, that E will only be unionized over my dead body, unlawful, since such phrase convey's a sense of futility to Ees that selection of U would be to no avail)

R. L. White Company, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 069

Conair Corporation 261 NLRB No. 178
(supervisor's statements to Ees that there would be no election because E did not want election to be held or U to represent Ees, unlawful, since, in view of E's numerous ULPs, supervisor's statements clearly imparted to Ees E's total control over their terms and conditions of employment; and imparted to Ees total futility of proceeding in exercise of their statutory rights whose scope, if any, would be determined by E)

Electric Hose and Rubber Company 262 NLRB No. 014
(E's statement that it will maintain its policy of granting same benefits to its U and non U plants made during organizing campaign violative as threat that its unionized Ees would not receive more than its non-U Ees; therefore, no need for U)

Herider Farms, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 113
(seeking to prevent discussion of U on break time and warning that organizing attempts would be futile, violative)

Sterling Sugars, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 071

Fred Lewis Carpets, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 108
(constantly reminding Ees that E would never go U, violative)

Emory Nursing Home, Inc. d/b/a Emory Convalescent Home 260 NLRB No. 071
(telling Ee that U would take Ees' money and not do anything for them because E was too small, violative)

Magnolia Manor Nursing Home, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 040
(E's statement to Ees on different occasions that U wasn't going to tell him what to pay Ees nor how he should run his operation, unlawful)

G.T.A. Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Restaurant Horikawa 260 NLRB No. 029

Dimensions in Metal, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 078
(E's executive vice-president's statement that he would guarantee that Ees would get nothing if U were brought in, violative since it clearly manifested closed mind and determination that bargaining would be futile)

Litton Mellonics Systems Division, A Division of Litton Systems, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 084
(remarking to Ees that Ee-formed U would not have much bargaining power held not unlawful prediction of futility if Ees chose U where GC cited no authority for interpreting remark as such and, moreover, immediately following remark, E readily acknowledged duty to bargain in good faith with U if certified)

Union Oil Company of California, Polymer PLant 258 NLRB No. 188

Transportation Management Corporation 258 NLRB No. 061
(E's statement to Ee that it would take 2 years to get U in, another 4 to get contract and that he would fight them all the way violative)

Saint Luke's Hospital 258 NLRB No. 045
(department head's calling Ees to office, warning them to think twice about what they were getting into before getting involved with U because E would never recognize U, held unlawful threat of reprisal and futility of organizing efforts, notwithstanding personal and friendly nature of conversation)

Thurston Motor Lines, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 172
(telling Ees that it would be futile for them to chose U, violative)

Caterpillar Tractor Company 257 NLRB No. 029
(E's statement that he did not think anyone had any more job security than...they ever had before U, not unlawful, where such statement was expression of opinion)

Lamar Advertising Associates of Dayton d/b/a Lamar Outdoor Advertising 257 NLRB No. 022

Polk Bros. Concrete Products 256 NLRB No. 128
(E said he would not sign a damn contract)

The Swingline Company; Spotnails, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 119

M. A. Harrison Manufacturing Company, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 071
(telling Ees U cannot win and that they might as well give up, violative)

Evans Brothers Barber & Beauty Salons, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 023
(telling Ee that U could not help Ees to improve economic interest, violative)

Evans Brothers Barber & Beauty Salons, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 023
(telling Ee that U could not do Ees any good because E could not afford it, violative)

Mark Lines, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 191
(violation where a few days before election E informed Ees of futility of electing U and that U would preclude employment of retirees and part-time drivers, and would impair seniority at this facility as compared to another facility)

Firmat Manufacturing Corp. 255 NLRB No. 153
(statements reflecting futility of selecting bargaining representative, violative)

Southern Moldings, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 115
(speeches which were intended to, and did impress upon Ees futility of selecting U and clearly conveyed to Ees impression that Us inevitably bring uncompetitiveness, strikes, and eventually plant closure, violative)

Custom Trim Products 255 NLRB No. 096
(sending letter to all Ees during critical period conveying to them that it would be futile to select U, violative)

Elk Brand Manufacturing Company 253 NLRB No. 132
(E's statement that threatened plant closure if Ees selected U did not also amount to expression that selection of U would be futile gesture)

GE's Trucking, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 131
(E, operating trucking company engaged solely in distributing another E's product, who stated to his own Ee that distributor would fire them all if they started U, unlawful either as threat of discharge or as statement that selection of U would be futile; distributor was in position to affect E's business for better or for worse, and Ee might reasonably assume that E would know, better than Ee, what action their mutual livelihood would take in event of unionization)

Taylor-Dunn Manufacturing Company 252 NLRB No. 118
(letter gives guarantee that U will never get signed contract and other themes indicate futility)

B. E. & K., Inc. 252 NLRB No. 036
(alleged statement by E to Ees that E would not negotiate with U as to any wage increases, herein asserted to be a threat of futility, not unlawful, where Ees' testimony to that effect constituted a conclusion of what E had said rather than an accurate recollection of what had been said, and E's denial of making statement was credited)

Mark J. Leach d/b/a Mark J. Leach Electrical Contractors 251 NLRB No. 151
(supervisor's statement that there was no way E would sign contract with U, unlawful)

B-P Custom Building Products, Inc.; and Thomas R. Peck Mfg. 251 NLRB No. 179
(violation where E threatened Ees that their support of Us would be futile since E would never sign contract and would terminate or permanently replace any Ees who went on strike for contract)

Pilgrim Life Insurance Company 249 NLRB No. 140
(president's statement that if company became unionized Ees would be on strike for so long they would lose interest and find other jobs, unlawful)

American Telecommunications Corporation, Electromechanical Division 249 NLRB No. 149
(E's statement that Ees at nonU plant would receive all benefits that Ees at U plant would receive, violative as itindicated that U representation would be futile because it would not result in improvement of working conditions)

Henry A. Young, d/b/a Columbia Engineers International 249 NLRB No. 144
(E threat made in meeting with U business agent and overheard by Ee to effect that Ees could join U but U would have to work them, unlawful)

Conagra, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 085
(statement that E would not sign contract that would improve wages or working conditions and that it might take up to three years to get contract signed, that no benefits could be obtained w/o E agreeing and E would close plant before it agreed, unlawful)

Conagra, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 085
(informing Ee who had been soliciting for U that if U came in company would buy out committee and she would be hurting, unlawful threat)

Earl Kuhns d/b/a Frenchy's K & T and Earl's News Stand 247 NLRB No. 167
(E's statements that it would never capitulate to U's representative status and that Ee would only lose because U dues would make his salary lower, violative)

J. P. Stevens and Company, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 044
(speech stating that E was determined to oppose U and will not bargain for more favorable working conditions, leading Ees to understand that selecting U would be futile, unlawful)

Thermo King Corporation 247 NLRB No. 048
(preelection speech to Ees in which E stated you will gain absolutely nothing by U representation, not unlawful, where speech was compilation of factual material in combination with review of organizing campaign, E outlined benefits already enjoyed by Ees which, if traded for U representation, will only bring Ees anger, misery, and frustration and presented economic problems which could arise if E could not meet U demands, thereby merely engaging in speculation concerning possible consequences beyond E's control)

Lacks Industries, Inc. JD-346-82
(E's statement to Ee, allegedly indicating futility in selecting U as Ee representative, not unlawful, where it constituted part of E's campaign rhetoric and E did not suggest that he will engage in any illegal activity to prevent U from organizing Ees or to prevent Ees from choosing U as their representative; it is not illegal for E to express his opposition to U)

Gary Concrete Products, Inc. JD-(ATL)-65-82
(statement by E that there would be no change if U came in, violative as it suggests futility of U efforts)

U. S. Gypsum Company JD-(ATL)-28-82

Ellis Hospital JD-164-82
(letter to Ees allegedly containing anticipatory refusal to bargain with U, not unlawful, where letter referred to management rights clause contained in Ee handbook, rights and responsibilities cited in handbook were substantially same as might reasonably be expected in any bargaining agreement, and statement in letter did not suggest to Ees futility of selecting U as their representative)

Berco Industries, Inc. JD-56-82
(E president's telling Ees that U could not give them more money if he decided not to pay it or to save their jobs if he decided to let them go, violative)

Tops Industries, d/b/a Tops Market JD-(SF)-53-82
(threat to refuse to negotiate or sign a contract with any U selected by Ees, unlawful and objectionable)

Scoggin, Inc. JD-433-81
(allegation in complaint that E's president informed Ee he would not abide by outcome of election dismissed since statement of E's president that he wasn't going to accept contract and was not going to give U any trouble, but he would not accept contract either, not unlawful as statement that is ambiguous and cannot be equated to E would challenge election process or U right to represent Ees)

Scoggin, Inc. JD-433-81
(E's president's statement that electing U would be futile because he would not bargain with intent to reach agreement or enter into agreement, unlawful)

Ace Electrical Construction Corporation Advance Electric of New York, Inc.; et al. JD-(NY)-79-81
(E's posting notice stating that if Ees did not join certain U, which E would join, Ees could strike for rest of their lives held violative, since E's notice suggested futility of selecting petioning U)

New Mayo, Inc., d/b/a Mayo Products Company JD-(ATL)-18-81
(telling Ees that they were not going to get as much as they expected because of their U activities, violative, where such statement could be interpreted that E would reduce Ee benefits in retaliation against their U activities; moreover, this statement could be interpreted that Ees could not reasonably expect to attain their goals through U activity)

Guardian Industries Distribution Center, Inc. JD-(NY)-45-80
(E's response to Ees' questions that, if Ees voted in U, E must negotiate in good faith but did not have to sign contract if unable to agree to its terms, not coercive and not unlawful or statement that electing U would be futile since E would not negotiate contract, as alleged, but rather was correct statement of E's legal obligation)

Giuliani Apparel Corp. JD-162-80
(E president's statement to Ees that he didn't think U would do Ees any good, that nobody would shove contract down his throat, and that he was only boss, not unlawful, where E president expressed willingness to sign contract with U and his remarks about benefit to Ees of contract reflected expression of opinion about how little benefit this would be to Ees rather than message of futility)

N.L.R.B. v. Permanent Label Corporation 657 F.2d 512 (C.A. 3, 1981)
(E's vice-president informing Ees that U could not deliver on promises and would just take their dues, that only company could give them job security, that unionized plants sometimes became uncompetitive and found it difficult to stay in business)

K & K Gourmet Meats, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 640 F.2d 460 (C.A. 3, 1981)
(E's comments to Ee that U would be blocked are not violative as this statement is not coercive in character and falls w/i Section 8(c) protection which allows for exchange of information between U and management)

Standard-Coosa-Thatcher Carpet Yarn Division, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 691 F.2d 1133 (C.A. 4, Sept. 20, 1982)
(where Ee expressed her dissatisfaction with contract covering unionized Ees at another plant and plant manager responded that that contract was first thing E's lawyers would insist on if U won election, response violated Act as this is coercive statement, especially where made to one who saw no benefit in contract)

Pease Company v. N.L.R.B. 666 F.2d 1036 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1981)

(ct held where there was no background of anti-U animus by E, isolated remark by E's representative that in a couple more months he would not have to hear any grievances was ambiguous and therefore Bd finding 8(a)(1) violation was not supported by substantial evidence)

N.L.R.B. v. Naum Brothers, Inc. 637 F.2d 589 (C.A. 6, Mar 17, 1981)

(substantial evidence supported Bd's finding that E had indicated to Ees that unionization would be futile and might lean to closure of store)

5006-5055 Employees will have to bargain from scratch if union is selected

Belcher Towing Company 265 NLRB No. 159

(while E may properly point out hazards of bargaining process to Ees and may lawfully inform Ees prior to election that bargaining may start from scratch or zero, E's handbill threatening bargaining from ground zero and statements aobut hard bargaining held not mere expressions of opinion as to normal and natural hazards of bargaining; rather, Ees were left with impression that E would see to it that Ees lost rather than gained benefits if they voted for U, and that they would lose existing benefits for less certain, U-proposed benefits)

Economy Fire and Casualty Co. 264 NLRB No. 003

Zero Corporation, Zero East Division 262 NLRB No. 064

(E's statement to U adherent that they would have to bargain from scratch if U came in violative, notwithstanding the two had been close friends for 8 to 10 years)

Progressive Supermarkets, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 074

Best Products Co., Inc. 259 NLRB No. 016

Clements Wire & Manufacturing Company, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 075

(informing Ees that when negotiations began they would start with clean sheet of paper and Ees could no longer be guaranteed wages they were now getting, violative)

Taylor-Dunn Manufacturing Company 252 NLRB No. 118

(supervisor's remarks during break, in response to Ee's question, that when a U comes in you bargain from minimum wage up and there are no benefits until contract signed, violative as remarks were threat of loss of existing benefits)

Hinky Dinky Super Markets, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 169

(telling Ees that they probably would not get raise if U won because all raises would then be subject to negotiation, held not violative, citing Strumpf Motor Company, 208 NLRB 431, 432 (1974))

Gerber Scientific Instrument Company, Inc., A Wholly Owned Subsidiary of Gerber Scientific, Inc. JD-188-82

(E may inform Ees of realities of collective bargaining which include possibility that U, in order to secure other benefits might trade away some existing benefits. It may not, however, lead Ees to believe that E through predetermined regressive bargaining position will require U to give up existing benefits. Conduct and statements having effect of warning that E will begin negotiations from stratch clearly violate this rule)

Ellis Hospital JD-164-82

(supervisor's statement allegedly informing Ees that, in event Ees selected U, Ees would lose all existing benefits and that bargaining would be from scratch or zero, not unlawful, where supervisor did not use the alleged expressions but merely stated that, in event of collective bargaining, Ees could gain benefits, lose benefits, or they could remain the same)

Valleydale Packers, Inc. JD-(SF)-81-81

(E who conducted active anti-U campaign did not violate Act where its speeches contained statements that, all existing benefits are on table and wages and benefits could go up or down as this is not threat to withdraw benefits)

National King Coal, Inc. JD-(SF)-34-81

(E which posted copy of Bd decision containing statement that bargaining starts with blank piece of paper and could result in loss of existing benefits did not violate Act as this is accurate description of one possible consequence of lawful collective bargaining)

Datagraphix, Inc. JD-(SF)-344-80

(supervisor's comment to Ees that Ees were free to choose whether or not they desired to be represented by U, but if U were selected it was possible that as result of negotiations, Ees could lose or gain benefits since in negotiating Ees started from ground zero, not violative)

Liberty Vinyl Corporation JD-(SF)-308-80

(pamphlet distributed by labor consultant during U campaign stating that negotiations start from scratch held not violative, as it is truthful and unobjectionable for E to point out that contract negotiations involve tradeoffs and no benefits are exempt from bargaining process that E must engage in good faith)

South Suburban Hospital JD-(SF)-278-80

(in noncoercive manner and circumstances E can state that all benefits and wages will be renegotiated if U wins; not quite same as bargain from scratch)

CRC Pipeline Equipment, a Division of Crutcher Resources Corporation JD-(SF)-140-80

(E's statements to effect that bargaining was two way street and benefits could be decreased, remain same, or be increased, not unlawful, since it was explanation of how contract arrived at and legitimate message that Ees might wind up with less benefits after unionization, rather than threat of economic reprisal that Ees would automatically lose benefits by voting for U)

TRW-United Greenfield Division v. N.L.R.B. 637 F.2d 410 (C.A. 5, 1981)

(statement by high ranking official in Ee meeting that we bargain from scratch, along with reference to blank sheet of paper and bargaining could go on for months, held violative as implied threat that E would adopt regressive bargaining posture designed to force reduction in existing benefits, and other ULPs were committed)

TRW-United Greenfield Division v. N.L.R.B. 637 F.2d 410 (C.A. 5, 1981)

(supervisor's reference to blank-piece-of-paper during informal discussions two days before election held implied threat of regressive bargaining posture if U won as they were reiterations of threats implied in earlier and similar statements by high Company official)

5006-5058 Statements concerning bargaining position

Van Dorn Plastic Machinery Co., Division of Van Dorn Company 265 NLRB No. 036

(foreman telling EU negotiating committeeman that E's president would never recognize U, violative)

Rexall Corporation 265 NLRB No. 015

(supervisor's statement to Ees that benefit some Ees that benefit some Ees enjoyed of being able to leave 5 minutes early to catch bus would become negotiable if U came in not violative as it was accurate statement that hours of work would become negotiable if U won election)

Economy Fire and Casualty Co. 264 NLRB No. 003

(warning that all benefits could be taken away except those management decided to keep held threat that E would adopt bargaining stance to ensure that collective bargaining could not result in any increased benefits and would or could probably result in decreased benefits)

St. Francis Hospital 263 NLRB No. 109

(E's statement to Ees at Ee meeting, to effect that Ees cannot count on having better benefits—and Ees shouldn't be fooled by fact that U can help Ees, not violative, since statement was found to constitute permissable electioneering; although E implied bargaining would take anywhere up to several years, he did not also imply that E would engage in bad-faith bargaining)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 263 NLRB No. 015

(informing Ees that if U were selected E would negotiate with U by listening to U's proposals and then making single final overall counterproposal package which U could accept, but if U did not, strike would result, unlawful, since Ees could reasonably conclude that Ees would end up with no better terms and conditions of employment than if they had no representation and thus it was futile to select U to represent them)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 263 NLRB No. 015

(informing Ees that E instead of bargaining by give and take of offers and counter offers would make its best offer, unlawful, since could reasonably be understood to predict E would adopt take it or leave it position by making only one offer and not deviating from that proposal)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 263 NLRB No. 015

(supervisor informing Ees that He didn't see that company would give any more than they were giving regardless of whether we went U or not, unlawful)

Bedford Farmers Cooperative 259 NLRB No. 165

(manager's remark, during time E was bargaining with U, that it would be hard to ever get a contract agreed on because Board of Directors couldn't agree on contract, not violative, since manager did not suggest bargaining would be futile but that it would be difficult)

Gossen Company, a Division of the United States Gypsum Company 254 NLRB No. 041

Armour Oil Company 253 NLRB No. 148

(terminal manager's remarks to three Ees that there would be no work w/o contract, not violative since words were equivocal and by themselves insufficient to support finding that alleged lockout was used by E to support its bargaining position for new contract; when statement made, E had every reason to believe U would strike at end of day when present contract terminated)

Talbert Manufacturing, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 026

(violation where E informed an Ee that it was determined not to have U in the plant and intended to stall negotiations)

5006-5058—Cont.

American Telecommunications Corporation, Electromechanical Division 249 NLRB No. 149

(statement that E would not give unionized Ees more benefits than unrecognized Ees violative as it showed E had no intention of bargaining with U and would violate Section 8(a)(5))

Henry A. Young, d/b/a Columbia Engineers International 249 NLRB No. 144

(E threat to move business or to file bankruptcy rather than to pay U scale or benefits, unlawful)

Conagra, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 085

(statement that E would not sign contract that would improve wages or working conditions and that it might take up to three years to get contract signed, that no benefits could be obtained w/o E agreeing and E would close plant before it agreed, unlawful)

Smyth Manufacturing Company, Inc.; Beacon Industries 247 NLRB No. 164

(misrepresentation of the nature of E-U negotiations by asserting that only issue separating parties was open shop issue, unlawful)

Gerber Scientific Instrument Company, Inc., A Wholly Owned Subsidiary of Gerber Scientific, Inc. JD-188-82

(E may inform Ees of realities of collective bargaining which include possibility that U, in order to secure other benefits might trade away some existing benefits. It may not, however, lead Ees to believe that E through predetermined regressive bargaining position will require U to give up existing benefits. Conduct and statements having effect of warning that E will begin negotiations from stratch clearly violate this rule)

Scoggin, Inc. JD-433-81

(allegation in complaint that E's president informed Ee he would not abide by outcome of election dismissed since statement of E's president that he wasn't going to accept contract and was not going to give U any trouble, but he would not accept contract either, not unlawful as statement that is ambiguous and cannot be equated to E would challenge election process or U right to represent Ees)

Scoggin, Inc. JD-433-81

(E's president's statement that electing U would be futile because he would not bargain with intent to reach agreement or enter into agreement, unlawful)

Liberty Vinyl Corporation JD-(SF)-268-80

(pamphlet stating that present salaries, benefits and working conditions are up for grabs and subject to negotiations held not violative where labor relations consultant who distributed them made spoken remarks which dissipated misapprehension about status of existing benefits and wages if U got in)

The Procter & Gamble Manufacturing Co., et al. v. N.L.R.B. 658 F.2d 968 (C.A. 4, Sept. 1981)

(plant manager's statement to U officials that contract negotiated with U negotiating committee, having outsiders from E's other plants participating, would be less favorable to plant Ees than one negotiated with only local U members, unlawful; Bd's findings that manager made statement in order to discourage multiplant bargaining are based on credibility findings which are peculiarly w/i province of Bd and are therefore entitled to acceptance on review, and Bd properly considered probability that manager's comments would have prticularly chilling effect on U officials)

5006-5059 Informing employee that protected activity was reason for denial or offer of employment

Central Transport, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 130

(statements by E's vice-president to applicant who had been involved in intra-U rivalry that if after applicant was hired local U requested applicant's discharge E's owner would direct vice-president to discharge applicant, not unlawful, since no threat made and statements were in response to applicant's negative attitude; vice-president had earlier suggested applicant commence working while member of another local; further, applicant refused vice-president's offer to be calm and give it a try made after allegedly improper remarks)

Central Transport, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 198

(E's statements during initial employment interview that E maintained policy of not hiring Ees with history of employment with organized Es, violative)

Sahara Packing Company JD-(SF)-95-82

5006-5060 No benefits from, or need for, union

Hutchison-Hayes International, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 168

(telling Ees they could do a lot better if they dealt directly with E instead of going through U, violative)

Knogo Corporation 262 NLRB No. 171

(speech informing Ees they did not need U to receive improvements in job benefits and if it were not for U campaign they would be receiving increased benefits put onus on U for delay and violated Act)

Modern Manufacturing Company, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 078

(statement of E's president at company meeting that as much, if not more, could be accomplished w/o U, unlawful since it implied that E might grant benefits if Ees voted against U)

Holland American Wafer Company 260 NLRB No. 061

(telling Ees that they should talk to E's president about what they wanted because U couldn't get anything for them so they should not wait for U, held violative as these statements tend to discourage U support, invite direct bargaining and portray U as futile)

Morco, Inc. d/b/a Towne Plaza Hotel 258 NLRB No. 016

(E telling Ees that raise came from E and not from U, violative)

American Telecommunications Corporation, Electromechanical Division 249 NLRB No. 149

(E's statement that Ees at nonU plant would receive all benefits that Ees at U plant would receive, violative as itindicated that U representstion would be futile because it would not result in improvement of working conditions)

Conagra, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 085

(statement that E offers same benefits as U for nothing, violative)

St. Joseph's Hospital of The Franciscan Sisters of Milwaukee, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 135

(no violation, where in response to Ee's inquiry as to basis for E's statements in support of its decertification ptn E's personnel director informed Ee U was not reputable and asked Ee why Ees needed U when E gave them benefits anyway since Ee initiated conversation and question was rhetorical)

Thermo King Corporation 247 NLRB No. 048

(preelection speech to Ees in which E stated you will gain absolutely nothing by U representation, not unlawful, where speech was compilation of factual material in combination with review of organizing campaign, E outlined benefits already enjoyed by Ees which, if traded for U representation, will only bring Ees anger, misery, and frustration and presented economic problems which could arise if E could not meet U demands, thereby merely engaging in speculation concerning possible consequences beyond E's control)

Southern Farmers Association JD-47-82

(supervisor telling Ees prior to election that he could do better job than U was promise of benefit)

Cashmere Lumber Company JD-(SF)-93-80

(although supervisor's conduct would have been unlawful in organizational setting, his asking Ee why he sought to involve official of parent organization in U's problems at plant, accompanied by statements that Ees did not need U as long as he held his management job and that he would take care of Ees, not unlawful, notwithstanding supervisor's take-care-of statement since, in context of settled bargaining relationship with U, there was nothing in supervisor's remarks or surrounding circumstances from which Ee could have perceived a threat or promise)

N.L.R.B. v. Permanent Label Corporation 657 F.2d 512 (C.A. 3, 1981)

(E's vice-president informing Ees that U could not deliver on promises and would just take their dues, that only company could give them job security, that unionized plants sometimes became uncompetitive and found it difficult to stay in business)

N.L.R.B. v. Permanent Label Corporation 657 F.2d 512 (C.A. 3, 1981)

(asking Ees why they thought they needed U and what problems or grievances they had about conditions in plant, and stating belief E could solve problems w/i year w/o U)

5006-5062 Informing employees that protected activity was reason for cancellation of plant expansion plans

PPG Industries, Inc., Lexington Plant, Fiber Glass Division 251 NLRB No. 156

(Bd held supervisor's stating to Ee that, in his opinion, E had planned to open new weaving process in named town, but because of what had happened, they didn't think that they would held unlawful and declined to consider opinion nature of supervisor's statement or his status as low-level supervisor to be conclusive, since Ees can reasonably assume that supervisor is privy to decisions of E's management, supervisor's comment because of what has happened can be reasonably construed as referring to U election or campaign, and the remark was made in course of extensive unlawful activity by E)

5006-5063 Advantages to be gained from not having union

St. Francis Hospital 263 NLRB No. 109

(E's statement concerning its labor relations advisor (Modern Management Inc., a/k/a 2M in E's anti-U campaign) over whom Ees felt really under duress that If U wins, 2M stays. If U doesn't win, 2M goes held violative, since in event of U victory, management would continue to keep them (Ees) under duress)

Zero Corporation, Zero East Division 262 NLRB No. 064

(E who told Ees what benefits were instituted at its other plant immediately after U lost election there violated Act)

5006-5063—Cont.

Martin-Brower Company 261 NLRB No. 111

(statements that if U lost election laid off Ees would return to work and transferred work brought back, violative)

Management Training Corporation (Formerly Thiokol Corporation) 261 NLRB No. 013

(where E had policy of promoting Ees as vacancies occurred and of granting annual merit increases, its withholding of these promotions and benefits combined with statements that if U lost election they would be granted immediately, but if U won they would be deferred indefinitely, violated Act)

Weirton Steel, Division of National Steel Corporation 259 NLRB No. 091

(E's spokesman telling U negotiators they could have stock plan if they forgot about U, violative where statement was made to dissuade Ees from supporting U)

Cardinal Systems, A Division of Hospitality Motor Inns, Inc., d/b/a Cummins Component Plant 259 NLRB No. 065

Monterey Drilling Company 258 NLRB No. 074

(statements by supervisors that U representation would mean cut in pay, not unlawful where it was highly unlikely that any Ee would ascribe comment in this regard to anything other than reference to difference in pay and subsistence being paid by E and that required under existing U contracts)

Mark Twain Marine Industries, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 144

(violation where E's attorney told assembled Ees that they would have more benefits, wages, and rights w/o U by dealing with E on one to one basis)

Hinky Dinky Super Markets, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 169

(telling Ees that they probably would not get raise if U won because all raises would then be subject to negotiation, held not violative, citing Strumpf Motor Company, 208 NLRB 431, 432 (1974))

Keister Coal Company, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 049

(supervisors' statements to Ees during U campaign that we just better leave well enough alone and promise of big bonus and improved working conditions made in conjunction with interrogations as to what Ees knew about U, held violative, since statements promised Ees improvements conditioned upon their abandonment of support of U)

Keister Coal Company, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 049

(promise to Ee during U campaign of promotion to foreman's job if Ee would abandon his U activity held violative)

Gerber Scientific Instrument Company, Inc., A Wholly Owned Subsidiary of Gerber Scientific, Inc. JD-188-82

(violation where E's flyer asked If teamsters get in, will Ees lose any of their existing benefits? and answered If U gets in then all fringe benefits and wages are subject to negotiation. There is no guarantee that existing benefits will remain same. and informing Ees in answer to question why E does not want U that restrictions of U contract would make things more difficult and E believed in dealing on individual rather than collective basis in view of other parts of flyer which contained threat against retention of current Ee benefits and misstatement of Ee rights)

Johns-Manville Sales Corporation JD-412-81

(statement to Ees that they would be better off dealing directly with plant manager, rather than through U)

N.L.R.B. v. Mars Sales & Equipment Co. 626 F.2d 567 (C.A. 7, 1980)

(E's suggestion that Ee would be better off by not joining U constitutes interference with Ee's freedom of choice for or against unionization and is unlawful)

5006-5068 Detrimental results of unionization

Tra-Mar Communications, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 089

(E's statement that ——any privileges that you have now are definitely going to be taken away if the U is voted (in) held violative, since remark constituted threat of more onerous working conditions and loss of privileges if Ees were to select U as their representative)

Schnadig Corporation 265 NLRB No. 020

(violation, where E's chairman of board informed Ees he had purchased plant as non-U and expected it to stay that way, that he was in business to stay, hopefully at present location, but if not there, somewhere else, and needed Ees to help make it profitable, that Ees were entitled to do as they saw fit, but he did not believe U was good for future and being intelligent people Ees should not believe U's snow job, since reference to plant closing not based on objective facts supporting demonstrable probable consequences beyond his control, and supervisors had previously threatened plant closure)

Rexall Corporation 265 NLRB No. 015

(supervisor who spoke to Ees prior to election and described his experiences as unit Ee under U did not violate Act where his description was truthful, he accurately described specific provisions in labor agreement under which some of E's Ees worked, and repeatedly stressed to Ees that he was not telling them changes would occur but that they could occur; thus, there was no threat of reprisal)

Rexall Corporation 265 NLRB No. 015

(supervisor's statement to Ees that benefit some Ees that benefit some Ees enjoyed of being able to leave 5 minutes early to catch bus would become negotiable if U came in not violative as it was accurate statement that hours of work would become negotiable if U won election)

Daniel Construction Company, A Division of Daniel International Corporation 264 NLRB No. 079

(E's response, to Ee asking if customers would cancel contracts with E if U came in, that if E was no longer competative, they would cancel contract held not violative even in absence of explanation as to various ways E would become noncompetitive, since answer was merely plain statement of fact and not prediction, and no threat of reprisals if U came in; therefore, statement was protected by Section 8(c) of Act)

Larid Printing, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 040

(stating to assembled Ees that U would probably make him cut back on help because everybody would have specific job title and if U came in medical unsurance would be cancelled, unlawful)

Cardio Data Systems Corp. 264 NLRB No. 011

(statement to Ee that prior warning given to Ee for unauthorized use of E's copying machine should be taken as a threat, unlawful, where statement was intended to show Ee what it would be like if Ees were represented by U)

Roper Corporation 263 NLRB No. 151

(telling Ees that by bringing in U they had lost benefits they might otherwise have had, violative)

St. Francis Hospital 263 NLRB No. 109

(E's statement concerning its labor relations advisor (Modern Management Inc., a/k/a 2M in E's anti-U campaign) over whom Ees felt really under duress that If U wins, 2M stays. If U doesn't win, 2M goes held violative, since in event of U victory, management would continue to keep them (Ees) under duress)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 263 NLRB No. 015

(supervisor asking Ee if Ee would strike should U come in and in same conversation stating that if U came in and strike resulted there would be loss of jobs, unlawful)

Frank J. Schroeder d/b/a National Apartment Leasing Company 263 NLRB No. 003

(telling Ee that E would fold and everyone would lose their jobs if U's organizing efforts succeeded, violative; such remarks may reasonably be said to interfere with free exercise of Ee rights under Act and neither speaker's intent nor successful effect of remarks on Ee is material)

Oklahoma City Collection District of Browning-Ferris, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 012

(E's statement to Ees that strikers in other companies had lost jobs violative as creating impression that such adverse consequences would be direct result of unionization)

R. L. White Company, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 069

(supervisor's statement to Ee that if there was strike he would have to participate, violative)

Zero Corporation, Zero East Division 262 NLRB No. 064

(E's general manager's remarks that U would be detriment to Ees aspiring for better working conditions and would result in loss of business for E, violative)

Dutch Boy, Inc., Glow-Lite Division 262 NLRB No. 001

(vice-president's remark to Ees, in response to Ee question whether U would be help to E, made in context of E's numerous ULPs during U campaign, that his prior job was best he had ever had — but company went broke after U came in... held violative as implied threat to Ees that U victory in election would result in loss of jobs)

Marion Rohr Corporation 261 NLRB No. 138

(telling Ees that if U came in their work week would be reduced because U's contract prohibits longer work week, not unlawful, because it pertains to possible action by U rather than by E)

Marion Rohr Corporation 261 NLRB No. 138

(telling Ees that if U came in there would be layoffs caused by U-imposed rigid classifications of employment operations, not unlawful, because it pertains to possible action by U rather than E)

Marion Rohr Corporation 261 NLRB No. 138

(telling Ees that if U came in U would prevent hiring of 16-and 17-year-old Ees, not unlawful, because it pertains to possible action by U rather than E)

Gauley Industries, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 189

(manager's statement in reference to layoffs —that he knew that they were coming, but the U had speeded them up, held violative)

B. E. & K., Inc. 260 NLRB No. 081

(E's statement that no U contractor had even bid on job and that U was pricing itself out of work violative)

5006-5065—Cont.

Advanced Mining Group, Div. of Republic Corp., Lucerne Facility 260 NLRB No. 073
(E's making clear, by letter and speech to its assembled Ees that their choice is simply between no U or strikes, violence, layoffs and related adverse consequences held violative in context of E's intense anti-U campaign and accompanying acts of discrimination and coercion)

Amoco Fabrics Co., Patchogue-Plymouth Division/ Nashville Mills 260 NLRB No. 038
(E's communication to Ees that negotiations with U might result in reduction in wages or benefits due to give and take of collective-bargaining not violative)

Gould, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 002
(telling Ees that wages would be frozen during negotiations which could take year held unlawful threat because it threatened loss of present benefit of elegibility for merit increases)

High Energy Corporation 259 NLRB No. 097
(supervisor's statement to Ee that Ees were foolish to bring U in plant that, if U came in, it would definitely make things worse instead of better, not unlawful, since statement was merely an expression of sentiment, unaccompanied by interrogation, threats of reprisal or promises of benefit)

Best Products Co., Inc. 259 NLRB No. 016
(E's comments to Ees that if U were voted in Ees might lose some benefits to make up for any wage increases they gained not violative as this is explanation of bargaining process)

Browning-Ferris Industries, Chemical Services, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 009
(E's statement that if the union was here, there might not be any work not unlawful where it was spontaneous response to Ee's joking statement about U rather than calculated attempt at intimidation and was isolated incident)

American Display Manufacturing Co., Inc. 259 NLRB No. 006
(informing Ees that if U came in, made rediculous demands and caused strike, E might not be able to make timely deliveries and lose largest account and thereby result in possible loss of jobs, unlawful because U had not, as yet, made any demands)

Jackson Dairy Products Company 258 NLRB No. 172
(statement that Ees' filing of election ptn with Bd would cost E money to hire an attorney which would otherwise be used as operating expenses, unlawful)

Truck Stations, Inc., d/b/a Woody's Truck Stops 258 NLRB No. 094
(statements to Ees that if U won election shift hours would be reduced and pay consequently lowered, violated Act)

Mark Lines, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 191
(violation where a few days before election E informed Ees of futility of selecting U and that U would preclude employment of retirees and part-time drivers, and would impair seniority at this facility as compared to another facility)

Associated Milk Producers, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 104
(telling Ee that E could bust your back in your retirement and could cut us back to 40 hrs/week and minimum wage, violative)

Foundation of California State University, Sacramento 255 NLRB No. 029
(E, which was non-profit organization, informing Ees after U had made demand for recognition that U's salary demands would cause E to lose control of its revenues and make the foundation go broke)

Association of Apartment Owners of The Whaler on Kaanapali Beach 255 NLRB No. 010
(E's statements in Ee meeting that if U came in wage rates would be set by U-master agreement not violative where upon questioning by Ees, E agreed that wages would be negotiable, thus neutralizing potentially violative statement)

Gossen Company, a Division of the United States Gypsum Company 254 NLRB No. 041

Intermountain Rural Electric Association 253 NLRB No. 164
(violative where indicated in E's memoranda to its Ees after election that U's victory would cause economic detremant)

Taylor-Dunn Manufacturing Company 252 NLRB No. 118
(letters stating that U victory would destroy job security, result in strikes and job loss blinded with statements that rejection of U would remove all obstacles to job security and harmonious and beneficial employment relations, violative)

Behring International, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 055
(E, through Ees acting as its agents at Ee meeting, violated 8(a)(1) by making it clear to Ees that they would be better off w/o U)

Stanley M. Feil, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 065
(E's statements that Ee should consider fact U might negotiate restrictions on right to employ retired Ees, not unlawful)

Pilgrim Life Insurance Company 249 NLRB No. 140
(president's statement that if company became unionized Ees would be on strike for so long they would lose interest and find other jobs, unlawful)

MGM Grand-Reno, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 153
(supervisor's statement to U advocate that he should not expect E to continue its practice of accomodating Ees, who also wanted to attend school, in event U was voted in, held violative, since statement suggested reprisals in form of denial of existing benefits in response to Ees' decision to select U)

Lyman Steel Company 249 NLRB No. 040
(warning Ees, prior to rerun election, that if U was successful in organizing Ees and if they went on strike and no agreement reached on contract E could get rid of (them) and bring in a whole crew, held violative)

Lyman Steel Company 249 NLRB No. 040
(assertion by E that if U represented Ees, E would be unable to make Ee transfers from one department to another and we would have to lay you off, held violative)

Permanent Label Corporation 248 NLRB No. 021
(E's statement that if U came in he was not going to work as hard for the business violative)

Earl Kuhns d/b/a Frenchy's K & T and Earl's News Stand 247 NLRB No. 167
(E's statements that it would never capitulate to U's representative status and that Ee would only lose because U dues would make his salary lower, violative)

Hinky Dinky Super Markets, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 169
(manager telling Ees that, if U should get in, they would be subject to various consequences, causing them to lose (work) hours, held violative)

Knapp Foods, Inc. d/b/a Hi-Lo Foods 247 NLRB No. 146
(supervisor's telling Ee that he knew E was cutting hours of Ees so they would be unable to support their families, would have to quit and the union thing would go down the drain, violative)

Tartan Marine Company 247 NLRB No. 073
(supervisor showing Ee clipping about discharge of individual for not attending U meetings on Sundays, and informing Ee that Ee and other Ees could be laid off before less capable Ees if U came in, unlawful, absent evidence U advocated seniority over capability)

Keister Coal Company, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 049
(E's speech to assembly of all his Ees during U campaign that unionizing this company at this time will create a hardship that will have an effect on all of us held violative, since it constituted threat of economic adversity in event Ees joined or supported U)

Durango Boot, a Division of U.S. Industries, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 046
(threatening Ees, that if U came in, U would cause commission of acts of violence, against which E could provide only partial protection, unlawful)

Durango Boot, a Division of U.S. Industries, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 046
(asking U supporter how she would feed her children on meager weekly strike benefits should U come into plant, unlawful, since it was part of pattern by management to impress Ees that if U came in a strike detrimental to their interests would inevitably occur)

Louis Gallet, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 013
(violation, where E informed Ees in letter prior to election that if Ees selected U as representative E would have to spend time fighting U rather than obtaining orders and remaining competitive in industry, and consequently plant would close, at no point suggesting possibility of collective bargaining)

Louis Gallet, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 013
(violation, where E in series of letters prior to election informed Ees that if they voted for U they would be subjected to strikes and tactics that have faced other companies organized by U leading Ees to believe that their choice was between no U and strike)

Gerber Scientific Instrument Company, Inc., A Wholly Owned Subsidiary of Gerber Scientific, Inc. JD-188-82
(E may inform Ees of realities of collective bargaining which include possibility that U, in order to secure other benefits might trade away some existing benefits. It may not, however, lead Ees to believe that E through predetermined regressive bargaining position will require U to give up existing benefits. Conduct and statements having effect of warning that E will begin negotiations from stratch clearly violate this rule)

Gerber Scientific Instrument Company, Inc., A Wholly Owned Subsidiary of Gerber Scientific, Inc. JD-188-82
(violation where E's flyer asked If teamsters get in, will Ees lose any of their existing benefits? and answered If U gets in then all fringe benefits and wages are subject to negotiation. There is no guarantee that existing benefits will remain same. and informing Ees in answer to question why E does not want U that restrictions of U contract would make things more difficult and E believed in dealing on individual rather than collective basis in view of other parts of flyer which contained threat against retention of current Ee benefits and misstatement of Ee rights)

U. S. Gypsum Company JD-(ATL)-28-82
(strikes and loss of jobs)

5006-5065—Cont.

Hamby Hardwood Lumber Co. JD-285-81
(remarks of speaker invited by E to address assembled Ees who informed Ees that he had closed firm because of U, and following which remarks E threatened to close plant if U came in, imputed to E and unlawful)

Tri-Supply Company of Beaumont, Inc. JD-(SF)-29-80
(supervisor's telling Ee, In fact, E would go out of business if they had a union, and if ...the union was voted in, that the mill would have to be shut down about a week to have negotiations, violative, since remarks imply that E would unilaterally choose to close down its plant during negotiations)

Tri-Supply Company of Beaumont, Inc. JD-(SF)-29-80
(telling Ees that if U won election their affairs would then be in U's hands and they would no longer have right to speak for themselves in matters pertaining to their employment, violative)

Tri-Supply Company of Beaumont, Inc. JD-(SF)-29-80
(violation where E told Ees, in effect, that considerations over working conditions would become a mechanical thing if U won election and that E would no longer be able to guarantee Ees 40-hours a week, but only what was available)

Tri-Supply Company of Beaumont, Inc. JD-(SF)-29-80
(violation where E told Ees that its business was predicated on continuation of service or production and that during contract negotiation E would have no production and hence business would stop)

Tri-Supply Company of Beaumont, Inc. JD-(SF)-29-80
(telling Ees that with U they would no longer have informal atmosphere, that they would lose their freedom, and that decisions affecting their job would be made by others, violative)

Tri-Supply Company of Beaumont, Inc. JD-(SF)-29-80
(E's statement that if U came in people would be in for a rude awakening and things would get tough around here, violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Permanent Label Corporation 657 F.2d 512 (C.A. 3, 1981)
(violation, where E made speech two days before election in which stated U would cause loss of business and strike, since no basis for prediction)

N.L.R.B. v. Garry Manufacturing Company 630 F.2d 934 (C.A. 3, 1980)
(ct found substantial evidence to support Bd's finding of violation, where E's campaign speech and literature communicated to Ees message that unionization would threaten continued employment, job security, liberal overtime and future benefits)

Universal Security Instruments, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 649 F.2d 247 (C.A. 4, May 1981)
(statement to Ee that if Ees attempted to gain U representation at new facility, working conditions would deteriorate to level at old plant, violative, where it was undisputed that conditions at old plant were inefficient, cold in winter, hot in summer, and overcrowded)

J. P. Stevens & Co., Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 638 F.2d 676 (C.A. 4, 1980)
(ct deferred to Bd's expertise in finding posted notice stating that signing U card can have serious consequences unlawfully coercive especially in context of E's history of misconduct; moreover, notice was posted only day after known U activist disappeared from plant)

Florida Steel Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 648 F.2d 233 (C.A. 5, June 1981)
(violation since E misstated law in that it implied it might lawfully withhold customary periodic increases, and other benefits that would otherwise be granted where E informed Ees via videotape that at one of E's unionized plants Ees did not receive wage increase during months of negotiations since E required to bargain before granting wage increases based on annual wage survey whereas during same period Ees at E's non-U plant had received increase, and only after U voted out after negotiations did not result in contract did Ees receive wage increase)

TRW-United Greenfield Division v. N.L.R.B. 637 F.2d 410 (C.A. 5, 1981)
(telling Ee that another plant had closed because U demanded excessive wages and benefits and if similar demands were made E could close and write off tax loss held unlawful explicit threat by linking U with excessive wage demands)

TRW-United Greenfield Division v. N.L.R.B. 637 F.2d 410 (C.A. 5, 1981)
(sending Ees letter that another plant where U took money from Ees' paychecks had been closed permanently for economic reasons violative as it implied similar action might be taken in retaliation if U wins)

N.L.R.B. v. Lloyd Wood Coal Co., Inc. 585 F.2d 752 (C.A. 5)
(threat of loss of jobs if U came in, violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Lloyd Wood Coal Co., Inc. 585 F.2d 752 (C.A. 5)
(informing Ee that if plant closed when U came in, E would have difficulty in getting another job with non-U E, violative)

A To Z Portion Meats, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 643 F.2d 390 (C.A. 6, Mar. 18, 1981)
(E's comment that for Ees to get a U in was to cut their own throats, unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. Nunn Brothers, Inc. 637 F.2d 589 (C.A. 6, Mar 17, 1981)
(substantial evidence supported Bd's finding that E had indicated to Ees that unionization would be futile and might lead to closure of store)

N.L.R.B. v. Berger Transfer & Storage Co. 678 F.2d 679 (C.A. 7, May 1982)
(whether or not threats of plant closure are threats or predictions of economic consequences of U organization which fall outside of ambit of SEction 8(a)(1) turn on nature of E's statement. E's prediction must be carefully phrased on basis of objective facts to convey demonstrably probable consequences beyond his control or management decision already arrived at. If there is any implication that E may take action solely on his own initiative for reasons unrelated to economic necessity statement is threat of retaliation.)

N.L.R.B. v. Colony Printing and Labeling, Inc. 651 F.2d 502 (C.A. 7, June 1981)
(E informing Ees that signing U cards meant giving up right to talk to us about your hours, your work, your working concitions; your pay and everything else concerning your future and continued employment, unlawful since Ees may still present grievances directly to E so long as U representative is given opportunity to be present)

N.L.R.B. v. Mark I Tune-Up Centers, Inc. 691 F.2d 415 (C.A. 8, Oct. 1982)
(statements at pre-election meeting that unionization might cause E to close some of its shops, eliminate shop privileges and impose more onerous working conditions violative where no objective basis for E's predictions)

Gorman Machine Corporation 257 NLRB No. 010
(E's posting notice to Ees which stated in part that some persons are not pulling their weight, not unlawful intimidation of Ees where notice merely expressed E's position that production per Ee had decreased and that any increase in wages was dependent on increase in Ee productivity; notice contained no threats of retaliation or other dire consequences as result of U campaign)

5006-5067 Inevitability of strikes upon advent of union

Air Products and Chemicals, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 048
(statement to Ees that they would have to strike to get $9 per hour wage rate which had been used as example in U campaign literature violative)

Grove Valve and Regulator Company 262 NLRB No. 035
(statements made by E in speeches to Ees prior to election which emphasized inevitability of strikes, threatened loss of strikers jobs and plant closure violative especially in light of fact that they were made in context of other violative conduct)

Sterling Sugars, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 071
(E official's threat that selection of U would result in or cause strikes at its company, violative)

Advanced Mining Group, Div. of Republic Corp., Lucerne Facility 260 NLRB No. 073
(E's making clear, by letter and speech to its assembled Ees that their choice is simply between no U or strikes, violence, layoffs and related adverse consequences held violative in context of E's intense anti-U campaign and accompanying acts of discrimination and coercion)

Progressive Supermarkets, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 074
(E's repeated references to posibility of strikes and fact that economic strikers can be permanently replaced violative when considered in context of E's other campaign statements which were clear violations of Act)

Progressive Supermarkets, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 074
(where E's campaign speeches contained constant references to U's own anti-U campaign where it had forced strike and permanently replaced strikers, these references found violative as not so subtle threat that E would also force strike resulting in permanent replacement of strikers)

Best Products Co., Inc. 259 NLRB No. 016
(statements that if U was voted in strike would be inevitable and strikers would lose their jobs violative)

American Display Manufacturing Co., Inc. 259 NLRB No. 006
(informing Ees that if U came in, made rediculous demands and caused strike, E might not be able to make timely deliveries and lose largest account and thereby result in possible loss of jobs, unlawful because U had not, as yet, made any demands)

General Electric Company 258 NLRB No. 092
(supervisor's statement that if U came in it would mean Ee would be giving up his rights to speak for himself, not unlawful, since statement of U's functions as collective bargaining representative rather than implied assertion that Ees would be denied access to management)

Gossen Company, a Division of the United States Gypsum Company 254 NLRB No. 041

Ducane Heating Corporation 254 NLRB No. 030
(continuously emphasizing during election campaign occurrence of strikes and strike violence if U wins election, violative)

Centre Engineering, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 028
(E's campaign linking U with strikers, futility of bargaining and its intent to make negotiations difficult violative)

Pilgrim Life Insurance Company 249 NLRB No. 140
(president's statement that if company became unionized Ees would be on strike for so long they would lose interest and find other jobs, unlawful)

Conagra, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 085

J. P. Stevens and Company, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 044
(speech stating that strike with its trouble and tension is inevitable and will be unsuccessful because of E's resistance to collective bargaining and that, as a result, strikers will suffer hardship and possibly lose thier jobs, unlawful)

Louis Gallet, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 013
(violation, where E in series of letters prior to election informed Ees that if they voted for U they would be subjected to strikes and tactics that have faced other companies organized by U leading Ees to believe that their choice was between no U and strike)

Lauridsen Foods, Inc. JD-36-81

Liberty Vinyl Corporation JD-(SF)-248-80

Like Corporation JD-(SF)-69-80
(legitimate economic prediction that there could possibly be strike if U came in not violative)

5006-5075 Remove union insignia

The Moore Company, Inc., Div. of Essco Corp. 264 NLRB No. 159
(supervisor informing Ees that U adherents were jeopardizing their jobs along with jobs of all other Ees by wearing U shirts, hats, and insignia, unlawful)

Tressler Lutheran Home for Children t/a Frostburg Village of Allegany County Nursing Home 263 NLRB No. 042

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 263 NLRB No. 015
(supervisor asking black Ee who was wearing U insignia why Ee was getting so involved with U, if any one was presuring him to join U and in same conversation indicating to Ee that E would be making more black supervisors but that Ee should not wear pro-U insignia and to continue to do so would result in his not being considered for supervisor position, unlawful)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 263 NLRB No. 015
(violation, where Ee's supervisor gave Ee who was wearing U buttons permission to go into another area of plant but requested that Ee remove buttons before going, since no considerations of safety or interference with production which might justify managerial interference with, or limitations on exercise of protected rights)

Intermedics, Inc., et al. 262 NLRB No. 178
(supervisor's directive to Ee to remove U sticker from his tool box because he didn't want to receive lot of harassment and static and pressure from higher-ups violative, since such conduct inhibited permissible U activity)

Howard Johnson Motor Lodge 261 NLRB No. 123
(ordering Ees at motel to remove U buttons, unlawful, notwithstanding contention justified since not acceptable part of uniform and might be regarded adversely by guests; exercise by Ees of their Section 7 rights under Act does not turn on pleasure or displeasure of E's customers)

Schwan's Sales Enterprises, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 165
(requesting that Ee remove U cap from head and subsequently grabbing cap off Ee's head, violative)

Dilene Answering Service, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 024
(violation where E's president reminded Ee that he had power to fire her for infraction of rules and then told her to remove her U button)

Harrison Steel Castings Company 262 NLRB No. 059
(in response to inquiry of Ee as to what Ees who had change of heart about U should do, president of E said they should remove their U insignias and turn it into their supervizors, violative, since suggestion by president plainly implied that those wearing U buttons had cause for alarm)

The Swingline Company; Spotnails, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 119
(low level supervisor's statement to Ee that she should throw her U teeshirt in garbage, violative)

C. E. Wilkinson & Sons, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 176
(ordering Ee to remove badge reading organized, violative where E failed to prove safety considerations or other special circumstances posed by wearing of U buttons)

Overnite Transportation Company 254 NLRB No. 011
(asking U adherent to do E a personal favor by not continuing to wear U T-shirt, violative, where Ee could reasonably believe his failure to obey E would result in some kind of discipline)

Certain-Teed Insulation Company 251 NLRB No. 288
(telling Ees that high level supervisor was disappointed in them for wearing caps and buttons with U insignia, violative, since such action implies that management wants Ees to cease wearing U insignia)

Carbonex Coal Company 248 NLRB No. 107

Permanent Label Corporation 248 NLRB No. 021

John Rooney, David Hinman and Beverly Foster, d/b/a Rooney's At The Mart 247 NLRB No. 125
(ordering waitress to remove U button while whe was waiting on customers in E's restaurant and sending her home when she refused, violative, notwithstanding fact button was of size and design to detract from uniform and bore feminist statement that might offend some customers, in view of E's other ULPs and fact E had previously taken actions motivated by Ee's U activities to induce her either to quit or to change ways)

St. Joseph's Hospital of The Franciscan Sisters of Milwaukee, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 135
(supervisor requesting Ee to remove arm band with U insignia, not unlawful, nor was Ee's leaving work rather than remove it unlawful suspension, since E's prohibition against arm band was not discriminatory particularly in hospital setting where arm band superimposed on uniform was highly obtrusive)

CRC Pipeline Equipment, a Division of Crutcher Resources Corporation JD-(SF)-140-80
(supervisor threatening Ees with discharge if they continued to wear U buttons, not unlawful, where E had no proclivity towards ULPs, E promptly informed supervisors that Ees were free to wear U buttons, specifically advised Ees threatened that threats were not position of E and that they were free to wear buttons, and posted notice to that effect on bulletin board)

N.L.R.B. v. Chem Fab Corporation 691 F.2d 1252 (C.A. 8, Nov. 1982)
(ct held that substantial evidence in record as whole supports Bd's finding that, notwithstanding other evidence which tended to impeach credited testimony, E unlawfully ordered U adherent to turn sweatshirt with U insignia inside out)

5006-5076 Informing employee that his position or catagory did not permit him to participate in union activities

Peavey Company 249 NLRB No. 110
(E's vice president informing Ee that Ee was confidential Ee and could not participate in U activities, unlawful, notwithstanding contention vice president honestly believed Ee to be confidential Ee as E cannot restrict protected activities of confidential)

5006-5077 Informing employees that employer would not comply with bargaining agreement

Vincent Brass & Aluminum Co. 264 NLRB No. 070
(E's vice-president referring to grievances regarding job bidding and stating he was tired of cherry picketing and nit-picking, that he had skilled people and would put them where he wanted contrary to bargaining agreement, since down-bidding ruining company because of expense of training, and subsequently stating there would be no job-bidding at all, unlawful)

5006-5080 Expression of opposition to union or collective bargaining

Operating Engineers, Local 400 265 NLRB No. 168
(threatening to bargain in bad faith with any such chosen collective bargaining representative of Ees, violative)

Rockland Lake Manor, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 142
(telling Ees it would no longer deal with U, offering to recognize new U or grievance committee or make individual contracts, violative)

Convair Corporation 261 NLRB No. 178
(supervisor's statements to Ees that there would be no election because E did not want election to be held or U to represent Ees, unlawful, since, in view of E's numerous ULPs, supervisor's statements clearly imparted to Ees E's total control over their terms and conditions of employment; and imparted to Ees total futility of proceeding in exercise of their statutory rights whose scope, if any, would be determined by E)

Overnite Transportation Company 261 NLRB No. 093
(telling Ee that he would be wise not to bring up the U subject at that time but postpone unionizing efforts a couple years or so from now, violative)

Sterling Sugars, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 071
(E official's statement that he would do everything in his power to keep U out, violative since it created impression that E would do anything legal or otherwise to keep U out)

Broadway Catering Corp. d/b/a Studio 54 260 NLRB No. 166
(telling U adherent E would do whatever he could do to prevent unionization among Ees, unlawful)

Advanced Mining Group, Div. of Republic Corp., Lucerne Facility 260 NLRB No. 073
(letter to unit Ees from E's vice president making clear E's opposition to U and instructing Ees do not sign a U card — under any circumstances — you don't know what it's going to cost you in the future, held violative)

5006-5080—Cont.

Magnolia Manor Nursing Home, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 040
(E's statement to Ees that he would pay $100,000 fine before he would let U in, unlawful)

Bedford Farmers Cooperative 259 NLRB No. 165
(manager's warning Ee to —stay away from the U coupled with remark that he (manager) was acting to defeat U (at same time E was bargaining with U) held violative, since manager was using his position as supervisor to restrain Ee from supporting U)

Caterpillar Tractor Company 257 NLRB No. 029
(supervisor's remark about running department like he wanted, not unlawful, where remark was in reference to his supervisory role and not related to U's function)

Samuel J. Wade, an Individual d/b/a Major Cab Company 255 NLRB No. 181
(statement that E would not have U and would not discuss possible benefits involving unionization, violative)

Thomas Industries, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 094
(E's statement We do not want U here, and we think it would be in your best interests if there is no U here, not unlawful, where only unlawful conduct in which E had engaged at time statement was made was unlawful reprimand given two months previously; nor did statement's timing in relation to E's unlawful polling of Ees make it coercive)

Douglas & Lomason Company 253 NLRB No. 039
(informing Ees of its intent to rid itself of U, unlawful)

Douglas & Lomason Company 253 NLRB No. 039
(informing Ees of existence of ptn to oust U, unlawful)

Maywood, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 139
(violation where supervisor told newly-hired Ee, while showing her where time clock was, This department is not for union. We do not sign cards for the union)

Climate Control Corporation 251 NLRB No. 102
(threatening to extend negotiations and engage in appeals in order to defeat or delay bargaining with U, violative)

Streamway Division of The Scott & Fetzer Co. 249 NLRB No. 054
(E's statement to Ee indicating that E would rather not recognize and bargain with U held unlawful expression of U animus)

C & G Coal Corporation 247 NLRB No. 179
(telling Ee who asked if he could join U to —go on and not cause any more trouble, held violative)

Hinky Dinky Super Markets, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 169
(put a stop to this U business)

J. P. Stevens and Company, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 044
(statement to Ee that Ees would have to go on strike to get U in at plant, unlawful as threat of reprisal, since statement was not based on objective fact and was obviously injected to raise fears of reprisal)

Frederick's Foodland, Inc. d/b/a Bucyrus Foodland North and Bucyrus Foodland South 247 NLRB No. 038
(statement to Ees that U activity interfered with managerial perogatives, unlawful)

J. J. Cassone Bakery, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 032
(E's alleged statement to Ee prior to election that E would decline to enter into contract with U held not unlawful and not interference, where E had stated that, if U won, E would bargain with it because he was not opposed to unionization of plant, but he cautioned that he could not afford U's economic demands which would affect his corporate solvency)

Big Star #159 JD-375-82
(stating during employment interview that E was non-U and E would like to keep it that way, not unlawful, where E's expression of preference, absent any additional remark, did not give statement a coercive character)

Transportation Manpower Services of Ohio, Inc. JD-(SF)-192-82
(E's telling prospective Ees that it is non-U and does not want U, violative)

Lacks Industries, Inc. JD-346-83
(E's telling Ee not to harass fellow Ees and stating that there was no U in plant and there never would be, not unlawful, where it appeared Ee had harassed a fellow Ee about his disinterest in U, and E's further statement was apparently intended to discredit letter circulated by U representative misrepresenting that Bd had ordered E to bargain with U)

Gerber Scientific Instrument Company, Inc., A Wholly Owned Subsidiary of Gerber Scientific, Inc. JD-188-82
(violation where E's flyer asked If teamsters get in, will Ees lose any of their existing benefits? and answered If U gets in then all fringe benefits and wages are subject to negotiation. There is no guarantee that existing benefits will remain same. and informing Ees in answer to question why E does not want U that restrictions of U contract would make things more difficult and E believed in dealing on individual rather than collective basis in view of other parts of flyer which contained threat against retention of current Ee benefits and misstatement of Ee rights)

U. S. Gypsum Company JD-(ATL)-39-82

Ren Corp. JD-577-81
(telling Ee that he would kill anyone who tried to bring U in, violative)

Lauridsen Foods, Inc. JD-36-81
(foreman's statement to Ees that plant manager would never sign U contract, violative)

Signode Corporation JD-161-80
(posting notice and letters to Ees as to why they should not sign U authorization cards not violative as failing w/i purview of views, argument, or opn; moreover documents contained no threats or promises)

J. P. Stevens & Co., Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 638 F.2d 676 (C.A. 4, 1980)
(ct modified Bd finding Section 8(a)(1) violation in E's comment to Ee that company did not need U and any more U cards to include additional violation of calling Ee's attention to unlawful notice posted by E to dissuade solicitation of U cards during course of conversation)

N.L.R.B. v. Laredo Coca Cola Bottling Company 613 F.2d 1338 (C.A. 5) (1980)
(supervisor's telling Ees a week before election that E president had said that he would not sign contract with U and would prefer to sell the company before signing any contract, violative)

Nebraska Bulk Transport, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 608 F.2d 311 (C.A. 8, 1979)
(threatening Ees that E would refuse to bargain with U selected by Ees as bargaining representative)

N.L.R.B. v. Steven Davis and Michael Provenzano, d/b/a Carlton's Market 642 F.2d 350 (C.A. 9, Apr 20, 1981)
(statements to Ees that E was trying to keep the U out, that E did not want any discussion of U organization in the store or anyone in the store who was for the U, unlawful)

Karl Kallmann, d/b/a Love's Barbeque Restaurant, No. 62 v. N.L.R.B. 640 F.2d 1094 (C.A. 9, 1981)
(statement that E would hire particular Ee under same conditions as she had previously worked but E's operation would not be U, violative, where reasonable inference was that E's operation would remain non-U in future)

5006-5085 Give false information to Union

C. R. Adams Trucking, Inc., and Michael Cates 262 NLRB No. 067
(telling Ees that they must join U but to falsify applications by telling U that they were owner-operators so that E would not have to pay health and welfare benefits, violative since Ees would be deprived of certain U benefits)

5006-5090 Preference for or opposition to one of competing unions or preference for another union

Save-It Discount Foods, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 097
(where E had signed contract with prematurely recognized U containing U security clause and then informed job applicant that she could not keep her other part time job because she could not belong to two Us at once and to quit telling them she had better job, violated Act as such conduct, especially since it was made in presence of other Ees conveyed message that her employment was contingent on her giving up one U membership and joining favored U)

Banner Tire Company 260 NLRB No. 096
(E's statements during job interview that Ee must join Teamsters and would have no trouble transferring his membership from IAM violative as implied threat that he would not be hired if he did not do so, where as here Teamsters had no statutory or contractual right to represent him)

NAB Construction Corporation 258 NLRB No. 090
(where 2 Us were competing, E's threat that if particular local won it would subcontract out unit work violated Act)

NAB Construction Corporation 258 NLRB No. 090
(E who told Ees he wanted them to vote for one of two competing U's, asked one Ee to ask other Ees to vote for particular U, threatened Ees with discharge if supported wrong U and promised permanent employment for supporting favored U violated Act)

Raley's, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 155
(E may lawfully state its preference between competing U's in R election but here where E accorded encumbent U privileges and favored treatment to detriment of petitioning U it violated Act)

The Swingline Company; Spotnails, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 119
(supervisor's statement that Ees should support one of two competing U's because if wrong one won election they would be laid off, violative, as this threat of reprisal places statement beyond free speech protection of Sec. 8(c))

Fenestral, Inc., A Subsidiary of Yonkers Plate Glass Co. 251 NLRB No. 113

Lyman Steel Company 249 NLRB No. 040
(offering money to two Ees for them to coerce one Ee into withholding his support from petitioner held violative)

5006-5090—Cont.

Lyman Steel Company 249 NLRB No. 040
(suggesting to two ees that they rid E of two supporters of petioning U, held violative)

Carbonex Coal Company 248 NLRB No. 107
(E solicitation of Ee to talk to fellow Ees about forming company U violative)

Sav-On Drugs, Inc. JD-(SF)-214-81
(statements to Ees and applicants for employment that they would have to join (particular) U as condition of employment and posting of letter threatening Ees that they would not be scheduled for work unless they joined U, held violative)

Ace Electrical Construction Corporation Advance Electric of New York, Inc.; et al. JD-(NY)-79-81
(E's posting notice stating that if Ees did not join certain U, which E would join, Ees could strike for rest of their lives held violative, since E's notice suggested futility of selecting petioning U)

National King Coal, Inc. JD-(SF)-24-81

5006-5092 Disclosure of card signers' identity to employer

Walter Carpet Mills, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 096
(E's statement that Ees could not rely on assurances that names of those who signed U authorization cards would remain confidential if litigation ensued, not violative, since not depicted as w/i control of E)

Arrow Automotive Industries, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 152
(E's statements to Ees that those who signed U authorization cards could be required to appear in ct to testify about them violative as it lets Ees know that names of U adherents could be ascertained and reprisals taken)

J. P. Stevens and Company, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 044
(E's warning Ees that it might learn identity of card signers in Bd or ct proceeding, coming in midst of U's card signing efforts, unlawful, since statement carried obvious implication that harm or retaliation would result from disclosure of identity of card signers to E)

J. P. Stevens and Company, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 044
(E's speech stating to Ees that E would learn at trial identity of U card signers, unlawful, where it had same impact as earlier speech inhibiting actual card signings themselves and also tended to interfere with Bd processes because it inhibited Ees from testifying freely about their protected activity)

Koh-I-Nor Rapidograph, Inc. JD-(NY)-76-80
(E's statement to Ees that U authorization cards might not be kept confidential not violative where E did not threaten Ees that there would be reprisals against Ees who signed cards)

N.L.R.B. v. Colony Printing and Labeling, Inc. 651 F.2d 502 (C.A. 7, June 1981)
(E informing Ees that in many instances, contrary to assurances, signed U cards are disclosed to E by either U or NLRB, and to be careful about what they signed, unlawful, when taken as whole, where other parts of same letter in which statement made were held violative; nor was E responding to any U initiated claim)

5006-5095 Inhibiting utilization of grievance machinery

General Electric Company 264 NLRB No. 126
(statements to Ees during U campaign that selection of U would mean loss of communication with managements on subjects not covenred by U's grievance procedure are violative as threat and misrepresentation of Sec. 9(a) rights)

Cooper-Jarrett, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 159
(threatening to retaliate against Ee for filing grievances against E, unlawful)

Huntington Rubber Company, Division of New Idria, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 133
(telling Ees that if U came in they would no longer have direct access to management violative)

Champion Parts Rebuilders, Inc., Northeast Division 260 NLRB No. 098
(warning issued to U steward for minor infraction violative where done in retaliation for stewards filing grievance over foreman's performing bargaining unit work)

Gould, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 002
(threatening, before election, to eliminate E's open door policy for discussion of complaints and grievance, violative because it penalizes Ees for exercise of statutory rights, as Sec. 9(a) guarantees Ees right to bring problems directly to E as long as U agent has right to be present and adjustment is not contrary to contract. E was not discribing typical grievance procedure but was threatening total cessation of all contacts between management and Ees)

Georgia Kraft Company, Woodcraft Division 258 NLRB No. 121
(plant manager's telling Ees they had no formal grievance procedure after contract containing such procedure had expired held violative, since E was required to process grievances in accordance with provisions of expired contract absent impasse on that subject)

Mark Twain Marine Industries, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 144
(indicating displeasure with Ees for going to U with their complaints, violative)

Laredo Packing Company 254 NLRB No. 001
(supervisor informing Ee that grievance Ee had filed was w/o merit and threatening Ee with discharge or other employment problems if he did not go to U and withdraw grievance, violative)

Southern California Gas Company 251 NLRB NO. 127
(E's speech to Ees that before presenting grievances to U representatives they must go to their supervisors violative)

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company 251 NLRB No. 062
(no violation, where at meeting of all supervisors and U stewards E made statements to the effect that stewards should deter or dissuade Ees from filing nonmeritorious or nuisance grievances and at no point stated that E would not accept grievances of any nature, nor threatened stewards with reprisals should they not heed his instructions)

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company 251 NLRB No. 062
(no violation, where E did not threaten Ee with problems of undisclosed nature in retaliation for Ee's implicit announcement that he intended to file grievance concerning disagreement he had with E; rather, E's reference to problems concerned Ee's propensity to disrupt work of other Ees, and E in no manner implied that problems would result from Ee's utilization of grievance procedure)

Conagra, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 085
(statement that E would not talk to individual Ees but only to shop stewards about grievances, unlawful as threat of more difficult working conditions)

St. Regis Paper Company 247 NLRB No. 105
(statements linking loss of work and overtime to U's pursuit of grievance under contract held violative, since statements tended to create chilling effect on Ees' rights to file or process grievances)

United States Postal Service JD-224-81
(warning to U steward that he should mind his own business, violative where warning was directed at steward's action of bringing Ee complaints)

United States Postal Service JD-224-81
(station superintendant's announcement that his evaluation of U steward, if he gave him one, would be unfavorable, violative where it was designed to impress upon steward that station superintendent was dissatisfied with his conduct in pressing grievances)

Bailey Glass Company, Inc., and/or Blue Mountain Glass Mfg., Inc., d/b/a Bailey Glass JD-482-80
(statement to Ee who had filed grievance that she was nothing but a damn agitator and troublemaker, violative)

Albertson's Inc. JD-(SF)-194-80
(no violation, where E opined that Ee should have discussed problem with supervisor before filing grievance in view of long employment relationship and no reprimand or coercion on Ee)

5006-5096 Futile to seek Board's processes

Acme Motors, Inc., t/a Acme Datsun 263 NLRB No. 077
(informing Ees that it would be futile for them to select U and/or seek to use Bd processes or seek its protection, violative)

5006-5099 Other

Hudson Oxygen Therapy Sales Company 264 NLRB No. 004
(E's linking of Ee's disciplinary write-up to her support of U, conveying to Ee that U would be powerless to assist her since U would be kept out for extended period due to company appeals, and intimating that new manager was brought in to remedy problems which led to U in the first place, unlawful)

7 Up Bottling Company 261 NLRB No. 128
(making statements to Ee who had filed charge with Bd which conveyed notion that E would persist in its unlawful conduct toward him and that his efforts to obtain redress through Bd would be fruitless, unlawful)

5006-6700 Method employed in making statement

Louisiana Council No. 17, AFSCME, AFL-CIO 250 NLRB No. 072
(issuing mailgram to Ees, which was related to scheduled U meeting in another city, advising them not to leave their duty assignment area w/o E's express approval, unlawful, where E had never before instituted rules by mailgram)

Durango Boot, a Division of U.S. Industries, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 046
(singling out U adherent who had refused to attend meetings in E's office at which E read other U adherents their rights under E's rules concerning U's campaign, and doing so at Ee's work station instead, unlawful, since difference in locations of occurrence is immaterial and Ee could not avoid substance of E's statements)

5006-6710 Using supervisor's office

Wometco Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Nashville, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 069

(violation, where upon receiving mailgram identifying Ees as volunteer U organizers, E called them to office and held special meetings with each Ee individually at which he informed them it was illegal to sign or solicit U cards on company time or property, or to distribute U literature on company property)

Warehouse Groceries Management, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 021

(unlawful solicitation of grievances where Ee who shortly before this conversation admitted signing U authorization card was called into supervisor's office and asked about any unfairness that was going on; this was deviation from E's past practice of talking with Ees on casual basis while walking through store)

Durango Boot, a Division of U.S. Industries, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 046

(E's method of singling out identified U supporters from midst of their coworkers to attend series of special, private meetings with management officials in their offices, considered locus of managerial authority, and there to be read their rights under E's rules concerning U's campaign, unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. Amber Delivery Service, Inc. 651 F.2d 57 (C.A. 1, June 1981)

(questioning of known U supporter by company president, in his office with supervisor present, on same day that Ees held meeting in midst of U organizing campaign violative)

Standard-Coosa-Thatcher Carpet Yarn Division, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 691 F.2d 1133 (C.A. 4, Sept. 20, 1982)

(questioning Ee in supervisor's office as to whether she had signed U card violative, notwithstanding Ee was not reluctant to discuss matter with E as tendency of E's conduct rather than its actual effect is dispositive)

TRW-United Greenfield Division v. N.L.R.B. 637 F.2d 410 (C.A. 5, 1981)

(safety director asking Ee in his private office what Ees thought of him and what Ee thought of U violative as it was potentially harmful to Ees in terms of potential retaliation, no valid purpose for such inquiry given to Ee and no assurance there would be no retaliation)

N.L.R.B. v. Rich's Precision Foundry, Inc. 667 F.2d 613 (C.A. 7, Dec. 1981)

(questioning Ee with which he ordinarily would have no contact by plant manager in his own office about U activities of another Ee held coercive interrogation)

5006-6720 Using individuals as conduits

Air Products and Chemicals, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 045

(E who solicited Ee to dissuade other Ees from supporting U violated Act)

Limestone Apparel Corp. 255 NLRB No. 101

(E's solicitation of Ee to cease asking other Ees to sign U card, violative)

Lyman Steel Company 249 NLRB No. 040

(offering money to two Ees for them to coerce one Ee into withholding his support from petitioner held violative)

Lyman Steel Company 249 NLRB No. 040

(suggesting to two ees that they rid E of two supporters of petioning U, held violative)

Permanent Label Corporation 248 NLRB No. 021

(E who asks Ees to tell other Ees to vote against U violates Act)

5006-6730 Bulletin board

Wometco Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Nashville, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 069

(E posting warning on bulletin board that signing any document for U would cause U to repeat unethical conduct of forging Ees' signatures on other documents, unlawful)

5006-6733 Addressing assembled employees

St. Francis Hospital 263 NLRB No. 109

(E's statement to Ees at Ee meeting, to effect that Ees cannot count on having better benefits—and Ees shouldn't be fooled by fact that U can help Ees, not violative, since statement was found to constitute permissable electioneering; although E implied bargaining would take anywhere up to several years, he did not also imply that E would engage in bad-faith bargaining)

Advanced Mining Group, Div. of Republic Corp., Lucerne Facility 260 NLRB No. 073

(E's making clear, by letter and speech to its assembled Ees that their choice is simply between no U or strikes, violence, layoffs and related adverse consequences held violative in context of E's intense anti-U campaign and accompanying acts of discrimination and coercion)

Hook Manufacturing Company 254 NLRB No. [illegible]

(E who made speech to assembled Ees remonstrating them for participation in strike and warning them that any further misconduct would not be tolerated, violated Act as misconduct of strikers was not established and speech was reprimand for engaging in lawful strike)

The Krebs School Foundation, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 187

(E's solicitation of Ee views in meetings with Ees re terms and conditions of employment by E's personnel subcommittee, unlawful where E established subcommittee and met with Ees to counter U's organizational campaign and to wean Ees away from U by resolving some of their grievances)

F.W.I.L. Lundy Bros. Restaurant, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 057

(holding some members of U committee up to ridicule and scorn in front of assembled Ees and referring to them as jokers and clowns violative)

F.W.I.L. Lundy Bros. Restaurant, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 057

(announcement by manager to assembled Ees that he did not want them to discuss U, held violative)

St. Joseph's Hospital of The Franciscan Sisters of Milwaukee, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 138

(supervisor meeting with Ees as group and explaining why E could not afford dental insurance and discussing E's improved health benefits, unlawful, where meeting was merely extension of unlawful survey E conducted earlier to solicit grievances and undermine U)

Kelster Coal Company, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 049

(E's speech to assembly of all his Ees during U campaign that unionizing this company at this time will create a hardship that will have an effect on all of us held violative, since it constituted threat of economic adversity in event Ees joined or supported U)

U. S. Gypsum Company JD-(ATL)-28-82

5006-6767 Pamphlets, circulars, and printed material

Dutch Boy, Inc., Glow-Lite Division 262 NLRB No. 001

(E's letter to Ees falsely claiming that business was down held violative, since letter was implied threat that unionization could tip scales against (E's) survival; letter failed to reveal work was transferred elsewhere)

Simpson Electric Company, a Division of American Gauge and Machine Company 249 NLRB No. 024

(unlike past practice of leaving house organ at different places around plant, issue before election which contained announcement of wage and benefit increases were handed out to individual Ees)

5006-6767-6700 Newspapers

AMPAC, a subsidiary of Kane-Miller Corp. 259 NLRB No. 151

(help wanted ads placed by E in local newspaper seeking replacements for striking Ees, not violative, since strike was not ULP strike and E did not threaten to deprive ULP strikers of their rights)

5006-6783 Conversation among supervisors

Thermo King Corporation 247 NLRB No. 048

(remark by one supervisor to another, overheard by known active U adherent in production department, that if situation wasn't corrected all hell was going to break loose, not unlawful, where Ee mistakenly or otherwise converted remark to his own use by interpreting statement to mean that Ee would catch hell until supervisor found opportunity to discharge him)

5006-8333 Absence of discrimination or threat rebuts coercion

Rexall Corporation 265 NLRB No. 015

(supervisor who spoke to Ees prior to election and described his experiences as unit Ee under U did not violate Act where his description was truthful, he accurately described specific provisions in labor agreement under which some of E's Ees worked, and repeatedly stressed to Ees that he was not telling them changes would occur but that they could occur; thus, there was no threat of reprisal)

St. Francis Hospital 263 NLRB No. 109

(supervisor saying, in response to Ee's refusal to talk to supervisor because Ee was too busy when requested, okay just wait until you want to talk to me about something, held not violative, since statement, standing alone was too nebulous to constitute unlawful threat of reprisal; no evidence linking supervisor's statement to any job action supervisor might take against Ee)

St. Francis Hospital 263 NLRB No. 109

(supervisor's angry look, when Ee refused supervisor's request that Ee read aloud from E's anti-U campaign letter, not violative, absent any evidence that supervisor disciplined, attempted to discipline, or threatened or coerced Ee in any way for refusing to read aloud)

Dutch Boy, Inc., Glow-Lite Division 262 NLRB No. 001

(E's campaign message informing Ees that strikes weren't always successful not violative; message found to be permissable free speech)

La Nueva Dodge, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 001

(not violative where E's new car sales manager asked Ee who was long time friend of his if he knew anything about U, to which Ee replied just rumors)

La Nueva Dodge, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 001

(service manager's statement that his job was fine until this U thing came up and asked former Ee but you don't know anything about that do you, not unlawful)

5006-8333—Cont.

Edward A. Utlaut Foundation, Inc. d/b/a Edward A. Utlaut Memorial Hospital and Fair Oaks Nursing Home 249 NLRB No. 162
(E's misstatement that Ees would be required to join U and pay dues if U won election held interference but not 8(a)(1) violation absent threat to Ee rights)

Tartan Marine Company 247 NLRB No. 073
(supervisor asking Ee if Ee had a U card for him to sign, unlawful, notwithstanding question was asked in joking manner, in view of E's hostility to U)

Ace Electrical Construction Corporation Advance Electric of New York, Inc.; et al. JD-(NY)-79-81
(E's phone call to laid off discriminatee telling him don't walk the picket line, not violative, since nothing in statement constituted express or veiled threat of reprisal)

5006-8367 Noncoercive circumstances

St. Francis Hospital 263 NLRB No. 109
(E statements, which individually were unobjectionable are not objectionable by virtue of their repetition)

St. Francis Hospital 263 NLRB No. 109
(supervisor's angry look, when Ee refused supervisor's request that Ee read aloud from E's anti-U campiagn letter, not violative, absent any evidence that supervisor disciplined, attempted to discipline, or threatened or coerced Ee in any way for refusing to read aloud)

Gauley Industries, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 189
(E's president's reference to fact that his family would fight Ees to the end, and his opn that their (Ees') U activity would fail to succeed, not violative when considered independently of president's threat of plant closure)

Timberline Energy Corporation 258 NLRB No. 037
(E's response to auto carvan of laid-off Ees by returning their remark, stick it.. and accompanying gesture showed anti U animus but was not unlawful interference)

Nice-Pak Products, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 173
(where Ee freely expressed opposition to U, E's statement to her that if she felt that way she should tell her friends not violative as it contained neither threat nor promise)

Foodway of Odessa, Inc. JD-(SF)-30-81
(statement by E's president to Ee, advising her of U's ptn for election and E's desire to have election conducted under Act, telling her that she could be approached to sign card and asking her to please make sure that you know what you are signing before you sign it, not violative where E's president did not make any threats of reprisal, or promises of benefit to Ee and did not question her about her U feelings or whether she had been engaged in U activities)

5009 CIVIL SUIT OR CRIMINAL COURT ACTION AGAINST EES OR THREATS THEREOF

Kay Fries, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 132
(advising and warning Ee that his grievance relating to sanitation and safe health procedures was uncalled for and threatening to give it to company physician to institute legal action against him for filing grievance for questioned sanitary practices of physician violative)

CNA Financial Corporation 264 NLRB No. 080
(E's filing lawsuit concerning use of E's registered logo on letter to Ees signed by U organizing committee and use of its files to obtain mailing list which resulted in awarding of damages against defendants and inj against its use of logo, not unlawful)

Wayne Foods, Inc. d/b/a Clara's Restaurant 263 NLRB No. 005
(threatening to sue Ee if she filed charges with Bd, violative)

Cutting, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 076
(threatening Ees with legal proceedings for engaging in lawful strike and picketing, unlawful)

Pabst Brewing Company 254 NLRB No. 058
(E's questioning Ees and threatening them with lawsuits concerning their witnessing individual Ee's grievance held violative)

Centre Engineering, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 028
(threats to prosecute Ees because they published list of E's customers, violative since it is tactic calculated to restrain Ees in their exercise of protected rights)

North State Supply Co., Inc. 247 NLRB No. 181
(E's threat to countersue Ee who had filed charges with Bd, violative as it was claculated to intimidate Ees in exercise of their right to file charges under Act)

Metro-Young Construction Company, A Division of Olson Construction Co., Inc. JD-(SF)-12-82
(filing action in U.S. District Court joining discharged Ee as respondent along with U and seeking order to compel arbitration of Ee's discharge as provided for in collective bargaining agreement, violative, as Ee has Sec. 7 right to seek vindication of his discharge with NLRB; E's lawsuit was coercive under Sec. 8(a)(1) and discriminatory under Sec. 8(a)(4) as Bd does not defer under Collyer charges filed under Sec. 8(a)(1) and (3))

The Perlman-Rocque Company JD-513-81
(E's official threatening to sue Ee if Ee had not told truth in his affidavit to Bd, unlawful, notwithstanding threat to do what he had right to do and that false statement to investigating agency would sustain civil suit for libel as Ee was threatened because he exercised his Sec. 7 right)

McMillan Cartage, Inc. JD-(ATL)-48-81
(violation for threatening to institute lawsuit against Ee in retaliation for concerted activity of showing other Ees E's proposed letter agreement which E wanted to substitute for association contract)

Whitehall Packing Company, Inc. JD-14-81
(public policy considerations that dictate free access to Bd's processes under 8(a)(4) in case of individuals apply with equal force in case of labor organizations, which statement, however, does not mean that in filing civil suit against labor organization for filing ULP charges against E, E violates Sec. 8(a)(4); such holding would do violence to definition of such terms as discharge, otherwise discriminate, and employee which are part of Sec. 8(a)(4); rather, in filing such civil suit E interferes with, restrain, and coerces Ees in exercise of their Sec. 7 rights)

Whitehall Packing Company, Inc. JD-14-81
(Bd has long held that filing of civil suit cannot be found to be ULP and, consequently, all civil suits brought by Es against labor organizations for filing ULP charges are not violative of 8(a)(1); however, a civil action brought in furtherance of an unlawful objective is unlawful)

Whitehall Packing Company, Inc. JD-14-81
(E's filing of civil suit against U for filing ULP charges against E violative of 8(a)(1), but not 8(a)(4), where E's civil suit had unlawful objective as evidenced by fact that E presented no evidence to show reasonable basis for initiating suit, E offered no explanation for timing of suit in relation to filing of U's charge and adjournment of ULP hearing, allegations in ULP charge and complaint did not advert to matters forming gravamen of E's suit, and E's pre-trial attempts to obtain writings from U officials produced earlier in other proceedings suggested intent to harass)

Perry Plaza, Inc. JD-(SF)-367-80
(E who sought TRO against U's picketing did not violate Act under Clyde Taylor doctrine where it acted in good faith belief that pickets were encroaching on its private property rights)

Donn Products, Inc. and American Metals Corp. v. N.L.R.B. 612 F.2d 162 (C.A. 6)
(threat to prosecute Ee for distributing U literature on company premises, unlawful)

Associated General Contractors of North Dakota (a non-profit corporation) v. N.L.R.B. 637 F.2d 556 (C.A. 8, 1980)
(multi-E association's filing lawsuit in state ct to enforce terms of no-conflicting agreements clauses, not unlawful, where filing lawsuit was not tactic designed to interfere with exercise of rights guaranteed by Act; no violation found regardless of legality of underlying contractual claim so ct in agreement with Bd found it unnecessary to reach question of whether or not no-conflicting agreements clauses themselves were unlawful)

Bill Johnson's Restaurants, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 660 F.2d 1335 (C.A. 9, Nov 1981)
(E bringing civil suit against picketing Ees alleging picketers had engaged in mass picketing, blocked public access to restaurant and created threat to public safety, unlawful, notwithstanding ct issued TRO, since suit prompted by improper motive and brought in bad faith to retaliate against strikers, inasmuch as E lacked reasonable basis for suit where at no time did picketers number more than nine, and they demonstrated peacefully on sidewalk and in view of threats to picketers and in context of other ULPs)

Bill Johnson's Restaurants, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 660 F.2d 1335 (C.A. 9, Nov 1981)
(chilling effect of state lawsuit upon activity protected by Act is multiplied when state action seeks large damages)

Bill Johnson's Restaurants, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 660 F.2d 1335 (C.A. 9, Nov 1981)
(E's institution of libel suit against strikers, who had filed ULP charges, alleging false and misleading statements about E in leaflets distributed by picketers, unlawful, notwithstanding E may have believed leaflets falsely characterized NLRB proceedings, where leaflets were ambiguous and absent evidence picketers made statements with reckless disregard for truth or falsity of statements)

Bill Johnson's Restaurants, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 660 F.2d 1335 (C.A. 9, Nov 1981)
(it is clear that mere filing of lawsuit can restrain exercise of Section 7 rights. Before condemming a lawsuit as ULP, however, Bd must be careful to make accomodation of between rights of all persons to seek resolution of legal claims in ct and rights of Es under Act; therefore, filing suit in good faith and not in furtherance of unlawful objective is not violative)

Bill Johnson's Restaurants, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 660 F.2d 1335 (C.A. 9, Nov 1981)

(fact that C on its face was subject to state ct jurisdiction not enough to avoid finding that lawsuit lacks reasonable basis, which, in turn, is some evidence that it was filed for improper purpose)

George A. Angle v. N.L.R.B. 683 F.2d 1296 (C.A. 10, July 1982)

(Bd's holding unlawful E's filing of malicious prosecution suit against Ee for his part in causing Bd's civil contempt suit against E, sustained since Bd will infer unlawful objective where there is no reasonable basis for E's filing civil action against Ee unless Ee has lost protection of Act by intentionally filing false charges and fabricating evidence; Ee's efforts on reinstatement to fabricate evidence of E's noncompliance with ct's order to support a complaint of constructive discharge did not mean Ee had lost protection of Act at time E filed suit or retroactively excuse E)

5012 COMPANY RULES PROHIBITING OR LIMITING UNION OR OTHER CONCERTED ACTIVITIES

5012-0100 Generally

Allied Stores Of N.Y., Inc., d/b/a Gertz 262 NLRB No. 119

(where E had run out of supply of Ee handbook that contained unlawful no-solicitation rule and all 4 of ex-Ees who testified had never seen handbook and rule was never verbally explained to them; therefore, no violation as rule was not maintained)

5012-0133 Balancing of interests required

Soule Glass and Glazing Co., et al. v. N.L.R.B. 652 F.2d 1055 (C.A. 1, May 1981)

(elements of Section 8(a)(1) violation are determined by reference to objective test; it is not necessary to show that particular Ees actually felt coerced, or that E intended to produce impermissible effect; rather only need show that E's actions would tend to coerce reasonable Ee; however, E can defend on grounds of business justification and then there is violation only when Sec. 7 rights outweighs business justification for E's actions)

5012-0133-1100 Exercise of employees' rights under Act on company premises protected, even if that necessitates balancing of interests with property rights of employer

Texas Instruments Incorporated 247 NLRB No. 037

(prior D/O in instant proceeding affirmed by Bd on remand from ct of appeals; in its supplemental decision, Bd determined issue of validity of application of E's dissemination of classified material rule which adversly affected Ees Sec. 7 rights against business justification for E's rule)

Texas Instruments Incorporated 247 NLRB No. 037

(E's rule requiring discharge of any Ee who disclosed classified materials to unauthorized persons held invalid as it was applied to Ees distributing leaflets containing -strictly private area wage surveys of E and its competitors, since Ees were engaged in protected concerted activity; Ees were encouraging collective action to improve wages; none of E's reasons for rule qualified as sufficient business justification to validate rule as applied in instant case)

Allied Supermarkets, Inc. JD-601-81

(E in bankruptcy, by preventing Ee from posting on bulletin board and distributing intra U election campaign material in cafeteria during non-work time and in non-work area violated Act as right to run in intra U election is protected and U has no power to waive these rights in contract, which, in effect U did by agreeing to overly broad no-solicitation no-distribution clause)

Texas Instruments Incorporated v. N.L.R.B. 599 F.2d 1067 (C.A. 1, 1979)

(threshold question where discharge was pursuant to rule prohibiting dissemination of E's strictly private material (classified wage survey data) is whether rule was prohibited by Act; invalid rule cannot support discharge even if E's only motivation in enforcing rule is not anti-U; only if rule is determined to be valid under Act, would Bd assess motive)

Montgomery Ward & Company, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 692 F.2d 1115 (C.A. 7, Nov. 1982)

(substantial evidence supported Bd's finding that no-solicitation rule was invalid as applied to off-duty Ees meeting non-Ee organizers in restaurant open to public, albeit on E's premises, when restaurant was being used non-disruptively and in manner consistent with its normal use; Bd's contention that Babcock & Wilcox does not apply where access to E's premises is open to public and E's argument that Bd may not undertake to balance interests unless there is preliminary findings of inaccessibility to U rejected)

American Cast Iron Pipe Company, a corporation v. N.L.R.B. 600 F.2d 132 (C.A. 8, 1979)

(even where special circumstances exist rebutting presumption of invalidity of facially overbroad no distribution rule, Ees' interest in distributing material must then be balanced against E's interest in controlling such distribution)

Amron Automotive Centers, A Division of The Kelly-Springfield Tire Co.; F. W. Woolworth Company d/b/a Woolco Division, Joint Employers 265 NLRB No. 088

(prohibiting nonEe access to Ees' lounges in shopping center store for organizational purposes, not unlawful, notwithstanding U's inability to reach Ees with its message since lounges were located in security area which only bonded persons might enter)

Texas Instruments Incorporated 247 NLRB No. 037

5012-0133-2200 Purpose of employer in establishing and applying rules and prohibitions controlling

Stauffer Chemical Company 262 NLRB No. 179

(E's maintaining rule prohibiting Ees (environmental engineers) from contacting government agencies (poluting authorities of EPA) directly for information relating to occupational health and safety standards regarding removal of organic waste from effluent water held not violative, since rule was valid on its face and E demonstrated legitimate and substantial business justification for its rule; Ees used such information for interpreting EPA regulations for E's Environmental control Department; rule (in issue) operated to establish orderly way of obtaining work-related information)

Amoco Fabrics Co., Patchogue-Plymouth Division/ Nashville Mills 260 NLRB No. 033

(Ees Section 7 right to distribute U literature inside E's plant is balanced against E's effecient operation of plant so that where Ee interfered with plant production, E's written warning not violative)

MGM Grand-Reno, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 153

(E's announcing rule, during U campaign, prohibiting maintenance engineers from walking together, even to and from same job, held violative, since rule was designed to limit Ees' discussion of U and appeared to have no reasonable business justification)

5012-0133-2230 Antiunion purpose renders rules and prohibitions illegal

Village IX, Inc. d/b/a Shenanigans 264 NLRB No. 122

(no-distribution rule which prohibited distribution of literature of any type which was promulgated in midst of U campaign and was first announced to leading U adherent violative where purpose was to curb Ee exercise of Sec. 7 rights rather than accomplish legitimate objective)

Dutch Boy, Inc., Glow-Lite Division 262 NLRB No. 001

(although no-talking, no fraternization rule, was not applicable during Ees' break, lunch, and quitting times therefore valid on its face, such rule was violative where E promulgated and applied rule after commencement of U campaign; rule was designed to interfere with Ees' right to self-organization)

Custom Trim Products 255 NLRB No. 096

(amending rules in Ees handbook to prohibit solicitation in any form and to prohibit Ees from attempting to persuade fellow Ees to follow a course of action contrary to the interest of the company, violative)

John Cuneo, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 110

(E's promulgation of rule prohibiting its Ees from engaging in discussion regarding U at any time held violative)

D & D Supermarket, Inc. JD-292-82

(facially valid no-solicitation, no-distribution rule posted w/i week after R ptn filed by U but two months after legitimate business reason for rule occurred held violative, since rule was not promulgated in furtherance of an E's legitimate interest of serving production, order, and discipline, but specifically for the purpose of defeating U organization)

Hinky Dinky Super Markets, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 169
(notice posted near Ee timeclock by E, prior to election, stating that I will not stand for this second party, (U), to be mentioned or talked about w/i the store held violative where there was no showing that this prohibition against U talk was warranted by valid business considerations)

Manifold Services, Inc. JD-734-80
(telling Ees that they may not discuss U activity during work hours held violative, absent evidence to justify such rule)

5012-0133-4400 Reasonableness of rule for maintaining order and discipline legalizing factor

Soule Glass and Glazing Co., et al. v. N.L.R.B. 657 F.2d 1055 (C.A. 1, May 1981)

American Cast Iron Pipe Company, a corporation v. N.L.R.B. 600 F.2d 132 (C.A. 8, 1979)
(even where special circumstances exist rebutting presumption of invalidity of facially overbroad no distribution rule, Ees' interest in distributing material must then be balanced against E's interest in controlling such distribution)

5012-0133-5900 Ambiguity in rule construed against promulgator

Foley-Wismer & Becker, A Joint Venture 263 NLRB No. 107
(orally promulgated rule which was never reduced to writing was unlawfully ambiguous and broad where Ees differed as to whether it prohibited discussing U during working time, working hours, or in work situations)

Gould, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 002
(posted rule that prohibited any type of solicitation w/i the physical location of plant, or on company time... restrictions prohibit sale of raffle tickets, chances, athletic pools, or any type of personal business transaction not authorized by management, held violative as ambiguous and was therefore construed against E. E was more lax in enforcing rule against personal non-U solicitation than in its enforcement relating to U solicitation)

T.R.W. Bearings Division, A Division of T.R.W., Inc. 257 NLRB No. 047
(Bd sees no inherent meaningful distinction between terms working hours and working time when used in no-solicitation rule; both terms are, w/o further clarification, ambiguous, and risk of such ambiguity must be borne by promulgator of rule; to avoid misinterpretation E need only incorporate in rule itself a clear statement that rule's restriction on organizational activity does not apply during break periods and mealtimes, or other specified periods during workday when Ees are properly not engaged in performing their work tasks (Essex International, overruled))

Limestone Apparel Corp. 255 NLRB No. 101
(prohibiting soliciting on our company time is violative because term is ambiguous as such term is susceptible to interpretation that solicitation and U activities would be prohibited during all paid time including nonworking time such as breaks and lunch periods)

Central Solano County Hospital Foundation, Inc., d/b/a Intercommunity Hospital 255 NLRB No. 045
(E hospital's no-solicitation rule, prohibiting solicitation in immediate patient care areas, which was made clear to be in halls and corridors, lobby and waiting room, and nurses stations of small one-story facility, held to be reasonably specific and not ambiguous)

Sani-Serv, Division of Catalox Corporation 252 NLRB No. 186
(rule prohibiting solicitation during regularly scheduled working time held violative; modifying phrase regularly scheduled exacerbates the ambiguity of working time)

Taylor-Dunn Manufacturing Company 252 NLRB No. 118
(maintenance of rule which prohibits vending, soliciting, or collecting contributions for any purpose whatsoever on Company time and premises unless authorized by E held violative as it is ambiguous because it may include nonwork time in nonworking areas)

MGM Grand-Reno, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 153
(maintenance of overly broad invalid no-solicitation rule and valid no-solicitation rule for about one month after inception of U campaign held violative where maintenance of both rules created ambiguity, since rules could be read together to give impression that all solicitation and distribution was prohibited at all times on company property)

James F. Stanford, Inc. d/b/a Ace Machine Co. 249 NLRB No. 073
(ambigious no solicitation rule presumptively invalid absent showing that E's rule was necessary to maintain production or discipline as risk of ambiguity must be held against promulgator)

National Electric Coil, A Division of McGraw Edison Company JD-235-81

5012-0133-8300 Presumptions may be used in determining validity of rule

Clinton Corn Processing Company, A Division of Standard Brands Inc. 253 NLRB No. 084
(rule which refers to working hours rather than to working time is overly broad and presumptively invalid)

5012-0167 Validity of prohibition presumed where limited to working time

Daniel Construction Company, A Division of Daniel International Corporation 264 NLRB No. 079
(rules prohibiting solicitation during work time or working time, w/o further clarification, are, like rules prohibiting such activity during working hours, presumptively invalid)

Interstate Security Services, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 002
(rule which prohibited Ees from discussing U matters while they were on duty violative as overbroad where Ees were considered to be on duty from time they clock in until they clock out, there are no breaks or rest periods, they eat lunch while working, and E has no objection to their discussing social matters while they worked so long as it didn't interfere with their work)

T.R.W. Bearings Division, A Division of T.R.W., Inc. 257 NLRB No. 047
(rule prohibiting solicitation or distribution of literature during working hours, unlawful, where presumptive invalidity of rule was not rebutted by E's publications of presumptively valid rule prohibiting solicitation during working time; no meaningful distinction exists between working hours and working time, since both terms are ambiguous, and risk of ambiguity must be borne by rule promulgator; hence, rules prohibiting solicitation during work time or working time, are, like rules prohibiting such activity during working hours presumptively invalid (Essex Internat'l, overruled))

Debarnardi Brothers, Inc. JD-(SF)-286-82

Ryland Building Systems, A Division of The Ryland Group, Inc. JD-282-82
(promulgating and maintaining rules prohibiting solicitation and distribution activities on company time and during working hours, violative where presumption of invalidity of rules stood unrebutted in absence of evidence that affected Ees were advised that rules would not apply during breaktime and other nonwork periods)

United States Postal Service JD-(SF)-273-79
(supervisor's attempt to enforce lawful rule proscribing Ees talking U business on company time, w/o permission of supervisor held not violative, since attempt did not unlawfully interfere with Ees' protected rights notwithstanding U steward was talking to Ee about grievance)

Central Freight Lines, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 653 F.2d 1023 (C.A. 5, Aug 1981)
(E's no-solicitation rule held valid on its face where it was restricted to work areas and work time; fact that rule was announced coincidentally with U organizational effort did not alone taint its adoption with discriminatory purpose because if such rules are to be established, time of organizational effort is logical time for their announcement)

Bandag, Incorporated v. N.L.R.B. 583 F.2d 765 (C.A. 5)
(E's new rule proscribing distribution and solicitation during working time in plant w/o prior approval of plant manager held lawful despite replacing unlawful overbroad no-distribution rule in Ee handbook, since no one paid much attention to old rule and there was no evidence either old or new rule had been selectively applied or enforced; non-U solicitation had been approved but U had never asked permission to solicit)

American Safety Equipment Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 643 F.2d 693 (C.A. 10, Mar. 1981)
(Bd decision setting aside election set aside where basis for decision was two rules in Ee handbook prohibiting solicitation and distribution during working hours; E rebutted presumed interference with Ee rights as it produced evidence showing: 1) Ees were told lunch time and break time were their own; 2) Ees were aware rules only applied to working time; 3) Ees openly engaged in U activity during non working time and were not disciplined and 4) rules consistently properly applied by E)

General Electric Company 264 NLRB No. 126
(violation notwithstanding rule was never enforced)

Zero Corporation, Zero East Division 262 NLRB No. 064
(rule which prohibits all solicitation unless approved by management, violative, absent legitimate business reasons)

Shultz Foods Company, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 162

Ashley Warp Knitting, Inc. d/b/a Jefferson Apparel Company 248 NLRB No. 084
(written warning issued as enforcement of unlawful no-solicitation rule, unlawful)

Charleston Area Medical Center, Inc. JD-405-82
(although E had maintained violative no-solicitation rule, where rule was corrected 1 year prior to U campaign, and in any event was never enforced, then there is no current violation)

5012-1701-5000 Employee access to premises

A. W. Schlesinger Geriatric Center, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 158
(E promulgation and maintenance of overly broad rule prohibiting access to E's property such as parking lots to off-duty Ees, violative)

Amoco Fabrics Co., Patchogue-Plymouth Division/ Nashville Mills 260 NLRB No. 038
(refusing Ees access to plant premises and precluding them from distributing U literature at gate outside plant violative)

5012-1725 Prohibition of distribution of literature during employees' own time on company premises

Enterprise Products Company 265 NLRB No. 083
(in finding maintenance of rule prohibiting dissemination of all information relating to E unlawful, ALJ relied on fact that no special circumstances justified such overly-broad restriction on Ees' freedom to communicate with one another with prospective representative or with Bd; E's claim that rule was published well in advance of U activity, that rule was disseminated to all of its facilities rather than only that involved herein, and that some Ees were unaware of rule is facetious since E used violation of rule as basis for discharge of Ees suspected of giving information to Bd and U in ULP proceeding herein)

St. Joseph's Hospital 263 NLRB No. 050
(on Bd remand in light of NLRB v. Baptist Hospital, 442 US 773, rule which forbade U solicitation in working areas which are not patient care areas at times when both Ees were not suppose to be working, violative)

Timberline Energy Corporation 258 NLRB No. 037
(rule imposed in new manual issued after U activity began which prohibits loitering, visiting and solicitation of U membership on company time, violative)

Robertshaw Controls Company 263 NLRB No. 128
(no-solicitation rule which was not limited to worktime presumptively invalid as is no distribution rule not limited to work areas; moreover, R/O is appropriate notwithstanding E changed the rules where he made no announcements to Ees of any change and did not assure Ees that in future he would not interfere with their Sec. 7 rights; additionally, fact that former rules have not been enforced for substantial period of time does not remove necessity for such order)

Roadway Express, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 078
(no-distribution no-solicitation rule stating that distribution and/or posting of non-authorized, non-company literature or possession of same on company property is strictly forbidden held unlawful as too overly broad)

Ahrens Aircraft, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 112
(rule prohibiting distribution of any printed material to Ees without prior company authorization is illegal on its face)

Marathon Letourneau Company, Longview Division 256 NLRB No. 054
(Bd did not adopt ALJ's finding that E's maintenance of no-solicitation and no-distribution rule w/o delineating or explicating a special purpose for such rules was unlawful, where facial validity of rules was not raised in complaint nor put in issue at hearing, and consequently E was denied opportunity fully to litigate issue of rules' validity and to present evidence justifying them, if necessary)

Steinerfilm, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 017
(promulgating no solicitation or distribution rule which prohibited such activity on company premises, violative where Ees were not advised of typographical error which omitted words company time or that rule would not be enforced as written)

IPCO Hospital Supply Corporation, Cheshire Labs Division 255 NLRB No. 116
(publishing rule which prohibits solicitation or distribution of literature w/o written authorization of supervisor, violative)

C & W Mining Co., Inc. and/or C. & W Hauling Co., Inc. 248 NLRB No. 039

National Southwire Aluminum 247 NLRB No. 175
(E's statements to U adherent to get rid of U literature and clean up U literature do not rise to level of promulgation against distribution of literature but does interfere with Ee rights to distribute literature)

Packless Metal Hose, Inc. d/b/a Packless Industries JD-(SF)-98-81
(warning issued to Ee for distributing U literature in violation of E's unlawful no solicitation rule violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Steinerfilm, Inc. 669 F.2d 845 (C.A. 1, Feb. 1982)
(overly broad rule prohibiting solicitation or distribution on company property presumptively invalid)

Motor Inn of Perrysburg, Inc. d/b/a Holiday Inn of Perrysburg v. N.L.R.B. 647 F.2d 692 (C.A. 6, May 1981)
(E's promulgation of overly broad no-solicitation and no distribution rule, not violative where rule was never enforced and evidence showed that Ees freely exercised their solicitation and distribution rights; mere enactment of overly broad rules was not violation of Act under facts of this case)

N.L.R.B. v. General Thermodynamics, Inc. 670 F.2d 719 (C.A. 7, Feb. 1982)
(Bd's order requiring E not to display (overbroad) rules against solicitation and distribution enforced notwithstanding rules, which were posted on plant bulletin boards, were withdrawn before they were to technically become effective; there was no effective communication of the change of (E's) policy to the Ees which would guard against the chilling effect resulting from the overbroad rules)

5012-1725-0150 Presumptively invalid broad rule banning distribution may be justified by special circumstances

Industry Products Company 251 NLRB No. 183
(rule prohibiting distribution of printed material w/o management approval held overly broad and unlawfully restrict lawful U activities of Ees)

Great Lakes Steel, Division of National Steel Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 625 F.2d 131 (C.A. 6, July 1980)
(ct upheld Bd finding that E promulgated overly broad rule restricting Ee distribution of literature; Bd's conclusion supported by substantial evidence that E did not show why broad rule was needed to maintain discipline)

5012-1725-1100 Plant premises

Schnadig Corporation 265 NLRB No. 020
(E's maintenance of rule which prohibited distribution of literature of any kind on company premises or company time w/o specific prior permission of general manager, unlawful, notwithstanding rule not generally enforced, since overly broad rule inasmuch as approval of general manager required for distribution, and E did not inform Ees rule was resinded)

Grumman Flxible Corporation 264 NLRB No. 034
(rule prohibiting any and all distribution at any time without specific authority of management, violative)

Comet Corporation 261 NLRB No. 188
(publishing overborad rule in Ee handbook prohibiting soliciting or distribution of literature on Company premises w/o specific company authorization, unlawful, notwithstanding lack of actual enforcement as it is restrictive of Ee rights to engage in organizational activities during nonwork time on E's premises)

Dairy Farm Flight Services, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 031
(where E had discharged 2 supervisors for engaging in U activity and then in speech to Ees stated that supervisors were discharged because they allowed distribution of U cards in plant, E's speech violated Act as it constitutes threat to Ees that they too will be discharged if they distribute U cards in plant)

Lucky Stores, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 179
(maintaining and enforcing overbroad no-distribution rule which prohibited distribution of U literature on company premises, unlawful)

Wometco Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Nashville, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 069
(informing Ee that Ees who signed U cards on company property or company time could be discharged, unlawful)

General Thermodynamics, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 021
(posting of facially overly broad no solicitation-no distribution rules prohibiting solicitation on company time and distribution on company premises w/o permission of management, unlawful, notwithstanding rule never implemented and was removed prior to its effective date where Ees never informed of E's decision not to implement rules)

Central Freight Lines, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 063

Petty Bee, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 125
(requiring E's permission to pass out U literature on company property held impermissibly broad no-distribution rule)

MGM Grand-Reno, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 153
(maintenance of overly broad invalid no-solicitation rule and valid no-solicitation rule for about one month after inception of U campaign held violative where maintenance of both rules created ambiguity, since rules could be read together to give impression that all solicitation and distribution was prohibited at all times on company property)

Irwin County Electric Membership Cooperative 247 NLRB No. 195
(E's prohibiting solicitation or distribution of literature, pamphlets, or handouts on its premises, unlawful, since no distinction made between working and nonworking time and working and nonworking areas)

European Parts Exchange, Inc. JD-170-82
(directing Ee who had been soliciting Ees to sign cards in parking lot during lunch and break time to refrain from distributing U cards during working hours or on company property, unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. Permanent Label Corporation 657 F.2d 512 (C.A. 3, 1981)
(prohibiting Ee from passing out U cards or literature while on company property, unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. Permanent Label Corporation 657 F.2d 512 (C.A. 3, 1981)
(informing Ee who was distributing U information leaflets in parking lot to Ees as they arrived for work shifts, that Ee would be subject to disciplinary action if he continued to distribute information, violative, where E distributed only in non-work area during off duty time)

N.L.R.B. v. Arrow Molded Plastics, Inc. 653 F.2d 280 (C.A. 6, July 1981)
(E's prohibiting distribution of U literature on its premises, unlawful)

American Cast Iron Pipe Company, a corporation v. N.L.R.B. 600 F.2d 132 (C.A. 8, 1979)
(maintaining and enforcing rule which forbids distribution of any written or printed matter on company property w/o company permission, unlawful, notwithstanding E's contention rule justified by special circumstance of racial tension, where few actual disciplinary incidents occurred and literature distributed was not cause of incidents)

5012-1725-1133 Working areas

Vanity Fair Mills, Inc. JD-(ATL)-35-82
(E's promulgating rule which stated any solicitation of Ees or distribution of materials to Ees by non-Ees in plant or on company property is prohibited. Solicitation in plant or on company property by Ees on their working time is prohibited. Distribution of materials in plant or on company property by Ee on working time or in work area is prohibited unlawful, in view of earlier Bd decision which held use of working hours or working time w/o further clarification, ambiguous and rule presumptively invalid and E did not overcome presumption)

Beth Israel Hospital JD-587-81
(banning solicitation and distribution on Ees' nonwork time in basement corridors adjacent to service areas, violative, where there is little traffic by patients or professional staff and no emergency storage)

Beth Israel Hospital JD-587-81
(banning solicitation and distribution on Ees' nonwork time in corridors connecting cafeteria, gift shop, and cashier's office, violative, where these corridors are used predominately by Ees on way to lunch or breaks in cafeteria and not used for storage of emergency equipment)

Beth Israel Hospital JD-587-81
(banning solicitation and distribution on Ees' nonwork time in elevators used by Ees and not used by emergency teams, violative, where these elevators appear to belong in category of non-patient-access areas which E had opened up for Ee solicitation and distribution)

Beth Israel Hospital JD-587-81
(no solicitation/distribution rule banning such activities during nonwork time justified for stairways are areas of direct patient care and are passageways for emergency teams; moreover, there is reasonable assumption that stairway are escape routes in event of fire)

Boniface Group Homes, Inc. JD-162-81
(no-distribution rule held invalid where it was not limited to working time in working and nonworking areas or nonworking time in working areas, and permitted distribution only with permission of management)

5012-1725-1167 Nonworking area

Enterprise Products Company 265 NLRB No. 083
(maintenance of rule stating that there will be no information given to anyone... in regard to company business such as revenue, inventory... and so forth held unlawful, even though not phrased in standard no-solicitation/no-distribution language, since rule prohibits dissemination of all information related to E, including matters relating to Ees' working conditions w/o limiting its applicability to work time or work areas; and phrase and so forth is ambiguous and must be construed as being applicable to Ee working conditions, and risk of ambiguity must be held against promulgator and not Ees)

Enterprise Products Company 265 NLRB No. 083
(in finding E's rule prohibiting dissemination of all information related to company unlawful, ALJ relied on fact that only stated exception to rule by instruction from E clearly required E's permission as prerequisite to divulging any information covered by rule; and any rule that requires Ees to secure permission as precondition for engaging in protected concerted activities on Ees' free time and in non-work areas is unlawful)

Schnadig Corporation 265 NLRB No. 020
(violation, where supervisor instructed Ee to cease distributing U literature outside time clock door entrance and move at least 18 feet from plant, and did not retract order when informed his action was violation of federal law particularly where at time E was passing out anti-U literature in working area on working time)

Harper-Grace Hospitals, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 009
(maintenance and enforcement of overly broad rule prhibiting Ees from soliciting or distributing literature on nonwork time in nonwork areas, unlawful where no direct effect on patient care or patients was shown; contention that by acceding to contract allowing use of U bulletin board U waived Ees' right to solicit or distribute on hospital premises, rejected since E and U could not lawfully prohibit Ees from distributing anti-U literature at hospital entrance)

A. W. Schlesinger Geriatric Center, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 138
(no-distribution rule prohibiting distribution of U literature on E's property, violative)

Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 087
(rules prohibiting distribution on E's premises at any time and in any area, and fules prohibiting distribution on company premises w/o proper authorization, unlawfully broad, since they included non-work time and non-work areas)

Douglas Aircraft Company, Component of McDonnell Douglas Corporation 260 NLRB No. 180
(former contract's provision prohibiting distribution of any literature on company time and current contract's prohibition against distribution on company premises w/o prior authorization from E held overly broad in that former contract's rule unlawfully restricted distribution during nonworking time, and current contract's rule unlawfully restricts distribution on company premises, not only on nonworking time but also in nonwork areas)

United Technologies Corporation 260 NLRB No. 196
(rule prohibiting all distribution of unauthorized material on company property, unlawfully broad)

Williams Litho Service, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 101
(telling Ees that there would be no more gathering in small groups talking about U business and no passing out U literature on company time and/or property with threat of discharge for violation thereof, violative, where such oral no solicitation/distribution rule was overly broad and thus unlawful)

The Celotex Corporation 259 NLRB No. 159

G. H. Bass & Co. 258 NLRB No. 036
(reprimanding Ee for distribution of pro-U letter in production area during lunch break in alleged violation of rule prohibiting distribution in work areas, unlawful, where production shut down for lunch break and all Ees off clock since in these circumstances production area at lunch break becomes non-working area, and absent resulting litter problem or impact on production)

Arkansas-Best Freight System, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 063
(promulgating, maintaining and enforcing rule or policy which prohibits Ees from posting or distributing U campaign literature in nonworking areas and from campaigning on nonworking time, violative)

Harrison Steel Castings Company 262 NLRB No. 059
(rule restricting access of non-duty Ees valid only if (1) limits access solely with respect to interior of plant and other working areas; (2) is clearly disseminated to all Ees; and (3) applies to off duty Ees seeking access to plant for any reason and not just to those Ees engaging in U activity. Finally except where justified by business reasons, rule which denies off duty Ees entry to parking lots, gates, and other outside non-working areas will be found invalid)

K & S Circuits, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 163
(maintenance of overly-broad no-distribution rule requiring E's permission violative, notwithstanding that rule was promulgated before Sec. 10(b) limitations period)

Mini-Industries, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 123
(promulgating and maintaining rule prohibiting Ees from engaging in oral solicitation on behalf of U or distribution of U material in nonworking locations of plant during nonworking time, violative)

Custom Trim Products 255 NLRB No. 096
(posted rule prohibiting distribution in any area at any time, albeit for only 7 days during critical period before correcting rule to apply to any work area, violative, where manner in which rule was corrected was insufficient to apprise Ees of its repudiation and despite lack of evidence showing rule was ever implemented)

Crown Cork & Seal Company, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 004

Lummus Industries, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 079
(rule prohibiting selling, soliciting or collecting contributions for any purpose unless authorized by Personnel Department violative as too broad because it covered nonworking time and areas; furthermore it would barr required Ee to obtain permission of E before engaging in protected concerted activities)

Ralph Nenner, M.D., Louis Orens, M.D. et al., A Partnership d/b/a Deepdale General Hospital 253 NLRB No. 092
(Ee cafeteria limited to Ees and physicians and not open to public or patients)

Clinton Corn Processing Company, A Division of Standard Brands Inc. 253 NLRB No. 084
(E's promulgation of rule which prohibited bringing on company property any newspapers, magazines, pictures pamphlets; books, drawings or other materials, unlawful, where prohibition not limited to work areas)

Certain-Teed Insulation Company 251 NLRB No. 200
(promulgation of overly broad no solicitation/no distribution rule, violative, absent evidence of business necessity for such rule)

Clinton Inn 249 NLRB No. 022
(no-solicitation, no-distribution rule held unlawfully broad where it failed to distinguish between working and non-working areas)

Fluid Packaging Company, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 196
(prohibition of Ees' distribution of U literature in plant lobby, a nonworking area, unlawful)

Beaco Merchandising Corp. JD-(SF)-238-82
(rule against distribution of U literature on store premises at any time, unlawful)

Brunswick Corporation JD-21-82
(reprimanding and suspending U adherent for distributing literature pertaining to terms and conditions of employment, on non-working time and in non-working areas, violative)

Johns-Manville Sales Corporation JD-412-81
(refusing to allow Ees to distribute U literature in nonwork areas (near entrance to plant parking lot) during nonwork time)

Ford Motor Company, Automotive Division, Twin Cities Plant JD-57-81
(forbidding distribution of U caucus literature during nonworking time in nonworking areas, unlawful)

Hayes International Corporation JD-(ATL)-29-81
(maintenance of rule prohibiting distribution of written matter on company premises at any time w/o specific authorization, unlawful since it prohibited Ees from distributing U literature in nonworking areas during nonworking time)

N.L.R.B. v. Permanent Label Corporation 657 F.2d 512 (C.A. 3, 1981)
(informing Ee who was distributing U information leaflets in parking lot to Ees as they arrived for work shifts, that Ee would be subject to disciplinary action if he continued to distribute information, violative, where E distributed only in non-work area during off duty time)

J. P. Stevens & Co., Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 668 F.2d 767 (C.A. 4, Jan. 1982)
(interference with distribution of organizational literature on election eve and day by preventing distributing Ees from entering plant's nonworking areas and calling police to remove them, unlawful, notwithstanding Ee's claim that such distribution would now be permitted under new policy promulgated pursuant to ct order)

The Timken Company v. N.L.R.B. 644 F.2d 886(T) (C.A. 6, Jan 8, 1981)
(substantial evidence did not support Bd's finding that E impliedly prohibited distribution of U literature in non-work areas w/i plant)

Local 175, Automobile Workers, (UAW) v. N.L.R.B. 645 F.2d 1151 (C.A.D.C. Mar 1981)
(E's refusal to permit U to distribute leaflets concerning U endorsed candidates for public offices in nonworking areas of plant during nonworking time, not unlawful, since insufficient relationship to Ees' interests to come w/i guarantee of Section 7 mutual aid and protection where principal thrust of leaflet was to induce Ees to vote for specific candidates, not to educate them on political issues relevant to their employment condition)

5012-1725-1172 Mixed use area

N.L.R.B. v. Transcon Lines 599 F.2d 719 (C.A. 8, 1979)
(E did not sustain burden of proving that distribution occurred in work area or during work time where it took place in mixed use area used by E's drivers for lounging, recreation, and waiting, as well as for receiving dispatches and completing documents; proof as to whether Ees were on working or nonworking time at precise moment of distribution is not required since E permitted use of area for solicitation at U election time w/o regard to whether Ees were relaxing or filling out a form at the time)

5012-1725-1183 Public Areas

Harrison Steel Castings Company 262 NLRB No. 059
(rule restricting access of non-duty Ees valid only if (1) limits access solely with respect to interior of plant and other working areas; (2) is clearly disseminated to all Ees; and (3) applies to off duty Ees seeking access to plant for any reason and not just to those Ees engaging in U activity. Finally except where justified by business reasons, rule which denies off duty Ees entry to parking lots, gates, and other outside non-working areas will be found invalid)

Ralph Nenner, M.D., Louis Orens, M.D. et al., A Partnership d/b/a Deepdale General Hospital 253 NLRB No. 092
(nurses lounge open to public)

Nice-Pak Products, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 173
(where E told Ee to stop distributing U literature outside Ee entrance but then apologized and let practice resume it did not violative Act)

5012-1725-1191 Existence of litter

G. H. Bass & Co. 258 NLRB No. 036
(reprimanding Ee for distribution of pro-U letter in production area during lunch break in alleged violation of rule prohibiting distribution in work areas, unlawful, where production shut down for lunch break and all Ees off clock since in these circumstances production area at lunch break becomes non-working area, and absent resulting litter problem or impact on production)

Southern Moldings, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 115
(few fallen handbills not sufficient to warrant E's interference)

5012-1725-1700 Working time

Schnadig Corporation 265 NLRB No. 020
(E's maintenance of rule which prohibited distribution of literature of any kind on company premises or company time w/o specific prior permission of general manager, unlawful, notwithstanding rule not generally enforced, since overly broad rule inasmuch as approval of general manager required for distribution, and E did not inform Ees rule was resinded)

Documation, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 052
(although E's rule prohibited solicitation and distribution during working time only, E applied rule in overly-broad, unlawful manner where it prohibited solicitation during breaktime and after work)

G. H. Bass & Co. 258 NLRB No. 036
(reprimanding Ee for distribution of pro-U letter in production area during lunch break in alleged violation of rule prohibiting distribution in work areas, unlawful, where production shut down for lunch break and all Ees off clock since in these circumstances production area at lunch break becomes non-working area, and absent resulting litter problem or impact on production)

T.R.W. Bearings Division, A Division of T.R.W., Inc. 257 NLRB No. 047
(rule prohibiting solicitation or distribution of literature during working hours, unlawful, where presumptive invalidity of rule was not rebutted by E's publications of presumptively valid rule prohibiting solicitation during working time; no meaningful distinction exists between working hours and working time, since both terms are ambiguous, and risk of ambiguity must be borne by rule promulgator; hence, rules prohibiting solicitation during work time or working time, are, like rules prohibiting such activity during working hours presumptively invalid (Essex Internat'l, overruled))

Baruch Brothers, Inc., A Wholly Owned Subsidiary of Thrifty Corporation 257 NLRB No. 003
(maintaining rule that prohibited distribution or solicitation of any kind on company time, and reprimanding and threatening discipline for infractions, unlawful; rule, as written, and as interpreted by E as applying to working hours, was presumptively overbroad and ambiguous showing no intent to not cover break time, etc., was not justified by disciplinary or production needs, and was discriminatorily applied to protected activity during U organization campaign)

Pyromatics, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 141
(maintenance and enforcement of no-solicitation, no distribution rule, unlawful, since it was overly broad in that its working hours prescription was presumptively invalid, E presented no evidence to rebut presumption of invalidity, and rule was otherwise invalid under any of the views expressed in Essex International, 211 NLRB 749)

Rich's Precision Foundry, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 173

(rule prohibiting distribution of literature or soliciting during working hours, unlawfully broad)

Magnesium Casting Company, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 107

(forbidding all solicitation and distribution during Ee's working time held overly broad and invalid, since rule could be interpreted by Ees as forbidding solicitation or distribution by any Ee while any Ee was working and, in view of E's around-the-clock operation, rule could be construed as forbidding solicitation of all Ees and distribution of all U literature during any Ees working time and in non-working areas)

Ryland Building Systems, A Division of The Ryland Group, Inc. JD-252-82

(promulgating and maintaining rules prohibiting solicitation and distribution activities on company time and during working hours, violative where presumption of invalidity of rules stood unrebutted in absence of evidence that affected Ees were advised that rules would not apply during breaktime and other nonwork periods)

Vanity Fair Mills, Inc. JD-(ATL)-28-82

(E's promulgating rule which stated any solicitation of Ees or distribution of materials to Ees by non-Ees in plant or on company property is prohibited. Solicitation in plant or on company property by Ees on their working time is prohibited. Distribution of materials in plant or on company property by Ee on working time or in work area is prohibited unlawful, in view of earlier Bd decision which held use of working hours or working time w/o further clarification, ambiguous and rule presumptively invalid and E did not overcome presumption)

European Parts Exchange, Inc. JD-170-82

(directing Ee who had been soliciting Ees to sign cards in parking lot during lunch and break time to refrain from distributing U cards during working hours or on company property, unlawful)

Formaloy Corp. JD-(ATL)-87-81

(E's rule prohibiting solicitation w/o management permission and distributing written or printed matter on company premises during regular working hours held violative, since rule was overbroad allowing for no exceptions during nonwork time on E's premises; E demonstrated no business justification for imposition of such rules)

Boniface Group Homes, Inc. JD-162-81

(no-distribution rule held invalid where it was not limited to working time in working and nonworking areas or nonworking time in working areas, and permitted distribution only with permission of management)

Carlina Knitting Co., Inc., et al. JD-321-80

(prohibition of distribution of leaflets prior to working time on E's property, held unlawful)

5012-1725-1900 Mixed working and nonworking time

Finally except where justified by business reasons, rule which denies off duty Ees entry to parking lots, gates, and other outside non-working areas will be found invalid)

Mark Twain Marine Industries, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 144

(rule prohibiting solicitation on company property, violative as impermissably broad, in absence of explanation to Ees as to their rights to discuss or distribute U material during nonwork periods)

Bexco Merchandising Corp. JD-(SF)-228-82

(rule against distribution of U literature on store premises at any time, unlawful)

Brunswick Corporation JD-21-82

(reprimanding and suspending U adherent for distributing literature pertaining to terms and conditions of employment, on non-working time and in non-working areas, violative)

Ford Motor Company, Automotive Division, Twin Cities Plant JD-57-81

(forbidding distribution of U caucus literature during nonworking time in nonworking areas, unlawful)

5012-1725-2200 Parking lots

Cardio Data Systems Corp. 264 NLRB No. 011

(informing Ee, engaged in U solicitation, not to report for work 20 or 30 minutes early and not to be seen in E's parking lot before and after quiting work held unlawful exclusion prohibited by Bd)

A. W. Schlesinger Geriatric Center, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 158

(E promulgation and maintenance of overly broad rule prohibiting access to E's property such as parking lots to off-duty Ees, violative)

Harrison Steel Castings Company 262 NLRB No. 059

(rule restricting access of non-duty Ees valid only if (1) limits access solely with respect to interior of plant and other working areas; (2) is clearly disseminated to all Ees; and (3) applies to off duty Ees seeking access to plant for any reason and not just to those Ees engaging in U activity. Finally except where justified by business reasons, rule which denies off duty Ees entry to parking lots, gates, and other outside non-working areas will be found invalid)

N.L.R.B. v. Permanent Label Corporation 657 F.2d 512 (C.A. 3, 1981)

(informing Ee who was distributing U information leaflets in parking lot to Ees as they arrived for work shifts, that Ee would be subject to disciplinary action if he continued to distribute information, violative, where E distributed only in non-work area during off duty time)

5012-1725-3300 Roadways

Permanent Label Corporation 248 NLRB No. 021

5012-1725-5500 Invalidity of rule where not necessary in interest of efficiency, discipline, or security

American Cast Iron Pipe Company, a corporation v. N.L.R.B. 600 F.2d 132 (C.A. 5, 1979)

(maintaining and enforcing rule which forbids distribution of any written or printed matter on company property w/o company permission, unlawful, notwithstanding E's contention rule justified by special circumstances of racial tension, where few actual disciplinary incidents occurred and literature distributed was not cause of incidents)

5012-1725-7100 Alternative means of communication

Belcher Towing Company 256 NLRB No. 099

(E's refusing access to its boats to U organizers for purpose of soliciting support for U held violative, since record as whole clearly established that Us did not have reasonable alternative means of access to E's Ees regardless of whether evidence was presented by GC, charging parties, or respondent; compare Sabine Towing & Transportation Company, Inc. v. N.L.R.B., 599 F.2d 663 (1979))

United Steelworkers of America v. N.L.R.B. 646 F.2d 616 (C.A.D.C., Feb 1981)

(propriety of access as organizational tool and propriety of U access as remedial measure are 2 separate questions involving different considerations; former need finding that U unable to reach Ees through other channels of communication; as to latter, critical inquiry is whether E conduct is of such nature that access is needed to offset harmful effects that have been produced by such conduct)

5012-1725-8800 Invalidity presumed in absence of showing of necessity to maintain production or discipline

Enterprise Products Company 265 NLRB No. 083

MGM Grand-Reno, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 153

(maintenance of overly broad invalid no-solicitation rule and valid no-solicitation rule for about one month after inception of U campaign held violative where maintenance of both rules created ambiguity, since rules could be read together to give impression that all solicitation and distribution was prohibited at all times on company property)

N.L.R.B. v. Lummus Industries, Inc. 679 F.2d 229 (C.A. 11, June 1982)

5012-1737 Prohibiting solicitation during employee's own time on employer's premises

Enterprise Products Company 265 NLRB No. 083

(in finding maintenance of rule prohibiting dissemination of all information relating to E unlawful, ALJ relied on fact that no special circumstances justified such overly-broad restriction on Ees' freedom to communicate with one another with prospective representative or with Bd; E's claim that rule was published well in advance of U activity, that rule was disseminated to all of its facilities rather than only that involved herein, and that some Ees were unaware of rule is facetious since E used violation of rule as basis for discharge of Ees suspected of giving information to Bd and U in ULP proceeding herein)

Styrest Nursing Home JD-(ATL)-95-82

(nursing home maintaining rule which stated no one is permitted to approach Ees or residents with view towards canvassing, soliciting or selling articles of any kind, unlawful, since not limited to working time of Ees, notwithstanding E's contention rule was directed at sale of articles by outside salesmen, since rule's language not limited to sale of articles by outside salesmen; nor was violation fully remedied by recision of rule and replacement with modified rule which limited prohibition to solicitation on working time in view of confusion generated by rule among Ees)

Robertshaw Controls Company 263 NLRB No. 128

(no-solicitation rule which was not limited to worktime presumptively invalid as is no distribution rule not limited to work areas; moreover, R/O is appropriate notwithstanding E changed the rules where he made no announcements to Ees of any change and did not assure Ees that in future he would not interfere with their Sec. 7 rights; additionally, fact that former rules have not been enforced for substantial period of time does not remove necessity for such order)

J. E. Steigerwald Co., Inc. 263 NLRB No. 068

(telling Ee not to talk about U on the job violative as overly broad restriction on solicitation)

Roadway Express, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 078

(no-distribution no-solicitation rule stating that distribution and/or posting of non-authorized, non-company literature or possession of same on company property is strictly forbidden held unlawful as too overly broad)

Presbyterian/St. Luke's Medical Center 258 NLRB No. 021

(hospital maintaining and enforcing rule prohibiting solicitation during duty time, not unlawful since reference to on-duty time was neither overbroad nor fatally ambiguous; however, rule's admonition that E not tolerate activity disruptive of the atmosphere of patient care, violative as ambiguous, overbroad and invalid where such rule had chilling effect on Ees' exercise of Sec. 7 rights)

Montgomery Ward & Company, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 134

(written rule prohibiting all U solicitation on E's store premises, including store's public restaurants, violative as impermissibly broad rule)

Marathon LeTourneau Company, Longview Division 256 NLRB No. 054

(Bd did not adopt ALJ's finding that E's maintenance of no-solicitation and no-distribution rule w/o delineating or explicating a special purpose for such rules was unlawful, where facial validity of rules was not raised in complaint nor put in issue at hearing, and consequently E was denied opportunity fully to litigate issue of rules' validity and to present evidence justifying them, if necessary)

Firmat Manufacturing Corp. 255 NLRB No. 153

(rule against solicitation which prohibited Ee from talking to Ees in shop, violative absent special circumstances making rule necessary)

Steinerfilm, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 017

(promulgating no solicitation or distribution rule which prohibited such activity on company premises, violative where Ees were not advised of typographical error which omitted words company time or that rule would not be enforced as written)

Custom Trim Products 255 NLRB No. 096

(amending rules in Ees handbook to prohibit solicitation in any form and to prohibit Ees from attempting to persuade fellow Ees to follow a course of action contrary to the interest of the company, violative)

Mark Twain Marine Industries, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 144

(rule prohibiting solicitation on company property, violative as impermissibly broad, in absence of explanation to Ees as to their rights to discuss or distribute U material during nonwork periods)

Birmingham Ornamental Iron Company v. N.L.R.B. 615 F.2d 661 (C.A. 5) (1980)

(overlybroad no-solicitation rule violative notwithstanding no Ee ever complained about rule)

Motor Inn of Perrysburg, Inc. d/b/a Holiday Inn of Perrysburg v. N.L.R.B. 647 F.2d 692 (C.A. 6, May 1981)

(E's promulgation of overly broad no-solicitation and no distribution rule, not violative where rule was never enforced and evidence showed that Ees freely exercised their solicitation and distribution rights; mere enactment of overly broad rules was not violation of Act under facts of this case)

N.L.R.B. v. Publishers Printing Company, Inc. 625 F.2d 746 (C.A. 6, 1980)

(rule allowing no solicitation of any kind, unlawful where it was adopted during U campaign; obviously it was directed at U card solicitation)

5012-1737-0183 Presumptively invalid broad rule banning solicitation may be justified by special circumstances

Sahara-Reno Corporation, d/b/a Sahara Reno 262 NLRB No. 095

(rule prohibiting solicitation in any working area for any purpose on company time, unlawful where E showed no special justification for rule)

Presbyterian/St. Luke's Medical Center 258 NLRB No. 021

(hospital maintaining and enforcing rule prohibiting solicitation during nonwork time in patient care and public areas which are exemplified in rule as including reception areas, hallways, stairways, coffee shop and the like, violative, where rule was presumptively invalid as overbroad, and E did not profer evidence to justify rule's imposition into coffee shop and the like)

Ed Chandler Ford, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 082

(announcing and implementing rule which prohibits Ees from engaging in U activity or otherwise talking about U during nonworking time in nonpublic areas of E's automobile dealership, unlawful; record failed to show that impermissibly broad rule was necessary to maintain plant discipline or production, or that intent was communicated to Ees to permit U activity on Ees' own time in nonpublic areas)

Industry Products Company 251 NLRB No. 183

(rule prohibiting solicitation, collection of contributions or distribution of literature of any discription held overly broad and unlawfully restrict lawful U activities of Ees)

James F. Stanford, Inc. d/b/a Ace Machine Co. 249 NLRB No. 073

(ambigious no solicitation rule presumptively invalid absent showing that E's rule was necessary to maintain production or discipline as risk of ambiguity must be held against promulgator)

5012-1737-2000 Solicitation on plant premises

Read Memorial Hospital 265 NLRB No. 105

(promulgating and maintaining overly broad no-solicitation rule prohibiting such on hospital time and premises, violative, where rule could be reasonably interpreted as prohibiting U solicitation at any time on hospital premises)

Schnadig Corporation 265 NLRB No. 020

(maintenance of rule which prohibited solicitation of any kind during working hours or collecting contributions for any purpose on company premises or company time w/o specific prior approval of general manager, unlawful, since overly broad where E did not clairfy that prohibition did not apply to lunch and break times, notwithstanding E only enforced rule with regard to actual working time, inasmuch as more existence of overly broad rule interferes with Ees' Section 7 rights and E was carrying on anti-U campaign during work time)

Grumman Flxible Corporation 264 NLRB No. 034

(rule prohibiting any and all unauthorized soliciting for any purpose whatsoever on Company's premises, violative)

Peerless Plating Company, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 143

(rule against unauthorized soliciting or collecting of contributions for any purpose, unlawfully broad where no reason was cited therefor)

Comet Corporation 261 NLRB No. 188
(publishing overborad rule in Ee handbook prohibiting soliciting or distribution of literature on Company premises w/o specific company authorization, unlawful, notwithstanding lack of actual enforcement as it is restrictive of Ee rights to engage in organizational activities during nonwork time on E's premises)

United Supermarkets, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 179
(supervisor's statements that Ee was not to talk to U people on company time, that Ee's coffee breaks were paid for by E and therefore it is company time, and that anyone seen talking to U representative is grounds for immediate termination held to constitute announcement of clearly overbroad and invalid no-solicitation rule)

Valley Plaza, Inc. d/b/a Captain Nemo's 258 NLRB No. 076
(no-solicitation rule violative where first sentence of rule prohibited Ee solicitation on nonworking time and second sentence did not state what if any right Ee supporter of U would have under rule to solicit another Ee on nonworking time and therefore, rule was capable of being interpreted as restricting Ees' rights under Act to engage in U solicitation during their nonworking time; inasmuch as posting itself of such rule was sufficient promulgation to constitute violation, admitted maintenance of rule was violative)

Timberline Energy Corporation 258 NLRB No. 037
(rule imposed in new manual issued after U activity began which prohibits loitering, visiting and solicitation of U membership on company time, violative)

Can-Tex Industries, Division of Harsco Corporation 256 NLRB No. 143

Marathon Letourneau Company, Longview Division 256 NLRB No. 054
(reprimanding U adherent assertedly for violating no-solicitation rule by soliciting in work area, unlawful, where one purported transgression occurred in rest room and at time difficult to identify as work time and another occurred in salvage yard where instance of any occurrence of solicitation was open to question; solicitations sponsored by factions other than U factions were allowed and were participated in by supervisors; and there was lack of complete investigation by E before issuance of reprimand)

Mini-Industries, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 123
(promulgating and maintaining rule prohibiting Ees from engaging in oral solicitation on behalf of U or distribution of U material in nonworking locations of plant during nonworking time, violative)

Wometco Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Nashville, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 069
(informing Ee that Ees who signed U cards on company property or company time could be discharged, unlawful)

Rosa M. Alexander d/b/a A & B Janitorial Service 253 NLRB No. 064
(no-solicitation rule prohibiting solicitation anywhere on premises w/o distinguishing between working and nonworking time, unlawful)

Palby Lingerie, Inc. and Argus Lingerie Corp. 252 NLRB No. 032
(E's attempting to stop Ee from talking to other Ees concerning U's demand for recognition, violative where Ee's conduct took place during lunchtime and E had no rules regarding solicitation and distribution)

Maywood, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 139
(barring off-duty Ees from plant premises, violative, where such Ees were in effect seeking access to cafeteria, a non-work area, for purpose of soliciting for U, and had no intention of wandering about the plant as E contended, and there was no rule limiting access to plant or rule which met standards defined in Tri-County Medical Center, Inc., 222 NLRB 1089)

Central Freight Lines, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 063

Irwin County Electric Membership Cooperative 247 NLRB No. 195
(E's prohibiting solicitation or distribution of literature, pamphlets, or handouts on its premises, unlawful, since no distinction made between working and nonworking time and working and nonworking areas)

Styrest Nursing Home JD-(ATL)-95-82
(nursing home maintaining rule which stated no one is permitted to approach Ees or residents with view towards canvassing, soliciting or selling articles of any kind, unlawful, since not limited to working time of Ees, notwithstanding E's contention rule was directed at sale of articles by outside salesmen, since rule's language not limited to sale of articles by outside salesmen; nor was violation fully remedied by recission of rule and replacement with modified rule which limited prohibition to solicitation on working time in view of confusion generated by rule among Ees)

Besco Merchandising Corp. JD-(SF)-238-82
(rule prohibiting Ees from talking with union organizers on company premises and organizing . . . at work unlawfully broad)

Vanity Fair Mills, Inc. JD-(ATL)-35-82
(E's promulgating rule which stated any solicitation of Ees or distribution of materials to Ees by non-Ees in plant or on company property is prohibited. Solicitation in plant or on company property by Ees on their working time is prohibited. Distribution of materials in plant or on company property by Ee on working time or in work area is prohibited unlawful, in view of earlier Bd decision which held use of working hours or working time w/o further clarification, ambiguous and rule presumptively invalid and E did not overcome presumption)

Suburpia Submarine Sandwich Shoppes JD-260-81
(promulgating and maintaining rule which prohibited vending, soliciting, or collecting matter of any description on Company's premises w/o management approval, violative since rule was overbroad and would interfere with Ees' right to self organization or to ptn for redres of unsatisfactory wages, hours or terms and conditions of employment)

Carlina Knitting Co., Inc., et al. JD-321-80
(posting sign on factory door stating no soliciting in the factory, held unlawful)

Lester Industries, Inc. JD-97-80
(violation where E posted and maintained no-solicitation rule which prohibited soliciting U membership and support during non-working time at plant; subsequent posting of lawful change in rule did not remedy lingering effect of longstanding, invalid rule)

Signode Corporation JD-161-80
(counselling Ee against passing U card to another Ee on company time unlawful, where both Ees were on nonwork time)

N.L.R.B. v. Jack August Enterprises, Inc. 583 F.2d 575 (C.A. 1)
(violation, where E maintained overly broad and improper rule prohibiting U solicitation on the premises)

N.L.R.B. v. Permanent Label Corporation 657 F.2d 512 (C.A. 3, 1981)
(prohibiting Ee from passing out U cards or literature while on company property, unlawful)

5012-1737-2600 Permission of employer not required

Schnadig Corporation 265 NLRB No. 020
(maintenance of rule which prohibited solicitation of any kind during working hours or collecting contributions for any purpose on company premises or company time w/o specific prior approval of general manager, unlawful, since overly broad where E did not clairfy that prohibition did not apply to lunch and break times, notwithstanding E only enforced rule with regard to actual working time, inasmuch as more existence of overly broad rule interferes with Ees' Section 7 rights and E was carrying on anti-U campaign during work time)

Comet Corporation 261 NLRB No. 188
(publishing overborad rule in Ee handbook prohibiting soliciting or distribution of literature on Company premises w/o specific company authorization, unlawful, notwithstanding lack of actual enforcement as it is restrictive of Ee rights to engage in organizational activities during nonwork time on E's premises)

Traverse City Osteopathic Hospital 250 NLRB No 147
(prohibiting Ees from soliciting for U w/o approval by E, violative)

IPCO Hospital Supply Corporation, Cheshire Labs Division 255 NLRB No. 116
(publishing rule which prohibits solicitation or distribution of literature w/o written authorization of supervisor, violative)

Lummus Industries, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 079
(rule prohibiting selling, soliciting or collecting contributions for any purpose unless authorized by Personnel Department violative as too broad because it covered nonworking time and areas; furthermore it would barr required Ee to obtain permission of E before engaging in protected concerted activities)

5012-1737-3300 Working areas

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 263 NLRB No. 015
(informing Ee he could not solicit Ees to sign U cards on official company time, except before and after shift break, in cafeteria during lunch period, in halls and passageways, in restrooms or official break areas such as coke zone or rap shack, unlawful, since rule ambiguous inasmuch as could lead Ees to think they could not solicit except in particular areas named and use of words official company time could lead Ees to think solicitation prohibited any time during shift)

Midwest Electric Manufacturing Corporation 260 NLRB No. 032
(posted rule prohibiting solicitation in working areas during working hours and orally communicated to Ees held presumptively invalid and unlawful, since Ee failed to rebut presumption; moreover, rule was also overly broad and thus presumptively unlawful under Bd's previously applicable law)

Eastern Maine Medical Center 253 NLRB No. 024
(hospital's no-solicitation rule, unlawful, since overlybroad on its face and as applied to prohibit solicitation in hospital lobby at issue herein; rule is overly broad as promulgated, because it does not conform to Bd's requirement that E's ban on Ee solicitation on nonwork time is limited to immediate patient care areas and it is therefore presumptively invalid; and E has not established that U solicitation in working areas of hospital which are not immediate patient care areas would either disrupt patient care or disturb patients)

MGM Grand-Reno, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 153
(maintenance of overly broad invalid no-solicitation rule and valid no-solicitation rule for about one month after inception of U campaign held violative where maintenance of both rules created ambiguity, since rules could be read together to give impression that all solicitation and distribution was prohibited at all times on company property)

Permanent Label Corporation 248 NLRB No. 021
(solicitation process includes distributing U card, signing by Ee and return of card to solicitor, therefore rule banning such activity during nonwork time in work areas is overly broad)

Lemon Electric Corporation 247 NLRB No. 203
(maintaining rule which prohibited solicitation at any time in work areas, unlawful)

Beth Israel Hospital JD-587-81
(banning solicitation and distribution on Ees' nonwork time in basement corridors adjacent to service areas, violative, where there is little traffic by patients or professional staff and no emergency storage)

Beth Israel Hospital JD-587-81
(banning solicitation and distribution on Ees' nonwork time in corridors connecting cafeteria, gift shop, and cashier's office, violative, where these corridors are used predominately by Ees on way to lunch or breaks in cafeteria and not used for storage of emergency equipment)

Beth Israel Hospital JD-587-81
(banning solicitation and distribution on Ees' nonwork time in elevators used by Ees and not used by emergency teams, violative, where these elevators appear to belong in category of non-patient-access areas which E had opened up for Ee solicitation and distribution)

Beth Israel Hospital JD-587-81
(no solicitation/distribution rule banning such activities during nonwork time justified for stairways are areas of direct patient care and are passageways for emergency teams; moreover, there is reasonable assumption that stairway are escape routes in event of fire)

*National Electric Coil, A Division of McGraw
Edison Company* JD-235-81
(rule prohibiting solicitation during solicitor's work time or in work areas where any Ees are at work, unlawful, as unduly broad; since implication is that solicitation is precluded in areas where neither is precluded in areas where neither solicitor nor solicited Ee is on working time, but other Ees not parties to the conversation are working)

5012-1737-4000 Working time of employees soliciting

*Wometco Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Nashville,
Inc.* 255 NLRB No. 069
(informing Ee he would be discharged if he carried on U organizing in company plant on company time, unlawful because such prohibition would appear to include breaktime and other periods when they are not expected to be working)

*Wometco Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Nashville,
Inc.* 255 NLRB No. 069
(maintaining rule forbidding solicitation for U during working time or while on the clock while permitting solicitation for other purposes, unlawful)

Clinton Corn Processing Company, A Division of Standard Brands Inc. 253 NLRB No. 084
(E's promulgation of no-solicitation rule which prohibited solicitation during working hours rather than working time w/o clearly communicating to Ees its intent to permit solicitation during break times, unlawful)

General Thermodynamics, Inc. 253 NLRE No. 021
(posting of facially overly broad no solicitation-no distribution rules prohibiting solicitation on company time and distribution on company premises w/o permission of management, unlawful, notwithstanding rule never implemented and was removed prior to its effective date where Ees never informed of E's decision not to implement rules)

Blue Bird Body Company 251 NLRB No. 196
(E's condoning Ee committee's circulating anti-U ptn on Ees' working time while informing U adherents that they had no right to engage in solicitation on Ees' working time, violative, since Ee applied its no solicitation policy in discriminatory manner)

Magnesium Casting Company, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 107
(forbidding all solicitation and distribution during Ee's working time held overly broad and invalid, since rule could be interpreted by Ees as forbidding solicitation or distribution by any Ee while any Ee was working and, in view of E's around-the-clock operation, rule could be construed as forbidding solicitation of all Ees and distribution of all U literature during any Ees working time and in non-working areas)

Pilgrim Life Insurance Company 249 NLRB No. 140
(discharge for allegedly soliciting signing of U cards on company time, unlawful, where E had no written rules forbidding or restricting solicitations on company premises, there was no interference with production, E allowed solicitation for other purposes, and particularly absent proof solicitation took place on work time as distinguished from company time)

MGM Grand-Reno, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 153
(maintenance of overly broad invalid no-solicitation rule and valid no-solicitation rule for about one month after inception of U campaign held violative where maintenance of both rules created ambiguity, since rules could be read together to give impression that all solicitation and distribution was prohibited at all times on company property)

Custom Coating & Laminating Corporation 249 NLRB No. 117
(threatening Ee with discharge if he continued to speak with other Ees during work time violative where Ee's job required him to speak to other Ees and Ee was well known U adherent)

Lyman Steel Company 249 NLRB No. 040
(two overly broad no-solicitation rules held prima facie invalid where E failed to show that it affirmatively communicated to its Ees, or demonstrated by application of rules, that Ees were free to engage in solicitation during breaktime or other periods when they were not actually working)

Colonial Stores Incorporated 248 NLRB No. 147
(where Ee solicited fellow Ee's signature to ptn during working time on selling flour, E's warning Ee to cease interrupting her fellow Ees' work in process of petitioning, not violative, even though the petitioning activity itself was protected; contrary to GC's contention, E did not thereby unlawfully promulgate overly broad no-solicitation rule)

Conagra, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 085
(supervisor informing Ee If you are looking for higher wages you will have to look somewhere else. We won't have you talking U on job unlawful, since could reasonably be interpreted as prohibition against soliciting at all times including nonworking time and no evidence restriction was justified by need to maintain discipline and production)

*John Rooney, David Hinman and Beverly Foster, d/
b/a Rooney's At The Mart* 247 NLRB No. 125
(E's owner instructing Ee who was soliciting in customer area of restaurant not to solicit on my time where Ee was on own time but Ee she was soliciting was on work time, unlawful, since prohibition could reasonably have been construed to apply even during breaks for which Ees paid and prohibition not limited to customer areas)

Notre Dame Hills Medical Services, Inc., d/b/a Notre Dame Hills Convalescent Center 247 NLRB No. 126
(violation where E issued rules of conduct prohibiting solicitation during working hours w/o approval of the facility's administrator)

Tartan Marine Company 247 NLRB No. 073
(supervisor informing Ee who had solicited another Ee to sign U card during break time that he should take care of this after work and when Ee attempted to assert his right to solicit during break time replying company pays you for breaks, violative)

*Lee Simmons and Beverly McKinstry Simmons, a Partnership, d/b/a Elmendorf & Fort
Richardson Barber Concessions* 247 NLRB No. 093
(E who restricted Ees use of telephone after U organizing activities began violated Act because rule was overbroad as it applied to working and nonworking time and was intended to ban use of telephone for any organizing activities)

Vanity Fair Mills, Inc. JD-(ATL)-35-82
(E's promulgating rule which stated any solicitation of Ees or distribution of materials to Ees by non-Ees in plant or on company property is prohibited. Solicitation in plant or on company property by Ees on their working time is prohibited. Distribution of materials in plant or on company property by Ee on working time or in work area is prohibited unlawful, in view of earlier Bd decision which held use of working hours or working time w/o further clarification, anbiguous and rule presumptively invalid and E did not overcome presumption)

Vanity Fair Mills, Inc. JD-(ATL)-35-82
(E's manager informing chairman of U's grievance committee and representative of U of E's neutrality in election campaign and instructing them not to solicit votes on company time during working hours, not unlawful, where manager added what they did on break or lunch time was their own business)

Transitank Car Corporation JD-(ATL)-8-82
(prohibiting handing out of U stickers found unlawful porhibition of solicitation where not limited to nonworking areas and times)

5012-1737-5000 Working hours, work time or company time

Woodview Rehabilitation Center 265 NLRB No. 122
(promulgation and maintenance of rule banning solicitation on working time, violative, since rule was presumptively invalid)

Standard Motor Products, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 068
(maintenance of rule prohibiting Ees from engaging in any nonjob related activities during working hours, not unlawful, where E rebutted presumption of invalidity of no-solicitation rule arising by virtue of reference to working hours by presenting uncontradicted evidence that rule was not strictly enforced and that it was E's practice to explain to new Ees that breaks were their own time to do what they wanted during breaks and lunch periods; and there was no evidence rule was applied to restrict solicitation to times other than when Ees were working)

Schnadig Corporation 265 NLRB No. 020
(maintenance of rule which prohibited solicitation of any kind during working hours or collecting contributions for any purpose on company premises or company time w/o specific prior approval of general manager, unlawful, since overly broad where E did not clairfy that prohibition did not apply to lunch and break times, notwithstanding E only enforced rule with regard to actual working time, inasmuch as mere existence of overly broad rule interferes with Ees' Section 7 rights and E was carrying on anti-U campaign during work time)

De Queen General Hospital 264 NLRB No. 069
(rule prohibiting Ees from engaging in any type of activity other than assigned duties, violative)

Daniel Construction Company, A Division of Daniel International Corporation 264 NLRB No. 079
(rules prohibiting solicitation during work time or working time, w/o further clarification, are, like rules prohibiting such activity during working hours, presumptively invalid)

Kirkhill Rubber Company 263 NLRB No. 113
(issuing written reprimand to Ee for solicitation for U purposes on company time and property, violative)

Foley-Wismer & Becker, A Joint Venture 263 NLRB No. 107
(orally promulgated rule which was never reduced to writing was unlawfully ambiguous and broad where Ees differed as to whether it prohibited discussing U during working time, working hours, or in work situations)

Documation, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 052
(although E's rule prohibited solicitation and distribution during working time only, E applied rule in overly-broad, unlawful manner where it prohibited solicitation during breaktime and after work)

Tressler Lutheran Home for Children t/a Frostburg Village of Allegany County Nursing Home 263 NLRB No. 042
(nursing home administrator's complaining to Ees, inter alia, of U stickers and literature being posted all over home and stating that he did not want U discussed in building or on company time, violative)

Intermedics, Inc., et al. 262 NLRB No. 178
(no-solicitation/no-distribution rule conceded by E to be invalid and rule prohibiting solicitation on working time, contained in Ee handbook, violative since working time rule was inconsistent with invalid rule, and thus created ambiguity which reasonably tended to inhibit permissible solicitations by Ees who would be uncertain which rule would be enforced)

Sahara-Reno Corporation, d/b/a Sahara Reno 262 NLRB No. 095
(rule prohibiting solicitation in any working area for any purpose on company time, unlawful where E showed no special justification for rule)

U. S. Electrical Motors, A Division of Emerson Electric Co. 261 NLRB No. 184
(allegation that invalid oral no-solicitation rule was promulgated when supervisor told Ee that he hoped Ee would not be doing anything involving U on company time, dismissed, notwithstanding supervisor's use of ambiguous term, company time, since rule as posted was valid and any ambiguity in oral rule was clarified w/i relatively short time by supervisor's superior telling Ee that he could not solicit on company time but that his break periods were his own time to do as he pleased.)

Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization 261 NLRB No. 132
(rule prohibiting circulation of U materials during working hours was overly broad where E had no policy with respect to distribution of anything, including literature, and Ees sold raffle tickets, football pools and Tupperware)

Midwest Electric Manufacturing Corporation 260 NLRB No. 032
(posted rule prohibiting solicitation in working areas during working hours and orally communicated to Ees held presumptively invalid and unlawful, since Ee failed to rebut presumption; moreover, rule was also overly broad and thus presumptively unlawful under Bd's previously applicable law)

United Technologies Corporation 260 NLRB No. 008
(E's maintenance and enforcement of rule prohibiting Ee solicitation during all paid nonworking time, unlawful, since it is facially invalid inasmuch as it prohibits U solicitation during working hours, and E admitted rule applies to authorized break periods for which Ees are paid; moreover, in view of SCt's decision in Magnavox, ban on solicitation was not rendered lawful by U contract provision waiving Ees' right to engage in solicitation)

Presbyterian/St. Luke's Medical Center 258 NLRB No. 021
(hospital maintaining and enforcing rule prohibiting solicitation during duty time, not unlawful since reference to on-duty time was neither overbroad nor fatally ambiguous; however, rule's admonition that E not tolerate activity disruptive of the atmosphere of patient care, violative as ambiguous, overbroad and invalid where such rule had chilling effect on Ees' exercise of Sec. 7 rights)

McKesson Drug Company 257 NLRB No. 084
(threatening Ee with discharge for soliciting Ee signatures on representation ptn during company time, violative as rule is overly broad)

T.R.W. Bearings Division, A Division of T.R.W., Inc. 257 NLRB No. 047
(rule prohibiting solicitation or distribution of literature during working hours, unlawful, where presumptive invalidity of rule was not rebutted by E's publications of presumptively valid rule prohibiting solicitation during working time; no meaningful distinction exists between working hours and working time, since both terms are ambiguous, and risk of ambiguity must be borne by rule promulgator; hence, rules prohibiting solicitation during work time or working time, are, like rules prohibiting such activity during working hours presumptively invalid (Essex Internat'l, overruled))

Borun Brothers, Inc., A Wholly Owned Subsidiary of Thrifty Corporation 257 NLRB No. 003
(maintaining rule that prohibited distribution or solicitation of any kind on company time, and reprimanding and threatening discipline for infractions, unlawful; rule, as written, and as interpreted by E as applying to working hours, was presumptively overbroad and ambiguous showing no intent to not cover break time, etc., was not justified by disciplinary or production needs, and was discriminatorily applied to protected activity during U organization campaign)

Limestone Apparel Corp. 255 NLRB No. 101
(prohibiting soliciting on our company time is violative because term is ambiguous as such term is susceptible to interpretation that solicitation and U activities would be prohibited during all paid time including nonworking time such as breaks and lunch periods)

Clinton Corn Processing Company, A Division of Standard Brands Inc. 253 NLRB No. 084
(E's promulgation of no-solicitation rule which prohibited solicitation during working hours rather than working time w/o clearly communicating to Ees its intent to permit solicitation during break times, unlawful)

Clinton Corn Processing Company, A Division of Standard Brands Inc. 253 NLRB No. 084
(rule which refers to working hours rather than to working time is overly broad and presumptively invalid)

Omark-RCBS, A Division of Omark Industries 253 NLRB No. 069
(both Ees' handbook and E's application of its no solicitation rule which prevented Ees from soliciting on behalf of U during working hours, violative)

Sani-Serv, Division of Catalox Corporation 252 NLRB No. 186
(rule prohibiting solicitation during regularly scheduled working time held violative; modifying phrase regularly scheduled exacerbates the ambiguity of working time)

Gibbs Die Casting Aluminum Corporation JD-267-82

Ryland Building Systems, A Division of The Ryland Group, Inc. JD-232-82
(promulgating and maintaining rules prohibiting solicitation and distribution activities on company time and during working hours, violative where presumption of invalidity of rules stood unrebutted in absence of evidence that affected Ees were advised that rules would not apply during breaktime and other nonwork periods)

Red Roof Inns III Co., Inc. JD-142-82
(no solicitation rule and its alleged modification unlawful, where they failed to indicate clearly to Ees that they may engage in protected activity during periods of workday when they are properly not engaged in performing their work tasks; rule, accompanied by written threat of warning or discharge for violations of rule, constituted kind of proscription which tends to have chilling effect on exercise of Sec. 7 rights, regardless of whether E had occasion to invoke or enforce rule)

Eckerd Drugs of Florida, Inc. JD-70-82
(maintaining and enforcing no-solicitation rule which prohibited solicitation during working time, violative)

Franklin Art Glass Studios, Inc. JD-93-82
(no-solicitation rule prohibiting solicitation during working time violative; E did not clearly indicate to Ees that they may engage in protected activities during periods of work day when they are not properly engaged in performing their tasks, e.g., during mealtime or breaktimes)

Formaloy Corp. JD-(ATL)-87-81
(E's rule prohibiting solicitation w/o management permission and distributing written or printed matter on company premises during regular working hours held violative, since rule was overbroad allowing for no exceptions during nonwork time on E's premises; E demonstrated no business justification for imposition of such rules)

Boniface Group Homes, Inc. JD-162-81
(no-solicitation rule held invalid where it was not confined to working time, and permitted solicitation only with permission of management)

American Safety Equipment Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 643 F.2d 693 (C.A. 10, Mar. 1981)

(Bd decision setting aside election set aside where basis for decision was two rules in Ee handbook prohibiting solicitation and distribution during working hours; E rebutted presumed interference with Ee rights as it produced evidence showing: 1) Ees were told lunch time and break time were their own; 2) Ees were aware rules only applied to working time; 3) Ees openly engaged in U activity during non working time and were not disciplined and 4) rules consistently properly applied by E)

5012-1737-6000 Working time of employees solicited

Model A and Model T Motor Car Reproduction Corporation 259 NLRB No. 077

(maintenance of broad no-solicitation rule, violative, where, notwithstanding fact that E rescinded rule and promulgated new rule prohibiting solicitation during working time, U organizing campaign had existed several months prior to recision of old rule, E never explicitly repudiated invalid rule, and there was no evidence that Ees were aware that invalid rule had been changed)

General Thermodynamics, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 021

(posting of facially overly broad no solicitation-no distribution rules prohibiting solicitation on company time and distribution on company premises w/o permission of management, unlawful, notwithstanding rule never implemented and was removed prior to its effective date where Ees never informed of E's decision not to implement rules)

Blue Bird Body Company 251 NLRB No. 196

(E's condoning Ee committee's circulating anti-U ptn on Ees' working time while informing U adherents that they had no right to engage in solicitation on Ees' working time, violative, since Ee applied its no solicitation policy in discriminatory manner)

Magnesium Casting Company, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 107

(forbidding all solicitation and distribution during Ee's working time held overly broad and invalid, since rule could be interpreted by Ees as forbidding solicitation or distribution by any Ee while any Ee was working and, in view of E's around-the-clock operation, rule could be construed as forbidding solicitation of all Ees and distribution of all U literature during any Ees working time and in non-working areas)

Pilgrim Life Insurance Company 249 NLRB No. 140

(discharge for allegedly soliciting signing of U cards on company time, unlawful, where E had no written rules forbidding or restricting solicitations on company premises, there was no interference with production, E allowed solicitation for other purposes, and particularly absent proof solicitation took place on work time as distinguished from company time)

MGM Grand-Reno, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 153

(maintenance of overly broad invalid no-solicitation rule and valid no-solicitation rule for about one month after inception of U campaign held violative where maintenance of both rules created ambiguity, since rules could be read together to give impression that all solicitation and distribution was prohibited at all times on company property)

Conagra, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 085

(supervisor informing Ee If you are looking for higher wages you will have to look somewhere else. We won't have you talking U on job unlawful, since could reasonably be interpreted as prohibition against soliciting at all times including nonworking time and no evidence restriction was justified by need to maintain discipline and production)

Permanent Label Corporation 248 NLRB No. 021

(E's statement that no solicitation rule covered company time violative where it expressly covered break time or lunch time)

John Rooney, David Hinman and Beverly Foster, d/b/a Rooney's At The Mart 247 NLRB No. 135

(E's owner instructing Ee who was soliciting in customer area of restaurant not to solicit on any time where Ee was on own time but Ee she was soliciting was on work time, unlawful, since prohibition could reasonably have been construed to apply even during breaks for which Ees paid and prohibition not limited to customer areas)

Tarhen Marine Company 247 NLRB No. 073

(supervisor informing Ee who had solicited another Ee to sign U card during break time that he should take care of this after work and when Ee attempted to assert his right to solicit during break time replying company pays you for breaks, violative)

Sprout Nursing Home JD-(ATL)-95-82

(nursing home maintaining rule which stated no one is permitted to approach Ees or residents with view towards canvassing, soliciting or selling articles of any kind, unlawful, since not limited to working time of Ees, notwithstanding E's contention rule was directed at sale of articles by outside salesmen, since rule's language not limited to sale of articles by outside salesmen; nor was violation fully remedied by recission of rule and replacement with modified rule which limited prohibition to solicitation on working time in view of confusion generated by rule among Ees)

Vanity Fair Mills, Inc. JD-(ATL)-35-82

(E's promulgating rule which stated any solicitation of Ees or distribution of materials to Ees by non-Ees in plant or on company property is prohibited. Solicitation in plant or on company property by Ees on their working time is prohibited. Distribution of materials in plant or on company property by Ee on working time or in work area is prohibited unlawful, in view of earlier Bd decision which held use of working hours or working time w/o further clarification, ambiguous and rule presumptively invalid and E did not overcome presumption)

Vanity Fair Mills, Inc. JD-(ATL)-35-82

(E's manager informing chairman of U's grievance committee and representative of U of E's neutrality in election campaign and instructing them not to solicit votes on company time during working hours, not unlawful, where manager added what they did on break or lunch time was their own business)

Eckerd Drugs of Florida, Inc. JD-70-82

(telling Ee she was not allowed to sign U card on company time or premises, violative)

Transitank Car Corporation JD-(ATL)-8-82

(prohibiting handing out of U stickers found unlawful porhibition of solicitation where not limited to nonworking areas and times)

Pioneer Finishing Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 667 F.2d 199 (C.A. 1, Nov. 1981)

(Ee who distributed protected leaflets to Ees who were working engaged in protected activity for where distribution during working time is not specifically prohibited, distribution is protected as long as it doesn't interfere with production)

N.L.R.B. v. John Rooney, David Hinman and Beverly Foster, d/b/a Rooney's At The Mart 677 F.2d 44 (C.A. 9, Feb. 1982)

(E who issued written reprimand to U adherent for soliciting other Ees while they were on duty did not violate Act as admonition applied to solicitation during periods when she or other Ees were actually on duty; fact that warning issued at outset of U organizational campaign addressed to prime U adherent, not controlling where evidence showed solicitation created disturbance and it was first time occurence, and Bd has held that promulgation of rule to U adherent although not ideal is not ULP)

5012-1737-6700 Nonworking areas

Ameron Automotive Centers, A Division of The Kelly-Springfield Tire Co.; F. W. Woolworth Company d/b/a Woolco Division, Joint Employers 265 NLRB No. 058

(NO SOLICITING sign constituted unlawfully broad written no-solicitation rule applicable to Ees, since it prohibited solicitation at all times in all areas even non-customer trafficked areas during non-working time when store was closed to customers)

Harper-Grace Hospitals, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 089

(maintenance and enforcement of overly broad rule prhibiting Ees from soliciting or distributing literature on nonwork time in nonwork areas, unlawful where no direct effect on patient care or patients was shown; contention that by acceding to contract allowing use of U bulletin board U waived Ees' right to solicit or distribute on hospital premises, rejected since E and U could not lawfully prohibit Ees from distributing anti-U literature at hospital entrance)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 263 NLRB No. 015

(informing Ee who was soliciting Ee to sign U card in break area that it was against company policy to sign up Ees for U on plant property and then escorting Ee to office while informing him incident would be written up for his file, unlawful)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 263 NLRB No. 015

(informing Ee he could not solicit Ees to sign U cards on official company time, except before and after shift break, in cafeteria during lunch period, in halls and passageways, in restrooms or official break areas such as coke zone or rap shack, unlawful, since rule ambiguous inasmuch as could lead Ees to think they could not solicit except in particular areas named and use of words official company time could lead Ees to think solicitation prohibited any time during shift)

R. L. White Company, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 049

(threatening Ee with discipline if he was caught soliciting in Ee parking lot on his lunch hour violative)

Williams Litho Service, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 101

(telling Ees that there would be no more gathering in small groups talking about U business and no passing out U literature on company time and/or property with threat of discharge for violation thereof, violative, where such oral no solicitation/distribution rule was overly broad and thus unlawful)

St. Mary's Home, Inc. t/a St. Mary's Infant Home 258 NLRB No. 134

(promulgating and maintaining no-solicitation rule barring U solicitation in non-patient care areas on Ees' own time, unlawful)

Harrison Steel Castings Company 262 NLRB No. 059

(rule restricting access of non-duty Ees valid only if (1) limits access solely with respect to interior of plant and other working areas; (2) is clearly disseminated to all Ees; and (3) applies to off duty Ees seeking access to plant for any reason and not just to those Ees engaging in U activity. Finally except where justified by business reasons, rule which denies off duty Ees entry to parking lots, gates, and other outside non-working areas will be found invalid)

Lummus Industries, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 079

(rule prohibiting selling, soliciting or collecting contributions for any purpose unless authorized by Personnel Department violative as too broad because it covered nonworking time and areas; furthermore it would barr required Ee to obtain permission of E before engaging in protected concerted activities)

Clark Manor Nursing Home Corp. 254 NLRB No. 054

(nursing home's rule stating in part that no solicitation of any type will be allowed on premises held invalid, as it ostensibly extends to non-patient care portions of institution)

Maywood, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 139

(barring off-duty Ees from plant premises, violative, where such Ees were in effect seeking access to cafeteria, a non-work area, for purpose of soliciting for U, and had no intention of wandering about the plant as E-contended, and there was no rule limiting access to plant or rule which met standards defined in Tri-County Medical Center, Inc., 222 NLRB 1089)

Certain-Teed Insulation Company 251 NLRB No. 208

(promulgation of overly broad no solicitation/no distribution rule, violative, absent evidence of business necessity for such rule)

Baylor University Medical Center 247 NLRB No. 178

(on remand from Supreme Court for reconsideration in light of its Beth Israel Hospital decision, Bd affirmed prior decision that hospital's rule against solicitation and distribution in its cafeteria violated 8(a)(1) in view of cafeteria's appropriateness for U solicitation due to impracticality of reaching Ees elsewhere and E's failing to show that total prohibition of U solicitation in cafeteria was necessary or that U solicitation destroyed tranquil atmosphere necessary for patient care or was more upsetting than other conversation)

Baylor University Medical Center 247 NLRB No. 178

(on remand from Supreme Court for reconsideration in light of its Beth Israel Hospital decision, Bd affirmed prior decision that hospital's rule against U solicitation and distribution in vending machine areas violated 8(a)(1), since patients' occasional use of vending machines fell far short of establishing area as one of immediate patient care)

Besco Merchandising Corp. JD-(SF)-238-82

(rule prohibiting Ees from talking with union organizers on company premises and organizing . . . at work unlawfully broad)

Transitank Car Corporation JD-(ATL)-8-82

(prohibiting handing out of U stickers found unlawful porhibition of solicitation where not limited to nonworking areas and times)

Hayes International Corporation JD-(ATL)-29-81

(maintenance of rule prohibiting solicitation outside Ees' own departmental area at any time w/o specific written authorization unlawful, since it prohibited Ees from soliciting fellow Ee participation in U activities during nonworking time)

Eastern Maine Medical Center v. N.L.R.B. 658 F.2d 1 (C.A. 1, 1981)

(hospital's no-solicitation rule invalid where it permitted solicitation only during breaks but no other nonworking time, and only in break areas, not even areas of hospital not involved with patient care and E showed no justification by need to prevent either disruption of patient care or disturbance of patients)

Baylor University Medical Center v. N.L.R.B. 662 F.2d 56 (C.A.D.C., Aug. 1981)

(ct rejected Bd's ruling that vending areas were not immediate patient care areas and remanded case to Bd with instruction to consider whether evidence submitted by E is sufficient to overcome St. John's presumption; as it now stands in record-showing location of vending areas as off corridors and indicating they are regularly used by patients and their visitors--suggests that ban during daytime hours would probably be permissible)

Baylor University Medical Center v. N.L.R.B. 662 F.2d 56 (C.A.D.C., Aug. 1981)

(record did not support Bd's total invalidation of E's solicitation ban in its cafeteria and vending areas; ct's disapproval of Bd's method of dealing with evidence that (1) approximately 40% of cafeteria's patrons were non-Ees, and (2) exterior grounds of hospital complex are convenient place for solicitation and are widely used by Ees, required remand to Bd)

5012-1737-7300 Public Areas

Harrison Steel Castings Company 262 NLRB No. 059

(rule restricting access of non-duty Ees valid only if (1) limits access solely with respect to interior of plant and other working areas; (2) is clearly disseminated to all Ees; and (3) applies to off duty Ees seeking access to plant for any reason and not just to those Ees engaging in U activity. Finally except where justified by business reasons, rule which denies off duty Ees entry to parking lots, gates, and other outside non-working areas will be found invalid)

Montgomery Ward & Company, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 134

(discriminatorily maintaining and enforcing rule against solicitation by non-Ees in public cafeteria in E's store, violative, where purpose of rule was to discriminate against solicitation of non-cafeteria Ees by U organizers; solicitation was part of orderly, discreet conversation by appointment with willing Ee patrons over tables where they were eating during their unpaid lunch periods)

Eastern Maine Medical Center 253 NLRB No. 024

(E's interference with off-duty Ees engaged in solicitation in hospital's waiting-room lobby used primarily by general public, unlawful, notwithstanding E's contention that anxious members of patient's family using lobby deserve greater protection than general public; SCt's concern for patient welfare does not compel conclusion that similar protection from solicitation be afforded members of public who are not themselves patients; and, in view of delivery of health care services at hospital as that may involve lobby, solicitation therein will not adversely affect patient care or disturb patients)

John Rooney, David Hinman and Beverly Foster, d/b/a Rooney's At The Mart 247 NLRB No. 125

(E's owner instructing Ee who was soliciting in customer area of restaurant not to solicit on my time where Ee was on own time but Ee she was soliciting was on work time, unlawful, since prohibition could reasonably have been construed to apply even during breaks for which Ees paid and prohibition not limited to customer areas)

Eastern Maine Medical Center v. N.L.R.B. 658 F.2d 1 (C.A. 1, 1981)

(expulsion of off-duty nurses for violation of rule against soliciting in second floor lobby of hospital, which was not patient care area, unlawful where hospital failed to justify its ban on soliciting there as necessary to avoid disruption of health-care operations or disturbance of patients)

Montgomery Ward & Company, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 692 F.2d 1115 (C.A. 7, Nov. 1982)

(substantial evidence supported Bd's finding that E discriminatorily enforced no-solicitation rule to bar access to non-Ee U organizers where E interfered with private conversation in restaurant open to public between off-duty Ees and organizers because organizers were soliciting U membership; E had never approached any other group in restaurant to enforce rule, had posted rule only several days after incident even though rule ostensibly had been in effect for several years, had tolerated other types of solicitation and expelled organizers from private sidewalk outside E's facility although permitted by rule)

Montgomery Ward & Company, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 692 F.2d 1115 (C.A. 7, Nov. 1982)

(substantial evidence supported Bd's finding that no-solicitation rule was invalid as applied to off-duty Ees meeting non-Ee organizers in restaurant open to public, albeit on E's premises, when restaurant was being used nondisruptively and in manner consistent with its normal use; Bd's contention that Babcock & Wilcox does not apply where access to E's premises is open to public and E's argument that Bd may not undertake to balance interests unless there is preliminary findings of inaccessibility to U rejected)

N.L.R.B. v. Silver Spur Casino 623 F.2d 571 (C.A. 9, 1980)

(Bd's orders that Es must c/d from maintaining any rule or regulation prohibiting its Ees from soliciting on its premises after their shifts have been completed unless such prohibition is demonstrably necessary to maintain production, discipline or security overly broad; since Es could prohibit Ees from soliciting during nonworking hours in public areas of their premises, Bd's order modified to read that Es must c/d from maintaining any rule or regulation prohibiting its Ees from soliciting on its premises during nonworking hours in nonpublic areas of its premises)

5012-1750 Rest periods not working time

Documation, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 082

(although E's rule prohibited solicitation and distribution during working time only, E applied rule in overly-broad, unlawful manner where it prohibited solicitation during breaktime and after work)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 263 NLRB No. 018

(informing Ee he could not solicit Ees to sign U cards on official company time, except before and after shift break, in cafeteria during lunch period, in halls and passageways, in restrooms or official break areas such as coke zone or rap shack, unlawful, since rule ambiguous inasmuch as could lead Ees to think they could not solicit except in particular areas named and use of words official company time could lead Ees to think solicitation prohibited any time during shift)

Huntington Rubber Company, Division of New Idr[illegible] 260 NLRB No. 120

(E's [illegible]tion of rule which prohibited all discussion of U in E's restroom violative of Sec. 8(a)(1) and issuing warning to Ee who violated rule also violative)

T.R.W. Bearings Division, A Division of T.R.W., Inc. 257 NLRB No. 047
(Bd sees no inherent meaningful distinction between terms working hours and working time when used in no-solicitation rule; both terms are, w/o further clarification, ambiguous, and risk of such ambiguity must be borne by promulgator of rule; to avoid misinterpretation E need only incorporate in rule itself a clear statement that rule's restriction on organizational activity does not apply during break periods and mealtimes, or other specified periods during workday when Ees are properly not engaged in performing their work tasks (Essex International, overruled))

Clinton Corn Processing Company, A Division of Standard Brands Inc. 253 NLRB No. 084
(E's promulgation of no-solicitation rule which prohibited solicitation during working hours rather than working time w/o clearly communicating to Ees its intent to permit solicitation during break times, unlawful)

P. A. Incorporated 248 NLRB No. 077
(rule prohibiting solicitation during break time, unlawful)

National Vendors, a Division of UMC Industries, Inc. 630 F.2d 1265 (C.A. 8, 1980)
(E's banning chief steward, who was also member of contract negotiating committee, from holding anymore meetings in company cafeteria, not violative, where E's prohibition was directed solely to chief steward's practice of holding structured, semi-formal, large group meetings during short breaks at cafeteria that is open to all Ees, including supervisory and non-unit personnel; such meetings were disruptive)

5012-1775 Valid where necessary interest of safety and efficiency

Clark Manor Nursing Home Corp. 254 NLRB No. 054
(nursing home's maintaining and enforcing rule which prohibited solicitation by off-duty Ees on outside, non-working areas of its premises, unlawful where not justified by business reasons)

Hinky Dinky Super Markets, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 169
(notice posted near Ee timeclock by E, prior to election, stating that I will not stand for this second party, (U), to be mentioned or talked about w/i the store held violative where there was no showing that this prohibition against U talk was warranted by valid business considerations)

D & D Supermarket, Inc. JD-292-82
(facially valid no-solicitation, no-distribution rule posted w/i week after R ptn filed by U but two months after legitimate business reason for rule occurred held violative, since rule was not promulgated in furtherance of an E's legitimate interest of serving production, order, and discipline, but specifically for the purpose of defeating U organization)

Talbot - General Wire Products JD-(SF)-364-80
(no violation by republication of rule prohibiting solicitation in work areas during work time, since it was not motivated by intent to interfere with Ees' organizing activity but rather by justified concern for maintaining safety and avoiding disruption at the facility)

N.L.R.B. v. Clark Manor Nursing Home Corp. 671 F.2d 657 (C.A. 1, Feb. 1982)
(no loitering rule which prohibited excessive conversation between Ees of different shifts, violative; E's contentions that it feared parking lot congestion and wished to avoid Ees being accused of theft or vandalism, rejected)

5012-2000 Discriminatory promulgation of rule

Woodview Rehabilitation Center 268 NLRB No. 122
(promulgation and dissemination of rules limiting access to facility, solicitation and distribution of materials at facility by Ees, violative, where rules, even if lawful on their face, were invalid since they were promulgated in response to Ees engaging in U activities)

Hammary Manufacturing Corporation, A Division of U.S. Industries, Inc. 268 NLRB No. 007
(original decision amended by striking language that no-solicitation rule was invalid to extent it sets out annual campaign for United Way as 'sole exception' to rule's restriction on solicitation; and that such exception does nothing less than sanction rule's disparate application and is therefore unlawful; E does not violate 8(a)(1) by permitting small number of beneficent acts as exception to rule, and, rather than finding exception for charities per se violative, Bd has evaluated incidents involved to determine whether unlawful discrimination occurred)

Hammary Manufacturing Corporation, A Division of U.S. Industries, Inc. 268 NLRB No. 007
(Bd held E applied no-solicitation rule in unlawful manner where it permitted Ees during working time to sell numerous products, conduct raffle, and collect for flower fund, and itself sponsored annual United Way campaign, but prohibited Ees from engaging in U activities and discharged Ee for U solicitation; determination herein is not based on exception to rule's restriction with regard to annual United Way campaign, but rather on fact that E treated U activity in discriminatory manner)

Saint Vincent's Hospital 265 NLRB No. 006
(E who clarified its lawful no-solicitation rule by giving specific instructions on its enforcement to its supervisors, violated Act where purpose of clarification was to provide E with basis for subsequent enforcement of rules against Ees who engaged in U solicitation)

Village IX, Inc. d/b/a Shenanigans 264 NLRB No. 122
(no-distribution rule which prohibited distribution of literature of any type which was promulgated in midst of U campaign and was first announced to leading U adherent violative where purpose was to curb Ee exercise of Sec. 7 rights rather than accomplish legitimate objective)

Interstate Security Services, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 002
(rule which prohibited Ees from discussing U matters while they were on duty violative as overbroad where Ees were considered to be on duty from time they clock in until they clock out, there are no breaks or rest periods, they eat lunch while working, and E has no objection to their discusing social matters while they worked as long as it didn't interfere with their work)

Technicolor Graphic Services, Inc., South Dakota Operations 262 NLRB No. 153
(maintaining, interpreting, and enforcing work rule so as to preclude Ees from exercising their rights to protest working conditions w/o first exhausting intracompany channels, violative)

U. S. Electrical Motors, A Division of Emerson Electric Co. 261 NLRB No. 184
(allegation that invalid oral no-solicitation rule was promulgated when supervisor told Ee that he hoped Ee would not be doing anything involving U on company time, dismissed, notwithstanding supervisor's use of ambiguous term, company time, since rule as posted was valid and any ambiguity in oral rule was clarified w/i relatively short time by supervisor's superior telling Ee that he could not solicit on company time but that his break periods were his own time to do as he pleased.)

Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization 261 NLRB No. 132
(violation where rule was promulgated during organization period and was designed to interfere with Ees' rights of self-organization)

Cadiz Convalescent Centers 258 NLRB No. 077
(E did not violate Act when it replaced facially unlawful no solicitation rule with presumptively lawful rule notwithstanding this occurred at time of U's organizational campaign)

Hammary Manufacturing Corporation, A Division of U.S. Industries, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 182
(no-solicitation rule unlawful to extent it sets out the annual campaign for the United Way as the sole exception to the rule's restrictions on solicitation)

St. Mary's Home, Inc. t/a St. Mary's Infant Home 258 NLRB No. 134
(promulgating and maintaining no-solicitation rule barring U solicitation in non-patient care areas on Ees' own time, unlawful)

Palomar Transport, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 177
(promulgation of rules requiring approval of postings on bulletin board in context of organizational campaign, violative)

Price's Pic-Pac Supermarkets, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 123
(proscription of any talk by Ee about U unless he talked to E about it, unlawful in absence of valid solicitation rule)

Gulf Envelope Company 256 NLRB No. 058
(E's promulgating rule which stated Ees shall not gather in plant premises or conduct any personal business during working hours except by permission of management, unlawful; notwithstanding rule did not facially impair rights of Ees to engage in protected activities or explicitly mention U activities since rule broad enough to give some pause to prudent Ees wishing to engage in U activities; E never gave any explanation of rule which removed coercion; and violation of rule formed basis for unlawful discharge)

Southern Moldings, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 115
(telling Ees that solicitation and distribution of any kind are prohibited on E's property and time, violative where rule was announced to select U activists, timing of announcement was immediately after first U distribution, announcement was made by E's third-in-command and part-owner in individual interviews with Ees and incidents were noted in E's warning log)

Ashley Warp Knitting, Inc. d/b/a Jefferson Apparel Company 248 NLRB No. 084
(promulgating rule prohibiting U activities on working time while permitting other types of solicitations or activities on working time, unlawful)

Hammond Plastic, Division of Carl Gordon Industries, Inc. JD-883-81
(instructing Ee not to discuss U during working time, unlawful where E permitted Ees to engage in non-work related discussions during work time)

N.L.R.B. v. Clark Manor Nursing Home Corp. 671 F.2d 657 (C.A. 1, Feb. 1982)
(promulgation of no solicitation rule proscribing such activity only in patient care or patient access areas, violative, in view of timing of new rule, history of its application against only known U supporters, and E's encouragement of anti-U activities by Ees in disregard of rule)

Bandag, Incorporated v. N.L.R.B. 583 F.2d 765 (C.A. 5)
(E's new rule proscribing distribution and solicitation during working time in plant w/o prior approval of plant manager held lawful despite replacing unlawful overbroad no-distribution rule in Ee handbook, since no one paid much attention to old rule and there was no evidence either old or new rule had been selectively applied or enforced; non-U solicitation had been approved but U had never asked permission to solicit)

N.L.R.B. v. Naum Brothers, Inc. 637 F.2d 589 (C.A. 6, Mar 17, 1981)
(no-solicitation rule unlawfully prohibited solicitation on behalf of U, notwithstanding E's contention that everyone understood rule was aimed only at non-Ee solicitation, where signs prohibiting solicitation were posted after filing of ptn and removed after election, on at least one occasion prohibition was repeated in presence of an Ee, and there was no evidence suggesting limitation on applicability of rule)

Atlas Metal Parts Co., Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 660 F.2d 304 (C.A. 7, Sep. 1981)
(E's telling Ee to stop talking about U business on company time held promulgation of discriminatory rule and unlawful)

5012-3300 Limitation of prohibition to union activities

Clark Manor Nursing Home Corp. 254 NLRB No. 054
(nursing home's imposition of new no-solicitation rule, applicable only to U solicitation at onset of U organization campaign and amidst abundance of evidence showing hostility by E's officials toward U, unlawful where prior no-solicitation rule was not enforced)

5012-3317 Nonunion solicitation and distribution permitted

Ameron Automotive Centers, A Division of The Kelly-Springfield Tire Co.; F. W. Woolworth Company d/b/a Woolco Division, Joint Employers 265 NLRB No. 058
(enforcement of ban on nonEe solicitation by prohibiting U but allowing other organizations and vendors to solicit Ees, unlawful)

Schnadig Corporation 265 NLRB No. 020
(violation, where supervisor instructed Ee to cease distributing U literature outside time clock door entrance and move at least 18 feet from plant, and did not retract order when informed his action was violation of federal law particularly where at time E was passing out anti-U literature in working area on working time)

Hammary Manufacturing Corporation, A Division of U.S. Industries, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 007
(original decision amended by striking language that no-solicitation rule was invalid to extent it sets out annual campaign for United Way as 'sole exception' to rule's restriction on solicitation; and that such exception does nothing less than sanction rule's disparate application and is therefore unlawful; E does not violate 8(a)(1) by permitting small number of beneficent acts as exception to rule, and, rather than finding exception for charities per se violative, Bd has evaluated incidents involved to determine whether unlawful discrimination occurred)

Hammary Manufacturing Corporation, A Division of U.S. Industries, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 007
(Bd held E applied no-solicitation rule in unlawful manner where it permitted Ees during working time to sell numerous products, conduct raffle, and collect for flower fund, and itself sponsored annual United Way campaign, but prohibited Ees from engaging in U activities and dishcarged Ee for U solicitation; determination herein is not based on exception to rule's restriction with regard to annual United Way campaign, but rather on fact that E treated U activity in discriminatory manner)

Saint Vincent's Hospital 265 NLRB No. 006
(enforcement of lawful no-solicitation rule in disparate manner violative; Ees were permitted to distribute wedding and shower invitations, solicit for flower funds, sell raffle tickets, candy, and solicit for United Appeal but not permitted to solicit on behalf of U)

Laird Printing, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 040
(violation, where one week before election E directed Ees not to talk about U on company time, although E allowed Ees to discuss other matters on company time)

Foley-Wismer & Becker, A Joint Venture 263 NLRB No. 107
(violation, where discussion of U was prohibited at times when workbench conversations, baby pools and sporting events pools were permitted)

Documation, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 052
(unlawful disparate enforcement of no solicitation/distribution rule where conversations in which one Ee solicited another Ee to sign U card resulted in discharge of soliciting Ee whereas other Ees were not even reprimanded for soliciting sales of tools and Tupperware)

Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization 261 NLRB No. 132
(rule prohibiting circulation of U materials during working hours was overly broad where E had no policy with respect to distribution of anything, including literature, and Ees sold raffle tickets, football pools and Tupperware)

Gould, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 002
(posted rule that prohibited any type of solicitation w/i the physical location of plant, or on company time... restrictions prohibit sale of raffle tickets, chances, athletic pools, or any type of personal business transaction not authorized by management, held violative as ambiguous and was therefore construed against E. E was more lax in enforcing rule against personal non-U solicitation than in its enforcement relating to U solicitation)

Hammary Manufacturing Corporation, A Division of U.S. Industries, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 182
(disparate enforcement of no-solicitation rule by permitting non-U but not U solicitation, unlawful)

Central Solano County Hospital Foundation, Inc., d/b/a Intercommunity Hospital 255 NLRB No. 045
(solicitation for benefit of hospital or for charity is recognized and permissable exemption from valid no-solicitation rule and does not constitute disparate application of rule barring outside solicitation and distribution by non-Ee organizers; such solicitation and distribution no ground for setting aside elections in units of hospital Ees)

Wometco Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Nashville, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 069
(maintaining rule forbidding solicitation for U during working time or while on the clock while permitting solicitation for other purposes, unlawful)

Friendly Ice Creame Corporation 254 NLRB No. 172
(E's issuing written warning to Ee who was soliciting signing of U authorization card on work time in violation of valid no-solicitation rule, unlawful, in view of E's selected enforcement of dormant rule and U animus where Ees had been allowed to talk among themselves during work time and warning was only disciplinary action ever taken regarding rule, E was not given opportunity to defend herself and solicitation for other purposes had been allowed)

Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc. 253 NLRB No. 023
(supervisor's statement to Ee not to talk about U during working hours, unlawful, where prohibition limited to U activity, and anti-U and non-U activities and solicitation were being carried on during working hours)

Pilgrim Life Insurance Company 249 NLRB No. 140
(discharge for allegedly soliciting signing of U cards on company time, unlawful, where E had no written rules forbidding or restricting solicitations on company premises, there was no interference with production, E allowed solicitation for other purposes, and particularly absent proof solicitation took place on work time as distinguished from company time)

Vanity Fair Mills, Inc. JD-(ATL)-35-82
(unlawful disparate enforcement of rule where E had knowledge of frequent solicitation for gifts to Ees on various occasions and sales of products by Ees during working time)

Datacomp Corporation, A Division of Herbick and Held Printing Company JD-594-80
(enforcement of no-solicitation rule as applied to distribution of U literature and authorization cards during work hours and in work areas, unlawful, where during same time period and with knowledge and participation of supervisors, solicitation for lotteries and charities during work hours and in work areas was permitted)

Belcher Towing Company v. N.L.R.B. 614 F.2d 88 (C.A. 5, Mar. 1980)
(Bd erred in holding that E's prohibiting access of U agents to its boat was discriminatory where E allowed other individuals access since no solicitation for no-U purposes or causes was allowed)

The Timken Company v. N.L.R.B. 644 F.2d 886(T) (C.A. 6, Jan 8, 1981)
(substantial evidence did not support Bd's finding that E unlawfully applied rule concerning solicitation and distribution against U activity and not against other distributions)

Midwest Stock Exchange, Inc., et al. v. N.L.R.B. 636 F.2d 1255 (C.A. 7, 1980)
(ct held that E's rule expressly prohibiting solicitation of any kind, although not discriminatory on its face, was unlawful where strictly enforced in regard to U activities but not where non-U, nonwork activities were concerned; furthermore, E's unequal enforcement of no solicitation rule invalidated such rule and enforcement of rule constituted separate and additional violation)

American Cast Iron Pipe Company, a corporation v. N.L.R.B. 600 F.2d 132 (C.A. 8, 1979)

Allied Stores Of N.Y., Inc., d/b/a Gertz 262 NLRB No. 119

(there is no statutory rights for Ee or U to use E's bulletin boards or blackboards. Act's prohibitions come into play only where E otherwise assents to Ee access to bulletin board/blackboard but discriminatorily refuses to permit U or Ees to use such brands)

East Texas Motor Freight 262 NLRB No. 101

(denying dissident U Ee right to post intra-U political literature on company bulletin board located in Ees' break room held violative where E permitted other Ees to use bulletin board for other than official U business but denied dissident U Ee right to advertise his U activity on board; E enforced otherwise legimate contractual limitation on use of bulletin board in disparate manner)

G. H. Bass & Co. 258 NLRB No. 036

(having Ee followed by head of plant security who removed pro-U letters Ee was posting on bulletin boards in response to anti-U letter of E and giving Ee written reprimand with warning, unlawful, where Ees had been allowed to post other materials; E's contention that permission to post letter denied since it would generate controversy deemed pretextual in view of E's expressed U animus and fact letter not offensive, defamatory or opprobrious)

Arkansas-Best Freight System, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 063

(maintaining and enforcing rule which prohibits Ees from posting U campaign literature on Ee bulletin board, violative)

Palomar Transport, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 177

(promulgation of rules requiring approval of postings on bulletin board in context of organizational campaign, violative)

K-Mart Corporation 255 NLRB No. 112

(removing U notices from bulletin board, violative, where E had no established policy restricting use only to company-oriented things in view of evidence that board was used for various items of personal nature as well)

Roy H. Park Broadcasting of Roanoke, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 036

(denying Ees bulletin board privileges previously accorded them violative, where E gave no valid business justification for denial; prior to such denial, E and U were bargaining, inter alia, on subject of bulletin board use and U-related matter had been placed on bulletin board by Ees)

Lummus Industries, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 079

(rule prohibiting posting or removing or distributing any material on official company bulletin boards or distributing written or printed matter w/o permission by Personnel Department, violative as E cannot require Ee to seek permission as precondition to engage in protected activities on Ee's free time)

Special Machine and Engineering, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 077

(E's removal from bulletin board for union business of notice containing wage rate at another E's plant, and threatening of Ee with disciplinary action for further occurences, violative, since material conformed to standards of relevances to union business imposed by E)

Worth Engineering, Inc. JD-295-80

Midwest Stock Exchange, Inc., et al. v. N.L.R.B. 636 F.2d 1255 (C.A. 7, 1980)

(ct affirmed Bd finding E's instructions to Ee to remove U meeting notice unlawful where it discriminated against U notices only and did not apply to other nonwork related material)

ABF Freight System, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 673 F.2d 228 (C.A. 8, Mar. 1982)

(Bd's determination that E's adoption and enforcement of rules prohibiting solicitation and distribution of materials, in support of U, at any time on company premises and prohibiting use of previously available bulletin board upheld, since alternative means of Ee communication were inadequate and no showing of special circumstances for E's interference)

5012-3367 Limited to prounion activities

Saint Vincent's Hospital 265 NLRB No. 006

Green Country Casting Corporation 262 NLRB No. 010

(prohibiting Ees to talk about U on company premises at any time, unlawful)

Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization 261 NLRB No. 132

(rule prohibiting circulation of U materials during working hours was overly broad where E had no policy with respect to distribution of anything, including literature, and Ees sold raffle tickets, football pools and Tupperware)

Borun Brothers, Inc., A Wholly Owned Subsidiary of Thrifty Corporation 257 NLRB No. 093

(maintaining rule that prohibited distribution or solicitation of any kind on company time, and reprimanding and threatening discipline for infractions, unlawful; rule, as written, and as interpreted by E as applying to working hours, was presumptively overbroad and ambiguous showing no intent to not cover break time, etc., was not justified by disciplinary or production needs, and was discriminatorily applied to protected activity during U organization campaign)

Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc. 253 NLRB No. 023

(supervisor's statement to Ee not to talk about U during working hours, unlawful, where prohibition limited to U activity, and anti-U and non-U activities and solicitation were being carried on during working hours)

(promulgating rule prohibiting U activities on working time while permitting other types of solicitations or activities on working time, unlawful)

Fluid Packaging Company, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 196

(prohibiting Ees from talking about the U on production line and threatening them with discharge if they do so, unlawful where talk of U was only restriction on conversation)

Lawson Electric Corporation 247 NLRB No. 203

(violation, where E enforced rule prohibiting solicitation at any time in work areas as to U but allowed anti-U Ees to ignore rule, and management agents solicited anti-U attitude not only in working areas, but during working time)

Hinky Dinky Super Markets, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 169

(notice posted near Ee timeclock by E, prior to election, stating that I will not stand for this second party, (U), to be mentioned or talked about w/i the store held violative where there was no showing that this prohibition against U talk was warranted by valid business considerations)

Signode Corporation JD-161-80

(enforcement of no-solicitation rule selectively and disparately against Ee engaging in U activity, unlawful)

Belcher Towing Company v. N.L.R.B. 614 F.2d 88 (C.A. 5, Mar. 1980)

(validity of no-solicitation rule turns on balance of interests between property rights of E and organizational rights of Ees; rule that prohibites solicitation on company premises by non-Ee U organizers is ordinarily presumed valid and will be overturned only on showing either that rule discriminates against U by allowing other solicitation or that no reasonable alternative means of access to Ees existed)

Belcher Towing Company v. N.L.R.B. 614 F.2d 88 (C.A. 5, Mar. 1980)

(announcement by manager to assembled Ees that he did not want them to discuss U, held violative)

Hinky Dinky Super Markets, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 169
(notice posted near Ee timeclock by E, prior to election, stating that I will not stand for this second party, (U), to be mentioned or talked about w/i the store held violative where there was no showing that this prohibition against U talk was warranted by valid business considerations)

Tarrant Marine Company 247 NLRB No. 073
(supervisor informing Ee who had solicited another Ee to sign U card during break time that he should take care of this after work and when Ee attempted to assert his right to solicit during break time replying company pays you for breaks, violative)

Lee Simmons and Beverly McKinstry Simmons, a Partnership, d/b/a Elmendorf & Fort Richardson Barber Concessions 247 NLRB No. 093
(E who restricted Ees use of telephone after U organizing activities began violated Act because rule was overbroad as it applied to working and nonworking time and was intended to ban use of telephone for any organizing activities)

Debernardi Brothers, Inc. JD-(SF)-286-82

Oak Harbor Freight Lines, Inc. JD-(SF)-211-82
(posting rule prohibiting U discussions on working hours, violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Chem Fab Corporation 691 F.2d 1252 (C.A. 8, Nov. 1982)
(substantial evidence in record as whole supported Bd findings that E unlawfully promulgated rule prohibiting Ees to discuss the U during working time)

MGM Grand Hotel-Reno, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 653 F.2d 1322 (C.A. 9, Aug 1981)
(E's maintaining rules prohibiting Ee communication, violative)

5012-6729 Posting notices on bulletin boards or other company property

Tressler Lutheran Home for Children t/a Frostburg Village of Allegany County Nursing Home 263 NLRB No. 042
(nursing home administrator's complaining to Ees, inter alia, of U stickers and literature being posted all over home and stating that he did not want U discussed in building or on company time, violative)

A. A. Superior Ambulance Service 263 NLRB No. 069
(E's promulgating or enforcing discriminatory no-posting rule prohibiting posting of U materials on company premises, violative)

Allied Stores Of N.Y., Inc., d/b/a Gertz 262 NLRB No. 119
(there is no statutory rights for Ee or U to use E's bulletin boards or blackboards. Act's prohibitions come into paly only where E otherwise assents to Ee access to bulletin board/blackboard but discriminatorily refuses to permit U or Ees to use such brands)

East Texas Motor Freight 262 NLRB No. 101
(denying dissident U Ee right to post intra-U political literature on company bulletin board located in Ees' break room held violative where E permitted other Ees to use bulletin board for other than official U business but denied dissident U Ee right to advertise his U activity on board; E enforced otherwise legimate contractual limitation on use of bulletin board in disparate manner)

Zero Corporation, Zero East Division 262 NLRB No. 064
(actions of supervisor who threw U leaflets in trash, removed U sticker from Ees' work station, and removal from plant walls, violative because purpose was to discourage U activity)

G. H. Bass & Co. 258 NLRB No. 036
(having Ee followed by head of plant security who removed pro-U letters Ee was posting on bulletin boards in response to anti-U letter of E and giving Ee written reprimand with warning, unlawful, where Ees had been allowed to post other materials; E's contention that permission to post letter denied since it would generate controversy deemed pretextual in view of E's expressed U animus and fact letter not offensive, defamatory or opprobrious)

Marathon Letourneau Company, Longview Division 258 NLRB No. 084
(removal of U handbill, assertedly posted in violation of no-posting, no-distribution rule, from vending machine on plant premises, unlawful, where E failed to cite authority and to detail facts supporting E's asserted right to prohibit posting of pro-U literature on its premises, E allowed personal notices and campaign literature of E to be posted in non-work area of vending machine but disallowed same privilege to pro-U Ees for posting of U literature, and there was no evidence of special purpose requiring stringent rules against posting)

Lummus Industries, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 079
(rule prohibiting posting or removing or distributing any material on official company bulletin boards or distributing written or printed matter w/o permission by Personnel Department, violative as E cannot require Ee to seek permission as precondition to engage in protected activities on Ee's free time)

Lacks Industries, Inc. JD-346-82
(alleged discriminatory application of E's rule prohibiting posting of material on E's bulletin boards w/o authorization, not unlawful, where testimony showed that U-related literature was removed from bulletin board while non-U material was allowed to remain, but there was no testimony to show that E did not give prior approval for posting of latter or that E had knowledge of unauthorized postings)

M. Livingston & Company d/b/a D.G. Hayes Wholesale Grocery Co. JD-368-82
(restricting use of E's bulletin board after U campaign began by refusing to permit posting of U notices while allowing posting of personal and other nonwork notices, unlawful)

5012-6735 Prohibition of solicitation and/or distribution of literature during employees' own time on company premises

Douglas Aircraft Company, Component of McDonnell Douglas Corporation 260 NLRB No. 180
(refusal to permit Ee to distribute to Ees during nonwork time in nonwork area his open letter to E protesting E's new time restriction on Ees' use of plant vending machines, unlawful, where E was well aware that Ee wanted to pass out to fellow Ees letter which protested institution of restriction affecting, and of concern to, Ees; Ee, who had discussed matter with fellow Ees and had steward's approval, was ensuring that E and Ees were aware of extent of Ee dissatisfaction over restriction; and Bd has repeatedly held similar activity to be protected and concerted)

Graham Architectural Products Corporation 259 NLRB No. 153
(prohibiting Ee from handbilling in parking lot held violative, notwithstanding Ee reached more Ees from outside lot and E permitted in-plant distribution on other occasions as Ees have right to solicit U support during nonworktime on their E's premises)

James F. Stanford, Inc. d/b/a Ace Machine Co. 249 NLRB No. 073
(ambigious no solicitation rule presumptively invalid absent showing that E's rule was necessary to maintain production or discipline as risk of ambiguity must be held against promulgator)

Aerosonic Corporation JD-(Atl)-110-81
(E pointing out its violative no-solicitation and no-distribution rule to Ee member of in-plant U organizing committee violated Act as this was warning and threat of retaliation if she engaged in such conduct without E's permission)

Formaloy Corp. JD-(ATL)-87-81
(E's rule prohibiting solicitation w/o management permission and distributing written or printed matter on company premises during regular working hours held violative, since rule was overbroad allowing for no exceptions during nonwork time on E's premises; E demonstrated no business justification for imposition of such rules)

Wolverine World Wide, Inc. JD-185-80
(E's rule which prohibited all distributing or soliciting on company property w/o authorization violative as overlybroad; moreover fact that E may not have disciplined any Ees for occasional solicitation for charitable causes does not remove rule from its presumed invalidity)

ABF Freight System, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 673 F.2d 228 (C.A. 8, Mar. 1982)
(Bd's determination that E's adoption and enforcement of rules prohibiting solicitation and distribution of materials, in support of U, at any time on company premises and prohibiting use of previously available bulletin board upheld, since alternative means of Ee communication were inadequate and no showing of special circumstances for E's interference)

N.L.R.B. v. Westinghouse Electric Corporation 612 F.2d 1072 (C.A. 8)
(no-solicitation rule overly broad where prohibition of solicitation on company premises applied equally to Ees' work time and their personal time)

American Safety Equipment Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 643 F.2d 693 (C.A. 10, Mar. 1981)
(Bd decision setting aside election set aside where basis for decision was two rules in Ee handbook prohibiting solicitation and distribution during working hours; E rebutted presumed interference with Ee rights as it produced evidence showing: 1) Ees were told lunch time and break time were their own;

2) Ees were aware rules only applied to working time; 3) Ees openly engaged in U activity during non working time and were not disciplined and 4) rules consistently properly applied by E)

5012-6737 Dissemination of information as to names, addresses, wages and phone numbers of employees

International Business Machines Corporation 265 NLRB No. 107
(discharge of Ee for publishing E's confidential wage information which he had received annoymously, not unlawful, where E established legitimate business justification for its policy; E does not prohibit Ees from discussing own wages or attempting to determine what other Ees paid, rather has chosen not to inform Ees what it pays others; therefore, E treats as confidential information compiled for its internal use. Ee knew documents were confidential and was aware of prohibition against disseminating such material. Furthermore, under circumstance that info obtained, Ee couldn't believe possession authorized)

Conagra, Inc. 240 NLRB No. 085
(prohibiting preparation of list of Ees from timecards for U's use and confiscating portion of list, unlawful)

Texas Instruments Incorporated 247 NLRB No. 037
(E's rule requiring discharge of any Ee who disclosed classified materials to unauthorized persons held invalid as it was applied to Ees distributing leaflets containing –strictly private area wage surveys of E and its competitors, since Ees were engaged in protected concerted activity; Ees were encouraging collective action to improve wages; none of E's reasons for rule qualified as sufficient business justification to validate rule as applied in instant case)

Texas Instruments Incorporated v. N.L.R.B. 599 F.2d 1067 (C.A. 1, 1979)
(rule prohibiting Ees from discussing E's wage schedule with outsiders, unlawful; E's contention public knowledge of wage rates would assist competitors, rejected, where E in mounting its annual wage survey gave out its own data to competitors)

5012-6738 Distribution of literature pertaining to selection or rejection of U

F.W.I.L. Lundy Bros. Restaurant, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 057
(permitting distribution of anti-U pamphlet among Ees during company time, violative, since pamphlet ratified implied threats of closure, loss of jobs and privileges)

467 East Gilbert Street Corporation d/b/a Medical Center Convalescent Hospital 247 NLRB No. 074
(circulating anti-U ptn, violative)

Master Slack, Ltd. JD-(ATL)-8-81
(approving, condoning, supporting, and adopting Ee circulation and solicitation of signatures to decertification ptn during working time, and simultaneously prohibiting Ees from revoking their signatures to ptn on working time, violative)

5012-6750 Group presentation of grievances

Conrad & Sons Trucking, Inc. JD-264-81
(discharge of leader in presentation of Ee grievances regarding reduction in renumeration who had used obscene language towards supervisors, failed to properly complete on time required paper work; and refused to accept work assignment, unlawful, where discharge motivated by Ee's leadership in complaining about working conditions)

American Youth Soccer Organization JD-(SF)-29-81
(discharge of three Ees who presented grievances to management and E's board of directors, unlawful, since presentation of grievances protected where Ees acted concertedly, notwithstanding did not follow grievance procedure promulgated by E in Ee handbook, and in view of timing of discharges shortly after Ees sent copy of list of grievances to E's board of directors)

5012-6762 Meetings of employees

Best Products Co., Inc. 259 NLRB No. 016
(dispersal of three Ees gathered outside E's store on gounds that were considered a conspiracy violative where Ees were on their own time and there was no showing of valid business justification)

Best Products Co., Inc. 259 NLRB No. 016
(E who continually opened door to lunch room which Ees had closed so they could talk about U w/o being overheard violated Act)

National Vendors, a Division of UMC Industries, Inc. 630 F.2d 1265 (C.A. 8, 1980)
(E's banning chief steward, who was also member of contract negotiating committee, from holding anymore meetings in company cafeteria, not violative, where E's prohibition was directed solely to chief steward's practice of holding structured, semi-formal, large group meetings during short breaks at cafeteria that is open to all Ees, including supervisory and non-unit personnel; such meetings were disruptive)

5012-6787 Wearing or otherwise displaying union insignia or signs

Saint Vincent's Hospital 265 NLRB No. 096
(E's rule which prohibited wearing of any type of insignia violative as overly broad where it prohibited such insignia at all locations on E's property while Ees were on duty or in uniform; moreover remedy is necessary notwithstanding E revised rule to make it non violative at this does not constitute effective repudiation since rule was in effect over 2 years)

Saint Vincent's Hospital 265 NLRB No. 096
(discipline of Ee for violating overly broad rule against wearing U insignia violative, notwithstanding no formal disciplinary action occurred, and Ee was merely instructed to remove pin while she was in patient care area)

The Moore Company, Inc., Div. of Easco Corp. 264 NLRB No. 159
(supervisor informing Ees that U adherents were jeopardizing their jobs along with jobs of all other Ees by wearing U shirts, hats, and insignia, unlawful)

Pay 'N Save Corporation 247 NLRB No. 184
(E's unwritten rule against wearing of political or controversial buttons, including U buttons, unlawful, where there was no valid business consideration or other special circumstance warranting forbidding of wearing of U buttons by store Ees on salesfloor)

Pay 'N Save Corporation 247 NLRB No. 184
(E's enforcement of rule against wearing of buttons on store premises, unlawful, where E allowed Ees to wear various kinds of religious as well as other buttons but disparately enforced its button policy against Ees wearing U buttons)

John Rooney, David Hinman and Beverly Foster, d/b/a Rooney's At The Mart 247 NLRB No. 125
(ordering waitress to remove U button while whe was waiting on customers in E's restaurant and sending her home when she refused, violative, notwithstanding fact button was of size and design to detract from uniform and bore feminist statement that might offend some customers, in view of E's other ULPs and fact E had previously taken actions motivated by Ee's U activities to induce her either to quit or to change ways)

467 East Gilbert Street Corporation d/b/a Medical Center Convalescent Hospital 247 NLRB No. 074
(maintaining and enforcing rule prohibiting any form of solicitation between Ees during working hours, violative; here E prohibited Ee from wearing U button)

Vanity Fair Mills, Inc. JD-(ATL)-35-82
(E's personnel manager calling Ee to his office and asking if she was passing out U buttons during campaign and when she replied yes informing her that was no, no and interrogating Ee about being away from her work station, unlawful, notwithstanding pursuant to no solicitation rule presumptively valid at time, since reprimand based on U activity rather than being way from work station, neglecting work or interfering with work of other Ees)

N.L.R.B. v. Chem Fab Corporation 691 F.2d 1252 (C.A. 8, Nov. 1982)
(ct held that substantial evidence in record as whole supports Bd's finding that, notwithstanding other evidence which tended to impeach credited testimony, E unlawfully ordered U adherent to turn sweatshirt with U insignia inside out)

Coors Container Company v. N.L.R.B. 628 F.2d 1283 (C.A.D.C.)
(promulgation and enforcement of rule prohibiting display of signs or stickers urging boycott of E's product on E's property in work or nonwork areas, unlawful, where E failed to show special circumstances sufficient to justify rule; while E claimed rule was necessary to monitor internal security and to guard against incidents at plant gates; in instant case, boycott sign was displayed over mile from anywork facility, inside Ee's vehicle; and wording of sign was not so provocative as to remove protection of Act)

Coors Container Company v. N.L.R.B. 628 F.2d 1283 (C.A.D.C.)
(promulgation and enforcement of rule prohibiting display of signs or stickers urging boycott of E's product on E's property in work or nonwork areas, unlawful, where display of sign by Ees was not indefensible inasmuch as sign did not disparage quality of E's product and its urgingof boycott in support of E's other stocking Ees was related tolabor disputes)

5012-6787-3300 May not be prohibited absent special circumstances

Burger King Corporation 245 NLRB No. 191
(ordering Ee to remove U button she was wearing violative, notwithstanding she had direct and continuous contact with customers, since such contact did not constitute special circumstances which would justify prohibiting Ees with customer contact from wearing U button)

Nordstrom, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 098
(promulgating and maintaining rule prohibiting selling floor Ees from wearing steward buttons on its sales floor, violative, since Ee right to wear U insignia outweighed E's competing interests of need to maintain uniform public image and avoidance of controversy)

Service Spring Company, A Division of Garlock, Inc., A Wholly-Owned Subsidiary of Colt Industries 263 NLRB No. 103

(telling Ees they could not wear U insignia violative and although E later told Ees they could wear such insignia, this retraction does not fully remedy ULP and remedial order appropriate)

Honda of America Mfg., Inc. 260 NLRB No. 097

(maintaining rule which required Ees to wear uniforms at all times while in plant during working time and prohibited Ees having on uniforms exposed items such as buttons, snaps, zippers, and buckles, violative, where rule was unlawfully broad and prohibited Ees from wearing U buttons and insignia)

Virginia Electric and Power Company 260 NLRB No. 050

(urging Ee not to wear U button in public lobby of E's facility, unlawful, since mere contact with customers is not basis for barring wearing of U buttons, and such restriction constitutes violation in absence of substantial evidence that button affected E's business or that prohibition was necessary to maintain Ee discipline; and there was no showing of any special circumstances that buttons in any way were provocative, detracted unreasonably from decorum of lobby, or caused dimination in E's business)

Firmat Manufacturing Corp. 255 NLRB No. 153

(telling Ees they could not wear U buttons, violative where E established no special circumstances)

Allen-Stone Boxes, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 171

(requiring Ee to remove U insignia he was wearing on his back while at work, violative)

Hon-Dee Pak, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 107

(violation where E maintained overly broad rule prohibiting Ees from wearing U buttons and insignia while at work)

Stockton Dodge, Inc. JD-(SF)-255-81

(refusal to allow Ees to wear caps with U insignia violative absent proof that E's concern with its public image warranted such prohibition)

5012-6787-6700 May be prohibited if tendency to disrupt production or discipline

Virginia Electric and Power Company 260 NLRB No. 050

(urging Ee not to wear U button in public lobby of E's facility, unlawful, since mere contact with customers is not basis for barring wearing of U buttons, and such restriction constitutes violation in absence of substantial evidence that button affected E's business or that prohibition was necessary to maintain Ee discipline; and there was no showing of any special circumstances that buttons in any way were provocative, detracted unreasonably from decorum of lobby, or caused dimination in E's business)

St. Joseph's Hospital of The Franciscan Sisters of Milwaukee, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 135

(supervisor requesting Ee to remove arm band with U insignia, not unlawful, nor was Ee's leaving work rather than remove it unlawful suspension, since E's prohibition against arm band was not discriminatory particularly in hospital setting where arm band superimposed on uniform was highly obtrusive)

Pioneer Finishing Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 667 F.2d 199 (C.A. 1, Nov. 1981)

(Ee who distributed protected leaflets to Ees who were working engaged in protected activity for where distribution during working time is not specifically prohibited, distribution is protected as long as it doesn't interfere with production)

5012-6787-6900 Disparate treatment in display of insignia

Honda of America Mfg., Inc. 260 NLRB No. 097

(requiring U adherent to remove U hat pursuant to unlawful rule concerning the wearing of uniforms, violative, where E selectively and disparately enforced its uniform rule against Ee by requiring him to remove U hat which was similar in design to E's hat and was not shown to be provocative or offensive)

The Nestle Company 248 NLRB No. 106

(enforcing company rule prohibiting wearing jewelry and nonuniform clothing w/i E's production areas held violative where rule was not applied to non-U related jewelry and clothing worn by Ees not favoring U; rule was discriminatorily enforced)

N.L.R.B. v. John Rooney, David Hinman and Beverly Foster, d/b/a Rooney's At The Mart 677 F.2d 44 (C.A. 9, Feb. 1982)

(E violated Act by discriminatorily enforcing its antibutton policy against U adherent and not other types of buttons but Bd order barring any antibutton policy is overbroad and case remanded for modification of Bd order to prohibit only unreasonable restrictions on types of buttons or insignia which may be worn)

5012-6300 Access of nonemployee union agents denied or limited

Woodview Rehabilitation Center 265 NLRB No. 132

(promulgation of rules prohibiting solicitation, distribution or trespassing by non-Ees, not unlawful, where new rule only made long posted no-trespass rule more specific)

Great Western Coca-Cola Bottling Company, d/b/a Houston Coca-Cola Bottling Company 265 NLRB No. 106

(denial of access to non-Ee U representatives and causing their arrest, made in furtherance of impermissible refusal to grant access, unlawful)

Vanity Fair Mills, Inc. JD-(ATL)-38-82

(E's promulgating rule which stated any solicitation of Ees or distribution of materials to Ees by non-Ees in plant or on company property is prohibited. Solicitation in plant or on company property by Ees on their working time is prohibited. Distribution of materials in plant or on company property by Ee on working time or in work area is prohibited unlawful, in view of earlier Bd decision which held use of working hours or working time w/o further clarification, anbiguous and rule presumptively invalid and E did not overcome presumption)

Vanity Fair Mills, Inc. JD-(ATL)-38-82

(E posting sign on outside of premises stating any solicitation or distribution of any material on company property-commercial, political or otherwise is prohibited, unlawful, although directed at non-Ees since tended to confuse Ees as to their solicitation and distribution rights on E's property)

5012-6301 Generally

Knogo Corporation 263 NLRB No. 171

(E who constructed barbed wire fence around its parking lot immediately after U requested recognition and bargaining so as to exclude U organizer who was formerly allowed access to parking lot, but continued to admit non-Ee food vendor violated Act)

Western Marine Electronics, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 057

(E's refusal to allow U representative to enter into machine shop to talk with Ees there in relation to grievance, unlawful, E's proffered reason that visitors could not be allowed in machine shop because of nature of work performed there, spurious, since U representative did not state it was necessary to visit machine shop to process grievance and was allowed to talk with Ees as requested at another location)

United States Steel Corporation 253 NLRB No. 083

(denying discharged Ee right to distribute his literature in his campaign for U office on company property, not unlawful where no showing was made either that nonEe lacked alternative means of communicating with Ees or that access to company property was so widespread that denial to him was disparate)

Giant Food, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 182

(instructing Ees to eject U representatives from stores by force violative as demonstration of extreme measures E will employ to defeat U and E's power over Ees employment)

Sabine Towing & Transportation Company, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 599 F.2d 663 (C.A. 5, 1979)

(general rule is that E has right to bar non-Ee U organizers from his property; and to gain access, U has burden of showing that no other reasonable means of communicating its organizational message to Ees exist or that E's access rules discriminate against U solicitation)

Sabine Towing & Transportation Company, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 599 F.2d 663 (C.A. 5, 1979)

(considerations of E's alleged U animus are irrelevant to determination of U's claim of denial to non-Ee U organizers of access to E's property)

N.L.R.B. v. Villa Avila, Palm Springs Sun Dial and Tom Sawyer Construction Co. 673 F.2d 281 (C.A. 9, Mar. 1982)

(with regard to right of U's agents to enter E's property, objective of Bd should be accommodation of U's rights to have their bargaining agreement enforced and E's property rights. Primary responsibility for accommodation is with Bd. In making accommodation cts and Bd have recognized distinction between activities conducted on premises by Ees and by non-Ees. When non-Ee U representatives seek to enter private property, Bd must consider not only strength of E's and Ee's rights and interests, but also whether U representative have reasonable alternatives to entry on to E's property

S. B. Thomas, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 132

(no violation where E directed non-Ee organizers to cease distributing literature and to leave its facility since there was no showing that other means of communication were unavailable, and in fact, record indicated that one organizer considered area between E's fence and road adequate for distribution)

Texas Instruments Incorporated v. N.L.R.B. 599 F.2d 1067 (C.A. 1, 1979)

Husky Oil, N.P.R. Operations, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 669 F.2d 643 (C.A. 10, Jan. 1982)

(U does not need to resort to unsatisfactory means of alternate communications before Bd can find that personal solicitation is only reasonable means of communicating with Ees)

5012-8320-5000 Adequacy of other channels of access

Gerald M. Martin and Kathleen R. Martin, a Partnership Doing Business Under The Trade Name and Style of Liberty Pavilion Nursing Home 254 NLRB No. 169

(telling former Ees and U agent that they must leave private parking lot where they were distributing U literature or she would call police, not violative in absence of evidence that U did not leave alternative means of reaching Ees notwithstanding no sidewalk between parking lot and public street; furthermore, parking lot only used, apart from Ees and visitors, by persons picking up or discharging Ees or patients which did not convert private lot into public way)

United States Steel Corporation 253 NLRB No. 083

(denying discharged Ee right to distribute his literature in his campaign for U office on company property, not unlawful where no showing was made either that nonEe lacked alternative means of communicating with Ees or that access to company property was so widespread that denial to him was disparate)

Hetzler Brothers Company v. N.L.R.B. 630 F.2d 1012 (C.A. 4, 1980)

(ct reversed Bd finding that E unlawfully denied U organizers access to store Ees since GC had not sustained his burden of proving that U had no other reasonable means of communicating with Ees; absent effort by U to communicate by other possibly available means, Bd could only infer inadequate access from physical evidence of structure and location of plant, working habits of Ees, and conduct of E)

Sabine Towing & Transportation Company, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 599 F.2d 663 (C.A. 5, 1979)

(ct held that, where E denied non-Ee U organizers access to its vessels, U had burden of showing that no other reasonable means of communicating its organizational message to Ees existed, but U failed to do so; although Ees resided on vessels during tours of duty, organizers were able effectively to contact them when Ees went ashore at which time organizers had discussions with them at gates or docks, at bars and taverns, while providing them transportation, or in telephone conversations or home visits)

Perry Plaza, Inc. JD-(SF)-367-80

(right of strikers to picket on private property must be accomodated to E's private property rights and where no reasonable alternative exists for U to reach Ees other than by picketing on E's premises, E's property rights must yield to U's Section 7 rights, thus E's demands that pickets remove themselves from its property violative)

Belcher Towing Company v. N.L.R.B. 614 F.2d 88 (C.A. 5, Mar. 1980)

(validity of no-solicitation rule turns on balance of interests between property rights of E and organizational rights of Ees; rule that prohibites solicitation on company premises by non-Ee U organizers is ordinarily presumed valid and will be overturned only on showing either that rule discriminates against U by allowing other solicitation or that no reasonable alternative means of access to Ees existed)

Belcher Towing Company v. N.L.R.B. 614 F.2d 88 (C.A. 5, Mar. 1980)

(to sustain its burden of proving lack of alternative means of communication U need not have attempted communication by other means but show only that such attempts would have been unsuccessful under circumstances)

ABF Freight System, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 673 F.2d 228 (C.A. 8, Mar. 1982)

(Bd's determination that E's adoption and enforcement of rules prohibiting solicitation and distribution of materials, in support of U, at any time on company premises and prohibiting use of previously available bulletin board upheld, since alternative means of Ee communication were inadequate and no showing of special circumstances for E's interference)

5012-8320-5011 Availability of employee identification

Ameron Automotive Centers, A Division of The Kelly-Springfield Tire Co.; F. W. Woolworth Company d/b/a Woolco Division, Joint Employers 265 NLRB No. 058

(U access to sidewalk adjacent to store in shopping center necessary to enable organizers to identify E's Ees who were required to wear no identifying clothing or badges when going to and from work and parked in parking places other than those specially designated for them)

5012-8320-5044 Proximity of employees' residences to plant

Ameron Automotive Centers, A Division of The Kelly-Springfield Tire Co.; F. W. Woolworth Company d/b/a Woolco Division, Joint Employers 265 NLRB No. 058

(alternative means of communicating U's message to Ees, inadequate where Ees were not proximate to E's store but widely dispersed w/i the commuting area, rendering contacts with individual Ees unfeasible and unduly expensive)

5012-8320-5055 Various publicity media

Ameron Automotive Centers, A Division of The Kelly-Springfield Tire Co.; F. W. Woolworth Company d/b/a Woolco Division, Joint Employers 265 NLRB No. 058

(newspaper advertising and handbilling, ineffective and cost of newspaper and other mass communication media, prohibitive and thus not adequate alternative means of communicating U's message to Ees)

5012-8320-5066 Telephone or home visits

Ameron Automotive Centers, A Division of The Kelly-Springfield Tire Co.; F. W. Woolworth Company d/b/a Woolco Division, Joint Employers 265 NLRB No. 058

(visits to Ees' homes not adequate alternative means for U to communicate its message to Ees where U was unable to ascertain their names and addresses)

5012-8340 Must be granted under reasonable regulations where necessary to realization of employees'right

Central Solano County Hospital Foundation, Inc., d/b/a Intercommunity Hospital 255 NLRB No. 045

(E hospital justified in banning solicitation in halls and corridors, lobbies, waiting rooms, and nurses stations, since prohibitions were presumptively valid in small facility which, from its inception, has been too small to accommodate all its medical needs and solicitation may be legimately prohibited in other areas if justified by hospital as necessary)

Villa Avila 253 NLRB No. 010

(General Contractor who posted no trespassing signs strictly limiting U business representatives' access to construction sites violated Act where communication between U, subcontractors and their Ees severely restricted; however, General Contractors can require U representatives to give him notice as precondition for access to job site)

Victor Martinov and Ed Hancock, d/b/a Southland Properties; and Julian Elliott Construction Co., Inc. JD-(SF)-166-81

(denying U representation access to jobsite for purpose of policing its contract with subcontractor Ees and discussing with Ee violation of work rules and safety procedures, violative where U observed from street that Ee's mode of work was unsafe)

Belcher Towing Company v. N.L.R.B. 614 F.2d 88 (C.A. 5, Mar. 1980)

(validity of no-solicitation rule turns on balance of interests between property rights of E and organizational rights of Ees; rule that prohibites solicitation on company premises by non-Ee U organizers is ordinarily presumed valid and will be overturned only on showing either that rule discriminates against U by allowing other solicitation or that no reasonable alternative means of access to Ees existed)

N.L.R.B. v. Villa Avila, Palm Springs Sun Dial and Tom Sawyer Construction Co. 673 F.2d 281 (C.A. 9, Mar. 1982)
(with regard to right of U's agents to enter E's property, objective of Bd should be accommodation of U's rights to have their bargaining agreement enforced and E's property rights. Primary responsibility for accommodation is with Bd. In making accommodation cts and Bd have recognized distinction between activities conducted on premises by Ees and by non-Ees. When non-Ee U representatives seek to enter private property, Bd must consider not only strength of E's and Ee's rights and interests, but also whether U representative have reasonable alternatives to entry on to E's property

N.L.R.B. v. Villa Avila, Palm Springs Sun Dial and Tom Sawyer Construction Co. 673 F.2d 281 (C.A. 9, Mar. 1982)
(refusal of non-U contractors to allow U business agent to enter construction site under their control to conduct U business with Ees of subcontractors who have bargaining agreements with U, unlawful, since subcontractors' Ees have statutory interest in general contractors allowing U agents reasonable access to jobsite. Compliance with many contract provisions can be effectively policed only on premises where agent may observe conditions during working hours)

N.L.R.B. v. Villa Avila, Palm Springs Sun Dial and Tom Sawyer Construction Co. 673 F.2d 281 (C.A. 9, Mar. 1982)
(general contractors ordered to allow U business agent access to job site to visit Ees of subcontractors; however, order also protects rights of property owner to be free of illegal or vexations incursions by persons with no legitimate business on their premises by allowing contractors to require any visitors to report to project office and state business and that in event of vandalism, illegal work stoppage or interference with work, owner or occupier may require visitor to be accompanied by its representative)

5012-8360 Prohibition unlawful where special circumstances of inaccessibility present

5012-8360-5000 On board ship

Arypro Company M/V Arctic Producer 265 NLRB No. 040
(refusing to permit U representative access to E's ship overnight and freedom of curculation w/i the living and recreational areas of the ship constituted denial of reasonable U access to Ees to solicit their membership and votes in R election where only overnight visits, rather than 3-hour ones allowed by E, would afford optimal opportunity for free discussion and solicitation by U)

Sabine Towing and Transportation Co., Inc.>I18263 NLRB No. 019
(E's refusal to permit non-Ee U organizers to board its vessels, or provide non-Ee U organizers with information as to docking location and time for its vessels, not violative; parties were estopped from relitigating prior determination that E's seamen were reasonably accessible to non-Ee U organizers at locations away from E's premises)

Belcher Towing Company 236 NLRB No. 099
(E's refusing access to its boats to U organizers for purpose of soliciting support for U held violative, since record as whole clearly established that Us did not have reasonable alternative means of access to E's Ees regardless of whether evidence was presented by GC, charging parties, or respondent; compare Sabine Towing & Transportation Company, Inc. v. N.L.R.B., 599 F.2d 663 (1979))

Belcher Towing Company v. N.L.R.B. 614 F.2d 88 (C.A. 5, Mar. 1980)
(Bd erred in holding that E's prohibiting access of U agents to its boat was discriminatory where E allowed other individuals access since no solicitation for no-U purposes or causes was allowed)

Sabine Towing & Transportation Company, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 599 F.2d 663 (C.A. 5, 1979)
(ct held that, where E denied non-Ee U organizers access to its vessels, U had burden of showing that no other reasonable means of communicating its organizational message to Ees existed, but U failed to do so; although Ees resided on vessels during tours of duty, organizers were able effectively to contact them when Ees went ashore at which time organizers had discussions with them at gates or docks, at bars and taverns, while providing them transportation, or in telephone conversations or home visits)

5012-8360-8300 Shopping center or mall

Ameron Automotive Centers, A Division of The Kelly-Springfield Tire Co.; F. W. Woolworth Company d/b/a Woolco Division, Joint Employers 265 NLRB No. 058
(unlawfulness of banning nonEe solicitation in parking lot and on sidewalk adjacent to store in shopping center not shopping center exception to general rule that E may deny nonEe access to its property but example of promulgation of rule effectively precluding U from reaching Ees under Babcock & Wilcox where handbilling was ineffective, and widely dispersed Ees could not be visited at home or reached by burdensome and expensive mass media or distinguished from customers by U restricted to mall entrance)

5012-8360-8700 Petroleum exploration sites

Husky Oil, N.P.R. Operations, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 669 F.2d 643 (C.A. 10, Jan. 1982)

5012-8380 Solicitation or distribution in public areas

5012-8380-3300 Department stores

Ameron Automotive Centers, A Division of The Kelly-Springfield Tire Co.; F. W. Woolworth Company d/b/a Woolco Division, Joint Employers 265 NLRB No. 058
(E may generally prohibit solicitation on its selling floor areas)

Montgomery Ward & Company, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 008
(strikers engaging in consumer boycott handbilling outside entrances to store selling struck merchandise were engaging in protected activity where no effective alternate means of communication, and store violated Act by restricting handbilling to curb, driveway entrances or anywhere else off store property and thereby diluting protected rights of these strikers)

5012-8380-5000 Health care facilities

A. W. Schlesinger Geriatric Center, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 158
(no-distribution rule prohibiting distribution of U literature on E's property, violative)

A. W. Schlesinger Geriatric Center, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 158
(where E health care center formed Ee committee to disseminate information about U to Ees prior to election, E prohibition of U literature on center's property and condonation of distribution of material by committee, violative as discriminatory enforcement of no-distribution rule)

St. Joseph's Hospital 263 NLRB No. 020
(no solicitation rule that forbids solicitation or distribution of any kind in corridors off patient rooms, in nursing stations and in elevators when they are being used for patient transport, valid)

Presbyterian/St. Luke's Medical Center 258 NLRB No. 021
(hospital maintaining and enforcing rule prohibiting solicitation in broad range of areas, although justified in areas which are used by patients qua patients such as hallways, elevators and stairways utilized for movement of patients and emergency equipment, violative where prohibited areas used by patient, Ee and public alike such as main entrances, lounges, stairs and corridors in areas not dedicated to patient care)

Central Solano County Hospital Foundation, Inc., d/b/a Intercommunity Hospital 255 NLRB No. 045
(E hospital justified in banning solicitation in halls and corridors, lobbies, waiting rooms, and nurses stations, since prohibitions were presumptively valid in small facility which, from its inception, has been too small to accommodate all its medical needs and solicitation may be legimately prohibited in other areas if justified by hospital as necessary)

Central Solano County Hospital Foundation, Inc., d/b/a Intercommunity Hospital 255 NLRB No. 045
(only areas in which Ee solicitation must be permitted, at instant hospital which has no large area for Ees, are relatively small (Ee) breakrooms, since they do present viable, albeit limited, channel of communication by Ees for organizational purposes)

Central Solano County Hospital Foundation, Inc., d/b/a Intercommunity Hospital 255 NLRB No. 045
(banning solicitation in Ee breakroom held objectionable conduct, since breakroom was area in which solicitation must be permitted by E and not de minimus conduct; conduct warranted setting aside election)

Ralph Nenner, M.D., Louis Orens, M.D. et al., A Partnership d/b/a Deepdale General Hospital 253 NLRB No. 092
(nurses lounge open to public)

Beth Israel Hospital JD-587-81
(no solicitation/distribution rule banning such activities during Ees' nonwork time justified for inpatient-floor corridors where corridors are crowded with equipment essential to care of patients housed in rooms opening into them and heavy patient use of corridors is directly connected with their treatment)

Beth Israel Hospital JD-587-81
(no solicitation/distribution rule banning such activities during nonwork time justified for solaria areas located near patient rooms where solaria are designed and furnished for use of patients and their families, and patients frequent these areas in various stages of treatment or recovery)

Beth Israel Hospital JD-587-81
(no solicitation/distribution rule banning such activities during nonwork time justified for nurses stations where stations are communications centers of patient units as well as repository of current patient records and reference books and working staff and patient presence is practically continuous)

Beth Israel Hospital JD-587-81
(no solicitation/distribution rule banning such activities during nonwork time justified for nurses conference rooms where conference rooms are designated work areas and are used for wide range of staff work, and patient use for therapy and confort is encouraged)

Beth Israel Hospital JD-587-81

(no solicitation/distribution rule banning such activities during nonwork time justified for corridors and elevators connecting locations devoted to myraid of medical and service activities where these corridors and elevators are avenues of movement of patients, equipment, and staff, and are already so crowded by necessity that any additional sources of disruption such as U solicitation would interfere with patient care)

Beth Israel Hospital JD-587-81

(no solicitation/distribution rule banning such activities during nonwork time justified for main lobby and inpatient admitting lobby where lobbies are used by inpatient units and physicians for reporting results of operations to, and conferring with, patients' families; moreover, lobbies are not Ee-designated areas)

Beth Israel Hospital JD-587-81

(banning solicitation and distribution on Ees' nonwork time in gift shop, violative, notwithstanding E's contentions that shop is small, sometimes crowded, and staffed and run by octogenarian women volunteers, since these facts bear no significant relation to disturbance of patients, and most customers were Ees or visitors)

N.L.R.B. v. Los Angeles New Hospital 640 F.2d 1017 (C.A. 9, Mar 3, 1981)

(supervisor's prohibiting Ee from reading U literature to other Ees in room adjacent to operating room, unlawful, since incident took place in non-immediate patient care area and did not disturb patients or patient care where room was used as Ee lounge, eating, drinking and social conversation took place in room, bulletin board was located in room, patients never entered area, and isolated incident insufficient to show that disruption of patient care would result from solicitation in lounge or justify failing to take less restrictive approach)

Baylor University Medical Center v. N.L.R.B. 662 F.2d 56 (C.A.D.C., Aug. 1981)

(under Bd's St. John's presumption, solicitation ban outside of immediate patient care area should be upheld if hospital makes showing that ban is necessary to prevent disruption of patient care)

Baylor University Medical Center v. N.L.R.B. 662 F.2d 56 (C.A.D.C., Aug. 1981)

(ct rejected Bd's ruling that vending areas were not immediate patient care areas and remanded case to Bd with instruction to consider whether evidence submitted by E is sufficient to overcome St. John's presumption: evidence as it now stands in record-showing location of vending areas as off corridors and indicating they are regularly used by patients and their visitors--suggests that ban during daytime hours would probably be permissible)

Baylor University Medical Center v. N.L.R.B. 662 F.2d 56 (C.A.D.C., Aug. 1981)

(record did not support Bd's total invalidation of E's solicitation ban in its cafeteria and vending areas; ct's disapproval of Bd's method of dealing with evidence that (1) approximately 40% of cafeteria's patrons were non-Ees, and (2) exterior grounds of hospital complex are convenient place for solicitation and are widely used by Ees, required remand to Bd)

N.L.R.B. v. Baylor University Medical Center 439 U.S. 9 (SCt, 1980)

(ct affirmed ruling that E could prohibit solicitation in hospital corridors, holding that corridors are entitled to same protection accorded other areas devoted essentially to patient care)

5012-8380-6700 Supermarkets

Perry Plaza, Inc. JD-(SF)-367-80

(right of strikers to picket on private property must be accomodated to E's private property rights and where no reasonable alternative exists for U to reach Ees other than by picketing on E's premises, E's property rights must yield to U's Section 7 rights, thus E's demands that pickets remove themselves from its property violative)

5012-8380-8300 Restaurants - motels

Ameron Automotive Centers, A Division of The Kelly-Springfield Tire Co.; F. W. Woolworth Company d/b/a Woolco Division, Joint Employers 265 NLRB No. 058

(ban on nonEe solicitation in restaurants of store in shopping center as part of ban on nonEe solicitation on store's premises did not require balancing test under Babcock & Wilcox, since nonEe U solicitation in E's restaurant conducted in manner consistent with restaurant's purpose cannot be proscribed or U organizers lawfully prohibited from patronizing E's restaurants and meeting with its off-duty, nonrestaurant Ees)

Ameron Automotive Centers, A Division of The Kelly-Springfield Tire Co.; F. W. Woolworth Company d/b/a Woolco Division, Joint Employers 265 NLRB No. 058

(E may generally prohibit solicitation of its restaurant Ees w/i the restaurant)

Seattle-First National Bank v. N.L.R.B. 651 F.2d 1272 (C.A. 9, Nov 1980)

(E's threat to arrest economic strikers for picketing in foyer in front of restaurant located on 46th floor of office building violative; Section 7 rights and private property rights must be balanced and here U used only 2 pickets at a time and placing pickets in front of building would not reach restaurant customers as majority came from w/i building)

5012-8700 Access to plant while off-duty

Woodview Rehabilitation Center 268 NLRB No. 122

(promulgation and maintenance of new no-access rule prohibiting Ee access to both interior of facility and outside work areas during off duty hours w/o prior E authorization found facially valid notwithstanding finding that rule's promulgation was unlawfully motivated)

A. W. Schlesinger Geriatric Center, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 158

(E promulgation and maintenance of overly broad rule prohibiting access to E's property such as parking lots to off-duty Ees, violative)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 263 NLRB No. 015

(E promulgating and enforcing rule before election denying vacationing Ees access to plant except for purpose of voting, unlawful, since imposed for purpose of limiting Ee activities prior to election)

Comet Corporation 261 NLRB No. 188

(E publishing authorized entry rule which limited access to E's premises with not only to interior and other working areas but proscribed entry of off duty Ees as to parking lots, gates and other non-working areas w/o business justification, thus tending to restrict all Ees in self-organizational activities in these areas when off duty)

Central Solano County Hospital Foundation, Inc., d/b/a Intercommunity Hospital 255 NLRB No. 045

(E's no-access rule restricting off-duty Ees from remaining on hospital premises cannot be used to prohibit solicitation by off-duty Ees, since it did not prohibit access for all purposes; rule did not meet standard enunciated in Tri-County Medical Center, Inc., 222 NLRB 1089 (1976))

Central Solano County Hospital Foundation, Inc., d/b/a Intercommunity Hospital 255 NLRB No. 048

(banning solicitation in Ee breakroom held objectionable conduct, since breakroom was area in which solicitation must be permitted by E and not de minimus conduct; conduct warranted setting aside election)

Maywood, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 139

(barring off-duty Ees from plant premises, violative, where such Ees were in effect seeking access to cafeteria, a non-work area, for purpose of soliciting for U, and had no intention of wandering about the plant as E contended, and there was no rule limiting access to plant or rule which met standards defined in Tri-County Medical Center, Inc., 222 NLRB 1089)

Werth Engineering, Inc. JD-295-80

Cedarwood Care Center JD-(SF)-315-79

(E's posting of signs requiring Ees to punch time cards no more than seven minutes before or after their scheduled shift not unlawful limiting of access since for valid reason in view of requirement of Fair Labor Standards Act that Ees be paid for quarter hour as reflected by time cards)

Pioneer Finishing Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 667 F.2d 199 (C.A. 1, Nov. 1981)

(off-duty Ee who entered E's premises to distribute protected literature does not automatically lose Act's protection; test is balance of Ee's Sec. 7 rights and E's private property rights, and here where E has no rule preventing access, E's activity protected)

5012-9100 Access of former or suspended employees denied or limited

Sedloff Publications, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 139

(E posting notice that company policy prohibited former Ees on its property and requesting that former Ee to whom notice was directed to and who was U adherent leave premises when he visited E with U organizers for purpose of requesting return to work, unlawful, since motivated by desire to deny U adherent access to company premises where notice posted shortly after E became aware of his U activity and absent showing of ligitimate basis of concern regarding harm to its property by former Ee particularly where E later rehired him)

Model A and Model T Motor Car Reproduction Corporation 289 NLRB No. 077

(telling suspended U adherents that they were not permitted to enter E's premises during length of their suspensions, or contact anyone in company w/o clearing it with personnel director, or not to handout any more printed literature, violative, where E did not demonstrate that it routinely limited access to company property to suspended Ees or that such restrictions were related to maintenance of production or discipline)

5012-9200 Access of striking employees to employer's property denied

Montgomery Ward & Company, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 088
(strikers engaging in consumer boycott handbilling outside entrances to store selling struck merchandise were engaging in protected activity where no effective alternate means of communication, and store violated Act by restricting handbilling to curb, driveway entrances or anywhere else off store property and thereby diluting protected rights of these strikers)

Illinois Valley Electric Cooperative, Inc. JD-281-81
(E's attempt to prevent striking Ees from working for other contractors on E's property, violative)

5012-9900 Other rules

Standard Motor Products, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 065
(maintenance of rule prohibiting Ees from making false, vicious, or malicious statements concerning an Ee, management, company or its works, unlawful, since substantially similar rules have been held not simply presumptively unlawful, but violative per se because utterance of inadvertent or unknowingly false statements by Ees in context of concerted activity is protected under Act; moreover, rule is overly broad because it is applicable on its face not only to nonworking time, but also to statements made while off E's property)

House of Cycle, Inc., t/a Kay Motors 264 NLRB No. 137
(establishing rule prohibiting salesmen from talking about the U on company time, violated 8(a)(3) and (1) where it was overly broad and discriminatorily and specifically aimed at U activities)

Documation, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 052
(prohibiting Ees from talking to other Ees with whom they have no working relationship, unlawful where other Ees wear U T-shirts)

St. Joseph Hospital Corporation 260 NLRB No. 089
(E held to have unlawfully maintained and to have given effect to work rule which prohibited, inter alia, utterance of inadvertent or unknowingly false statements which Bd has held protected w/i context of concerted activity; also rule was unlawful in that it was overly broad because it prohibited making of such statements during Ees' nonworking time and while off company property)

Sanitas Care, Inc. d/b/a Parkview Acres Convalescent Center 255 NLRB No. 149
(telling Ees not to discuss U, violative)

Sani-Serv, Division of Catalox Corporation 252 NLRB No. 186
(rule prohibiting encouraging of or participation in work slow down or work stoppage, violative as it prohibits even those protected by Section 7)

Tartan Marine Company 247 NLRB No. 073
(warning Ees against talking while working, not violative, since working time is for work and particularly since warnings not a policy initiated during U's campaign)

International Business Systems, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 102
(violation where after election in lithographic unit E told unit pressmen that there would be no talking among them; there was no persuasive evidence concerning necessity to prohibit pressmen from talking to each other)

Ford Motor Company, Automotive Division, Twin Cities Plant JD-57-81
(forbidding U caucus adherent to keep labor relations newsletter where it was visible to others although he and others had been permitted to keep other literature there, unlawful)

5018 PERMISSION TO USE COMPANY TIME AND PREMISES OR FACILITIES

5018-0100 Generally

5018-0150 Permission to use violation per se

Sav-On Drugs, Inc. JD-(SF)-214-81
(to favored U)

5018-2500 Use by employee group

Allen Brooks, d/b/a A.T. & K. Enterprises and Urban Enterprises 264 NLRB No. 164
(E did not violate Act where it agreed to let Ees hold meeting at its office where it was unaware that purpose of meeting was to discuss U; also fact that supervisors distributed decertification ptn not violative as supervisors were U members, unit members and responsibility for such supervisor's conduct will not be imputed to E absent evidence that E encouraged, authorized or ratified such conduct)

5018-3300 Discriminatory denial of use

Methodist Hospital of Gary, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 054
(E's refusing to permit use of its cafeteria during voters' non-working time for purpose of conducting U bargaining committee election open to all unit Ees, unlawful, where E permitted use of cafeteria for non-U activities unrelated to meals and absent evidence use of cafeteria would have caused delays to customers particularly Ees who had only half hour for lunch break, and previous U election held in cafeteria had gone smoothly; further, E's contention that permitting election would have exposed it to ULP charges, rejected)

Sheraton Puerto Rico Corp. d/b/a Puerto Rico Sheraton Hotel 248 NLRB No. 113
(E hotel's telling Ees, some of whom were supervisors, not to re-enter hotels public premises, violative, since prohibition was consequence of Ees' having engaged in protected concerted activity, and also since there was no evidence that E had rule forbidding discharged Ees from entering its premises or evidence that discharged Ees who had not exercised Section 7 rights were ever denied entrance to hotel)

5018-6700 Solicitation, collection, circulation, etc., on company time and premises

Central Solano County Hospital Foundation, Inc., d/b/a Intercommunity Hospital 255 NLRB No. 048
(only areas in which Ee solicitation must be permitted, at instant hospital which has no large area for Ees, are relatively small (Ee) breakrooms, since they do present viable, albeit limited, channel of communication by Ees for organizational purposes)

F.W.I.L. Lundy Bros. Restaurant, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 057
(preparation and circulation of anti-U ptn during working hours and soliciting Ees to sign same held violative)

Boniface Group Homes, Inc. JD-162-81
(no-distribution, no-solicitation rules invalid where they permitted solicitation and distribution only with permission of management)

Local 175, Automobile Workers, (UAW) v. N.L.R.B. 645 F.2d 1151 (C.A.D.C. Mar 1981)
(E's refusal to permit U to distribute leaflets concerning U endorsed candidates for public offices in nonworking areas of plant during nonworking time, not unlawful, since insufficient relationship to Ees' interests to come w/i guarantee of Section 7 mutual aid and protection where principal thrust of leaflet was to induce Ees to vote for specific candidates, not to educate them on political issues relevant to their employment condition)

5024 SURVEILLANCE

Durango Boat, a Division of U.S. Industries, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 046
(plant superintendent's temporary relocation of his desk to plant area during pendency of election, not unlawful, where superintendent was partially immobilized because of use of crutches due to physical infirmity, as result of relocation he was more accessible to Ees and to work in plant, and he thereby overcame effects of his physical handicap)

5024-0100 Generally

Knogo Corporation 265 NLRB No. 130
(Pinkerton guard's hired by E to patrol plant premises during Ee strike threat, not violative, since there was no evidence that guards took photographs, made notes, or engaged in any other conduct other than patrolling plant premises for security purposes)

All-New Stamping Co. JD-(SF)-247-81
(E who questioned Ee about her relationship with another Ee and later told her he had found out that she and other Ee had U relationship did not violate Act as he gained knowledge of Section 7 activity during course of non Section 7 inquiry)

Belcher Towing Company v. N.L.R.B. 614 F.2d 88 (C.A. 5, Mar. 1980)
(surveillance need not be known to Ees to be unlawful)

5024-0150 Coercive per se

Nabisco, Inc. JD-(SF)-34-82
(E's instituting surveillance program concerning its truck drivers, at instant facility, by outside security agency, not violative where, (1) E was experiencing difficulties with truck drivers, (2) E resorted to common method of surveillance to determine nature and scope of problems with drivers, and (3) E had no reason to believe that Ee (CP) would be among those drivers surveilled)

5024-0800 Demanding surrender of membership cards solicited by employee

Sheridan Drive Super Duper, Inc. d/b/a Tonawanda Super Duper 260 NLRB No. 102
(asking Ee who was very active in U organizing campaign if she had any U cards containing names and addresses of Ees who had signed violative)

5024-1600 Following employees or organizers

Southland Knitwear, Inc. and Metropolitan Industries, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 087
(E boarding bus in pursuit of organizer of U competing with U favored by E to observe him talking to Ees, violative)

5024-1600—Cont.

K-Mart Corporation 255 NLRB No. 112
(following off-duty Ees, who were U adherents, throughout E's store and on one occasion, uninvitedly joining them during their breaktime to prevent them from discussing U, violative)

Womaco Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Nashville, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 069
(no unlawful surviellance of routeman who encountered supervisors on route more frequently after E learned of U activity where routeman's U activity did not bring him into contract with large number of Ees, and in view of plausible explanation for presence of supervisors at locations where they encountered routeman)

Badische Corporation 254 NLRB No. 164
(supervisors' taking breaks with U adherent not unlawful where supervisors had taken breaks with U adherent prior to his U activity and there was no evidence that supervisors had followed Ee to break room)

5024-2000 Searching employees, their work stations or lockers

Intermedics, Inc., et al. 262 NLRB No. 178
(E's attempts to search Ees' purses held unlawful surveillance)

(asking Ee to keep E informed about what was going on in context of U meeting, violative)

Anja Engineering Corporation 256 NLRB No. 161
(instructing Ees to report on U activity of U representatives or other Ees, violative)

Arrow Automotive Industries, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 152
(instructing Ees to report identities of U card solicitors who approached them in any way that was offensive to them violative as this interferes with Ees protected rights to solicit cards)

Mark I Tune-Up Centers, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 138
(E unlawfully coerced Ee to withdraw his support from U, to maintain surveillance of U activities, and to inform on U activities of his fellow Ees, by repeatedly quizzing Ee, who was concerned about his job if he supported U, about identity of U activists)

Metropolitan Life Insurance Company 256 NLRB No. 100
(asking Ee to report conversations at her luncheon meeting with U officials, and asking Ee the next day about what transpired at such luncheon upon which Ee informed E exactly what was said by each Ee, violative)

Custom Trim Products 255 NLRB No. 096
(soliciting Ees to report U activities of other Ees, violative)

General Electric Company 255 NLRB No. 092
(E asking Ees to report U activity including harassment, pressure to sign cards, home visits, violence and destruction of property, unlawful, in that request too broad and vague since pressure and harassment could reasonably be interpreted as meaning whatever E or individual Ees thought they meant and company policy not only tended to but did in fact impinge on Ees' lawful self-organizational rights)

Guerdon Industries 255 NLRB No. 086
(offering $100 reward for names of Ees posting U literature on company walls held unlawful inducement of Ees to inform on fellow Ees) solicitors and also to discourage card solicitors in their protected organizational activities)

Styrest Nursing Home JD-(ATL)-95-82
(informing Ees that they had right not to allow U officials into their homes and to bring any such harassment to supervisors' attention, unlawful, since this had tendency to: 1) encourage Ees to report to E U supporters who harassed them in their homes on behalf of U, and 2) make U supporters decide whether solicitation of fellow Ees might be considered harassment and reported to E; nor was violation fully remedied by subsequent memorandum by E disavowing any intent to interfere with Ees' rights and requesting that Ees not report any harassment to E but to NLRB)

M. Livingston & Company d/b/a D.G. Hayes Wholesale Grocery Co. JD-398-82
(ordering Ee – who was briefly and for one time only acting as supervisor, but w/o having supervisory authority – to make list of Ees on his shift who were wearing U T-shirts, buttons and caps and to record what Ees were saying about U unlawfully created impression of surveillance and coerced Ees)

California Circuit Assembly/Anderson Circuits, Inc. JD-(SF)-71-82

Ron Simmons, d/b/a Bell Construction Co., Inc. JD-(SF)-296-81
(soliciting Ee to report to E concerning U activity of other Ees, violative)

Metropolitan Teletronic Corp. JD-(NY)-12-81
(E's president questioning Ees in group about who attended U meetings and asking Ee whether he was going to meetings and if he would report back on events of meeting, violative)

(posting notice asking Ees to report threats by U activists, violative)

Rock Hill Telephone Company v. N.L.R.B. 605 F.2d 139 (C.A. 4, 1979)
(holding that supervisor requested Ee to furnish him with list of Ees who would vote for or against U, not supported by substantial evidence)

TRW-United Greenfield Division v. N.L.R.B. 637 F.2d 410 (C.A. 5, 1981)
(although unsuccessful, soliciting Ee to attend U meetings and report U activities to management, violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Colony Printing and Labeling, Inc. 651 F.2d 502 (C.A. 7, June 1981)
(E's urging Ees to report anyone who tries to cause you any trouble at your work, or puts you under any kind of pressure to join U, unlawful, since E failed to distinguish between coercive conduct and lawful organizing activity)

5024-3300 Photographing employees

Knogo Corporation 265 NLRB No. 130
(Pinkerton guard's hired by E to patrol plant premises during Ee strike threat, not violative, since there was no evidence that guards took photographs, made notes, or engaged in any other conduct other than patrolling plant premises for security purposes)

Daniel Construction Company, A Division of Daniel International Corporation 264 NLRB No. 079

Valley Plaza, Inc. d/b/a Captain Nemo's 258 NLRB No. 076
(photographing Ees engaged in peaceful, lawful picketing, violative where it tended to implant fear of future reprisals and constituted coercive surveillance)

C. E. Wilkinson & Sons, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 176
(photographing of pickets violative, notwithstanding U had reputation for violence where there was no actual violence or mass picketing)

Cutting, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 076
(photographing striking Ees while they were engaged in peaceful picketing held unlawful surveillance, since it was intended to intimidate pickets and make them fearful of reprisals for engaging in lawful strike and picketing)

John Cuneo, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 110
(picket line activities)

Mediterranean Diner, Inc., t/a Bay Diner 250 NLRB No. 029

5024-3500 Televising or videotaping employees

Intermedics, Inc., et al. 263 NLRB No. 170
(monitoring Ees' activities by means of TV camera held unlawful surveillance)

Conair Corporation 261 NLRB No. 178
(taking of video tapes of strikers on picket line, of Ees entering and leaving plant, and of trucks and automobiles in and around plant premises, unlawful, since there can be no instance, under the circumstances herein, where Ees who learn that their actions on picket line or on jobsite are being videotaped would not have impression that their activities were under surveillance)

5024-3700 Creating impression of surveillance

Donnelly Manufacturing Co. Division of Brockhouse Corp. 265 NLRB No. 196
(supervisor asking U adherent if she thought U would get in, unlawful, notwithstanding contention questioning not coercive where Ee openly supported U and unaccompanied by threat of reprisal or promise of benefit, since right of avowed U supporter to be free of coercion, interference or restraint no less than secret supporter, and threat of reprisal or promise of benefit not necessary for interrogation to be unlawful; further, questioning interferred with Ees' Section 7 rights since it sought to elicit information regarding strength of Ee support for U and lead Ees to believe U activities under surveillance)

Belcher Towing Company 265 NLRB No. 159
(supervisor's telling Ees, during U organizational campaign, that he had learned through his sources of information, that a certain Ee was U plant, unlawful)

Belcher Towing Company 265 NLRB No. 159
(supervisor's statement to Ee that supervisor was told that Ee was U plant, but that Ee should tell nobody because supervisor would lose his source of information, unlawful)

Belcher Towing Company 265 NLRB No. 159
(supervisor's statement to Ee that E would find out which Ees were pro-U, especially if Ee had signed U authorization card, that E had told supervisor E would have to examine every card for authenticity, and that E could look at Ee's card and verify signature, unlawful)

Halliburton Services (Coffeyville, Kansas), A Division of Halliburton Company 265 NLRB No. 144
(shop forman's standing in guard office watching Ees passing out U literature, violative)

Howard and Roberta Feldman Corporation d/b/a L. A. Baker Electric 265 NLRB No. 293
(E held to have created impression of surveillance by stating to Ee that E had seen known U protagonist and Ee talking to the other Ees, and that E wanted such conversations stopped)

Hillside Avenue Pharmacy, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 205
(E's conduct in stating to E that E had learned Ee was going to vote for U, and correcting Ee when Ee denied he had signed U card, by telling Ee that he had in fact signed card, unlawful)

(supervisor's informing U adherent that she, supervisor, had received word that U adherent was under close observation, violative)

De Queen General Hospital 264 NLRB No. 069
(informing Ee that her name had been mentioned at every supervisory meeting concerning U activities and as being associated with U, violative)

Laird Printing, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 040
(E's president informing Ee that he knew Ee was U's biggest supporter and that he had to watch what he said to Ee because anything he said would go right back to U and asking Ee as key Ee, why do you want U anyway, violative)

Danzansky-Goldberg Memorial Chapels, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 112
(no violation where prior to decertification election E's owner got into argument over medical coverage with Ee stormed out of room, and shouted I'm getting tired of all this shit. Pretty soon it will be all over since statement was ambiguous generalized prediction on outcome of election rather than assertion that he knew how each Ee was going to vote and majority was going to vote for U's ouster, was not addressed to Ees, and contained no reference to surveillance)

The Exchange Bank 264 NLRB No. 111
(E telling Ee that at least 10 people had told him that he had gotten all this started, and that she was trouble maker and instigator in bookkeeping department, and it can't be allowed to go on and then asking her why she wouldn't tear up ptn and telling her he would do whatever was necessary to see that bank ran smoothly, violative)

The Moore Company, Inc., Div. of Easco Corp. 264 NLRB No. 159
(where supervisor commented to Ee that he had seen Ee talking to another Ee and questioned Ee as to whether latter Ee had asked him to sign U authorization card; questioning regarding card solicitation unlawful but supervisor's comment that he saw two Ees talking, without more did not constitute unlawful surveillance)

Virginia Apparel Corporation 264 NLRB No. 030
(telling Ees that E knew what matters were discussed and which Ees were present at U meetings, violative)

Hudson Oxygen Therapy Sales Company 264 NLRB No. 004
(in determining whether E has created an impression of surveillance of Ees' U activities, Bd applies test as to whether Ees could reasonably assume from actions or comments of E that their U activities had been placed under surveillance)

Airborne Freight Corporation 263 NLRB No. 181
(where Ee had refused to tell E who had signed U authorization cards but was subsequently told by another Ee that supervisor had shown him E's list of U supporters, unlawful impression of surveillance was created, since first Ee would assume that supervisor's information had been obtained covertly)

Trexler Lutheran Home for Children t/a Frostburg Village of Allegany County Nursing Home 263 NLRB No. 042
(supervisor's stating to U adherent that she was aware of U organizing going on in her department, that she was aware that there had been U meeting prior night, and that she had lived long enough w/o U and was going to do so now, violative)

Acme Motors, Inc., t/a Acme Datsun 263 NLRB No. 077
(company owner's stating he had ways of finding out who started U because his brother was U president, violative)

A. A. Superior Ambulance Service 263 NLRB No. 069
(E's stating it had list of those Ees who had signed with U, violative)

Air Products and Chemicals, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 045
(E's statement to Ee that he had heard Ee was for U violative as form of unlawful interrogation not as creating impression of surveillance as it put Ee in position of having to admit or deny U involvement)

The Martin-Brower Company 263 NLRB No. 025
(distribution center manager's statement to (U adherents) that he already knew about all your meetings held violative)

Knogo Corporation 262 NLRB No. 171
(E who held Ee meeting and told Ees present that they had been chosen to attend based on their influence in shop and their strong interest in the organizing activities violated Act; notwithstanding such conduct was not alleged as violation in C where E's actions are uncontroverted and and closely relate to subject matter of C)

Granite City Journal, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 140
(E's mentioning to Ees that two big wheels were primarily responsible for promoting U, unlawful, even though E did not state whom he had in mind and assertedly could have legitimately obtained such information from supervisors who attended U meeting; E learned of U campaign from newspaper article and not from supervisors; and E's statement, made in connection with accounts opening up and jobs being available only to those who wanted to remain gave rise to implication in his reference to big wheels of threat of possible future retaliation)

Granite City Journal, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 140
(E's describing to Ee, during course of unlawful interrogation, what had occurred at U meeting that Ee had attended, unlawful)

Cherokee Culvert Company, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 108
(informing Ee that E had an even number of Ees for and against E and that with Ee's vote E could win election created unlawful impression of surveillance)

Wegner Distribution Services, Inc. d/b/a Distribution Services West 262 NLRB No. 096
(impression created when E informed Ee of number of Ees that had signed anti-U ptn)

Zero Corporation, Zero East Division 262 NLRB No. 064
(E's general manager's comment to U adherent made in their church parking lot that he was supprised that 2 of Ees were so prounion, violative, as creating impression of surveillance, notwithstanding comment made off worksite and was followed by remarks on unrelated matters)

Dutch Boy, Inc., Glow-Lite Division 262 NLRB No. 001
(I hear you're the one pushing the U — and brought them in here —)

Onan, a Division of Ona Corporation 261 NLRB No. 187
(open and admitted systematic surveillance of which Ees would vote for U and making of lists accordingly accompanied by threats, unlawful)

Conair Corporation 261 NLRB No. 178
(taking of video tapes of strikers on picket line, of Ees entering and leaving plant, and of trucks and automobiles in and around plant premises, unlawful, since there can be no instance, under the circumstances herein, where Ees who learn that their actions on picket line or on jobsite are being videotaped would not have impression that their activities were under surveillance)

Marion Rohr Corporation 261 NLRB No. 138
(plant manager's telling active U adherent that he knew that she had been at U meeting that day, violative)

Marion Rohr Corporation 261 NLRB No. 138
(telling Ees that U was around plant forcing Ees to sign cards, that he knew of 2 Ees who were soliciting signatures, of 12 Ees who were at U meeting and he knew date of next U meeting, violative)

Brooks Brothers, a Division of Garfinckel, Brooks Brothers, Miller & Rhoads 261 NLRB No. 130
(where Ee worked strictly on commission, new store managers statement to Ee that he fired one guy to keep 10 people happy, asking her whether she was happy and calling her one of U's biggest supporters held unlawful announcement of grant of benefit, coercive interrogation, Ee surveillance, and constitutes objectionable conduct)

Heads and Threads Company, a Division of MSL Industries, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 115
(supervisor's statement to Ee that latter was trying to get U in was not unlawful creation of impression of surveillance, but was unlawful threat of discharge when statement was completed with reminder of what happened after last attempt to get U in)

H. B. Zachry Company 261 NLRB No. 098
(pin-pointing identity of Ees who were named in U's telegram as organizers for U by reading their names to supervisors and management and by posting their names, unlawful)

Homemaker Shops, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 080
(supervisor's statement that he had been instructed to inform E's president of all Ee's calls relating to U created unlawful impression of surveillance)

Sterling Sugars, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 071
(E official's statement to Ee, I heard you're fooling with bad company, violative since comment concerned U and constituted impression of surveillance)

T.H.E. Co. d/b/a L. D. Brinkman Southeast 261 NLRB No. 025
(supervisor's telling Ee, Good morning Jimmy Hoffa violative, since he was directly stating that he recognized him as Teamster activist, same as Hoffa)

Eau Claire Press Company 260 NLRB No. 148
(telling U adherent that E knew she was one behind U who started U activity, violative, where such statement created impression that Ees' U activities were under surveillance)

Checker Cab Company of Virginia, Inc., d/b/a Avis Rent-A-Car 260 NLRB No. 118
(one week after unlawful discharge telling dischargee that company knew who were pro-U Ees, violative)

5024-3700—Cont.

Advanced Mining Group, Div. of Republic Corp., Lucerne Facility 260 NLRB No. 073
(E's supervisors observed by Ees at site of U meeting; supervisors had expressed desire to find out who would be at meeting)

Gentile Pontiac 260 NLRB No. 086
(while conclusion is not warranted that E created impression of surveillance when he first told Ee that he had heard rumors Ees were interested in forming U since information apparently came to E fortuitously, E's subsequent remarks concerning such rumors created impression of surveillance where E stated that information came from reliable source and indicated that E's knowledge was no longer based on gossip but on purposeful scrutiny of Ees' U activities; such conduct, in context of other unlawful statements and Ees' circumspect U activity, unlawfully tends to inhibit such activity)

Beck Studios, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 044
(E's president asking Ee if he had signed authorization card and further stating that he thought other Ees had signed, violative)

Hochschild Kohn, Division of Supermarkets General Corporation 260 NLRB No. 025
(unprecedented buildup of store security personnel during critical period, their observation of Ees talking among themselves, taking notes, and interrogating Ees created impression of surveillance)

Midwest Electric Manufacturing Corporation 260 NLRB No. 032
(statement to Ee mentioning names of Ees who attended U meeting, unlawful)

Walter Carpet Mills, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 096
(impression created where supervisor informed Ee that everyone told him Ee was working for U but he was sure Ee would not be so dumb)

Brooks Shoe Manufacturing Company, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 071
(prefatory statements made by supervisor to Ees that he heard U was trying to get in and I hear you are trying to get a U in which occurred prior to violative interrogations are not violative in and of themselves as creating impression of surveillance since they were not construed by Ees as his having spied on them and did not occur after U meetings)

Puerto Rico Hotel Association 259 NLRB No. 058
(no impression created where supervisor informed Ee, correctly, that letter which Ee showed him was written by certain U official, in view of fact supervisor had been member of U council and thus knew writing style of official)

Fibracan Corp. 259 NLRB No. 014
(supervisor's statement to Ee that he knew about scheduled U meeting, who was behind meeting, and that he had list of Ees planning to attend meeting, held violative)

Lord & Taylor, A Division of Associated Dry Goods Corp. 258 NLRB No. 082
(telling U adherent that E had asked if she was into Us during course of discussion about Ee's possible organizing activities, violative, where such question created impression that Ee's U sympathies and activities were under surveillance)

Valley Plaza, Inc. d/b/a Captain Nemo's 258 NLRB No. 076
(violation where E interrogated Ee as to who attended U party and who signed U authorization cards, thereby creating impression of surveillance)

Piggly Wiggly, Tuscaloosa Division Commodores Point Terminal Corporation 258 NLRB No. 142
(telephoning U adherent at home concerning Ees U meeting and reminding Ee about prior conversation regarding better benefits and stating I don't know why you got this started, violative, where conversation amounted to implied promise to improve benefits if Ee would reject U and created impression of surveillance by telling Ee that E knew who had gotten U started)

Hopcraft Art and Stained Glass Works, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 106
(asking Ee if U adherents had gone to U on E's time or on their own time unlawfully created impression of surveillance in light of E's known anti-U animus)

Greyhound Food Management, Inc. d/b/a Burger King 258 NLRB No. 178
(E's widespread inquiries into Ees' organizational activities, unlawful, since, as a kind of regular monitoring, E maintained a virtual surveillance of Ees' protected activities and, given closely-knit Ee community involved, thereby also conveyed impression of maintaining such surveillance)

Schwan's Sales Enterprises, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 149
(statement to Ee that Ee would be swing vote in election, violative, where such remark created impression that E had ascertained swing votes by investigation or surveillance)

Salem Paint, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 068
(E's remark concerning free lunch to Ees who had attended U meeting at diner insufficient to establish that E had created an impression of surveillance to its employees...)

N.L.R.B. v. Berger Transfer & Storage Co. 678 F.2d 679 (C.A. 7, May 1982)
(impression created where suggested that certain Ees were instigators of U drive)

Midwest Stock Exchange, Inc., et al. v. N.L.R.B. 635 F.2d 1255 (C.A. 7, 1980)
(ct affirmed Bd finding that supervisor's statement to Ee that her name had been dropped around in connection with her U activities, coupled with supervisor's relocation of Ee's desk so it would be next to his own and Ee would have to share telephone with him for admitted reason of keeping tabs on Ee's U activities created impression of surveillance)

Midwest Stock Exchange, Inc., et al. v. N.L.R.B. 635 F.2d 1255 (C.A. 7, 1980)
(ct held contrary to Bd that supervisor's statement to Ee that she had heard that Ee had conducted U meeting in her home did not constitute impression of surveillance when put into context with rest of conversation)

Red Oaks Nursing Home, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 633 F.2d 503 (C.A. 7, 1980)
(impression created where personnel director inquired about certain U activities of Ee and told her, Well, we know about all Union meetings and the parties that have been going on...we know everything the union is doing. You girls don't have to keep hiding it from us)

N.L.R.B. v. Chem Fab Corporation 691 F.2d 1252 (C.A. 8, Nov. 1982)
(ct held that substantial evidence in record as whole supported Bd's finding that Ees could reasonably assume that E had Ees' U activities under surveillance from statement made by E in speech to Ees to effect that E found out everyone who had signed cards in favor of the U during previous U election)

(statement to Ees which indicated that E knew that some Ees had signed U authorization cards creates impression of surveillance and is violative)

Western Marine Electronics, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 057
(unlawful surveillance where E's president went to restaurant where Ee and U organizer were waiting to give Ees ride to U meeting, notwithstanding no direct evidence E's president overheard any remarks concerning ride to meeting, in view of E's unlawful interrogation to keep abreast of U matters, and E's president's walking to restaurant on crutches to obtain soft drink available at plant, remaining until Ee and U organizer left and his antagonistic remarks to U organizer indicative that E's president's purpose was surveillance rather than refreshment)

Micro Mail Corporation 257 NLRB No. 005
(night superintendent's conduct in removing signed U cards from Ee's jacket pocket and reading them individually, violative)

Palby Lingerie, Inc. and Argus Lingerie Corp. 252 NLRB No. 032
(no unlawful surveillance found, where family members of E were seen observing non-Ee U organizers demonstrating and soliciting Ees in front of plant; such evidence indicates no more than a brief inspection by E of open U activity in front of its property)

Maywood, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 139
(supervisor's saying to Ee who became member of in-plant committee for U, I hear you have been making house calls, violative where he knew Ee was active in U and he had idea that that was what the house calls were about)

Maywood, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 139
(supervisor's reading magazine at same table in cafeteria where U leaders sat, following three U activists into women's room and just standing there, and following three other U activists all through the plant, not unlawful surveillance of Ees' U activities, where U campaign was conducted openly in areas on E's premises in full view of management, and supervisor's duties required her to observe what was going on)

Lippincott Industries, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 034
(no unlawful surveillance of Ees' U activities where 2 supervisors observed U organizers participating in circulating and signing U authorization cards in company parking lot)

Taggarts International, Inc., d/b/a Taggarts Driving School JD-(NY)-62-81
(supervisor's going over to Ees in presence of U representative to see what was going on, not violative where supervisor was not aware that U representative was present and was acting w/i his area of supervisory responsibility)

Southern Moldings, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 115
(no unlawful surveillance by presence of personnel manager and foreman in Ees' entrance area of plant during time that Ees were distributing U literature; foreman was there for only few minutes and had legitimate purpose and it was not unusual for personnel manager to be in that area)

Crown Cork & Seal Company, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 035
(merely observing leafletting in front of plant, not unlawful)

Crown Cork & Seal Company, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 035
(observing leafletting in front of plant and taking contemporaneous notes of such activity, violative)

Metal Industries, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 201
(presence of 3 management officials in Ees' parking lot during U's leafletting, not unlawful surveillance where officials regularly stationed themselves in parking lot at end of day to bid Ees good-bye and answer their questions; management may lawfully observe U's public leafletting, particularly on company premises, unless officials do something extraordinary; here only unusual action was one official's placing himself farther away from Ees than usual, thus having less impact)

J. P. Stevens and Company, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 044
(although supervisor's conduct in observing pro-U Ees while they were distributing handbills on E's premises was not in itself unlawful, his conduct in writing what appeared to be their names on a pad was unlawful, since conduct created in Ees' minds impression that their names were being noted for future discrimination)

All-New Stamping Co. JD-(SF)-247-81
(supervisor who happened to see Ee circulating U ptn on company property did not violate Act absent proof that supervisor did anything out of the ordinary)

Rust Tags, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 099
(supervisor's taking of notes as Ees punched out to go to U office to file grievances, unlawful)

Church's Fried Chicken, Inc. JD-(SF)-301-79
(actions of supervisor who barged into Ees' U meeting at hotel, demanded to know what had been discussed and provoked fight violative, notwithstanding E demoted supervisor and assigned him to remote area as this action was not enough to effectively repudiate supervisor's unlawful conduct)

5024-4500 Employee espionage

Nanticoke Homes, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 107
(threat to terminate Ee spokesman unless he gave E information on U meeting, unlawful)

5024-5000 Professional espionage

ABC Liquors, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 174
(hiring investigator to report on Ees' U activities as well as theft, unlawful)

Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc. 253 NLRB No. 023
(supervisor asking Ee if Ee had stated at U meeting that she had received only 1 merit raise while employed by E and upon Ee's denial she had made statement informed Ee several witnesses had heard her and that in effect Ee was saying that E was a terrible place to work and asked if Ee wanted U, unlawful)

5024-5300 Monitoring employees by interrogation

Air Products and Chemicals, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 045
(E's statement to Ee that he had heard Ee was for U violative as form of unlawful interrogation not as creating impression of surveillance as it put Ee in position of having to admit or deny U involvement)

Greyhound Food Management, Inc. d/b/a Burger King 258 NLRB No. 178
(E's widespread inquiries into Ees' organizational activities, unlawful, since, as a kind of regular monitoring, E maintained a virtual surveillance of Ees' protected activities and, given closely-knit Ee community involved, thereby also conveyed impression of maintaining such surveillance)

5024-5400 Surveillance of employees at work

Belcher Towing Company 265 NLRB No. 159
(E's conduct in obtaining and maintaining list of pro-U ees, covertly acquired by closely watching, inviting and listening to conversations of Ees, in context of vigorous anti-U campaign, held unlawful surveillance)

Knogo Corporation 265 NLRB No. 130
(Pinkerton guard's hired by E to patrol plant premises during Ee strike threat, not violative, since there was no evidence that guards took photographs, made notes, or engaged in any other conduct other than patrolling plant premises for security purposes)

Intermedics, Inc., et al. 262 NLRB No. 178

G.T.A. Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Restaurant Horikawa 260 NLRB No. 029

(ct held that evidence amply supported the tendency of interrogations and threats during critical period to coerce)

N.L.R.B. v. Los Angeles New Hospital 640 F.2d 1017 (C.A. 9, Mar 3, 1981)
(interrogation of Ees by E violates Section 8(a)(1) where that interrogation carries threat of reprisal against Ee or when it forms pattern of coercive conduct tending to inhibit exercise of Section 7 rights; test is whether, underall circumstances, interrogation reasonably tends to restrain or interfere with Ees in exercise of their protected rights)

N.L.R.B. v. Brewton Fashions, Inc., a Division of Judy Bond 682 F.2d 918 (C.A. 11, Aug. 1982)
(proper evaluation of the evidence, however, requires more than merely examining a list of factors since intimidation may occur even if all factors cut in favor of the E)

5030-0125 Coercive circumstances

Quality Packaging, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 142
(passing out peanut pins to Ees and supervisors on election day, held not coercive interrogation as pins, even if worn, did not purport to show U Ees' sympathies)

Knogo Corporation 265 NLRB No. 130
(Ee allegedly being questioned by supervisor as to what Ee would do in event of strike (against E), not violative, since inquiry, if made, was not coupled with any coercive statement that any disciplinary action would follow)

Saint Vincent's Hospital 265 NLRB No. 006
(questioning Ee in Ee's locker room about U literature she was carrying violative notwithstanding atmosphere was pleasant, questioning not part of any systematic and intensive interrogation and supervisor neither reprimanded nor scolded Ee, as this is conduct which interferes with Ee rights)

Daniel Construction Company, A Division of Daniel International Corporation 264 NLRB No. 079
(test of whether an E's interrogation of an Ee violated Section 8(a)(1) is whether, under all the circumstances, the interrogation reasonably tends to restrain or interfere with Ees in the exercise of rights guaranteed them by the Act)

Fairleigh Dickinson University 264 NLRB No. 098
(test for whether interrogation is coercive. It is well settled that test of interference, restraint, or coercion under Section 8(a)(1) does not turn on E's motive or whether coercion succeeded or failed. Test is whether E engaged in conduct which it could reasonably be said, tends to interfere with free exercise of Ees' rights under Act)

General Electric Company 264 NLRB No. 126
(interrogation concerning U activity violative notwithstanding it was not accompanied by promises or threats)

Union Mining Company of Allegany County, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 052
(asking Ee about his testimony at Bd hearing and accusing him of lying, unlawful)

Host Services, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 086
(questioning Ees about their U sentiments violative, notwithstanding Ees openly supported U)

Oklahoma City Collection District of Browning-Ferris, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 012
(interrogation of Ee concerning his U activity violative, notwithstanding Ee felt he had not been coerced)

Knogo Corporation 262 NLRB No. 171
(E who asked Ee if he had signed U authorization card violated Act, notwithstanding Ee initiated conversation and E may not have been antagonistic in his questioning)

R. L. White Company, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 069
(E's interogation of Ee concerning how he would vote in election violative, notwithstanding Ee stated he would vote for U and later went on strike as such statements are presumptively coercive)

Zero Corporation, Zero East Division 262 NLRB No. 044
(E who asked Ee what he expected to get out of U violated Act as such porbing of Ees motives is coercive even absent threats of reprisal)

Howard Johnson Motor Lodge 261 NLRB No. 123
(E's manager asking Ee what Ee thought of E's anti-U remarks at assembly of Ees, and how she thought representation election would turn out, not unlawful, since interrogation not of coercive character)

Hedison Manufacturing Co. 260 NLRB No. 137
(E who published in newspaper and posted on plant bulletin board notice requesting Ees who were interviewed by or gave statements to Bd agents to identify themselves to E violated Act because written request that Ees who have cooperated with Bd investigation into E's alleged ULP's identify themselves is coercive where E did not state purpose of request, no assurances against reprisal were given; such requests create fear that E may retaliate against Ees who gave statements)

Amoco Fabrics Co., Patchogue-Plymouth Division/ Nashville Mills 260 NLRB No. 098
(notwithstanding supervisor and Ee were good acquaintences, interrogation concerning U activity violative)

Holland American Wafer Company 260 NLRB No. 041
(asking Ee how many Ees had attended U meeting and comment, Well, you were there, held coercive notwithstanding fact that supervisor had fairly open relationship with Ee)

Graham Architectural Products Corporation 259 NLRB No. 153
(former supervisor asking U supporter what she thought U could get for her held violative notwithstanding question came up in personal conversation about Ee's baby and general discussion about U benefits and wages around country as such friendly interrogation is unlawful and Ee's former supervisor was still E's agent)

Graham Architectural Products Corporation 259 NLRB No. 153
(although supervisor assured Ee that nothing would happen to Ee if she answered questioned about how she felt about U, inquiry into Ee's views toward U held violative even in context of assurances against reprisals)

Graham Architectural Products Corporation 259 NLRB No. 153
(asking Ee whether she was for the U violative notwithstanding Ee replied she did not need to tell him but then answered, since here, supervisor, though conceding Ee did not need to answer did not withdraw the question and so silence could be construed as support for U)

Saint Luke's Hospital 258 NLRB No. 045
(supervisor's asking Ees why they wanted U and whether it was related to her supervisory activity violative, as E interference, restraint and coercion does not turn on motive but whether conduct may reasonably be said to interfere with free exercise of Ee rights)

Brockwood Furniture, Division of U.S. Industries 258 NLRB No. 028
(coercive impact of E's probing into Ee's U sentiments which was accompanied by threats of changes and comments indicating E's displeasure with Ee's U activities and that E was interrogating other Ees not diminished by fact that Ee being interrogated was known U supporter)

Colum Equipment, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 015
(interrogating U adherents, unlawful notwithstanding E did not accompany interrogation with threats or promises and did tell one U adherent that no Ee would lose his job because of U support; such interrogation is coercive though not in context of threats or promises and though Ees are openly pro-U; interrogation herein was against background of ULPs and was directed to Ees' own U activities rather than to activities generally, so that E appeared to seek information as basis for taking action against questioned Ees in particular)

Raley's, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 155
(supervisor's questioning of Ee concerning her U preference violative, notwithstanding there was no fear on part of Ee in responding to supervisor where there was no justification for inquiry or any assurances given that there would be no reprisals if she chose not to respond)

Harrison Steel Castings Company 262 NLRB No. 059
(notwithstanding inquiry by supervisor to Ee as to why he was wearing pencil holder with U logo was friendly in nature occurring in circumstances lacking any suggestion of harassment and Ee openly manifested support of U, Bd found violation as inquiries of this kind convey E's displeasure with Ee's U activity and coercive impact not diminished by Ee's open support of U or by absence of attendant threats)

Mark I Tune-Up Centers, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 138
(in order to fully evaluate interrogation's tendency to coerce, it is necessary to examine all of the surrounding circumstances; actual coercion is not necessary, but rather, true test is whether questioning tends to be coercive; and isolated interrogation, occuring in atmosphere free of coercive conduct, is not per se unlawful)

Swanson-Nunn Electric Company 256 NLRB No. 131
(questioning Ee concerning his U activity violative, notwithstanding it was done in joking manner)

The Swingline Company; Spotnails, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 119
(low level supervisor's questioning of Ee who had declared her U preference violative notwithstanding there were no threats of reprisals as it made Ee aware of her supervisor's position on U and possibility of dissuading Ee existed)

Transportation Management Corp. 256 NLRB No. 025
(supervisor's questioning co-worker about Ee's U interests coupled with threats of reprisals and statements creating the impression of surveillance were not casual, isolated, or friendly incidents and held coercive interrogations)

Complas Industries, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 186
(E's questioning of one Ee about another Ee's work performance and U activity, unlawful since it was neither isolated nor innocuous and did not meet Johnnie's Poultry standards, where Ee was questioned more than one time on same subject by high management official and was not assured against reprisals or informed that he was free to refuse to answer; neither Johnnies Poultry nor later cases have limited requirements of that case strictly to attorneys)

W. W. Grainger, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 145
(interrogation is coercive if it may have tendency to coerce Ee in free exercise of his rights and where E questioned allegedly violatively discharged Ee in his own home in amicable manner it nontheless violated Act)

Robert King d/b/a Regency At The Rodeway Inn 255 NLRB No. 133
(supervisor's questioning of Ee as to whether she knew who was passing around U ptn violative and not so de minimis as to require no remedial order notwithstanding U activity had ended by time of interrogation, E engaged in no other unlawful acts, statutory rights of only 1 Ee violated and that Ee did not communicate that fact to other Ees)

Gossen Company, a Division of the United States Gypsum Company 254 NLRB No. 041
(supervisor asking Ee what Ee thought U could do for him, unlawful, notwithstanding question unattended by threats of reprisal or promises of reward and fact Ee had already declared himself by wearing U button, since query conveyed E's displeasure and coercive impact not diminished by E's open U support or absence of threats and prior decisions to the contrary overruled)

Gossen Company, a Division of the United States Gypsum Company 254 NLRB No. 041
(supervisor asking Ee who was wearing U button what button meant to Ee and why he was wearing it, unlawful, notwithstanding question unaccompanied by threat or promise since conveyed E's displeasure and coercive impact not diminished by E's open U support or absence of attendant threats and prior decisions to the contrary overruled)

Shirt Shed, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 042
(interrogation of openly pro-U Ees concerning their U sympathies or reasons for supporting U violative; fact that questioning did not contain threats does not remove its coercive nature)

Westwood Import Company, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 162
(supervisor asking U steward who had been passing out information for U why she was so much for U after he had requested steward to cease distribution activities, unlawful, since supervisor was high-up in hierachy and questioning took place in his private office at a time when E was unlawfully refusing to bargain)

Weyerhaeuser Company 251 NLRB No. 097
(questioning Ee about wearing U button and if it was going to feed him, violative)

Lippincott Industries, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 034
(interrogation of 2 Ees, unlawful, since probing of views on Us, even addressed to Ees who have openly declared their prounion sympathies, is coercive)

Henry A. Young, d/b/a Columbia Engineers International 249 NLRB No. 144
(E at meeting he called after being notified U had claimed majority asking Ees how many of them had signed up with U, unlawful, in context of extreme animus displayed by E at meeting, notwithstanding Ees did not answer)

Sentry Investigation Corp. 249 NLRB No. 130
(E's president interrogating Ees as to whether they had signed card for U, who was ring leader of drive to change bargaining representative, and who had signed U cards, unlawful; notwithstanding contention Ees not coerced where no reason stated for questions and no assurances against reprisals given, one Ee questioned was threatened with reduction of and change in hours, and another Ee requested legal counsel to be present as subsequent interview with E's president)

National Southwire Aluminum 247 NLRB No. 175
(E's statements to Ee wearing U button that his U activities would have negative effect on his chances for job reassignment constitute threat but not interrogation as to his U sympathies)

Boyle-Midway, Inc., Division of American Home Products Corp. 247 NLRB No. 124
(systematic interrogation about U with individual Ees in locus of authority, violative, where purpose of questioning was not revealed and no assurance against reprisals were made)

Methodist Hospital of Indiana, Inc. JD-88-82
(asking Ee to wear Happiness is No Union button, unlawful notwithstanding Ee had option of not wearing it and refused to take button)

Adbill Management Corporation d/b/a Limetree Beach Hotel JD-61-82
(E's asking Ees to declare their feelings on appointment of particular Ee as U steward and telling Ees that E would never have chosen her to be shop steward, violative; E was intruding into enclave which was business of no one but the U)

Formaloy Corp. JD-(ATL)-87-81
(interrogation of Ees concerning their U sympathies, etc., unlawful unless safeguards set out in Johnnie's Poultry Co. 146 NLRB 770 at page 775, have been met)

Mr. Herbert of California, Inc. JD-(SF)-83-81
(E's asking prospective supervisor suppose there is a vote, How are you going to vote?; not violative, since statements were too vague and ambiguous; statements reflected isolated interrogation conducted in noncoercive setting)

The Wackenhut Corporation JD-60-81
(supervisor violated Act when he asked Ee on several occasions How is the U going notwithstanding interrogation unaccompanied by any threat or warning)

Perry Plaza, Inc. JD-(SF)-367-80
(interrogation of Ees tending to be coercive is not cured by casual nature or friendly tone of conservation)

Datagraphix, Inc. JD-(SF)-344-80
(personnel administrator's suggestion to Ee during her preemployment interview that she avoid discussion of organizing effort then under way by claiming disinterest in process, unlawful where circumstances carried coercive implications beyond literal meaning of words used)

McLean Trucking Company JD-368-80
(manager's calling Ee into his office and privately questioning her because he had learned that Ees had signed U cards, violative where there was no evidence of any assurances against reprisals; in addition, private conference conducted in manager's office tended to contribute to coercive atmosphere)

Byrne Sand & Gravel Co., Inc. JD-314-80
(supervisor asking Ee what's this I hear about U, not unlawful, where isolated incident and absent U animus)

Palomar Transport, Inc. JD-(SF)-158-80
(E's interrogation of U adherents as to their own and coworkers' sympathies, unlawful, where E failed to indicate that it had any legitimate purpose for questioning them and gave Ees no assurance against retaliation)

Church's Fried Chichen, Inc. JD-(SF)-301-79
(questioning Ee about U's organizing effort by low level supervisor violative where E's higher-level management had clearly indicated their anti-U feelings and had discharged supervisor who had become involved in U activity)

N.L.R.B. v. Hasbro Industries, Inc. 672 F.2d 978 (C.A. 1, Feb. 1982)
(interrogation of low-level Ee, who spoke English with difficulty, by vice presidents in isolated setting as to why he wanted U, unlawfully coercive)

N.L.R.B. v. Amber Delivery Service, Inc. 651 F.2d 57 (C.A. 1, June 1981)
(questioning of known U supporter by company president, in his office with supervisor present, on same day that Ees held meeting in midst of U organizing campaign violative)

K & K Gourmet Meats, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 640 F.2d 460 (C.A. 3, 1981)
(E who questioned Ee regarding her personal position on unionization did not violate Act where U had already informed E it represented majority of Ees, Ee was good friend of E and no coercive element was present)

Standard-Coosa-Thatcher Carpet Yarn Division, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 691 F.2d 1133 (C.A. 4, Sept. 20, 1982)
(E who persistently questioned Ee as to whether she favored U, violated Act as this type of questioning has reasonable tendency to intimidate, notwithstanding Ee initiated conversation, unhesitatingly volunterred her pro-U sentiments and stuck by her position)

Standard-Coosa-Thatcher Carpet Yarn Division, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 691 F.2d 1133 (C.A. 4, Sept. 20, 1982)
(questioning of Ee by supervisor occuring in locked office, and containing threats of plant closure violative)

Standard-Coosa-Thatcher Carpet Yarn Division, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 691 F.2d 1133 (C.A. 4, Sept. 20, 1982)
(where E's attorney questioned about 70 Ees regarding their signing of U authorization cards and read statement to all but one Ee that Ee could refuse to cooperate and face no reprisals, it nevertheless violated Act as to that one Ee as Bd has ruled that failure to observe Johnnie's Poultry 146 NLRB 770, standards is a per se violation of Sec. 8(a)(1))

Standard-Coosa-Thatcher Carpet Yarn Division, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 691 F.2d 1133 (C.A. 4, Sept. 20, 1982)holding interview behind locked doors was coercive and under such circumstances even truthful comments by supervisor impermissible as tending coercively to discourage unionization)

Central Freight Lines, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 666 F.2d 238 (C.A. 5, Jan. 1982)
(interrogation of two Ees improper since it reasonably tended to coerce Ees, in light of E's demonstrated antipathy to unionization and discharge, shortly after alleged interrogations, of both Ees which do not lend credence to E's portrayal of these incidents as harmless exchanges)

TRW-United Greenfield Division v. N.L.R.B. 637 F.2d 410 (C.A. 5, 1981)
(interrogation found coercive where E systematically tried to ascertain Ees' U sympathies, Ee was questioned in office of and by Safety and Training Director when Ee sought assistance on personal matter; Ee's evasive answer indicated fear of retaliation, E did not give purpose of questions and gave no assurance against retaliation)

TRW-United Greenfield Division v. N.L.R.B. 637 F.2d 410 (C.A. 5, 1981)
(interrogation of U adherent found coercive in view of E's opposition to U and systematic effort to ascertain U smypathies, Ee was questioned by and in office of high ranking official and refused to answer until assured of no reprisals, E sought specific responses, including possibly names of Ees who attended U meetings and lached valid purpose)

N.L.R.B. v. Streamway Division of The Scott & Fetzer Company 691 F.2d 288 (C.A. 6, Oct. 1982)
(asking Ees if they wished to join U because of their complaints, not unlawful in absence of evidence of actual or intended restraint; questioning of Ees by professional attitude survey company hired by E did not have probable effect of coercion and had actual effect testified to by Ees of relaxed atmosphere and air of confidentiality)

N.L.R.B. v. Jarva Incorporated 623 F.2d 483 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(supervisor predicting to Ee and to another Ee that because Ee was instigator of U that Ee would be head committeeman once U got in, not unlawful, since statements made jokingly and Ees stated they felt no coercion)

Sioux Products, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 684 F.2d 1251 (C.A. 7, Aug. 1982)
(interrogation of Ees is not per se violative of Act. To fall w/i ambit of Sec. 8(a)(1), either words themselves or context in which they are used must suggest element of coercion or interference)

N.L.R.B. v. Rich's Precision Foundry, Inc. 667 F.2d 613 (C.A. 7, Dec. 1981)
(questioning Ee with which he ordinarily would have no contact by plant manager in his own office about U activities of another Ee held coercive interrogation)

Robert J. Wilson, RD v. Liberty Homes, Inc. 663 F.2d 620 (C.A. 7, Oct. 1981)
(test if not whether Ee was actually coerced but whether questions tend to coerce)

Midwest Stock Exchange, Inc., et al. v. N.L.R.B. 636 F.2d 1255 (C.A. 7, 1980)
(ct held contrary to Bd that supervisor's asking Ee in supervisor's office how she felt about U after stating that Us only sit on their butts, collect dues, and cause old people like Ee to lose their jobs did not amount to coercive interrogation where supervisor only conveyed her views of consequences of unionization and was making noncoercive prediction)

Midwest Stock Exchange, Inc., et al. v. N.L.R.B. 636 F.2d 1255 (C.A. 7, 1980)
(ct held contrary to Bd that supervisor's questioning Ee twice on how she felt about U did not constitute coercive interrogation where there was no implied or stated threat)

Midwest Stock Exchange, Inc., et al. v. N.L.R.B. 636 F.2d 1255 (C.A. 7, 1980)
(ct held contrary to Bd that supervisor's act of calling Ee to her office and telling him not to hand out U literature did not constitute act of coercive interrogation where Ee testified that supervisor never questioned Ee but only explained to him company policy regarding solicitation)

Pelton Casteel, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 627 F.2d 23 (C.A. 7, 1980)
(foreman's actions of calling approximately fifty Ees to his office one at a time to explain significance of U cards held, contrary to Bd, not to constitute unlawful interrogations where thrust of interviews was to inform Ees that E was against unionization and record does not indicate that any Ee could reasonably have viewed interviews as coercive)

N.L.R.B. v. Mark I Tune-Up Centers, Inc. 691 F.2d 415 (C.A. 8, Oct. 1982)
(factors ct considers in determining whether coercive interrogation took place are: 1)history of E hostility, 2) nature of information sought, 3) identi-

Nebraska Bulk Transport, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 608 F.2d 311 (C.A. 8, 1979)
(interrogation of Ee's wife regarding U activities of Ees, unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. Brooks Cameras, Inc. 691 F.2d 912 (C.A. 9, Nov. 1982)
(E's interrogation of its Ees constitutes ULP when, under circumstances, it reasonably tends to restrain or interfere with Ee U activity)

N.L.R.B. v. Los Angeles New Hospital 640 F.2d 1017 (C.A. 9, Mar 3, 1981)
(E's president asking Ee if she knew anything about scheduled U meeting and to relay to him name of other Ees at meeting, subsequently requesting Ee not to go to U meeting and after meeting asking Ee if she signed U card, unlawful, where Ee not assured that no reprisal would be taken and it was not communicated whether there was valid purpose in asking question)

N.L.R.B. v. Los Angeles New Hospital 640 F.2d 1017 (C.A. 9, Mar 3, 1981)
(violation, where E's president asked Ee if she had attended U meeting and names of people at meeting, and Ee was subsequently asked by supervisor how she felt about U during interview in which she protested transfer since Ee was not assured no reprisals would be taken and it was not communicated whether there was valid purpose in asking question)

Clear Pine Mouldings, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 632 F.2d 721 (C.A. 9, 1980)
(interrogation of Ees, assertedly to investigate unfavorable and untrue rumors concerning E's future course of conduct if U were defeated, violative, where Ees were not assured against reprisals or told why they were beng questioned; moreover, rumors were too speculative to be taken seriously)

N.L.R.B. v. Silver Spur Casino 623 F.2d 571 (C.A. 9, 1980)
(enforcement granted on Bd's determination that interrogation of Ee, unlawful, where totality of circumstances indicated animosity towards Ee for her U activity and threat of discharge for any further violation of E's no solicitation rule was made)

Butler-Johnson Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 608 F.2d 1303 (C.A. 9)
(no violation, where no evidence E authorized remarks of low level supervisor; further, where low level supervisor had voted in election and Ees knew that his anti-U bias was personal Ees did not have just cause to believe he had made threatening remarks on behalf of management)

Weather Tamer, Inc. and Tuskegee Garment Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 676 F.2d 483 (C.A. 11, May 1982)
(Es are permitted to talk to their Ees and to question them about their U activities so long as conversation is not threatening or coercive in violation of Sec. 8(a)(1); in judging likely impact of such conversation, totality of circumstances surrounding conversation must be considered)

5030-0150 Coercive in light of other unfair labor practice

Like Corporation JD-(SF)-69-80
(interrogation concerning U sympathies violative notwithstanding accompanied by assurances against reprisal where also accompanied by offer of benefit)

N.L.R.B. v. Amber Delivery Service, Inc. 651 F.2d 57 (C.A. 1, June 1981)
(isolated, fleeting conversations between U adherents and company president regarding whether Ees could help him out in any way violative where they followed presidents receipt of U ptn were one-to-one encounters in small workforce)

5030-0175 Not coercive per se

Hackensack Hospital Association 264 NLRB No. 177
(supervisor who showed Ee piece of U literature, told him he picked it up near maintenance shop, and asked Ee if he had ever seen it did not violate Act, as this question w/o any other inquiry concerning Ee's U activity or membership and w/o evidence regarding time and circumstances of questioning is insufficient to show an unlawful purpose)

Mark I Tune-Up Centers, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 138
(in order to fully evaluate interrogation's tendency to coerce, it is necessary to examine all of the surrounding circumstances; actual coercion is not necessary, but rather, true test is whether questioning tends to be coercive; and isolated interrogation, occuring in atmosphere free of coercive conduct, is not per se unlawful)

John Cuneo, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 110
(mere asking experienced skilled Ee if he intended to attend Bd hearing, not violative where Ee's supervisory status was in question and Ee would probably be witness at Bd hearing)

Sweetheart Cup of Texas 251 NLRB No. 087
(supervisor's asking Ee single question of how he liked film on Teamsters U that E had shown at Ee meeting, not coercive)

James F. Stanford, Inc. d/b/a Ace Machine Co. 249 NLRB No. 079
(questioning applicant for supervisory position how he felt about U not violative, since such individuals must be treated as supervisors and not as Ees under Act notwithstanding he was subsequently hired as rank-and-file Ee)

Mr. Herbert of California, Inc. JD-(SF)-83-81
(informing leadman that his occupancy of prospective supervisory position would require him to resign from U and to forswear any U activity, not violative, since statement made in context of discussing managerial position with Ee)

Mr. Herbert of California, Inc. JD-(SF)-83-81
(E's asking prospective supervisor suppose there is a vote. How are you going to vote?; not violative, since statements were too vague and ambiguous; statements reflected isolated interrogation conducted in noncoercive setting)

Perry Plaza, Inc. JD-(SF)-367-80

Clements Wire and Manufacturing Company, Inc. JD-338-80
(supervisor's engaging in interrogation w/o giving Ees assurance against reprisals, unlawful)

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company JD-(SF)-304-79
(E's inquiries regarding possible violations of valid rule restricting access of U representatives to Ees who are working can be interpreted as involving an effort by E to ascertain facts to aid investigation into unauthorized visits of non-Ees; although U activity may have been the conduct that generated violations of valid plant rules, E will not be precluded from questioning Ees about violations of such rules or be barred from reminding Ees that they are not to engage in activity in disregard of rules)

Burns Electronic Security Services, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 624 F.2d 403 (C.A. 2, 1980)
(Bd's finding that E's manager's inquiry among Ees as to who was filing charges in regard to change in job requirements was unlawful interrogation reversed since there was no finding by Bd or substantial evidence on record that statement was motivated by anti-U animus, that it was made in attempt to seek information upon which E would take action against pro-U Ees, or that it was made in coercive or hostile setting)

Standard-Coosa-Thatcher Carpet Yarn Division, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 691 F.2d 1133 (C.A. 4, Sept. 20, 1982)
(E who granted Ee's request for time off and stated that he was granting her request because he knew she had not signed U card did not violate Act, because when Ee responded that she had signed U card, he still granted her time off, thus dispelling any threat of reprisal)

Sioux Products, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 684 F.2d 1251 (C.A. 7, Aug. 1982)
(interrogation of Ees is not per se violative of Act. To fall w/i ambit of Sec. 8(a)(1), either words themselves or context in which they are used must suggest element of coercion or interference)

N.L.R.B. v. Circo Resorts, Inc., d/b/a Circus, Circus 646 F.2d 403 (C.A. 9, May 1981)
(while questioning Ees concerning U activities is not a per se violation of Sec. 8(a)(1), Bd determination that interrogation has been coercive is entitled to be upheld so long as there is substantial evidence to support it)

5030-2000 Questioning of applicants for employment

Grumman Flxible Corporation 264 NLRB No. 034
(question on employment application concerning prior workmen's compensation claims not violative as it is pertinent question bearing upon applicant's history of personal injury)

Ohio Brass Company 261 NLRB No. 018
(E's inquiry of applicant on its employment application form whether applicant had previously filed industrial or workers' compensation claim, not violative since E had legitimate and substantial business justification for its inquiry, i.e., health and safety of its work force)

Clear Pine Mouldings, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 632 F.2d 721 (C.A. 9, 1980)
(ct held E violated Act where personnel manager urged prospective Ee not to join U; absence of threats does not alter conclusion)

5030-2050 Questioning applicants as to their union membership, adherence, or activities

Danzansky-Goldberg Memorial Chapels, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 112
(violation, where supervisor asked Ee when she was applicant and new Ee how she felt about Us, warned her that U adherents who were poor role models would try to recruit her into U and that she should let supervisor know if harassed in any way, informed her that owner was opposed to U, and advised her to stay out of U)

Semi-Alloys, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 127
(questioning job applicants about U sympathies during pre-polygraph-test interview, violative)

(safety director asking Ee in his private office what Ees thought of him and what Ee thought of U violative as it was potentially harmful to Ees in terms of potential retaliation, no valid purpose for such inquiry given to Ee and no assurance there would be no retaliation)

5030-4020 Concerning own union membership adherence or activities

Tokheim Corporation 265 NLRB No. 210

(supervisor's asking U adherent whether he went to U meeting of previous night and on a later occasion asking whether Ee had another meeting when Ee refused to work overtime, violative, notwithstanding Ee's open declaration concerning his U preferences)

Great Western Coca-Cola Bottling Company, d/b/a Houston Coca-Cola Bottling Company 265 NLRB No. 106

(supervisor's interrogation of Ee about his U affiliation, unlawful, where supervisor, claiming he had taken over task of soliciting memberships for E's credit U, had asked Ee if he belonges to the U, meaning the credit U; such explanation by supervisor, who testified he never clarified to Ee that he was talking about credit union, was far-fetched, preposterous and comports with other efforts on his part while testifying to be misleading)

Saint Vincent's Hospital 265 NLRB No. 006

(questioning Ee in Ee's locker room about U literature she was carrying violative notwithstanding atmosphere was pleasant, questioning not part of any systematic and intensive interrogation and supervisor neither reprimanded nor scolded Ee, as this is conduct which interferes with Ee rights)

Larid Printing, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 040

(E's production manager asking Ee if Ee was for U and informing Ee if U comes in it will kill us, unlawful)

Washington Beef Producers, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 155

(asking Ee about whether authorization cards were being signed at E's facility, violative)

Cardio Data Systems Corp. 264 NLRB No. 011

(posting of notice requiring Ees to add their names to any pro-U related notices posted on company bulletin board, unlawful, notwithstanding fact that notice did not use word must as an order requiring compliance, but only requested writer of notice to reveal name, since it was improper interference with, and inquiry into identity of pro-U activists)

Cardio Data Systems Corp. 264 NLRB No. 011

(posting of notice requiring Ees to add their names to any pro-U related notices posted on company bulletin board, unlawful, notwithstanding fact that notice did not use word must as an order requiring compliance, but only requested writer of notice to reveal name, since it was improper interference with, and inquiry into identity of pro-U activists)

Airborne Freight Corporation 263 NLRB No. 181

(asking Ee to disclose names of Ees who had signed U card, unlawful)

Jacobo Marti & Sons, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 097

(unlawful interrogation found where Ee, found general agent, asked Ee if he knew anything about solicitation of U cards and accused Ee of soliciting)

Air Products and Chemicals, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 045
(E's statement to Ee that he had heard Ee was for U violative as form of unlawful interrogation not as creating impression of surveillance as it put Ee in position of having to admit or deny U involvement)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 263 NLRB No. 015
(supervisor asking black Ee who was wearing U insignia why Ee was getting so involved with U, if any one was presuring him to join U and in same conversation indicating to Ee that E would be making more black supervisors but that Ee should not wear pro-U insignia and to continue to do so would result in his not being considered for supervisory position, unlawful)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 263 NLRB No. 015
(supervisor asking Ee why Ee was wearing tee shirt with insignia on it, unlawful)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 263 NLRB No. 015

United Sanitation Services, Division of Sanitas Service Corp. 262 NLRB No. 173
(questioning Ee as to his attitude towards U, inquiring as to identity of just who favored U and/or attended U meetings, and giving instructions to spy on U activities of others and keep management informed, violative)

Granite City Journal, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 140
(while E's questioning of Ee concerning her U sympathies might be considered so offhand as to be mere expression of curiousity, questioning held unlawful, in view of newness of Ee involved, timing of query just after U filed ptn, and fact that this was first in series of interrogations)

Granite City Journal, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 140
(E's asking whether Ee had informed other Ees that fellow Ee was serving as E's spy, not unlawful, where E seemed more interested in finding out how he was regarded by Ees than by probing their U sentiments)

Wagner Distribution Services, Inc. d/b/a Distribution Services West 262 NLRB No. 096
(circulation of anti-U ptn designed to provide evicence which E could use to support refusal to recognize U pending conducting of election rather than to test truth of claim of majority support of U, unlawful; further, entire process could not be characterized as involving poll by secret ballot and thus not privileged by Struckness criteria)

Wagner Distribution Services, Inc. d/b/a Distribution Services West 262 NLRB No. 096
(asking Ee what she thought about U and to talk to other Ees about it and see what they thought, and inquiring aobut result of Ees inquiries, unlawful)

R. L. White Company, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 069
(supervisor who asked Ee why she was not wearing company T-shirt, and therefore not announcing her preference against U, violated Act)

(asking U adherent what she expected to get from U and what U had promised her, violative)

Checker Cab Company of Virginia, Inc., d/b/a Avis Rent-A-Car 260 NLRB No. 118
(one week after unlawful discharge asking dischargee whether she had signed U card held violative)

Beck Studios, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 044
(E's president asking Ee if he had signed authorization card and further stating that he thought other Ees had signed, violative)

Bedford Farmers Cooperative 259 NLRB No. 165
(manager's questioning applicant for employment regarding Ee's knowledge of U and E's difficulties in their bargaining relationship held not violative, since question did not seek disclosure of Ee's or other Ees' U activity or sentiments)

Graham Architectural Products Corporation 259 NLRB No. 188
(former supervisor asking U supporter what she thought U could get for her held violative notwithstanding question came up in personal conversation about Ee's baby and general discussion about U benefits and wages around country as such friendly interrogation is unlawful and Ee's former supervisor was still E's agent)

Graham Architectural Products Corporation 259 NLRB No. 183
(although supervisor assured Ee that nothing would happen to Ee if she answered questioned about how she felt about U, inquiry into Ee's views toward U held violative even in context of assurances against reprisals)

Graham Architectural Products Corporation 259 NLRB No. 183
(asking Ee whether she was for the U violative notwithstanding Ee replied she did not need to tell him but then answered, since here, supervisor, though conceding Ee did not need to answer did not withdraw the question and so silence could be construed as support for U)

Quick Find Co. 259 NLRB No. 144
(asking non-unit Ee if we were going to go through with this (U) and whether Ee's hustand, found supervisor herein, intended to go through with it, violative as it inquired into future plans of Ees)

Delta Hosiery, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 139
(unit Ee's poll of Ees about their U sympathies, violative, since such action was clearly viewed by Ees as act of management and management itself acquiesced in conduct)

Fieldcrest Mills, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 098
(supervisor's statement to Ees who were wearing U buttons that he did not see why they wanted U; that pay was pretty good, not violative as attempt to indirectly ascertain U sentiments of Ee standing with him but mere expression of opinion)

Lake Development Management Co. 259 NLRB No. 069
(violation, where E, by questioning Ee about his grievances, sought to determine his reasons for supporting U)

Faulkner Hospital 259 NLRB No. 052

Caffe Giovanni, Inc. d/b/a Giovanni's 259 NLRB No. 031
(interrogating Ee regarding his U activities, unlawful, where Ee's testimony to that effect was credited and, other than a denial, E offered no explanation for its conduct)

Caffe Giovanni, Inc. d/b/a Giovanni's 259 NLRB No. 031
(E's interrogation of Ee as to his U activities, accompanied by threats of unspecified harm if U won election, unlawful, where, although Ee may have taken E's remarks in jest, she was quite sincere, meant what she said, and understood seriousness of her remarks)

Versatile Services, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 109
(E's interrogation of Ees as to why they had not joined U violative notwithstanding U-security clause present in collective bargaining agreement where 30 day time period in which to join U had not expired and State was right-to-work state)

St. John's Construction Corporation 258 NLRB No. 067
(E's asking Ees whether they signed U membership cards and inquiring into Ee views concerning their support for either of the two Us seeking representation, violative)

Lord & Taylor, A Division of Associated Dry Goods Corp. 258 NLRB No. 082
(asking U adherent what Us might be involved in her prospective organizing activity, violative)

Injected Rubber Products Corp. 258 NLRB No. 092
(questioning of Ees reqarding their U views by leadmen imputed to E and unlawful, since leadmen held agents of E, notwithstanding not supervisor, since Ees could reasonably believe questioning was at direction of management where E had made it clear to Ees that leadmen were eyes of management for purpose of reporting to management, transmitted instructions and disciplinary notices, communicated with management if emergency during shifts where management not working and kept log book)

Piggly Wiggly, Tuscaloosa Division Commodores Point Terminal Corporation 288 NLRB No. 142
(during course of U meeting, asking Ees why they were there, violative)

Hopcraft Art and Stained Glass Works, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 190
(talking to Ee who with other Ees had meeting with U, upon receipt of letter from Bd concerning discharge of discriminatee and asking Ee what took place down there at the U hall that I am being subpoenaed for this? violative)

Greyhound Food Management, Inc. d/b/a Burger King 258 NLRB No. 178
(interrogations concerning Ees' organizational activities and sentiments toward U, unlawful, where interrogations were numerous rather than isolated, in most instances Ees had not initiated them, E had manifested anti-U animus, and E's characterization of amicability in interrogation incidents was not supported by record nor by defense to otherwise unlawful interrogations as matter of law)

Saint Luke's Hospital 258 NLRB No. 045
(supervisor's asking Ees why they wanted U and whether it was related to her supervisory activity violative, as E interference, restraint and coercion does not turn on motive but whether conduct may reasonably be said to interfere with free exercise of Ee rights)

Brookwood Furniture, Division of U.S. Industries 258 NLRB No. 028
(interrogation about U activities generally found interference, and interrogation specifically as to why Ee attended U meeting, whether Ees had any questions about E's anti-U speeches, and whether one Ee could change the mind of his wife who was on the in-plant organizing committee, unlawful and interference)

Gregory Chevrolet, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 034
(E's reading name of each Ee who signed card and looking at him, violative where meeting was held with U's permission and purpose was to satisfy E that Ees were not conned into signing cards and E's looking at each Ee was clearly designed to elicit response from Ees as to their U activities and sentiments)

Gregory Chevrolet, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 034
(E's reading name of each Ee who signed card, asking him why he signed card and why he wanted U, and what problems he had; violative as E may not probe into reasons for Ees' supporting U)

Presbyterian/St. Luke's Medical Center 258 NLRB No. 021

Schwan's Sales Enterprises, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 165
(election set aside and new election appropriate in view of small size of unit, closeness of first election and presence of other Ees when E grabbed U cap off Ee's head and issued threat of discharge if Ee continued to wear U cap)

Schwan's Sales Enterprises, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 165
(statement to Ee that Ee would be swing vote in election, violative, where such statement amounted to subtle interrogation by way of comment designed to elicit reply from Ee as to how he would vote)

Stanley M. Feil, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 045
(supervisor asking Ee what she thought of speech in opposition to U by E's president, unlawful, since question necessarily constituted attempt to ascertain Ee's feelings about U and had coercive effect where supervisor had previously interrogated Ee)

Pilgrim Life Insurance Company 249 NLRB No. 160
(supervisor instructing Ee to admit to E's president that she had signed U card and was conversant with U's organizing efforts, unlawful)

Pilgrim Life Insurance Company 249 NLRB No. 140
(E's president asking Ee to interrogate other Ees concerning U activities to ascertain if certain Ee had signed U card and Ee's subsequent interrogation of another Ee, unlawful, since Ee acting as non-supervisory agent of E)

Steiner-Liff Textile Products Company 249 NLRB No. 152
(request for Ees' vote of confidence at Ee meeting violative, since such vote could be expected to reveal dissatisfied Ees who would be most likely to support U organizational efforts)

Sentry Investigation Corp. 249 NLRB No. 130
(E's president interrogating Ees as to whether they had signed card for U, who was ring leader of drive to change bargaining representative, and who had signed U cards, unlawful; notwithstanding contention Ees not coerced where no reason stated for questions and no assurances against reprisals given, one Ee questioned was threatened with reduction of and change in hours, and another Ee requested legal counsel to be present at subsequent interview with E's president)

Han-Dee Pak, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 107

Sundberg Machine & Tool, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 076
(asking Ee whether he was the one who would like to put U in plant, unlawful, in view of fact that interrogator was Ee's superior and conversation occurred in shop and dealt with U activity)

Livingston Shipbuilding Company 249 NLRB No. 001
(investigatory interrogation of alleged threat of one Ee by another which arose out of circumstances surrounding U's organizing campaign, unlawful where E failed to observe necessary safeguards or assure Ees that participation in interrogation was on voluntary basis w/o prospect of reprisal)

DRW Corporation d/b/a Brothers Three Cabinets 248 NLRB No. 095
(questioning Ees about signing of U authorization cards violative absent assurances against reprisal and reasons for asking questions)

Conagra, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 085
(supervisor's response just sign a U card to remark of Ee that if she didn't hurry she (Ee) would be fired, not unlawful, since supervisor's reply not type of comment that would prompt response even though Ee replied she had signed card)

Permanent Label Corporation 248 NLRB No. 021
(E questioning of Ee regarding U organizational activity violative, notwithstanding it may have been done in friendly manner)

Permanent Label Corporation 248 NLRB No. 021
(questioning Ees as to why they wanted U violative notwithstanding Ees questioned had openly declared pro-U sympathies)

Pacesa, A Division of Fruehauf Corporation 247 NLRB No. 166
(on remand Bd adhered to finding of unlawful interrogations during critical period based on timing of interrogations and lack of evidence of valid purpose for questioning Ees on U sentiments)

The Saloon, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 156
(remark not in the form of an interrogation but of a character likely to elicit a response revealing Ee's feelings about U held to have had practical effect of an interrogation and was unlawful)

Boyle-Midway, Inc., Division of American Home Products Corp. 247 NLRB No. 124
(systematic interrogation about U with individual Ees in locus of authority, violative, where purpose of questioning was not revealed and no assurance against reprisals were made)

(asking Ee if he could find out from his U friend what date election was to be held violative)

Hayes International Corporation JD-(ATL)-29-81
(interrogation of Ee as to whom she was calling and whether the call was a business call, found not unlawful interrogation about Ee's U activities as alleged where, Ee had increased number of personal calls she made during work notwithstanding E's rule prohibiting personal calls on its phones during work time)

Pamida Discount Store JD-(SF)-59-81
(asking Ee about his U activity, violative)

Mr. Herbert of California, Inc. JD-(SF)-83-81
(E's asking prospective supervisor suppose there is a vote, How are you going to vote?; not violative, since statements were too vague and ambiguous; statements reflected isolated interrogation conducted in noncoercive setting)

New Mayo, Inc., d/b/a Mayo Products Company JD-(ATL)-18-81
(asking U adherent whether initials on his T-shirt stood for university when E knew they stood for U, violative)

Falconer and Sons JD-(SF)-232-80
(E's asking Ee if the Ees talked about U during working hours and whether this Ee would participate in sickout, unlawful)

Clements Wire and Manufacturing Company, Inc. JD-338-80
(supervisor's engaging in interrogation w/o giving Ees assurance against reprisals, unlawful)

Malibu Grand Prix Corp. JD-(SF)-90-80
(questioning Ees shortly before unlawfully discharging them if they worked for E or for U's business agent, unlawful since question in juxtaposition with discharges may have conveyed notion that U aspect of their refusal to work overtime contributed to discharge decision)

Cashmere Lumber Company JD-(SF)-93-80
(although supervisor's conduct would have been unlawful in organizational setting, his asking Ee why he sought to involve official of parent organization in U's problems at plant, accompanied by statements that Ees did not need U as long as he held his management job and that he would take care of Ees, not unlawful, notwithstanding supervisor's take-care-of statement since, in context of settled bargaining relationship with U, there was nothing in supervisor's remarks or surrounding circumstances from which Ee could have perceived a threat or promise)

Grandee Beer Distributors, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 630 F.2d 928 (C.A. 2, 1980)
(inquiry into Ees' pro-U sentiment and inquiry into reasons for that sentiment held coercive interrogation as supported by record evidence)

(questioning Ee in supervisor's office as to whether she had signed U card violative, notwithstanding Ee was not reluctent to discuss matter with E as tendency of E's conduct rather than its actual effect is dispositive)

Rock Hill Telephone Company v. N.L.R.B. 605 F.2d 139 (C.A. 4, 1979)

TRW, Incorporated v. N.L.R.B. 654 F.2d 307 (C.A. 5, 1981)
(where attorney for E interviewed Ee in company conference room about alleged improper U monetary reimbursement to Ees from U and then threatened Ee with subpoena after she refused to sign copy of her statement, E did not violate Act as interview was not coercive although behavior of attorney bordered on being unethical)

TRW-United Greenfield Division v. N.L.R.B. 637 F.2d 410 (C.A. 5, 1981)
(safety director asking Ee in his private office what Ees thought of him and what Ee thought of U violative as it was potentially harmful to Ees in terms of potential retaliation, no valid purpose for such inquiry given to Ee and no assurance there would be no retaliation)

N.L.R.B. v. Proler International Corporation 635 F.2d 351 (C.A. 5, 1981)
(E's personnel director asking Ees whether they were going to attend U meeting that day, and when an Ee answered she wasn't sure, stating that if Ee did attend she should not sign any papers because U would be lying, held not unlawful since w/i E's section 8(c) right to express opinion as no threat or promise of benefit made where question merely prefaced later remarks, occured at end of routine conversation was not aimed at determining if Ees supported U or part of larger unlawful campaign of interrogation)

N.L.R.B. v. Lloyd Wood Coal Co., Inc. 585 F.2d 752 (C.A. 5)

N.L.R.B. v. Streamway Division of The Scott & Fetzer Company 691 F.2d 288 (C.A. 6, Oct. 1982)
(asking Ees if they wished to join U because of their complaints, not unlawful in absence of evidence of actual or intended restraint; questioning of Ees by professional attitude survey company hired by E did not have probable effect of coercion and had actual effect testified to by Ees of relaxed atmosphere and air of confidentiality)

N.L.R.B. v. Schwan's Sales Enterprises, Inc. 687 F.2d 163 (C.A. 6, Sept. 1982)
(single conversation, on day of election or immediately prior thereto, between supervisor and Ee involving interrogation of Ee concerning his U attitudes, and during which supervisor unlawfully created impression of surveillance, unlawful, notwithstanding E's claim that there was no intent to intimidate, and that to so find was unreasonable)

N.L.R.B. v. Gibraltar Industries, Inc. and Case, Inc. 655 F.2d 1091 (C.A. 6, July 1981)
(E's president's interrogation of Ees not violative, since his inquiries into individual Ee sentiment and opinion on subject of unionization were sporadic, occurred in general work area, and had no discernible effect on Ee actions or attitudes)

N.L.R.B. v. Naum Brothers, Inc. 637 F.2d 589 (C.A. 6, Mar 17, 1981)
(comments and questions of supervisors to Ees provided requisite support for Bd's finding of unlawful interrogation)

N.L.R.B. v. Jarva Incorporated 623 F.2d 483 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(supervisor predicting to Ee and to another Ee that because Ee was instigator of U that Ee would be head committeeman once U got in, not unlawful, since statements made jokingly and Ees stated they felt no coercion)

N.L.R.B. v. Franklin Property Company, Inc., d/b/a The Hilton Inn 617 F.2d 467 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(ct enforced Bd order where there was substantial evidence to support findings that E coercively interrogated and threatened Ees)

Huron Cappsette, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 615 F.2d 712 (C.A. 6) (1980)
(violation where shortly after U organizing campaign began, company officials coercively interrogated and threatened Ees as to consequences of bringing in U)

Sioux Products, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 684 F.2d 1251 (C.A. 7, Aug. 1982)
(questioning of three Ees as to whether they would vote or had voted for U not violative where at least two of Ees were ardent U supporters experienced in U-R campaigns, and neither questioners identity (E's translator), nature of information sought nor particular Ee-E relationship involved indicate these Ees tended to be coerced by these statements; moreover, no evidence that other Ees may have overheard questioning)

N.L.R.B. v. Century Moving & Storage, Inc. 683 F.2d 1087 (C.A. 7, July 1982)
(interrogating Ees about U at meeting at which there was air of formality and putting them in position of having to explain reasons for supporting U, unlawful where E asserted no valid purpose for interrogation and gave no assurances against reprisal)

N.L.R.B. v. Lyon & Ryan Ford, Inc. 647 F.2d 745 (C.A. 7, Apr 1981)
(calling Ee into office and asking him what he thought about the U, violative)

Midwest Stock Exchange, Inc., et al. v. N.L.R.B. 636 F.2d 1255 (C.A. 7, 1980)
(ct held contrary to Bd that supervisor's asking Ee in supervisor's office how she felt about U after stating that Us only sit on their butts, collect dues, and cause old people like Ee to lose their jobs did not amount to coercive interrogation where supervisor only conveyed her views of consequences of unionization and was making noncoercive prediction)

Midwest Stock Exchange, Inc., et al. v. N.L.R.B. 636 F.2d 1255 (C.A. 7, 1980)
(ct held contrary to Bd that supervisor's questioning Ee twice on how she felt about U did not constitute coercive interrogation where there was no implied or stated threat)

Pelton Casteel, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 627 F.2d 23 (C.A. 7, July 1980)
(ct denied enforcement where record did not indicate that interviews, although conducted individually in a management office, were viewed by Ees as coercive, and interviewer was not high ranking company official but foreman)

N.L.R.B. v. Aluminum Ceramics, Inc. 690 F.2d 136 (C.A. 8, Oct. 1982)

General Thermo, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 664 F.2d 195 (C.A. 8, Nov. 1981)
(ct found assistant plant manager's questioning Ees about their U activities at company picnic, not unlawful, where such interrogation was isolated and casual, and took place in recreational atmosphere; moreover, no one gave evasive answers and this indicated lack of fear among Ees)

N.L.R.B. v. Westinghouse Electric Corporation 612 F.2d 1072 (C.A. 8)

N.L.R.B. v. Circo Resorts, Inc., d/b/a Circus, Circus 646 F.2d 403 (C.A. 9, May 1981)
(questioning Ees about their U membership followed by statements that E was afraid of what was happening at another E's unionized facility and that E did not want U at present time, unlawful)

(unlawful)

Crown Container Company v. N.L.R.B. 628 F.2d 1283 (C.A.D.C.)
(inquiry by guard at plant gate of Ees displaying sign in their vehicle, urging boycott of E's product, whether they were sympathetic to striking Ees and stating that if they were they shouldn't be working for E, unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. Brewton Fashions, Inc., a Division of Judy Bond 682 F.2d 918 (C.A. 11, Aug. 1982)
(vice president calling Ee to his office and asking if she was distributing recipe cards found coercive and threat of discharge where this was first time in 7 years on job that she was called to his office, purpose was to learn of distribution of U cards, and E confirmed her understanding that she could lose job for passing U cards during work time)

Weather Tamer, Inc. and Tuskegee Garment Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 676 F.2d 483 (C.A. 11, May 1982)
(substantial evidence supported findings that asking Ee why she was not wearing U pin and whether she and her fellow Ees had signed U cards and asking another Ee to explain why she would vote for U and jeopardize other Ees' jobs violated Sec. 8(a)(1), in view of strong stance taken against U by E, plant shutdown in process at time of questioning, and actual content of conversations between E and Ees)

5030-4030 Solicitation of grievances

Schnadig Corporation 265 NLRB No. 020
(E's chairman of the board, following speech in which he made coercive threat to close plant, asking Ee at her work station if there was anything he could do for her and when Ee informed him that rubber matting would make standing more comfortable, chairman said he would see what he could do, unlawful, notwithstanding matting never provided)

De Queen General Hospital 264 NLRB No. 069

(E who questioned Ee a few weeks prior to election about what he thought would benefit company did not mention U did not violate Act)

Gould, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 052
(no violation where E, during Ee meetings, asked generally for questions rather than complaints and in response to Ees' complaints, E stated that production manager would look into problem about materials which gave them production problems, and that E would look into production quotas, as E implied no promise of benefit and E could not ignore production problems where these had not been brought to his attention previously)

Caffe Giovanni, Inc. d/b/a Giovanni's 259 NLRB No. 031
(interrogation of Ees accompanied by solicitation of gripes or complaints, and requests that E be advised of any complaints or problems which Ees might have, unlawful)

Caffe Giovanni, Inc. d/b/a Giovanni's 259 NLRB No. 031
(essence of violation in soliciting grievances is not the solicitation itself, but rather the inference that E will correct the problems; such promise is implicit in the solicitation and need not be expressed)

Greyhound Food Management, Inc. d/b/a Burger King 258 NLRB No. 178
(E's unprecedented inquiry into needs of Ees and solicitation of their problems, on a markedly more pervasive scale thean during periods prior to preelection period, unlawful, since E thereby solicited grievances from Ees and promised to resolve them in order to demonstrate that Ees had no need to resort to U organization)

Great Scot of Florida, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 126
(E asking Ee whether she or any Ee had any problems with company coupled with statement that Ees didn't need U, violative, notwithstanding that E had policy of encouraging Ees to bring their questions and dissatisfaction to management; however, there was no evidence that this policy included management's solicitation of grievances from Ees

Sanitas Care, Inc. d/b/a Parkview Acres Convalescent Center 255 NLRB No. 149
(soliciting grievances during organizational campaign, violative)

K-Mart Corporation 255 NLRB No. 112
(soliciting grievances from Ees, promising to remedy them, and actually remedying some of these complaints, violative)

General Electric Company 255 NLRB No. 092
(E's establishment and subsequent discontinuance of sounding board program upon U's filing of R ptn, unlawful, where purpose of program was to discourage support for U and discontinuance was in reprisal for Ee support of U; further, E's justification of discontinuance of program in order to avoid ULP charges, rejected, where program had been announced and implemented prior to filing of R ptn)

General Electric Company 255 NLRB No. 092
(E's conducting Ee attitude survey, unlawful, since for purpose of discouraging U support and where in light of subsequent promise to obtain concrete improvements constituted implied promise of redress of grievances)

(E holding meetings with varying Ee representatives chosen at random, unlawful, since initiated during U campaign in order to solicit grievances)

Knapp Foods, Inc. d/b/a Hi-Lo Foods 247 NLRB No. 166
(violation where, in course of anti-U campaign meeting, E's attorney asked Ees to discuss their grips against E; the attorney was soliciting grievances and E did nothing to rebut presumption that it was promising to remedy such grievances)

Tartan Marine Company 247 NLRB No. 073
(supervisor asking Ee if she had signed U card, unlawful, where supervisor called Ee's attention to E's notice regarding withdrawal of U cards, and in context of E's hostility to U and supervisor's reiteration of hostility)

Houston County Electric Cooperative, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 087
(asking Ee during U campaign what the problems were, unlawful, absent any previous policy of periodically soliciting grievances; such activity ... occuring in midst of U campaign inherently constitutes implied promise to remedy grievances and violates Section 8(a)(1))

Okeh Caterers, Inc. JD-(SF)-294-82
(E's asking Ee what kind of complaints Ees had about their work, not violative where Ee brought up subject of Ees' complaints, and E did not expressly or impliedly indicate to Ee that E would take any action to remedy Ees' complaints)

Lacks Industries, Inc. JD-346-82
(E's meetings with Ees during U organizational campaign for purpose of having gripe sessions, not unlawful, since E had an established pattern of soliciting grievances for some years prior to organizational campaign and was continuing such practice during campaign)

Lacks Industries, Inc. JD-346-82
(alleged unlawful attempt by supervisor to set up meetings to solicit grievances from Ees during U organizational campaign, not unlawful, where E's proposal did not go beyond lawful continuation of E's practice of soliciting Ees' grievances and problems; moreover, proposal was vague in that supervisor made no mention of whether he would be in attendance at meeting)

Lacks Industries, Inc. JD-346-82
(alleged unlawful solicitation of grievances by supervisor, not unlawful; where supervisor told Ee that he would like to know about Ees' problems but then added that he doubted he could do anything about problems and, therefore, there was neither an express nor implied promise to remedy any of them; supervisor's accompanying remark that things would be happening in about a month was so obscure and nonspecific, standing alone, as to bear no probative value)

Lacks Industries, Inc. JD-346-82
(although E's solicitation of grievances, during conversation with Ee may have been consistent with E's prior practice of soliciting grievances, such conduct held technical 8(a)(1) violation, since its reference point was U's organizational campaign which was context of entire conversation with Ee)

Lion Trucking Corporation JD-(NY)-56-82
(violation, where E's manager after learning Ees had signed U cards, asked Ees what their problems were and upon learning major reason for their interest in U was lack of hospitalization plan, promised Ees he would secure hospitalization and instructed Ees to withdraw to discuss whether they still wanted U; contention benefits not conditioned on rejection of U and because E's manager told Ees they were free to join U, rejected)

U. S. Reduction Company JD-(ATL)-13-82
(plant manager's solicitation of grievances and complaints, violative since his comments were sufficient to give rise to Ee anticipation of improved conditions of employment which might make U representation unnecessary)

Ellis Hospital JD-164-82
(E did not engage in unlawful conduct nor interfere with election by allegedly soliciting grievances and promising to redress them, where E told Ees of its economic problems and urged Ees to vote against U but did not ask Ees to tell him of their problems)

Lauridsen Foods, Inc. JD-36-81
(asking Ees if they know of any problems in the plant, violative)

Clements Wire and Manufacturing Company, Inc. JD-520-80
(plant manager's solicitation of grievances and his promises to resolve them, unlawful where they were attempt to persuade Ees to abandon U)

Palomar Transport, Inc. JD-(SF)-159-80
(solicitation of grievances unlawful, where solicitation was not shown to have been established practice and impliedly held promise of rectification, thereby obviating need for U representation)

Crown Central Petroleum Corporation JD-(SF)-139-80
(asking Ees to talk to management about their problems not violative notwithstanding statement made during U campaign where it was longstanding company policy for Ees to take their problems to their supervisors)

Broad Street Lincoln Mercury, Inc. JD-298-80
(soliciting grievances from Ees, violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Permanent Label Corporation 657 F.2d 512 (C.A. 3, 1981)
(asking Ees why they thought they needed U and what problems or grievances they had about conditions in plant, and stating belief E could solve problems w/i year w/o U)

K & K Gourmet Meats, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 640 F.2d 460 (C.A. 3, 1981)
(solicitation of grievances is only violative when accompanied by either implied or express promise that grievance will be remedied, and here E made no specific promises, only willingness to listen and consider, general implied promise is insufficient to support Sec. 8(a)(1) violation)

N.L.R.B. v. Garry Manufacturing Company 630 F.2d 934 (C.A. 3, 1980)
(ct could not disregard finding of Bd that creation of telephone hot line was intended and understood to be solicitation of grievances and implied promise that those grievances would be remedied and was unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. Arrow Molded Plastics, Inc. 653 F.2d 280 (C.A. 6, July 1981)
(violation where E during preelection period hired personnel consultant who held meetings with Ees in recognition of fact there was U knocking at door, such meetings were unprecedented, it was suggested grievances would be resolved only if Ees rejected U representation, and E took steps to resolve grievances under questionable circumstances)

N.L.R.B. v. Naum Brothers, Inc. 637 F.2d 589 (C.A. 6, Mar 17, 1981)

N.L.R.B. v. Berger Transfer & Storage Co. 678 F.2d 679 (C.A. 7, May 1982)
(E violates Section 8(a)(1) of Act by soliciting grievances when such solicitation is accompanied by express or implied promise of benefits specifically aimed at interfering with, restraining and coercing Ees in their organizational effort)

N.L.R.B. v. Antonino Carilli, d/b/a Antonino's Restaurant 648 F.2d 1206 (C.A. 9, June 1981)
(E asking Ee how important Ee's medical insurance was to Ee and whether she would be U member if she worked at E which offered medical and dental insurance benefits, or if E had better insurance programs, unlawful, since language used by E reasonably calculated to give Ee impression that E was considering instituting its own superior medical program if Ee would not support U, and in view of E's subsequent ULPs)

N.L.R.B. v. Haven Mold, Inc. 634 F.2d 635(T) (C.A. 9, 1980)
(unlawful)

5030-4040 Concerning union membership, adherence or activities of others

Donnelly Manufacturing Co. Division of Brockhouse Corp. 265 NLRB No. 196
(supervisor asking U adherent if she thought U would get in, unlawful, notwithstanding contention questioning not coercive where Ee openly supported U and unaccompanied by threat of reprisal or promise of benefit, since right of avowed U supporter to be free of coercion, interference or restraint no less than secret supporter, and threat of reprisal or promise of benefit not necessary for interrogation to be unlawful; further, questioning interferred with Ees' Section 7 rights since it sought to elicit information regarding strength of Ee support for U and lead Ees to believe U activities under surveillance)

Enterprise Products Company 265 NLRB No. 083
(E's interrogation of Ee, following unlawful discharge of fellow Ee for U activity, concerning reaction of other Ees to such discharge, unlawful)

Enterprise Products Company 265 NLRB No. 083
(inasmuch as Ee volunteered information to E that he had been requested to sign U authorization card, E's interrogation might be excusable but for fact that E persisted, in face of Ee's reluctance, in attempt to ascertain identity of solicitor)

Larid Printing, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 040
(E's president asking Ee why Ee wanted U and stating Ee could not get raise or promotion because of presence of U, unlawful)

(asking U adherents if they knew how U's organizers functioned, violative)

Cox Enterprises, Inc., d/b/a Atlanta Newspapers 264 NLRB No. 120
(after Ee voluntarily told supervisor about strike rumor, interrogation by higher supervisor about source of rumor held violative, as interrogation involves U activities of other Ees)

The Moore Company, Inc., Div. of Essex Corp. 264 NLRB No. 159
(where supervisor commented to Ee that he had seen Ee talking to another Ee and questioned Ee as to whether latter Ee had asked him to sign U authorization card; questioning regarding card solicitation unlawful but supervisor's comment that he saw two Ees talking, without more did not constitute unlawful surveillance)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 263 NLRB No. 015
(supervisor asking Ee who was known U supporter how U campaign was coming, unlawful, notwithstanding inquiry introductory and that supervisor motivated to initiate conversation by job related concern that Ee was being distracted by U talk at shift change breaks during which information and instructions need to be passed)

Frank J. Schreader d/b/a National Apartment Leasing Company 263 NLRB No. 080
(questioning Ee concerning who else was involved in unionizing, violative)

United Sanitation Services, Division of Sanitas Service Corp. 262 NLRB No. 173
(questioning Ee as to his attitude towards U, inquiring as to identity of just who favored U and/or attended U meetings, and giving instructions to spy on U activities of others and keep management informed, violative)

Wagner Distribution Services, Inc. d/b/a Distribution Services West 262 NLRB No. 096
(asking Ee what she thought about U and to talk to other Ees about it and see what they thought, and inquiring acbut result of Ees inquiries, unlawful)

Marion Rohr Corporation 261 NLRB No. 138
(violation where E interrogated Ee about U activities of other Ees and percentage of their membership in U)

Howard Johnson Motor Lodge 261 NLRB No. 123
(asking supervisor if she had heard any U talk, what were Ees unhappy about, if she had attended U meeting or signed U card, not violative, since it is not unlawful for E to request or require such information from supervisor)

Penn Color, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 058
(interrogating Ees as to how many Ees had signed U authorization cards, unlawful)

Checker Cab Company of Virginia, Inc., d/b/a Avis Rent-A-Car 260 NLRB No. 118
(one week after unlawful discharging Ee, asking dischargee Ee to report about U activities of other Ees, violative)

(asking EEs on separate occasions for names of people who organized U and also stating that whoever gave him the information would benefit, unlawful)

Bedford Farmers Cooperative 259 NLRB No. 165
(manager's questioning applicant for employment regarding Ee's knowledge of U and E's difficulties in their bargaining relationship held not violative, since question did not seek disclosure of Ee's or other Ees' U activity or sentiments)

General Baptist Nursing Home, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 132
(although E asked Ees to keep her advised of U organizational developments, it was insufficient to support finding of interrogation where Ees voluntarily gave E information about U activities of other Ees)

Brockwood Furniture, Division of U.S. Industries 258 NLRB No. 028
(interrogation about U activities generally found interference, and interrogation specifically as to why Ee attended U meeting, whether Ees had any questions about E's anti-U speeches, and whether one Ee could change the mind of his wife who was on the in-plant organizing committee, unlawful and interference)

Mark I Tune-Up Centers, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 138
(E unlawfully coerced Ee to withdraw his support from U, to maintain surveillance of U activities, and to inform on U activities of his fellow Ees, by repeatedly quizzing Ee, who was concerned about his job if he supported U, about identity of U activists)

Metropolitan Life Insurance Company 256 NLRB No. 100
(asking Ee if she signed U card, if U asked her to sign U cards, and who attended U meeting and what was said there, violative)

Complas Industries, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 106
(E's questioning of one Ee about another Ee's work performance and U activity, unlawful since it was neither isolated nor innocuous and did not meet Johnnie's Poultry standards, where Ee was questioned more than one time on same subject by high management official and was not assured against reprisals or informed that he was free to refuse to answer; neither Johnnies Poultry nor later cases have limited requirements of that case strictly to attorneys)

Boyer Ford Trucks, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 184
(inquiries to Ee as to who was ringleader of U movement and if she was being pressured to go along with unionization, violative)

United Oil Manufacturing Co., Inc. 254 NLRB No. 179
(questioning Ee about U activity of coworkers, violative)

Radische Corporation 254 NLRB No. 164
(supervisor's questioning of Ee as to whether all Ees who had signed U card were wearing U stickers, violative; question was not privileged because of Ee's open U support nor was coercive impact of question diminished by absence of any attendant threats and, furthermore, question extended beyond Ee's U involvement and reflected effort to ascertain extent of U's support among other Ees)

Radische Corporation 254 NLRB No. 164
(supervisor's questioning of Ee as to whether Ee was being bothered on her job by persons for or against U, not violative)

Western Truck Services, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 096
(asking Ee whether we really need the U, violative)

St. John Medical Center 252 NLRB No. 077
(inquiry as to identity of instigator of U activity, violative)

Petroleum Electronics, Inc. and/or Cook Enterprises, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 042
(although Ee called E on telephone and brought up subject of U activity, E's subsequent interrogation over telephone, unlawful, where E went beyond legitimate inquiry by pressing Ee for names of Ees involved in U and by devoting most of long conversation to questions about U)

Henry A. Young, d/b/a Columbia Engineers International 249 NLRB No. 144
(E at meeting he called after being notified U had claimed majority asking Ees how many of them had signed up with U, unlawful, in context of extreme animus displayed by E at meeting, notwithstanding Ees did not answer)

Sentry Investigation Corp. 249 NLRB No. 130
(E's president interrogating Ees as to whether they had signed card for U, who was ring leader of drive to change bargaining representative, and who had signed U cards, unlawful; notwithstanding contention Ees not coerced where no reason stated for questions and no assurances against reprisals given, one Ee questioned was threatened with reduction of and change in hours, and another Ee requested legal counsel to be present at subsequent interview with E's president)

Streamway Division of The Scott & Fetzer Co. 249 NLRB No. 054
(questioning of Ees about need for U by member of firm employed by E to conduct attitude survey among Ees, unlawful, where questioning was not isolated matter or one impact of which would be lost upon Ees in view of formalization of Ee meetings with members of firm, coupled with instruction to Ees to attend meetings and voice their grievances and feelings)

Bill Johnson's Restaurants, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 026
(supervisor's asking Ee if she knew if there were any Ees that had been talking about U, unlawful, notwithstanding E's claim that no violation existed because conversation occurred in working area and not in private office, supervisor did not press inquiry, and occurrence was isolated incident)

Smyth Manufacturing Company, Inc.; Beacon Industries 247 NLRB No. 164
(interrogation as to identity of persons making statements at U meeting, unlawful)

Knapp Foods, Inc. d/b/a Hi-Lo Foods 247 NLRB No. 146

(questioning U committee member about forthcoming signing of contract, asking her how new agreement would affect Christmas Holiday plan, and if she would sign agreement, not unlawful)

United States Postal Service 252 NLRB No. 014
(physician's remarks about U, made during physical examination of Ee, and his questioning of Ee as to why Ee wanted U representative with him at physical examination, not unlawful where, although physician was supervisor of nurses, he was not acting in supervisory capacity as to Ee being examined, and his question and remarks that Ee deserved discipline, which were due to his personal irritation, could neither be attributed to E nor reasonably be construed as threat of retaliation)

Crestline Memorial Hospital Association, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 028
(conversations of E's board member, father, with unit Ee, daughter, concerning current levels of U support, not violative, where no interference or coercion proved)

Pilgrim Life Insurance Company 249 NLRB No. 140
(supervisor instructing Ee to admit to E's president that she had signed U card and was conversant with U's organizing efforts, unlawful)

Tartan Marine Company 247 NLRB No. 073
(supervisor asking Ee if Ees were paid $5 to sign U cards and inquiring if Ees knew it would cost $3 to get them back, violative)

Cashmere Lumber Company JD-(SF)-93-80
(although supervisor took Ee to lunch as a business propositon at least, in part, to delve into U situation at plant, and occurrence was not a chance or casual undertaking and came soon after supervisor tried to influence Ee's intra-U activities, supervisor's conduct held not unlawful since he neither said nor did anything from which a job-related threat or promise could be inferral)

Norym Company, Inc. JD-847-79
(asking Ee if she had heard any rumors of U activity, not unlawful, since isolated incident and at time of questioning there was no U activity at which questioning could be aimed; further, it is questionable that asking Ee if she had heard any rumors of U activity, as opposed to asking if there was any U activity... is violation)

N.L.R.B. v. Permanent Label Corporation 657 F.2d 512 (C.A. 3, 1981)
(asking Ee who had given her U authorization card, unlawful)

J. P. Stevens & Co., Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 638 F.2d 676 (C.A. 4, 1980)
(posting notice asking Ees to report threats by U activists, violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Proler International Corporation 635 F.2d 351 (C.A. 5, 1981)
(interrogation of Ee concerning U's organizational activities and warning Ee that if any Ee induced other Ees to join U it might endanger their jobs, unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. The Saloon, Inc. 647 F.2d 171(T) (C.A. 9, Mar 1981)
(extensive questioning about scope of U health benefits, likely Ee reaction if comparable E program was provided or E became non-U shop, and attempting to solicit detailed information about identity of U activists and to gain knowledge of content of internal U deliberations, held unlawful)

5030-4080-5000 Whether employees will cross picket line in event of strike

5030-4080-5020 Accompanied by threats, promises or other coercive conduct

Mobile Home Estates, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 182
(asking Ee if she would cross picket line in event of strike not (per se), but where questioning occurred in context of statement that E could afford better wages w/o U it became violative)

5030-4090 Concerning protected activities

Knogo Corporation 265 NLRB No. 130
(Ee allegedly being questioned by supervisor as to what Ee would do in event of strike (against E), not violative, since inquiry, if made, was not coupled with any coercive statement that any disciplinary action would follow)

Ebb Tide Processing, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 100
(interrogation as to Ee's participation in grievance, unlawful)

Ebb Tide Processing, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 100
(asking Ee whether she had said anything to NLRB agent who was visiting E's premises, unlawful)

The Moore Company, Inc., Div. of Emco Corp. 264 NLRB No. 109
(supervisor asking Ee if she had received subpoena for Bd hearing, unlawful, where questioning was not to assure Ee would testify if subpoenaed by Bd and to assist her in making whatever arrangements necessary for appearance, but to insure that E's witnesses were prepared and ready to testify, which is not type of business justification that would permit E to question Ees about protected activities)

Grumman Flexible Corporation 264 NLRB No. 054
(question on employment application concerning prior workmen's compensation claims not violative as it is pertinent question bearing upon applicant's history of personal injury)

Alter Plastics Company, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 147
(E's interrogation of Ee, not unlawful, even though it is reasonable to infer that E intended to obtain information about U, where E asked Ee, one of plant snitches, had she heard any rumors, and Ee, who had not heard anything about U, merely perceived question as meaningless general inquiry; as such, interrogation was sufficiently ambiguous so as to preclude finding that such clouded inquiry would necessarily have been perceived by Ee as coercive interrogation of U activities of fellow Ees)

Howard Johnson Motor Lodge 261 NLRB No. 123
(E's regional representative asking weekend maintenance man at its motel, who was formerly desk clerk and had been managerial trainee, as part management Ee why he had let this kind of unionizing activity occurrence happen and not let somebody know there was a problem constituted unlawful intrusion into Ees' protected concerted affairs and activities under Act)

Howard Johnson Motor Lodge 261 NLRB No. 123
(asking Ees if U dues had been deducted from their pay checks yet, unlawful)

Ohio Brass Company 261 NLRB No. 018
(E's inquiry of applicant on its employment application form whether applicant had previously filed industrial or workers' compensation claim, not violative since E had legitimate and substantial business justification for its inquiry, i.e., health and safety of its work force)

Kyle & Stephen, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 087
(asking Ees what they told representative of state department of labor in pursuing their wage claim under state law, violative)

Mathews Ready Mix, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 092
(asking Ee for written statement that U activist told Ee that he was receiving lower salary than other Ees and should request raise, violative)

Saint Luke's Hospital 258 NLRB No. 046
(asking health care Ee, who indicated that he would not cross picket line during anticipated strike, if he was pressured into that decision, violative as supervisor made no mention of whether pressure brought on Ee during working time)

Brookline Corporation d/b/a Hi Fi Buys 257 NLRB No. 166

Eastern Steel Company 253 NLRB No. 163
(asking Ee if anyone had came around from Labor Board and if Ee had filled out any cards, violative)

General Electric Company 253 NLRB No. 155
(questioning Ees about another Ee's statement that if they had good U leadership like old John L., men would probably hit the bricks until things straightened out, violative as statement was protected and as it arose in otherwise protected discussion and was not incitement to engage in wildcat strike, E was not free to interrogate its Ees)

John Cuneo, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 110
(mere asking experienced skilled Ee if he intended to attend Bd hearing, not violative where Ee's supervisory status was in question and Ee would probably be witness at Bd hearing)

Piezo Technology, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 122
(question to Ee who was on U organizing committee as to why she thought company needed U, not unlawful, where question was asked in course of meeting between E and Ee which became discussion of pros and cons of unionization and interrogation was not meant other than as a rhetorical question)

Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc. 253 NLRB No. 023
(supervisor's asking Ee why U was being formed, unlawful, in context of conversation where supervisor also made statements which created impression of surveillance)

Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc. 253 NLRB No. 023
(supervisor's statement at group meeting that he had talked to various people to find out what was going on about U and was unable to do so and thus was calling meeting of Ees same questions, unlawful)

Sun Belt Linens, Inc., d/b/a South Texas Linen Service (Laundry and Dye House Workers, Local 281, a/w Teamsters) 250 NLRB No. 174
(sales manager's questioning of Ee and his admonition to her that her walkout efforts were not nice thing to do, unlawful, since they were designed to coerce her to abandon her determination to walk out)

James E. Stanford, Inc. d/b/a Ace Machine Co. 249 NLRB No. 073
(asking Ees why they had not stopped Ee from filing certain papers with Bd)

Pacific Coast International Meat Co. 248 NLRB No. 183
(interrogating Ees as to who was leader in lodging Cs about supervision, unlawful)

Sheraton Puerto Rico Corp. d/b/a Puerto Rico Sheraton Hotel 258 NLRB No. 113
(interrogating Ees as to whether they had signed letter and - if they had - why they had done so and whether they were aware that it suggested supervisor's discharge, violative, where interrogation constituted integral part of E's program, found unlawful herein, to discharge persons who signed the letter)

B. N. Beard Company 248 NLRB No. 016
(interrogating Ees as to whether they intended to strike, closely followed by threat to discharge them if they did so, unlawful)

Sherwood-Trimble Medical Building 247 NLRB No. 166
(interrogation of Ee concerning charges that Ee filed with Bd w/o complying with safeguards, unlawful)

Carl Karcher Enterprises JD-(SF)-227-82
(supervisor's interrogation concerning Ee's filing of OSHA charges, unlawful, notwithstanding that supervisor had low level managerial status, lacked authority to effectuate personnel or labor policies, and was on friendly terms with Ee, where inquiry was undertaken w/o any prompting from Ee and after E had received notice of ULP charges filed by Ee, and was serious inquiry at arm's length; while not taking place in any locus of authority and not overtly hostile or part of anti-U activity, questioning occurred in context of Ee's forcing E's hand in correcting unsafe conditions)

Carl Karcher Enterprises JD-(SF)-227-82
(supervisor's remarks designed to extract from Ee, who had filed C with State OSHA concerning unsafe conditions at E's facility, an admission which supervisor must have known was forthcoming concerning OSHA inspection which had been conducted at E's facility held unlawful interrogation, since OSHA inspection was not common, everyday event at E's facility, and E failed to offer any explanation for supervisor's need to lead Ee into an explanation of what Ee meant when he inquired if any inspectors had come from OSHA)

Rainbo Baking Company JD-(SF)-117-82
(questioning Ee as to why he had filed a grievance, unlawful)

Day-Met Union, Inc. JD-464-81
(supervisor interrogating Ee as to whether another Ee had telephoned, as he had instructed, agency regarding voting out U)

California Pacific National JD-(SF)-260-81
(questioning Ee about whether he had filed OSHA complaint violative)

Todd Pacific Shipyards Corporation JD-(SF)-99-81
(questioning and berating Ee about seeking U's help in obtaining an upgrading evaluation, unlawful)

Datacomp Corporation, A Division of Herbick and Held Printing Company JD-594-80
(E's limited interviews with alleged discriminatee's co-workers as to his charges of racial discrimination against E, overtime, disruptions and his work performance, not unlawful where investigation consisted of interviews with grieving Ee and co-Ees who presumably might have had relevant information, subject matter of interviews parallaled scope of claims, and conduct of investigation, when viewed objectively, was free of any suggestion of threat or intimidation)

Round Table Enterprises Inc. t/a Thrift T Mart JD-(NY)-62-80
(asking Ee about whether he had heard any U talk, violative)

Falconer and Sons JD-(SF)-232-80
(E's asking Ee if the Ees talked about U during working hours and whether this Ee would participate in sickout, unlawful)

Paschke Packing Company JD-(NY)-33-80
(interrogation of Ee as to why he had filed ULP charges against E and threats to make it rough for him, unlawful)

Roadway Express, Inc. JD-281-80
(superintendent questioning of Ee as to why Ee had called U business agent about allegedly unsafe truck and instructing Ee to call superintendent directly, lawful, where superintendent was giving instruction to newly assigned driver as to proper procedure to follow in event of breakdown and superintendent did not forbid Ees from discussing safety matters or complaints with U officials)

Melissa Marie Fashions, Inc. JD-177-80
(violation where in context of unlawful discharge of strikers, E questioned Ees about whether they had complained to Bd)

N.L.R.B. v. Donald E. Hernly, Inc. 613 F.2d 457 (C.A. 2) (1980)
(enforcement denied where ct adhered to standards set down in Bourne in regard to whether E's interrogation of Ee violated 8(a)(1) and found that record in proceedings lacked substantial evidence to support conclusions contrary to those of ALJ, or to support view that interrogation in any way interfered with Ee rights)

N.L.R.B. v. Laredo Coca Cola Bottling Company 613 F.2d 1338 (C.A. 5) (1980)
(company president's asking Ee, during pre-election E campaign meeting with Ees, if Ee had written anonymous letter criticizing E's general manager, violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Wilber Brothers Company, Inc. 652 F.2d 600 (C.A. 6, June 1981)
(asking Ees about charges filed with Bd, unlawful)

Coors Container Company v. N.L.R.B. 628 F.2d 1283 (C.A.D.C.)
(asking Ees during disciplinary hearing why they had displayed sign in their vehicle, urging boycott of E's product, unlawful, where hearing had a cross-examinatin atmosphere and E focused on possibility Ees were sympathetic to striking Ees)

5030-5000 Questioning of former employees

Mineola Ford Sales, Ltd. 258 NLRB No. 082
(E's request that discharged Ee submit detailed information to E each week concerning Ee's efforts to obtain interim employment and hours worked and amounts of earnings in such employment, not unlawful, since E was interrogated not about U or other concerted protected activities, but rather about matters of legitimate concern to E regarding its possible backpay liability; and lack of any obligation to comply on dischargee's part is not sufficient to make request for information unlawful; W. W. Granger, Inc., 255 NLRB No. 145, distg)

S. L. Industries Inc. and Extruded Products, Corp. 232 NLRB No. 151
(requiring discriminatees entitled to reinstatement to be interviewed before they were allowed to return to work held violative where such requirement had no legitimate business justification)

5030-6000 Verification of union representation status claims

Gregory Chevrolet, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 034
(E's reading name of each Ee who signed card and looking at him, violative where meeting was held with U's permission and purpose was to satisfy E that Ees were not conned into signing cards and E's looking at each Ee was clearly designed to elicit response from Ees as to their U activities and sentiments)

Gregory Chevrolet, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 034
(E's reading name of each Ee who signed card, asking him why he signed card and why he wanted U, and what problems he had, violative as E may not probe into reasons for Ees' supporting U)

5030-7000 Interrogation concerning employee or others involvement in Board's processes

The Moore Company, Inc., Div. of Easco Corp. 264 NLRB No. 159
(supervisor asking Ee if she had received subpoena for Bd hearing, unlawful, where questioning was not to assure Ee would testify if subpoenaed by Bd and to assist her in making whatever arrangements necessary for appearance, but to insure that E's witnesses were prepared and ready to testify, which is not type of business justification that would permit E to question Ees about protected activities)

Hedison Manufacturing Co. 260 NLRB No. 137
(E who published in newspaper and posted on plant bulletin board notice requesting Ees who were interviewed by or gave statements to Bd agents to identify themselves to E violated Act because written request that Ees who have cooperated with Bd investigation into E's alleged ULP's identify themselves is coercive where E did not state purpose of request, no assurances against reprisal were given; such requests create fear that E may retaliate against Ees who gave statements)

Quebecor Group, Inc. Philadelphia Journal Division 258 NLRB No. 125
(questioning Ee about his visit to NLRB)

Firmat Manufacturing Corp. 255 NLRB No. 183
(E's asking Ees whether they were aware that their names had been mentioned in ULP charge and whether they had given permission for use their names, violative)

Steinerfilm, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 017
(violation where E asked Ee whether he filed charge with Bd in regard to being forced into signing disciplinary warning, and then stated that Ee and other Ees could have been fired on an earlier occasion)

Gladieux Food Service, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 106
(questioning Ee as to how she intended to vote in coming election, violative, since such questioning tends to undermine principle of the secret ballot)

Billings Chrysler-Plymouth, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 089
(asking Ee if he intended to withdraw ULP charges he had filed violative)

Certain-Teed Insulation Company 251 NLRB No. 208
(asking Ee how our team would vote in the election and how Ee himself would vote, violative)

Certain-Teed Insulation Company 251 NLRB No. 208
(violation where at E's request, psychologist from E's management consulting firm interviewed Ees after election about their feelings and perceptions in relationship to the company and in the course of such interviews asked Ees how they voted in election)

Ely's Foods Inc., d/b/a Scotto's I.G.A. 249 NLRB No. 132
(questioning Ee regarding investigation by Bd agent)

Nice-Pak Products, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 173
(E who asked Ee about identity of Ees who testified against E during investigation of charges violated Act)

The Nestle Company 248 NLRB No. 106
(foreman's questioning U adherent, regarding Ee's testimony at Bd hearing held violative, since such interrogation interfered with Ee's right to participate in Bd processes, as well as the right to engage in U activity)

Universal Service Contractors 247 NLRB No. 097
(supervisor's questioning Ee regarding affidavit he gave Bd agent violative)

Carl Karcher Enterprises JD-(SF)-227-82
(supervisor's inquiry whether Ee had gone to the NLRB yet, unlawful, where inquiry, coming in context of previous interrogation of Ee with respect to his resort to processes of State OSHA, and supervisor's earlier statement that Ee would not be in trouble if he had not gone to OSHA and others infused supervisor's comments with tendency reasonably to interfere with Ee's statutory rights)

Thurston Motor Lines, Inc. JD-(ATL)-99-81
(supervisor telling Ee that if he marked ballot no supervisor would mail ballot in, held coercive)

Albertson's Inc. JD-(SF)-104-80
(questioning Ee about Ee's participation in Bd investigation, unlawful, since E did not show that questioning was for legitimate purpose and there was no requisite showing of voluntariness to Ee's participation in questioning)

Albertson's Inc. JD-(SF)-104-80
(discipline of Ee for not meeting production quotas, not unlawful, notwithstanding fact that discipline followed closely in time unlawful interrogation of Ee; discipline was nothing more than routine and innocuous exercise of E's authority)

Burns Electronic Security Services, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 634 F.2d 403 (C.A. 2, 1980)
(Bd's finding that E's manager's inquiry among Ees as to who was filing charges in regard to change in job requirements was unlawful interrogation reversed since there was no finding by Bd or substantial evidence on record that statement was motivated by anti-U animus, that it was made in attempt to seek information upon which E would take action against pro-U Ees, or that it was made in coercive or hostile setting)

5030-8000 Permissible to elicit information necessary in preparation of trial or hearing

Advanced Mining Group, Div. of Republic Corp., Lucerne Facility 260 NLRB No. 073
(Ee's personal and subjective reaction to coercive conduct and charges pending are not legitimate or bona fide subject of an attorney's preparation for litigation)

Kyle & Stephen, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 087
(E's attorney's asking Ee, in preparation for hearing in ULP case, if he knew whether fellow Ee had been fired or quit, violative, since attorney did not inform Ee that any statements he made would be voluntary and that no reprisals would be taken against him if he refused to answer questions)

Henry J. Kaiser Company 259 NLRB No. 001
(interview of prospective Ee witnesses in preparation for defense in 8(a)(3) and 8(b)(1)(A) proceeding, conducted by attorneys for both U and E in presence of E's officials, unlawful, where Ees were not told prior to investigation that their participation in interview was voluntary and that they did not have to be present; fact that they were later advised, after they declined to cooperate with interviewers, that their silence would not be held against them did not relieve coerciveness of initial interview)

Henry J. Kaiser Company 259 NLRB No. 001
(where U's and E's attorneys conducted interviews of prospective Ee witnesses in preparation for defense in ULP proceeding against both U and E, U's contention that a violation of Johnnie's Poultry may be found only against E, rejected, where coercive effect of interrogation w/o necessary precautions by law was evident from record)

Cook Paint and Varnish Company 258 NLRB No. 166
(threatening U steward with discipline for refusing to submit to questioning and to submit written material kept in course of steward's representation of Ee in grievance/arbitration proceeding, unlawful, where steward's participation throughout grievance process was result of execution of duties as steward, questioning impinged upon protected activity of Ee and steward, and such conduct cast chilling effect over all Ees and stewards in disciplinary matters; however, Bd did not herein hold that all discussions between Ees and stewards are confidential and protected or that stewards are, in all instances, insulated from interrogation)

Hollander Home Fashion Corp. 258 NLRB No. 142
(industrial relations consultant's interviewing of Ees as to circumstances attending their signing of U's authorization cards, conducted in preparation for E's defense of ULP charges by U, not unlawful, even though some Ees testified consultant identified himself as government agent, where witnesses' modest educational attainments and lack of sophistication about U matters made it difficult for them to understand consultant's explanation of his role; consultant observed Johnnie's Poultry standards; and none of the Ees felt coerced or believed they would suffer reprisals either for participating or withdrawing from interview)

Bill Johnson's Restaurants, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 026
(E violated 8(a)(1) as well as 8(a)(4) where E, in furtherance of its state civil suit against Ees, obtained alleged discriminatee's deposition concerning matters relating to E's defenses in pending Bd ULP proceeding and inquired of fellow Ee whether supervisor involved in alleged ULPs knew that Ees were trying to organize; since it could reasonably be expected that Ee would, as she did, tell alleged discriminatee of conversation with E, question had its nexus in taking of deposition resulting from filing of state proceeding which was also found unlawful herein)

Bill Johnson's Restaurants, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 026
(taking Ees' depositions in state civil lawsuit, filed by E against them for libel and wrongful interference, and involving questioning in depth regarding Ees' U activities, unlawful, where Ees were not deposed voluntarily, there were no assurances that reprisals would not be taken, questions far exceeded relevance to civil lawsuit, and purpose of questioning which was discovery of evidence for pending Bd hearing, was not conveyed to Ees)

Cashmere Lumber Company JD-(SF)-93-80
(supervisor's asking Ees for their signatures on ptn for purpose of supporting E's discharge of Ee which was subject of ULP allegation and grievance procedure not unlawful as privileged investigative gesture, since supervisor's conduct did not discourage Ees in exercise of their statutory right nor did it have such effect, and it was unlikely, particularly in view of supervisor's assurances against reprisal, that his presentation of ptn would have tended to impair Ees' ability to testify in any ensuing grievance or Bd proceeding)

Cook Paint and Varnish Company v. N.L.R.B. 648 F.2d 712 (D Ct D.C., Apr 1981)
(Ee held not to have automatic right to refuse to respond to questions concerning a matter scheduled for arbitration, since possibility of 8(a)(1) violation would limit coercive conduct during interview; while some decisions establish that E-conducted investigatory interviews prior to disciplinary action do not violate 8(a)(1), others require disclosure of information in order to further the efficacy of the arbitral process, automatic right to refuse to respond would conflict with Pacific Southwest case in which Bd deferred to arbitral decision that E has enforceable right to conduct pre-arbitral interview)

Cook Paint and Varnish Company v. N.L.R.B. 648 F.2d 712 (D Ct D.C., Apr 1981)
(ct remanded case for further proceedings as to whether U steward was entitled to special protection due to his status as U steward in regard to being compelled to answer questions at pre-arbitration interview concerning grievance of fellow Ee in which steward may have been initially responsible for processing grievance; altho ct recognized possible serious infringement on protected activity if representatives were required to submit to compulsory interviews, it indicated that blanket rule would be inappropriate)

Randall E. Wheeler, Kevin E. Wheeler, and Edmund J. Wheeler, A General Partnership d/b/a Wheeler Co. 260 NLRB No. 109
(polling Ees concerning issues raised in complaint violative where E failed to tell Ees purpose; Ees were not assured no reprisals would take place; atmosphere was hostile to U; and exceeded necessities of legitimate purpose by prying into Ee's subjective state of mind)

G.T.A. Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Restaurant Horikawa 260 NLRB No. 029
(E who discussed discharge incident with other Ees did not violate Act as conversation was free of threats or promises and served legitimate business purpose)

W. W. Grainger, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 146
(E who questioned discharged Ee who was seeking reinstatement in Bd proceeding about his U activity violated Act where it failed to observe Johnnie's Poultry safeguards; it is recognized that E's power to coerce a current or prospective Ee is greater than discharged Ee who may be reinstated, however this distinction does not justify diminution of Johnnie's Poultry safeguards)

W. W. Grainger, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 146
(interrogation of former Ee who voluntarily quit concerning U activities without observing Johnnie's Poultry safeguards not violative of Act as danger of coercion is absent)

Standard-Coosa-Thatcher Carpet Yarn Division, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 691 F.2d 1133 (C.A. 4, Sept. 28, 1982)

(where E's attorney questioned about 70 Ees regarding their signing of U authorization cards and read statement to all but one Ee that Ee could refuse to cooperate and face no reprisals, it nevertheless violated Act as to that one Ee as Bd has ruled that failure to observe Johnnie's Poultry 146 NLRB 770, standards is a per se violation of Sec. 8(a)(1))

TRW, Incorporated v. N.L.R.B. 654 F.2d 307 (C.A. 5, 1981)

(where attorney for E interviewed Ee in company conference room about alleged improper U monetary reimbursement to Ees from U and then threatened Ee with subpoena after she refused to sign copy of her statement, E did not violate Act as interview was not coercive although behavior of attorney bordered on being unethical)

Amerphone, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 632 F.2d 4 (C.A. 6, 1980)

(no evidence to support conclusion that interviewing few Ees by E's representatives prior to ULP hearing constituted coercive interrogation; it is well established that E is privileged to interview Ees for purpose of discovering facts relevant to issues raised in ULP case to aid in preparation of case)

W.W. Grainger, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 677 F.2d 557 (C.A. 7, Apr. 1982)

(E's attorney and former supervisor of Ee attempting to interview Charging Party at his home after his discharge, not unlawful, notwithstanding interviewers gave no assurances against reprisal and Charging Party informed interviewers they would have to get permission of Bd's attorney to interview him; further, no carrot since Charging Party had been discharged and any reinstatement would be through action of Bd, he had no incentive to ingratiate himself with interviews and dischargee was not intimidated)

Cook Paint and Varnish Company v. N.L.R.B. 648 F.2d 712 (D Ct D.C., Apr 1981)

(enforcement denied Bd decision holding that E violated 8(a)(1) by seeking to compel Ees, at investigatory interview, to respond to questions raised by company counsel relating to U grievance scheduled for arbitration where Bd adopted what appears to be per se rule that E may never use threat of discipline to obtain information from an Ee concerning a matter set for arbitration)

Cook Paint and Varnish Company v. N.L.R.B. 648 F.2d 712 (D Ct D.C., Apr 1981)

(E who published in newspaper and posted on plant bulletin board notice requesting Ees who were interviewed by or gave statements to Bd agents to identify themselves to E violated Act because written request that Ees who have cooperated with Bd investigation into E's alleged ULP's identify themselves is coercive where E did not state purpose of request, no assurances against reprisal were given; such requests create fear that E may retaliate against Ees who gave statements)

Standard-Coosa-Thatcher, Carpet Yarn Division, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 045

(contrary to ALJ who found that strict application of Johnnie's Poultry standards concerning alleged unlawful interrogation of Ee would appear to require finding a violation but dismissed the allegation because Ee was most likely informed about the content of E's interview from E's interviews with other Ees, and coercive impact of E's interrogation of Ee was therefore minimal, Bd held interrogation violative, since Johnnie's Poultry safeguards require that E not only explain the purpose of the questions but also assure the Ee that no reprisal will take place and obtain his participation on a voluntary basis)

W. W. Grainger, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 145

(Johnnie's Poultry imposes affirmative duty on E to extend safeguards and where E did not inform Ee that there would be no reprisals and purpose of questioning was to prepare E's defense to ULP charge, E violated Act)

Logan Coca Cola Bottling Company 259 NLRB No. 164

(interrogation of Ees by E's labor relations consultant violative where he neither advised them of purpose of questions nor indicated to them that participation was voluntary)

Bill Johnson's Restaurants, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 036

N.L.R.B. v. Jack August Enterprises, Inc. 583 F.2d 575 (C.A. 1)

(interrogating Ee concerning disclosures made to Bd agent during investigation of ULP charge, violative)

W.W. Grainger, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 677 F.2d 557 (C.A. 7, Apr. 1982)

(failure of E's representatives to inform Charging Party of purpose of interview and assure him no reprisals would be taken did not render circumstances of interview coercive where interviewee refused to answer questions before there was time to give assurances against reprisal or explain purpose beyond obvious connection with case before Bd)

5030-8090 Assurances against reprisal

CNA Financial Corporation 264 NLRB No. 080

(violation, where E wrote letter to Ees disavowing any connection with letter to Ees from U, organizing committee on which E's logo had been used and asking Ees for information as to how U obtained names and addresses of Ees from E's files, and supervisor subsequently informed Ees E wanted to know who was responsible for obtaining mailing list and stated E intended to file suit over matter, notwithstanding contention interrogation for legitimate purpose of litigation, since no assurance given against reprisal)

5033 HARRASSMENT OF UNION ADHERENTS OR OTHER EMPLOYEES

5033-0100 Generally

General Telephone Company of Michigan 251 NLRB No. 099

(Bd looks to effect such conduct may reasonably tend to produce rather than subjective reaction that is actually engendered)

5033-3300 By employees

Caffe Giovanni, Inc. d/b/a Giovanni's 259 NLRB No. 031

(alleged condonation of Ee harassment of leading U adherents, not unlawful, where other than E's admitted knowledge of one harassment incident and awareness of Ee hostility toward U adherents after U's loss of election and belief its source was U campaign, there was no direct evidence to establish E's knowledge of acts of anti-U harassment; record does not permit inference to be drawn that E transmitted signal to anti-U Ees that harassment would be tolerated; and E's failure to stop harassment was not unlawful since investigation into matter may have resulted in unlawful interrogations)

General Telephone Company of Michigan 251 NLRB No. 099

(disciplining Ee for harassing two other Ees by various derogatory, threatening and vulgar remarks and spitting at one of them for their not having participated in strike held not violative where GC had not established that conduct was prima facie or, in fact, protected activity)

Henry A. Young, d/b/a Columbia Engineers International 249 NLRB No. 144

(discharge of Ee who was U organizer allegedly for Ee's safety in view of threats of violence made against him, completion of Ee's work assignment, Ee's lying to E about another Ee, and his hassling of other Ees, unlawful, where fears for his safety proved unjustified, Ee had seniority for retention of job, information concerning other Ee passed on not as facts but mere repetition of another Ee's statement, and fact Ee may be persona non grata among certain Ees because of his U activities no basis for discharge)

J. P. Stevens and Company, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 044

(telling Ee that if she signed U card they would probably be on your back all the time held unlawful threat of harassment)

5033-5000 By supervisors

Red Ball Motor Freight, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 111

(discharge for Ee's alleged disruptive behavior and generally poor attitude which caused supervisor to watch her, held violative where Ee's propensity to engage in protected concerted activity caught attention of E which was motivated to engage in special surveillance of Ee's work performance and to seize upon her first alleged transgression as pretext to terminate her)

Gordonsville Industries, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 084

(supervisor chiding active U solicitor for conduct tolerated by E prior to pre-election period held violative)

S. L. Industries Inc. and Extruded Products, Corp. 252 NLRB No. 151

(instructing Ees not to speak with reinstated Ee and to stay out of her department, held violative)

5033-5000—Cont.

Penny Company 260 NLRB No. 110
(supervisor harassing Ees by following them around, unlawful)

Custom Coating & Laminating Corporation 260 NLRB No. 117
(threatening Ee with discharge if he continued to speak with other Ees during work time violative where Ee's job required him to speak to other Ees and Ee was well known U adherent)

Pullman Trailmobile, A Division of Pullman Incorporated 260 NLRB No. 089
(foreman's action in throwing U grievance in trash container with comment, this is what I think of your damn U unlawful)

European Parts Exchange, Inc. JD-170-82
(supervisor sitting in chair of U adherent who acted as gate attendant throughout time Ees were entering, and interrupting and criticizing adherent's procedures, unlawful)

Tourism and Development Corporation d/b/a Newport Jai Alai JD-280-80
(conversation in which supervisor asked Ee why she was wearing U button because she had earlier expressed opposition to U and told Ee that she could do as she wished but that she was making ass out of him because he always stuck behind her and so did management, held not to constitute harassment)

Blaw-Knox Foundry & Mill Machinery Inc., Wheeling Works Division v. N.L.R.B. 646 F.2d 113 (C.A. 4, Apr 1981)
(where supervisor allegedly sexually harrassed Ee's cousin, Ee's action of protesting to supervisor not concerted activity but merely action of individual Ee who was neither attempting to enforce collective bargaining agreement nor acting on behalf of a group)

N.L.R.B. v. Downslope Industries, Inc., and Greenbrier Industries, Inc. 676 F.2d 1114 (C.A. 6, Apr. 1982)
(mass discharge of female Ees who refused to work until E listened to their complaints about sexual harassment by male supervisor, unlawful; freedom from sexual harassment is a working condition which Ees may organize to protect)

5033-7800 By employer's officer

Arcadia Foods, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 128
(E's president's vehicular assault on picketing Ee and president's subsequent threat to run over Ee held violative)

5033-8300 By employer

Huck Manufacturing Company 254 NLRB No. 088
(E's statement to returning strikers that he had challenged their right to receive food stamps while they were on strike violative as harassment)

O.K. Machine & Tool Corp. and Gyrotronics, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 020
(post-strike harassment and intimidation of striker by following them and keeping tighter control on their workplace movements, unlawful)

Charles Dunn d/b/a Hopp Topp Mfg. Co. 250 NLRB No. 154
(telling U adherent during U campaign that job he had anything to do with U, and if any tools were missing, U adherent would be accused of stealing because of U adherent's criminal record)

Bates & Cunningham, Inc. JD-509-81
(telling police officer who was investigating vandalism at E's premises that U adherents may have done it, violative where accusation made with no basis in fact but merely in retaliation)

Fremont Auto Center, Inc. d/b/a Fremont Mazda JD-(SF)-13-81
(causing state department of motor vehicles to initiate investigation of U adherent on false grounds, violative, where E not only wanted to use pretext of such state action to harass and ultimately discharge him but also wished to chill U activities of other Ees)

Bailey Glass Company, Inc., and/or Blue Mountain Glass Mfg., Inc., d/b/a Bailey Glass JD-453-80
(harassment of Ee who was U official during discussion concerning when Ee would be paid, violative)

Nuckover Trailer Manufacturing Company JD-296-80
(E's report to sheriff and resultant investigation of Ee following his confrontation with supervisors at plant held not harassment or intimidation of Ee and not motivated by Ee's U activity but by Ee's characteristic traits of temper and belligerent conduct toward authority)

5036 CHANGES IN CONDITIONS OF EMPLOYMENT OR THREATS THEREOF

5036-0100 Generally

J. P. Stevens and Company, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 044
(claim that improvements were made during U organizing campaign for legitimate business reasons such as fostering Ee productivity is no defense unless timing of announcement or implementation of improvements is explained)

5036-0117 Violation where action motivated in part by protected activity

Appalachian Power Company John E. Amos Plant 250 NLRB No. 090
(withdrawal, from some maintenance Ees, of permission to wash up five minutes before their usual quitting time held not violative of Section 8(a)(3), since evidence did not establish that foremen in cancelling washup privilege were motivated in whole or part by anti-U or retaliatory considerations)

Formaloy Corp. JD-(ATL)-07-81
(institution of talking and break rules which were more restrictive than rules which existed prior to U campaign held violative, since more restrictive rules were motivated by E's desire to discourage U activity)

U.S. Postal Service JD-(SF)-268-81
(evaluating Ee's application for position of postal inspector, violative where done partially on basis of his activities as U steward)

Vic Tanny International, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 622 F.2d 237 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(discharge of Ees, unlawful, where motivated, at least, in part by their participation in walkout in protest against E's change in their duties, where E commented that Ees laid themselves open to discharge for walking off job, and termination reports indicate discharges were result of both insubordination and having walked off job which constituted protected concerted activity; E's contention that Ees' refusal to carry out E's specific orders was sole cause of discharge, rejected)

5036-0117-6667 Employer has burden to establish that disciplinary action would have occurred irrespective of protected activity

Cox Enterprises, Inc., d/b/a Atlanta Newspapers 264 NLRB No. 120
(discharging Ee allegedly for lying that she had not told supervisor about strike rumor held violative, where prior to this incident E had unlawfully questioned her about source of strike rumor and Bd found that she would not have been discharged but for her remark about strike rumor)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 262 NLRB No. 123
(it is not sufficient to show valid reason existed for Ee's discharge under Wright Line decision; rather, respondent must demonstrate that same action would have taken place even in absence of protected activity)

Bronco Wine Company 256 NLRB No. 013
(discharge of Ee violated Section 8(a)(1) under Wright Line test where GC made prima facie case that Ee's protesting over working conditions with other Ees played role in E's decision to discharge and E did not prove that discharge would have occurred even in absence of protected conduct)

Red Ball Motor Freight, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 660 F.2d 626 (C.A. 5, Nov. 1981)
(E's challenge to Bd's Wright Line shift of burden of proof, in mixed-cause discharges (i.e., at least partially based on protected conduct and also allegedly based on good cause), as improperly requiring an E to prove its innocence and as in derogation of right of management to discharge Ees for cause, rejected)

5036-0175 Employer's normal exercise of judgment in managing employees must be recognized

The Berry Schools v. N.L.R.B. 653 F.2d 966 (C.A. 5, Aug 1981)
(cts and Bd should be loathe to intrude into internal affairs of college or university, particularly in regard to its academic judgments, absent clear showing that ULP has occurred)

5036-0800 Timing

Aztec Manufacturing Company JD-(SF)-82-80
(E's elimination of shift and resultant termination of all shift Ees not violative, notwithstanding timing and abruptness of action, where E's decision was motivated by substantial business reasons and prior to any knowledge of Ees' organizational meeting of previous night)

Grandee Beer Distributors, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 630 F.2d 928 (C.A. 2, 1980)
(threats to hire new Ees immediately after U representative requested recognition held violative where evidence on record supported conclusion that Ees could reasonably infer from timing that such threats were directed towards Ees' decision to join U)

Grandee Beer Distributors, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 630 F.2d 928 (C.A. 2, 1980)
(threats to change job assignments of certain Ees immediately after U representatives requested recognition held violative where evidence on record supports conclusion that Ees could reasonably infer, due to timing, that threats were directed towards their decision to join U)

5036-0812 During pendency of Board proceeding

Delta Faucet Company, a Division of Masco Corporation of Indiana 251 NLRB No. 071
(suggesting to Ee that she could disregard Bd subpoena, encouraging her not to appear at Bd hearing and threatening her with reprisal unless she testified favorably to E, unlawful)

5036-0820 Before petition filed

5036-0820—Cont.

Mastell Trailer Corporation 258 NLRB No. 167
(E who closed up shop and discharged all Ees as soon as it was informed of impending U demand for recognition violated Act)

Mastercraft Leather Manufacturing Company, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 065
(E's statement to Ee, threatening to close shop if U came in, excluded from consideration as objectionable conduct since it occurred before filing of ptn)

5036-0825 During critical pre-election period

Garabo Lace Mills, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 044
(institution of written warning system as response to U organizing campaign violative)

Schnadig Corporation 265 NLRB No. 020
(supervisor informing Ee who was U organizer when Ee requested his annual raise that E couldn't give Ee raise right now before election, since U might view it as bribery, and that supervisor was uncertain as to when evaluation for raise was due, not unlawful, absent evidence E would have given Ee raise at that time in absence of U activity)

Grove Valve and Regulator Company 262 NLRB No. 035
(statements made by E in speeches to Ees prior to election which emphasized inevitability of strikes, threatened loss of strikers jobs and plant closure violative especially in light of fact that they were made in context of other violative conduct)

General Battery Corporation 261 NLRB No. 043
(substituting nonmeasured rate for incentive rate not unlawful, notwithstanding it was done shortly before scheduled rerun representation election, where it was based on business considerations; rate was applied to only small part of unit, was consistent with companywide practice in similar problem situations, approximated incentive rate in this and other departments, and Ees were told it was temporary and no mention was made of U)

Jaybil Steel Products, Inc.; etc. 258 NLRB No. 157
(changing method of pay from piecework to hourly basis which resulted in substantial loss in pay to Ees, unlawful, where instituted w/o business purpose at beginning of week immediately following organizing campaign)

U.S. Contractors, Inc., and The Dow Chemical Company, U.S.A., Texas Division 257 NLRB No. 152
(supervisor's statement to Ee before election that if E's janitors unionized they would definitely go out the gate held violative, since supervisor admitted that he openly related unionism to (Ees') job uncertainty)

General Electric Company 253 NLRB No. 092
(E's establishment and subsequent discontinuance of sounding board program upon U's filing of R ptn, unlawful, where purpose of program was to discourage support for U and discontinuance was in reprisal for Ee support of U; further, E's justification of discontinuance of program in order to avoid ULP charges, rejected, where program had been announced and implemented prior to filing of R ptn)

Intermountain Rural Electric Association 253 NLRB No. 164
(manager's telling Ee that E had put a blanket on all raises...because of the filing of election ptn by U held violative)

Blue Bird Body Company 251 NLRB No. 196
(E's prepared anti U speech made to eligible voters prior to election, violative where E used symbol of living or dying Bluebird as reference to company E and such use was implied threat of plant closure or removal if Ees chose U to be their representative)

Blue Bird Body Company 251 NLRB No. 196
(audio slide presentation to all eligible voters, violative where remarks of Ee participants in presentation impliedly threatened that U adherents would eventually be discharged for pretextual reasons)

Petroleum Electronics, Inc. and/or Cook Enterprises, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 042
(wage increase granted during critical preelection period, unlawful, where announcement was not made long before U's organizing campaign as claimed by E, and increase was not conferred consistent with past practice but was unprecedented for time of year it was granted)

MGM Grand-Reno, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 153
(supervisor's statement to U advocate that he should not expect E to continue its practice of accomodating Ees, who also wanted to attend school, in event U was voted in, held violative, since statement suggested reprisals in form of denial of existing benefits in response to Ees' decision to select U)

Suburban Ford, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 081
(E's sudden and unprecedented attempt to pack bargaining units of salesmen and clerks with new Ees prior to election in two appropriate units held violative, since action was attempt to dilute, [illegible] and destroy U's majority status)

Debernardi Brothers, Inc. JD-(SF)-206-82
(unlawful where E placed onus for its refusal to grant Ee wage increase on U's organizational activity and not on any expressed desire to avoid election interference)

Formaley Corp. JD-(ATL)-87-81
(institution of talking and break rules which were more restrictive than rules which existed prior to U campaign held violative, since more restrictive rules were motivated by E's desire to discourage U activity)

Hassly Hardwood Lumber Co. JD-288-81
(wage increases promised and granted after E obtained knowledge of U activity, unlawful, since E did not meet burden of showing raises were pursuant to either established pattern or other factors unrelated to U organization)

N.L.R.B. v. Robin American Corporation 654 F.2d 1022 (C.A. 5, 1981)
(ct held that evidence amply supported the tendency of interrogations and threats during critical period to coerce)

N.L.R.B. v. Wilker Brothers Company, Inc. 682 F.2d 660 (C.A. 6, June 1981)
(unannounced reduction in contributions to fund for Ees in need before election, not unlawful where Ees did not know until the hearing that contributions were reduced and therefore reduction was not timed to affect them regarding their U activities)

N.L.R.B. v. Franklin Property Company, Inc., d/b/a The Hilton Inn 617 F.2d 447 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(ct enforced Bd order where there was substantial evidence to support findings that E coercively interrogated and threatened Ees)

5036-0850 After election while union objections or challenges are pending

Midwest Stock Exchange, Inc., et al. v. N.L.R.B. 636 F.2d 1255 (C.A. 7, 1980)
(ct held contrary to Bd that change in sick leave policy shortly after U victory in representation election was not unlawful, since timing alone did not justify conclusion that change was discriminatory, and record showed E's economic reason was to make department's policies on sick leave uniform with those of other departments)

5036-0875 After election before expiration of time for filing objections

J. C. Penney Company, Inc. JD-697-80
(threats to Ees that their working conditions would change for the worse immediately after E learned U had won election, violative)

5036-1700 Concessions limited to employees outside bargaining unit

Hemet Casting Company 260 NLRB No. 060
(grant of benefits to nonbargaining unit Ees while excluding represented Ees, not violative where benefits were extended to nonunit Ees for sound and lawful business reasons, and E left open possibility of neogitating with U relative to extending benefits but U never requested bargaining)

L. M. Berry and Company 254 NLRB No. 093
(withholding benefits from bargaining unit Ees on advice of counsel while granting benefits to non-organized Ees, and refusing to bargain with U, violative)

MGM Grand-Reno, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 153
(E's announcing rule, during U campaign, prohibiting maintenance engineers from walking together, even to and from same job, held violative, since rule was designed to limit Ees' discussion of U and appeared to have no reasonable business justification)

5036-3300 Employer's knowledge of concerted nature of activity

Jim Causley Pontiac, Division Jim Causley, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 130
(E held to have had knowledge of concerted nature of Ee's complaining about working conditions and filing complaint with state occupational health division where use of pronoun we in complaint form received by E indicated more than one complainant, complaint form identified specifically area of shop where two Ees worked, listed job descriptions of two nonmanagement Ees alleged to be exposed to hazardous conditions, and listed paint fumes as alleged hazard to which Ees were exposed)

The Berry Schools v. N.L.R.B. 653 F.2d 966 (C.A. 5, Aug 1981)
(E's knowledge of Ee's protected activity and its biased attitude could not support finding of ULP; unlawful motivation can not be based solely on general bias or anti-U attitude of E, whether proved or conceded, but must be established by other facts in each individual case)

Jim Causley Pontiac, Division Jim Causley, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 675 F.2d 126 (C.A. 6, Apr. 1982)
(although affirming finding that discharged Ee's filing of MIOSHA complaint was protected concerted activity, ct for second time remanded case to Bd to determine whether E had actual knowledge of concertedness of Ee's actions where Bd on previous remand had relied on evidence already submitted and applied wrong standard in holding that it was sufficient if E knew or should have known that Ee's actions were concerted)

5036-3300—Cont.

Jim Causley Pontiac, Division Jim Causley, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 620 F.2d 122 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(ct agreed with Bd that E discharged Ee at least in part because of Ee's protected concerted activity but remanded for finding on issue of whether E knew that activity was concerted)

5036-3311 Wage review

Schnadig Corporation 265 NLRB No. 020
(supervisor informing Ee who was U organizer when Ee requested his annual raise that E couldn't give Ee raise right now before election, since U might view it as bribery, and that supervisor was uncertain as to when evaluation for raise was due, not unlawful, absent evidence E would have given Ee raise at that time in absence of U activity)

5036-5000 Employer's knowledge of protected activity

Jim Causley Pontiac, Division Jim Causley, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 101
(Ee who filed complaint with State Health Department engaged in protected concerted activity and E found to have knowledge of concerted nature of activity where E was aware State complaint form filled out with plural pronoun we where complaint form identified area of shop where discriminatee and other Ee worked, listed paint fumes as hazard and in past many Ees had complained to E about fumes and evidence that many Ees had discussed poor ventilation system, complaining to management)

Leisure Lodge Nursing Home 250 NLRB No. 134
(discharge of Ees who were attempting to redress grievances violative; moreover discharges would have been violative even if E merely thought they were trying to address grievances)

Hasmly Hardwood Lumber Co. JD-285-81
(wage increases promised and granted after E obtained knowledge of U activity, unlawful, since E did not meet burden of showing raises were pursuant to either established pattern or other factors unrelated to U organization)

Aero Warehouse, Inc. JD-(NY)-46-81
(layoff which coincided with U's demand for recognition and also with notification that E would not receive anticipated contract, not unlawful, in view of absence of U animus, notice of impending layoff to Ees prior to advent of U, and E's dire economic situation)

Aztec Manufacturing Company JD-(SF)-92-80
(E's elimination of shift and resultant termination of all shift Ees not violative, notwithstanding timing and abruptness of action, where E's decision was motivated by substantial business reasons and prior to any knowledge of Ees' organizational meeting of previous night)

N.L.R.B. v. Robin American Corporation 654 F.2d 1022 (C.A. 5, 1981)
(laying off Ee who was sister-in-law of prime U supporter, not unlawful; E's failure to deny alleged unlawful motive, the locale of small and informal plant, and in-law relationship with U adherent were not substantial evidence on which to base inference that company knew Ee was U supporter)

5036-6700 Forms of changes in conditions of employment

5036-6704 Wage or bonus withheld

Woonsocket Spinning Company 252 NLRB No. 163
(telling Ee he might have received bonus if he had not voted for U)

Harowe Servo Controls, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 120
(cancellation of wage program, discontinuation of Christmas bonuses and turkeys, dismantling women's lounge w/o notice to U and in retaliation for U victory, violative)

J. J. Newberry Co., A Wholly Owned Subsidiary of McCrory Corporation 249 NLRB No. 126
(withholding scheduled pay increase w/o specific announcement because of Ees' U activities violative, notwithstanding Ees were unaware of denail of increase until E announced that it would grant increase; moreover, fact that E acted on advice of its attorney does not relieve it of liability)

National King Coal, Inc. JD-(SF)-24-81
(cancellation of production bonus because Ee threatened to file charge with Bd unless he was recipient, violative)

5036-6706 Changes in reprimand system

Gurabo Lace Mills, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 044
(institution of written warning system as response to U organizing campaign violative)

Staats and Staats, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 105
(promulgation of new work rule and reinstating previously unenforced rule concerning Ees working conditions w/o bargaining with U, Ees' majority representative, on day discriminatees returned to work, held violative, since rules imposed additional burden on Ees and timing left little doubt that event was part of E's response to its Ees U activity)

International Business Systems, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 102
(violation where after U organizational campaign E instituted a procedure for issuing warning letters for work errors and violations of work rules)

5036-6708 Denial of promotion

National Steel Products 252 NLRB No. 120

Coating Products, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 170
(refusal to promote Ee to leadman where he was already performing work until after U campaign violative)

United States Steel Corporation, Geneva Works JD-(SF)-123-81
(E's ceasing to consider using Ee as spell foreman for engaging in activity with other Ees to promote safety, violative)

The Berry Schools v. N.L.R.B. 653 F.2d 966 (C.A. 5, Oct. 1980)
(failure to promote associate professor to full professorship allegedly in retaliation for organizational activity held not unlawful where record did not support finding especially in light of several good justifications of college's decision not to promote Ee)

N.L.R.B. v. Ford Motor Company 683 F.2d 156 (C.A. 6, July 1982)
(refusal to promote Ees who had been recommended for promotion, unlawful, since for voicing their dissatisfaction with E's promotion policies, filing grievances and ULP charges, particularly in view of promotion of others with less seniority)

N.L.R.B. v. Arrow Molded Plastics, Inc. 653 F.2d 280 (C.A. 6, July 1981)

N.L.R.B. v. Arrow Molded Plastics, Inc. 653 F.2d 280 (C.A. 6, July 1981)

5036-6709 Reduction in wages or sales commissions

Danny's Foods, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 197
(E violated Act when it removed Ee from her substitute position as alternate receiver, a higher paying job, and used her solely as cashier because this was in retaliation for her having filed a grievance under the contract)

Mineola Ford Sales, Ltd. 258 NLRB No. 082
(E did not unlawfully deprive auto salesmen of commission wages because of their U activities or refusal to cross another unit's picket line, where there was no showing that action was taken in reprisal for, or in anyway related to, salesmen's U activities; instead, companywide changes in policy, affecting all salesmen alike, were instituted by E upon its purchase of auto dealership)

Talbert Manufacturing, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 103
(reinstating striking Ees at lower pay than those Ees who did not strike and received raises violative)

Jaybil Steel Products, Inc.; etc. 258 NLRB No. 157
(changing method of pay from piecework to hourly basis which resulted in substantial loss in pay to Ees, unlawful, where instituted w/o business purpose at beginning of week immediately following organizing campaign)

Floyd Monroe & Sons, Inc. JD-80-81
(discharge of school bus driver assertedly because she had been troublemaker, agitator and bitch on wheels held violative where Ee was discharged solely because she had urged her fellow Ees to engage in strike to protest announced wage cut)

N.L.R.B. v. Donald E. Hornly, Inc. 613 F.2d 407 (C.A. 2) (1980)
(enforcement denied where ct found that record of proceedings lacked substantial evidence to support conclusions contrary to ALJ; ct rejected argument that E's statements had tendency in the totality of circumstances to intimidate Ees or Ees feared that they would lose two hours show up pay or be laid off)

N.L.R.B. v. Truck Drivers Union Local 164, Teamsters 651 F.2d 455 (C.A. 6, June 1981)
(cutting salary of veteran office worker and discharging her and her daughter as part of its action to discourage U organization violative, notwithstanding U-E's claims of legitimate discharge, where ALJ characterized U-E's defenses as shifting, unfounded, and frivolous)

N.L.R.B. v. Maui Surf Hotel Company and ILWU Local 142 601 F.2d 603(T) (C.A. 9, 1979)
(Ee and U which enforced attendance at contractually mandated work stop meeting by requiring Ees who refused to attend meeting to sign out and lose 1 hour's pay violated Act because Ees who refused to sign out were threatened with disciplinary action)

5036-6710 Reduction or withdrawal of benefits

Admiral Merchants Motor Freight, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 012
(imposing on Ees, as condition of continued employment, their repudiation of certain contract wage benefits and enforcing that condition first with threatened employment loss and then layoff, violative)

Friday Canning Corporation 265 NLRB No. 062
(closing migrant workers' camp because Ees engaged in economic strike, violative, because this effectively severed indicia of continued employment (discharge) to which strikers are entitled; furthermore, location of barracks was away from production area and so their staying would not interfere with production process)

Riley-Beaird, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 088
(E's message to Ees that it had right to demand reduction of benefits at bargaining table held implied of threat to reduce benefits if Ees selected U)

N.L.R.B. v. Wilder Brothers Company, Inc. 653 F.2d 660 (C.A. 6, June 1981)
(unannounced reduction in contributions to fund for Ees in need before election, not unlawful where Ees did not know until the hearing that contributions were reduced and therefore reduction was not timed to affect them regarding their U activities)

N.L.R.B. v. Alumina Ceramics, Inc. 690 F.2d 136 (C.A. 8, Oct. 1982)
(E's discontinuance, during U campaign, of beer parties for Ees, not unlawful, absent evidence of any anti-U motivation for discontinuance; moreover, E could reasonably have thought that continuance of parties might be looked upon as effort to undercut U campaign)

5036-6711 Wage review

Champion Road Machinery International Corporation 264 NLRB No. 123
(supervisor's telling Ees that E could not grant early performance reviews because it would look like bribery due to Ees' U organizing campaign, unlawful)

Smith & Smith Aircraft Company 264 NLRB No. 073
(violation where E ceased its established wage increase policy during U campaign as E failed to inform Ees until approximately 2 months after time of postponement that sole reason for its action was to avoid appearance that it seeks to intervene in election. Explanation must be given at time of postponement and can only last for duration of campaign. Here there was delay in announcement and E informed Ees that program would not be reinstated until C against it of refusal to bargain, adjudicated; however, policy would be reinstated if Ees got rid of U, thus shifting onus on abandonment of wage policy on to U)

Gemco Company, a Division of the United States Gypsum Company 254 NLRB No. 041
(announcing that merit wages increases were frozen because of U organizing campaign, unlawful; since, although no regularity in merit increases after first 90 days of employment, merit review system as implemented became term and condition of employment and Ees had reasonable expectation merit raise system would continue where merit pay had assumed pattern based upon reward for good work)

N.L.R.B. v. Travis Meat and Seafood Company, Inc. 633 F.2d 233 (C.A. 6, June 1980)
(telling Ees that company was not free to grant wage increases during organizing drive, violative)

5036-6712 Denial of wage increase

Schnadig Corporation 265 NLRB No. 020
(supervisor informing Ee who was U organizer when Ee requested his annual raise that E couldn't give Ee raise right now before election, since U might view it as bribery, and that supervisor was uncertain as to when evaluation for raise was due, not unlawful, absent evidence E would have given Ee raise at that time in absence of U activity)

United Supermarkets, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 179
(E's alleged withholding of amount of promised wage increase, not unlawful, where Ee was not promised specific amount by supervisor in conversation with Ee since supervisor was merely speculating or conjecturing as to possible amount of increase)

Gould, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 062
(telling Ees that wages would be frozen during negotiations which could take year held unlawful threat because it threatened loss of present benefit of elegibility for merit increases)

(failure to grant wage increase to U adherent where 27 out of 33 Ees received increases, unlawful)

Debernardi Brothers, Inc. JD-(SF)-284-81
(unlawful where E placed onus for its refusal to grant Ee wage increase on U's organizational activity and not on any expressed desire to avoid election interference)

Normike Contractors, Inc. JD-(NY)-31-81
(refusal to grant wage increases violative where E was acting out of malice toward U and its Ees for their support of U and refusal was part of calculated effort by E to induce Ees to repudiate U)

N.L.R.B. v. Service Garage, Inc. 668 F.2d 247 (C.A. 6, Jan. 1982)
(E's affirmative reply when asked by Ee if U activity meant that there would be no wage increase, not substantial enough evidence to find unlawful withdrawal of promised wage increase because of U activities where there had been only a rumor of wage increase and no established policy of granting general pay increases)

5036-6713 Withholding of expected wage increase or benefit

Hutchison-Hayes International, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 168
(E's statement to Ees that if U hadn't reopened current contract for collective-bargaining negotiations, unit Ees would have received a lot more in terms of financial benefits, violative)

Hattig Sash and Door Company 263 NLRB No. 163
(where Ee was told at time of hire that he would receive wage increase in 30 days, failing to grant increase on grounds that U had come into picture, violative)

Electric Hose and Rubber Company 262 NLRB No. 014

Southern Moldings, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 113
(withholding scheduled wage increases during U organizational campaign, violative)

Chester Valley, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 190
(withholding of wage increase assertedly because of E's uncertainty about his legal position in face of U activity, not unlawful, where GC failed preponderantly to show that increase was withheld because of Ees' U activity and because of U's presence, rather than in order to give E reasonable time in which to consult with counsel which E did with reasonable promptness and then received counsel's advice w/i reasonable time, and acted with reasonable promptness on such advice)

J. J. Newberry Co., A Wholly Owned Subsidiary of McCrory Corporation 249 NLRB No. 126
(withholding scheduled pay increase w/o specific announcement because of Ees' U activities violative, notwithstanding Ees were unaware of denial of increase until E announced that it would grant increase; moreover, fact that E acted on advice of its attorney does not relieve it of liability)

The Berry Schools v. N.L.R.B. 653 F.2d 966 (C.A. 5, Aug 1981)
(E granting substandard salary increase to Ee not violative where it could properly result from Ee's poor evaluation as compared with below average evaluations of [illegible] Ees and GC failed to show E's stated reasons for substandard increase were pretextual)

Simpson Electric Company, a Division of American Gage and Machine Company, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 654 F.2d 15 (C.A. 7, July 1981)
(E's announcing pay increase or withholding one with intent to influence ongoing (U) organizing drive or R election, violative)

5036-6714 Change in absenteeism rule for reporting

Charge Card Association 247 NLRB No. 119
(institution of policy requiring doctor's note after 1-day absence violative where rule was instituted after Ees engaged in protected strike activity)

ABL General Systems Corp. JD-(NY)-67-82
(request for proof of doctor's visit as justification for lateness, not unlawful where Ee had lateness problem and other Ees were asked for similar proof)

5036-6715 Change in policy regarding observance of hours of work

(tightening of early quitting rules because of Ees' U activities, unlawful)

Highway Express, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 102
(on day after Ees signed cards, requiring Ees to punch in and out for lunch and also to record their work orders, not violative as Ees were earlier warned that they were not doing enough work and business was failing and was not more onerous work instituted in retailiation for U activities)

Banker's Graphics, Inc. JD-339-82
(docking Ees pay who returned late from lunch on day of U election violative, where no other Ees were ever docked for tardiness)

Comfort Health Corporation d/b/a Kendallville Nursing Home JD-329-80
(change in rules requiring written note of explanation for tardiness, unlawful, since resulted from E's efforts to discourage U membership or support)

5036-6716 Denial of leave

M K Laboratories, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 021
(refusing to permit Ees to attend unemployment compensation hearing involving fellow Ee and threatening them with discipline if they took time off, unlawful where there was no record evidence that E did in fact have legitimate business reason for denying Ees' request to attend the hearing, as contended)

Grief Brothers Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 635 F.2d 531 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(E's denial of unprecedented request for simultaneous leaves for Ees of all its 21 plants to attend meeting to prepare for future negotiations not violative, notwithstanding fact that E had granted individual requests for absences in past)

5036-6717 Deduction of union dues, fees or assessments

Brotherhood Railway Carmen of the United States and Canada, Lodge 365, AFL-CIO-CLC v. N.L.R.B. 624 F.2d 819 (C.A. 8, 1980)
(checkoff of assessments though specifically permitted in bargaining agreement and had been done in past nevertheless held unlawful because checkoff authorization cards did not list assessments as item that could be checked off)

5036-6718 Discipline or warnings thereof

Kay Fries, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 132
(advising and warning Ee that his grievance relating to sanitation and safe health procedures was uncalled for and threatening to give it to company physician to institute legal action against him for filing grievance for questioned sanitary practices of physician violative)

Electric Hose and Rubber Company, A Division of Dayco Company 265 NLRB No. 100
(posting notice that listed pro-U Ees by name and stating that they would receive no preferential treatment over other Ees, and failure to comply with rules would result in disciplinary action, unlawful)

Consolidated Freightways Corporation of Delaware 264 NLRB No. 076
(reprimand for using abusive language to supervisor, violative, where such conduct was direct result of E's continuation of unlawful interview in violation of Weingarten rights)

Roadicar Corporation d/b/a Dollar Rent-A-Car of Las Vegas 264 NLRB No. 133
(giving oral and written warnings and then subsequently discharging Ee who had filed sex discrimination charge with state agency violative, where in view of E's desparate treatment of Ee, E's failure to show that it believed that Ee's conduct complained about by customers had occurred, timing of discipline and discharge, and E's admission that it linked Ee's poor attitude with filing of discrimination charge and that it had subjected her work to greater scrutiny because of charge)

Union Mining Company of Allegany County, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 062
(demoting Ee and giving him written disciplinary warning slip in retaliation for his testimony given at Bd hearing, unlawful)

Kirkhill Rubber Company 263 NLRB No. 113
(issuing written reprimand to Ee for solicitation for U purposes on company time and property, violative)

Service Spring Company, A Division of Garlock, Inc., A Wholly-Owned Subsidiary of Colt Industries 263 NLRB No. 103
(E whose new president implemented more rigid enforcement of discipline with respect to absenteeism and production mistakes coincident with U winning election did not violate Act where evidence established that policy was undertaken by E in attempt to improve production efficiency)

Technicolor Graphic Services, Inc., South Dakota Operations 262 NLRB No. 133
(issuing written warnings to and orally reprimanding committee members for sending letter alleging discriminatory treatment by Ees concerning Christmas parties and granting of time off on New Years Eve violative, notwithstanding absence of showing that actual events supported allegations of discrimination)

Dupont Puerto Rico, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 135
(placing Ee on disciplinary probation for making inquiry of warehouse manager with regard to denial of raise to fellow Ee because of his five absences and his inquiry as to E's personnel policy on sick leave, disability, and promotions, violative)

7 Up Bottling Company 261 NLRB No. 128
(E's issuance of written warning for Ee's use of its truck and for use of its time for personal business, violative of 8(a)(1) where E referred to its hard-hat rule at the time, since E had imposed rule on Ee because of his saying he might complain to OSHA, and E's reference to retaliatory rule showed warning was motivated by possibility of OSHA complaint)

7 Up Bottling Company 261 NLRB No. 128
(issuing unexcused absence slip, allegedly for failure to provide doctor's excuse although one had never before been required, violative of 8(a)(1) where E was influenced by E's prior mention of possibly complaining to OSHA)

7 Up Bottling Company 261 NLRB No. 128
(issuing disciplinary report based on Ee's alleged failure to abide by earlier warning, violative of 8(a)(1) since earlier warning had been violative of 8(a)(1) because E was influenced by possibility of Ee's making OSHA complaint)

New York University Medical Center 261 NLRB No. 118
(issuance of disciplinary warning letters to Ees for distributing literature accusing E of engaging in racist tactics, unlawful, since such distribution constituted protected concerted activity)

Champion Parts Rebuilders, Inc., Northeast Division 260 NLRB No. 098

Roadway Express, Inc. 287 NLRB No. 153
(issuing warning letter to Ee who requested to see his personnel file to make sure previous erroneous warning letter had been removed despite being told by supervisor that letter had been removed from file, and threatening further discipline if Ee wasted management's time again, violative, where Ee was attempting to enforce contract right by pursuing grievance procedures w/i contractual ten-day limit)

Roadway Express, Inc. 287 NLRB No. 153
(issuing warning letter to Ee who refused to drive truck he in good faith believed to be unsafe, violative, where, notwithstanding expert witnesses testifying to safety of truck, no evidence was given to show that Ee acted in bad faith and w/o sincere concern for his safety)

Roadway Express, Inc. 287 NLRB No. 153
(issuing warning letter to Ee for using crude and insolent language to E during grievance related incident, not unlawful, where remarks were not made in context of heated discussion of merits of Ee's grievance and were unprovoked)

Roadway Express, Inc. 287 NLRB No. 153
(issuing warning letter to Ees for insolent remarks to E and taking excessive breaks to use restroom, not unlawful, where there was no evidence that, contrary to contention, warnings were issued because Ee was U member or was scheduled to testify at Bd hearing)

United States Postal Service 286 NLRB No. 012
(threat to discipline Ee for filing grievance, unlawful, where natural and foreseeable consequence of E's statement, asking Ee to sign statement acknowledging that E was recording his status as AWOL for being absent from work, would be to inhibit Ee from filing grievances in future; under the circumstances, statement was actual retaliation for Ee's filing of grievance inasmuch as E, after telling Ee he would not be disciplined, made statement about being AWOL after Ee had filed grievance)

Southern Moldings, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 113
(foreman threatening Ees with disciplinary action if he saw them distributing, receiving or reading U literature or wearing U buttons, violative)

(ct held Bd's findings that E unlawfully attempted to discipline Ee who used intemperate language during dispute concerning overtime work assignments was supported by substantial evidence where it is well settled that intemperate remarks of participants during informal negotiations of this kind fall w/i ambit of protection of Act unless Ee's language is actually indefensible under the circumstances)

Thomas Industries, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 687 F.2d 863 (C.A. 6, Sept. 1982)
(verbally reprimanding U steward for filing petty grievances, violative)

Weiss Industries, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 633 F.2d 217(T) (C.A. 6, 1980)
(ct held substantial evidence supported Bd's finding that E violated Act by reprimanding and discharging Ee for her use of grievance procedure)

Goodyear Aerospace Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 629 F.2d 476 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(issuance of absentee warnings, unlawful)

Northern Telecom, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 618 F.2d 421 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(discipline of four Ees and discharge of U activist in connection with all five Ees leaving work at approximately same time on Saturday morning, unlawful; it was company practice to let night shift Ees, like those involved here, leave work w/o specific permission of a supervisor when they had been called in for Saturday overtime work starting at 6:00 a.m. after working till midnight the preceding night)

N.L.R.B. v. Memphis Furniture Manufacturing Company 616 F.2d 964 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(issuing warning to active U supporter assertedly for leaving her station during working hours w/o permission, violative, where Ee had obtained permission from supervisor to leave her station)

N.L.R.B. v. Memphis Furniture Manufacturing Company 616 F.2d 964 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(violation where E issued warning to active U supporter allegedly for harassing other women)

N.L.R.B. v. United States Postal Service 689 F.2d 835 (C.A. 9, Oct. 1982)
(threat to discipline Ee for filing grievance, unlawful)

Caterpillar Tractor Co. v. N.L.R.B. 638 F.2d 140 (C.A. 9, 1981)
(E's issuance of warning to chief steward for his communication with Ees in department other than his own, violative since E's action was discriminatory application of plant rules that was motivated by Ee's status as chief steward)

5036-6719 Restriction to work area

Robert Bosch Corporation 256 NLRB No. 190
(assigning known U supporters to a separate room during E's delivery to other Ees of captive-audience speeches; unlawful)

Highland Foods, Inc. and Vicksdale Industrial Corporation 258 NLRB No. 146
(announcing isolation of Ee who was attempting to organize Ees, violative)

Ralph Nemer, M.D., Louis Owens, M.D. et al., A Partnership d/b/a Deepdale General Hospital 253 NLRB No. 093
(restricting U adherent to work unit violative where normal duties involved areas outside of unit)

Gerber Scientific Instrument Company, Inc., A Wholly Owned Subsidiary of Gerber Scientific, Inc. JD-188-82
(restriction of Ee's movements after he began proselytizing for U unlawful)

Highland Foods, Inc. and Vicksdale Industrial Corporation JD-364-80
(announced isolation of Ee who was attempting to organize Ees, violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Midland National Life Insurance Company 621 F.2d 901 (C.A. 8, 1980)
(restriction of Ee to her desk, after being reprimanded for engaging in U activities, until after election, and threat to discharge her if she left the immediate area, unlawful)

5036-6720 Discharge

Serendippity-Un-Ltd and Tigerrr, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 100
(discharge of Ees for walking out because of health and safety violations in plant and because of inadequate coverage of E's health insurance plan, unlawful, where Ees' action constituted concerted protected activity and, although E had not terminated Ees when they walked out, E left no room for doubt that they were terminated when, upon being asked to permit Ees to return to work, E took position Ees had quit and refused to permit them to return to work from economic strike)

Champion Parts Rebuilders, Inc., Northeast Division 260 NLRB No. 096
(issuance of warning for talking on job to U vice-president and another Ee violative notwithstanding they were talking for prolonged time and E had past practice of warnings for such conduct where E observed conversation for a time and never ordered Ees back to work but merely issued warning notices in retaliation for vice-president status and activities)

Oakwood Manor, Inc., d/b/a Danville Nursing Home 264 NLRB No. 100
(offering Ee alternative of quitting or being discharged for engaging in protected walkout, violative notwithstanding she signed resignation form)

5036-6720—Cont.

Penn Company 251 NLRB No. 080
(discharge of Ees for refusing to work overtime, as result of unilateral implementation of new disciplinary program with respect to overtime, unlawful, where there was no agreement, express or implied, that Ees who agreed to work overtime and did not do so, or that Ees who refused overtime, could be disciplined)

Penn Company 251 NLRB No. 080
(discharge of Ees for resisting forced overtime, an item of importance to all Ees' was reasonably calculated to impress on other Ees that Ee was determined to have its way on overtime equalization whether U agreed or not, thereby indicating to them that U representation was futile)

Hawthorne Mazda, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 038
(discharge of Ee engaged in protected concerted activity when terminated for criticism of management, unlawful, where criticism occurred in manager's office rather than on shop floor where it could have affected manager's status in eyes of other Ees; manager, in effect, converted meeting into informal grievance session; and Ee's remarks were not so indefensible as to render him unfit for further service nor were they made simply to ridicule or denigrate management but were offered in connection with new pay system to which Ees were objecting)

Giuliano Apparel Corp. JD-162-80
(discharge of Ee for fear that if Ee attempted to return to work, other Ees would think E was forcing her to return and would engage in work stoppage, unlawful)

F. W. Woolworth Co. v. N.L.R.B. 655 F.2d 151 (C.A. 8, 1981)
(ct affd Bd's findings that Ee's interrupting E's anti-U captive audience meeting with questions was not part of any plan to disrupt E's meeting and thus was concerted activity, and that discharging Ee for such interruptions was unlawful; Bd's balancing of Ee's right to engage in concerted activity against E's right to maintain order and respect held neither illogical nor arbitrary where Ee's conduct was not egregious or a challenge or threat to E's above-mentioned right)

5036-6720-0100 Generally

Hutchison-Hayes International, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 168
(telling Ees that now that contract had expired he could fire them all violative)

Miller Brewing Company 254 NLRB No. 026
(imposition of more severe discipline on U stewards than that imposed on rank-and-file Ees for participation in unprotected walkout, violative, where record showed that stewards were not at fault for walkout but attempted to persuade Ees to remain on job; Indiana & Michigan Electric Company characterization of steward's greater responsibility and hence greater fault inapplicable)

Pay-Wood Industries, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 056
(Ee held discharged where foreman informed Ee to Go home, punch-out, that's it after Ee complained about safety conditions and refused to work with allegedly unsafe machine; E's contention that Ee quit was pretext to conceal unlawful discharge)

N.L.R.B. v. St. Anne's Hospital 648 F.2d 67 (C.A. 1, May 1981)
(hospital's contention that Bd did not meet test set forth in N.L.R.B. v. Eastern Smelting in finding discharges of nurses at hospital unlawful, rejected, since question is not whether E had good reasons for discharge, but whether E diliberately put nurses in position where their asserted lack of training and concern for patients' welfare in operating room forced them to object to assignment to operating room duties)

5036-6720-0150 What constitutes discharge

Brunswick Hospital Center, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 112
(in determining whether or not E has discharged striker, test to be used is whether (E's) acts, reasonably led strikers to believe they were discharged; events must be viewed through striker's eyes and not as E would have viewed them)

Brunswick Hospital Center, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 112
(no discharge of strikers where, in instant case, there was absence of consistent pattern of including unrequested pay for accrued vacation, sick leave benefits and other benefits in checks payable to strikers to demonstrate they were discharged, nor did cancellation of health insurance benefits by E)

Fink Supply Corporation 249 NLRB No. 091
(no discharge of economic strikers proved where E told strikers' spokesman that it would have to act as though they were quitting and find replacements and – when spokesman denied Ees were quitting – asked what spokesman would call their action and what E was supposed to do; spokesman then volunteered that Ees would come in and clean out their desks which they did next day; E did not create ambiguous situation by wrongdoing, did not unequivocally refuse to permit strikers to return to work or make further inquiries into its intentions futile; and each party was equally able to rectify the uncertainty)

Ground Round Restaurant, A Division of Howard Johnson JD-(SF)-191-82
(E's ordering Ees who were engaged in sit in strike to leave premises and calling police, replacing them and refusing to reinstate them constituted unlawful discharge since Ees were engaged in protected activity and it was reasonable for Ees to believe they were discharged when they left premises)

Champion Plating Company JD-362-81
(telling Ee to leave)

Emblematic Jewellry Products of U.S.A., Inc. JD-814-79
(collecting timecards of Ees as they punched out prior to quitting time, held not discharge, particularly where E's owner asked Ees if they were quitting as they punched out and subsequently they were called and asked to return to work)

5036-6720-3500 For refusal to cross picket line at another employer's premises

Browning-Ferris Industries, Chemical Services, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 069
(E's replacing drivers for refusing to cross picket line at another E's plant, unlawful where E demonstrated no compelling business need for replacing them)

5036-6720-3700 For refusal to cross primary picket line at own employer's premises

Mt. Carmel Hospital 255 NLRB No. 110
(discharging LPN for engaging in sympathy strike in support of nurses' strike violative, as in dividual need not give 8(g) notice; discharge was effective on date Ee received letter rather than on date of strike)

Joseph Charles Tafarella A.K.A. Steve Rossi, and Total Productions Concepts, Inc. JD-(SF)-212-81
(discharge of U musicians for refusing to cross picket line of another U at hotel at which they were working)

N.L.R.B. v. Rainbow Tours, Inc., d/b/a Rainbow Coaches 628 F.2d 1257(T) (C.A. 9, 1980)
(discharge of strikers for refusing to cross picket line, violative where picketing was not unlawful, discharges were motivated by anti-U animus, and business preservation doctrine did not apply since E is only permitted to replace strikers not discharge them)

N.L.R.B. v. Gould, Inc., Switchgear Division 638 F.2d 159 (C.A. 10, 1980)
(discharging U officials for engaging in sympathy strike by refusing to cross own U's informational picket line directed against non-U contractor performing work on E's premises, violative where picketing lawful primary activity and support of picket line was protected concerted activity)

5036-6720-4300 Constructive discharge

Washington Cartage, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 093
(no unlawful constructive discharge of Ee who refused to drive tractor he in good faith considered to be unsafe, since his refusal to drive tractor did not constitute protected concerted activity where condition of the particular tractor was not matter of common concern and interest to the other drivers)

J. J. Security, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 180
(requiring Ees to sign resignation forms or else stop seeking improvements in their working conditions violative)

Montcorp (Formerly Seymour Packing Division of Seymour America, Inc.) 251 NLRB No. 047
(Ees who refused to work at reduced piecework rates constructively discharged and fact that they packed up their tools before they left not controlling)

Redlands Christian Migrant Association 250 NLRB No. 027
(violation by constructively discharging strikers where E gave them choice of either quitting or giving up strike and supporting strike leader who had just been discharged, and strikers got up and left with strike leader)

General Meats, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 133
(harassment and assignment to less desireable job of Ee who asked critical questions at E sponsored meeting called to discuss profit sharing plan, found violative and her subsequent quitting found constructive discharge)

Charge Card Association 247 NLRB No. 119
(striking Ees who refused to return to work because of E's violative conduct of placing them on probationary status found to have been constructively discharged)

N.L.R.B. v. Lloyd A. Fry Roofing Company, Inc. of Delaware 651 F.2d 442 (C.A. 6, June 1981)
(discharging Ee because he refused to sign statement putting him on probation held constructive discharge where statement suggested that Ee was guilty of its detailed provisions, including accident which E admitted was not Ee's fault)

5036-6720-4800 Managerial employee

Bentley Hedges Travel Service, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 184 (discharge of managerial Ee for his part in writing Ees' grievance letter, attendance at U meeting and signing of U authorization card, not unlawful, since managerial Ees are excluded from protection of Act and like supervisors may be disciplined for U or concerted activity)

5036-6720-4500—Cont.

Seven-Up Bottling of Phoenix, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 085
(discharge of managerial Ee who had tried to withdraw monies from pension fund not violative where Act's protection did not extend to him as managerial Ee. See Parker Robb Chevrolet, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 52)

5036-6720-8800 Strikers

Airport Parking Management 264 NLRB No. 002
(discharge of Ee, who was U steward and negotiating team member, for supporting strike, unlawful)

Keyway, A Division of Phase Inc. 263 NLRB No. 172
(discharge of Ees who collectively walked out (for approximately 3 hours) from facility, engaged in prevention and treatment of alchoholism, drug abuse and domestic violence, in protest of discharge of past clinical director, criticizing new director, and expressing concern over quality of treatment of E's clients, not violative, since record contained no evidence that identity and capability of director involved had direct impact on Ees' own job interests; walk out not protected activity, since it did not encompass protest by Ees over actual terms and conditions of their employment)

J. E. Steigerwald Co., Inc. 263 NLRB No. 068

Seyforth Roofing Company of Alabama, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 048
(E's statement that he would assume that strikers who did not report for work next morning had quit constituted unlawful discharge for engaging in protected strike)

Virginia Electric and Power Company 262 NLRB No. 144
(discharging only those wildcat strikers who exercised leadership role not violative although dominant factor in determining that role was membership or suspected membership on Ee committee which asked to meet E during strike, as such self-designated committee held out as representing all Ees was destructive of legal right and obligation of U to exclusively represent Ees)

Colorado Forge Corporation 260 NLRB No. 004
(discharge for work stoppage protesting dangerous working conditions, unlawful)

Lizz Uniform, Janesville Apparel Division 259 NLRB No. 142
(telling Ee that strikers were fired upon their refusal to return to work, unlawful (actual discharge not alleged))

San Diego County Association For The Retarded 259 NLRB No. 136
(discharge of Ees who sought to resolve their grievances through strike action rather then through E's established grievance procedure held unlawful, since Ees were engaged in strike for purpose of causing E to resolve their work-related grievances in manner satisfactory to Ees)

East Chicago Rehabilitation Center, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 138
(suspension and discharge of Ees for engaging in protected strike, violative)

J. W. Microelectronics Corporation 259 NLRB No. 050
(discharge for concerted protected work stoppage to protest discharge of fellow Ees, unlawful)

Baker Marine Corporation 258 NLRB No. 091
(no violation where E suspended and discharged Ees for refusing to work on legs being assembled for drilling rig in contravention of no-strike clause since, contrary to GC's contention that such work was abnormally dangerous w/i Sec. 502 of Act, conditions considered dangerous by Ees had been in existence w/o change for considerable period of time and had been previously accepted by Ees w/o complaint)

Tamara Foods, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 180
(discharge for striking in protest of ammonia fumes in work environment, not unlawful, notwithstanding striking Ees broke plant rule and disregarded E's alternative solution for such problems, since E had unilaterally imposed rule and solution upon Ees who were not represented and not covered by agreement containing no-strike clause; and fact that plant had been found not in violation of OSHA regulations did not render strike unprotected since NLRA rights are distinct from and not subordinate to OSHA provisions)

Georgia Kraft Company, Woodcraft Division 258 NLRB No. 121
(discharge of reinstated economic strikers for their refusing to accept lesser jobs with E held violative as E deprived them of continued placement on preferential hiring list)

Con-Tex Industries, Division of Harsco Corporation 256 NLRB No. 143
(discharge of one Ee for belief he was involved in upcoming shutdown of plant by Ees and of other Ees for engaging in shutdown, unlawful where Ees were striking to present grievances; and shutting down plant equipment to prevent its being damaged did not change Ees' activity from protected to unprotected status)

Highland Plastics, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 038

Highland Plastics, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 038
(striking Ees found violatively discharged notwithstanding Ees were not present when other Ees were informed of discharge where it can be inferred that their fellow strikers informed them of their discharges)

Mariana Industries Corporation; et al. 255 NLRB No. 193
(blanket application of termination policy whereby E terminated ULP strikers upon information that they accepted employment with another E inherently destructive of Ee rights and violative)

Walker Die Casting, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 034
(discharging probationary Ees while on strike, violative)

Dimo Ambulette Service, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 082
(discharge of Ees who were striking in protest of illegal discharge of two other Ees, violative)

Oakwood Manor, Inc., d/b/a Danville Nursing Home 254 NLRB No. 108
(walkout by 5 aides in protest over assignment to fewer hours and accusations of vandalism of Ee's car held protected and discharge for walkout held violative; Ees did not lose protection by their failure to give 10 days notice required by 8(g) as no U called, instigated or promoted work stoppage)

Pacemaker Yacht Co., A Division of Mission Marine, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 095
(discharge and failure to reinstate Ees who struck E, contrary to contractual no-strike clause, to protest failure of U's health and welfare fund to fulfill its contractual medical insurance obligations held violative, since no-strike pledge relied upon by E did not constitute clear and unequivocal waiver of Ees' right to strike against actions of third party (Fund) which affected terms and conditions of employment)

Berger Transfer and Storage, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 082
(E who sent telegram to ULP strikers informing them of their discharges violated Act, notwithstanding 5 days later he sent another telegram rescinding discharges)

Inta-Roto, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 111
(E's notification to ULP strikers that they had been permanently replaced is illegal threat of permanent replacement)

Huron Dressed Beef, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 031
(discharge of Ees for acting as spokesmen for other Ees and for engaging in economic strike, unlawful)

Redlands Christian Migrant Association 250 NLRB No. 027
(discharge for inducing co-workers to join and for leading economic strike, unlawful)

Redlands Christian Migrant Association 250 NLRB No. 027
(violation by constructively discharging strikers where E gave them choice of either quitting or giving up strike and supporting strike leader who had just been discharged, and strikers got up and left with strike leader)

Villa Care, Inc., d/b/a Edmonds Villa Care Center 249 NLRB No. 098
(discharge and refusal to reinstate Ees unlawful, since Ees were economic strikers who were subject to permanent replacement but not to discharge)

A. J. Librera Disposal Cartage and Trucking, Inc. d/b/a A. J. Librera Disposal Service, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 118
(discharging Ees because they engaged in strike to protest wages, violative)

Ground Round Restaurant, A Division of Howard Johnson JD-(SF)-191-82
(E's ordering Ees who were engaged in sit in strike to leave premises and calling police, replacing them and refusing to reinstate them constituted unlawful discharge since Ees were engaged in protected activity and it was reasonable for Ees to believe they were discharged when they left premises)

Heritage Nursing & Convalescent Centers, Inc., d/b/a Georgian House Nursing Home JD-(SF)-26-82
(discharging nurse's aide Ees for concertedly striking in support of grievances concerning working conditions, violative; E's contention that Ees were discharged for patroling with picket sign accusing E of abusing patients rejected)

Geiger & Peters, Inc. JD-(SF)-248-81
(discharging sympathy strikers for refusing to cross another U's picket line at E's premises unlawful, since, notwithstanding E's good-faith belief to contrary, Ees' act was protected where picket line would not be unlawful w/i meaning of 8(b)(4)(D) and no JDP existed due to fact supervisor performed disputed work and dispute was therefore between E and picketing U rather than 2 Us)

Leydig Truck Sales, Inc. JD-226-81
(discharge of Ees for striking in protest of being compelled to work under bad weather conditions, violative)

Blackjack Coal Company, Inc. JD-33-81
(discharge of Ees for engaging in strike, unlawful)

B & F Turpen, Inc. JD-274-80
(discharge of economic strikers at beginning of strike violative where it took place before permanent replacements had been hired)

W S H Construction Company, Inc., J. B. Shannon and James A. Hurd, Equipment Rental Company JD-70-80
(E's telling economic strikers who had requested to return to work that they had been replaced and did not have a job, held not sufficient to sustain allegation of unlawful discharge; higher management of E never utilized discharge terminology, Cf. Ridgeway Trucking Co., 243 NLRB No. 160)

Puerto Rico Food Products Corp., et al. v. N.L.R.B. 619 F.2d 153 (C.A. 1, 1980)
(Ees' strike over discharge of supervisor not protected activity where protest was not over actual conditions of employment of Ees; none of Ees who protested gave slightest indication that discharged supervisor's assistance to their unionization efforts motivated their protest)

Puerto Rico Food Products Corp., et al. v. N.L.R.B. 619 F.2d 153 (C.A. 1, 1980)
(ct held there was no substantial evidence to support Bd's finding of nexus between Ee protest over discharge of supervisor and Ees' legitimate interests)

Montefiore Hospital and Medical Center v. N.L.R.B 621 F.2d 510 (C.A. 2, 1980)
(discharged doctors who had struck w/o notice in sympathy with health care institution Ees denied backpay for period of discharge by ct which held their picket-line statements improper and, unlike their sympathy strike, unprotected)

Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company v. N.L.R.B. 631 F.2d 263 (C.A. 4, June 1980)
(E's discharge of spokesman for Ees who engaged in work stoppage while merely disciplining latter, held not improper, where provisions of bargaining agreement permitted E to discharge all strikers had it so desired; E was entitled to treat spokesman as leader of unauthorized work stoppage and therefore discipline him to greater extent than other Ees)

Super Valu Xenia, a Division of Super Valu Stores, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 627 F.2d 13 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(contrary to Bd, ct held discharge of two Ees under mistaken belief they had engaged in strike misconduct, not unlawful, since Ees had participated in illegal wildcat strike and record evidence does not substantially support conclusion that E condoned or otherwise forgave Ees for their illegal conduct)

N.L.R.B. v. Rainbow Tours, Inc., d/b/a Rainbow Coaches 628 F.2d 1357(T) (C.A. 9, 1980)
(discharge of strikers for refusing to cross picket line, violative where picketing was not unlawful, discharges were motivated by anti-U animus, and business preservation doctrine did not apply since E is only permitted to replace strikers not discharge them)

5036-6720-5800 For supervisor's engaging in union or protected activity

Humana of West Virginia, Inc. d/b/a Greenbrier Valley Hospital 265 NLRB No. 126
(suspension and discharge of individual found supervisor herein, not unlawful where, contrary to ALJ, Bd found that evidence showed that actions were taken, not because individual refused to commit ULPs, such as interrogating Ees, but were admittedly due to individual's U activities, including attendance at U meetings, and thus were not unlawful since integral part or pattern of conduct line of cases involving supervisors' U activities has been overruled)

Boro Management Corp. 263 NLRB No. 56
(discharge of supervisor for attempting, on his own behalf, to enforce terms of bargaining agreement through grievance procedure not violative for reasons fully set forth in Bd's recent decision in Parker Rob Chevrolet, Inc.)

Rain-Ware, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 008
(layoff of supervisor not violative, in view of Bd's recent decision in Parker-Robb Chevrolet, 262 NLRB No. 58, holding that Act does not extend to supervisors who are disciplined or discharged as result of their participation in U or concerted activity and in so doing overruling those cases which held that violation is established when discipline or dischrge of supervisor is an integral part of E's pattern of unlawful conduct directed against Ees)

Roma Baking Company 263 NLRB No. 076
(discharge of supervisor who was vigorous U supporter not violative as protection of Act does not extend to supervisors who are disciplined or discharged for participation in U or concerted activity; See, Parker-Robb Chevrolet, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 58)

Parker-Robb Chevrolet, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 058
(discharge of supervisor when he involved himself in Ees' organizational efforts by asking E for explanation of certain Ees' discharges, not unlawful, notwithstanding ALJ's reliance on DRW Corp. in finding discharge unlawful as part of E's overall plan to discourage Ees' support of U; DRW Corp., and similar cases, holding discharge of supervisors unlawul where it is integral part or pattern of conduct aimed at coercing Ees in exercise of their statutory rights, overruled, since such cases misread intention of Congress when it excluded supervisors from from definition of Ee)

Parker-Robb Chevrolet, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 058
(secondary or incidental effect on Ees of discharge of supervisor for U or concerted activity is insufficient to warrant exception to general statutory exclusion of supervisors where discharge is because of such activity or because it is contemporaneous with unlawful discharge of Ees, or both; and it is irrelevant that E may have hoped or expected that termination of supervisor would cause Ees to reconsider or abandon U or concerted activity; but E's use of such discharge to threaten Ees may constitute 8(a)(1) violation on basis of such threat which, however, would not change character of discharge itself)

Parker-Robb Chevrolet, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 058
(rationale underlying novel factual situation in Pioneer Drilling has been unduly extended to situations in which the only common denominator was a pattern of pervasive ULPs and in applying Act's protection to supervisors who merely join with Ee protected activity and are then subjected to same unlawful discharge or discipline as Ees; such integral part or pattern of conduct line of cases disregards fact that Ees and not supervisors are protected in such situations, and results must be the same under Act whether supervisors engage in U activity by themselves or along with Ees)

Parker-Robb Chevrolet, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 058
(subjective test which Bd has followed at times in cases involving unlawful discharge of supervisor as integral part or pattern of conduct aimed at coercing Ees in exercise of their statutory rights is unworkable because ULPs may irrevocably blur distinction between E's right to prohibit supervisor from participating in U or concerted activity and E's obligation to permit exercise of Ees' statutory rights; moreover, subjective test is contrary to Bd's approach in analagous areas)

Big Star #189 JD-373-82
(discharging Ee, found supervisor herein, who played significant role in U's organizing campaign, not unlawful, where Ee was discharged solely for poor performance and there was no evidence that Ee's activities were known to E prior to termination; Parker Robb test applied to instant case in finding Ee's activities not protected)

Mason-Dixon Recycling Corp. JD-233-82
(no violation where individual was supervisor at time of alleged unlawful discharge and voluntarily quit supervisory job to avoid hassles of supervising Ees, absent evidence individual was promoted to supervisor to eliminate him from bargaining unit, of U animus, or of knowledge of individual's U activity; nor has individual subsequently applied for another job with E)

5036-6720-5900 Of supervisor as integral part of conduct aimed at discouraging exercise of Sec. 7 rights

Garabo Lace Mills, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 044
(issuance of warning to Ee found to be supervisor not violative of Sec. 8(a)(3) although in retaliation for engaging in U activities as supervisors are not protected under Act; warning also not violative under Sec. 8(a)(1) as Bd has disavowed integral pattern of conduct rationale as basis for finding violation of Sec. 8(a)(1). See Chevrolet, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 58 (1982))

Dominican Sisters of Ontario, Inc., d/b/a Holy Rosary Hospital 264 NLRB No. 138
(discharge of Ee who was head nurse and admitted supervisor on same occasion that E discharged five other nurses for conduct, found herein to be protected concerted activity, not unlawful, where facts did not warrant exception to general statutory exclusion of supervisors from protection of Act under criteria set forth in Parker-Robb Chevrolet)

H. H. Robertson Company 263 NLRB No. 173
(E violates Section 8(a)(1) by discharging supervisor for providing information to Bd regarding ULPs since providing of such information assists Ees in obtaining vindication of their rights through Bd's processes)

Master Food Services, Inc., Noah Robinson, and Al Williams d/b/a A & W Catering Co. 262 NLRB No. 105
(discharging statutory supervisor because he had signed card as did all other Ees who were also discharged, not violative notwithstanding discharge of supervisor is part and parcel of E's pattern of unlawful conduct directed against Ees)

Beech Branch Coal Company 260 NLRB No. 122
(discharge of supervisor for siding with Ees against management over new work hours imposed by management, not violative; no exceptions)

B. E. & K., Inc. 260 NLRB No. 081
(discharge of supervisory Ee rather than letting him return to rank-and-file position violative where Ee was U adherent and had only been promoted to supervisor 10 days earlier to remove him from protection of Act)

Cal-Walts, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 126
(termination of supervisor, not unlawful, since not for his refusal to unlawfully discharge Ees inasmuch as he did not perceive he was being ordered to commit unlawful act and did discharge Ees; nor was there pattern of unlawful conduct affecting Ees and supervisors alike where distinction between rights of Ees and supervisors can not be perceited by Ees as supervisor did not encourage or participate in same protected activity which caused unlawful discharge of Ees)

Madison Manufacturing Company 255 NLRB No. 094
(discharge of supervisor who objected to unlawful layoff of Ee, encouraged recall of Ee, and made proposals which would have obstructed E's illegal goals, not unlawful, since supervisor's actions did not constitute refusal to engage in ULPs and facts did not fall strictly w/i Section 8(a)(1) violation for firing supervisor because he would not engage in ULPs; notwithstanding E understood supervisor would not cooperate in its desire to rid itself of U adherents; however his discharge violative on theory it was integral part of scheme to discharge Ees in his department for their U activities)

Empire Gas, Inc. of Denver 264 NLRB No. 076
(discharge of supervisor, unlawful where he was discharged contemporaneously with Ees for participating with them in bringing concerted pressure upon E for favorable resolution of their complaint regarding futher bonus payments, and such discharge impacted directly upon statutorily protected rights of Ees)

Pennypower Shopping News, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 011
(supervisor included in reinstatement and backpay order, since E's conduct, including discharge of supervisor, was part of pattern of conduct aimed at coercing Ees in exercise of Sec. 7 rights)

DRW Corporation d/b/a Brothers Three Cabinets 248 NLRB No. 095
(vindication of Ees Section 7 rights is basis for reinstatement of violatively discharged supervisor not protecting supervisor for his engagement in U activity)

Tribal American Consulting Corporation JD-(SF)-314-80
(discharging supervisor because she refused to issue reprimands to U supporters for purpose of building record to justify discharge of U supporters, violative)

Belcher Towing Company v. N.L.R.B. 614 F.2d 88 (C.A. 5, Mar. 1980)
(E's discharge of ship's captain for refusal to enforce no solicitation rule requiring him to report all U activity on board his boat, unlawful, notwithstanding captain was supervisor since discharge motivated by his refusal to participate in unlawful surveillance)

N.L.R.B. v. Downslope Industries, Inc., and Greenbrier Industries, Inc. 676 F.2d 1114 (C.A. 6, Apr. 1982)
(discharge of supervisor who had complained of sexual harassment by another supervisor along with discharge of her supervisees who had been hired by supervisor and were either related to or friends of supervisor and who made similar complaints, unlawful, and supervisor ordered reinstated, since she was used as conduit to discharge her supervisees and squelch Section 7 activity or was an integral part of attempt by E to discourage exercise of Sec. 7 rights by Ees)

N.L.R.B. v. Nevis Industries, Inc., d/b/a Fresno Townehouse 647 F.2d 905 (C.A. 9, June 1981)
(cts have found that Es violated 8(a)(1) by conduct toward supervisors and ordered reinstatement in 3 basic situations; first, discipline of supervisor for refusing to commit ULP; second, discipline of supervisor for testifying before Bd; and third, discharge of supervisor as pretext for terminating pro-U crew which he had hired as his own crew)

N.L.R.B. v. Nevis Industries, Inc., d/b/a Fresno Townehouse 647 F.2d 905 (C.A. 9, June 1981)
(ct held that Bd applied wrong legal standard in holding that E violated 8(a)(1) by refusing to retain supervisor, and refused to order his reinstatement, since Congress had expressly chosen not to protect proU activities of supervisor and reinstating supervisor whenever discipline might have coercive effect on Ees would tend to override that will; coercive effect on Ees here could be eliminated by ordering reinstatement of Ees themselves)

5036-6720-6700 For supervisor's refusal to engage in illegal activities

Humana of West Virginia, Inc. d/b/a Greenbrier Valley Hospital 265 NLRB No. 126
(suspension and discharge of individual found supervisor herein, not unlawful where, contrary to ALJ, Bd found that evidence showed that actions were taken, not because individual refused to commit ULPs, such as interrogating Ees, but were admittedly due to individual's U activities, including attendance at U meetings, and thus were not unlawful since integral part or pattern of conduct line of cases involving supervisors' U activities has been overruled)

Earl Kuhns, d/b/a Frenchy's K & T and Earl's News Stand 263 NLRB No. 087
(discharge of supervisor because he failed to issue written disciplinary warnings to pro-U Ees so that E would be able to discharge them, violated Act as this interferes with rights of nonsupervisory Ees by permitting supervisors to respect statutory rights of Ees w/o fear of reprisal)

Parker-Robb Chevrolet, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 058
(in overruling DRW Corp. and similar cases and holding discharge of supervisors not unlawful, Bd nonetheless held such discharges may be unlawful when discharge is for testifying at Bd hearing or at contractual grievance proceeding, for refusing to commit ULPs, or for failing to prevent unionization, since impact on Ees' statutory rights, coupled with need to insure that even statutorily excluded Ees may not be coerced into violating law or discouraged from participating in Bd process or in grievance procedures, compels their protection despite statutory exclusion)

Howard Johnson Motor Lodge 251 NLRB No. 130
(discharge of supervisor for refusal to engage in surveillance of Ees' U activity at request of E and specifically identify Ees who had attended U meeting, unlawful, notwithstanding E made demand on supervisor after supervisor voluntarily, attended U meeting, since E sought to compel supervisor to report on U activity of Ees, an ULP)

World Evangelism, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 088
(discharge of supervisor because he was unable to control U activity of Ees not violative where record does not establish that E expected supervisor to use coercive or unlawful means to further E's position or that it suggested he engage in any ULPs)

Datagraphic, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 173
(discharging supervisor allegedly for, inter alia, not carrying out company policies, violative, where reason for discharge was his refusal to commit various ULPs)

Cal-Walts, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 126
(termination of supervisor, not unlawful, since not for his refusal to unlawfully discharge Ees inasmuch as he did not perceive he was being ordered to commit unlawful act and did discharge Ees; nor was there pattern of unlawful conduct affecting Ees and supervisors alike where distinction between rights of Ees and supervisors can not be perceived by Ees as supervisor did not encourage or participate in same protected activity which caused unlawful discharge of Ees)

Hedison Manufacturing Company 253 NLRB No. 054
(discharge of supervisor who objected to unlawful layoff of Es, encouraged recall of Es, and made proposals which would have obstructed E's illegal goals, not unlawful, since supervisor's actions did not constitute refusal to engage in ULPs and facts did not fall strictly w/i Section 8(a)(1) violation for firing supervisor because he would not engage in ULPs, notwithstanding E understood supervisor would not cooperate in its desire to rid itself of U adherents; however his discharge violative on theory it was integral part of scheme to discharge Ees in his department for their U activities)

World's Best Janitorial Services, Inc. JD-516-81
(violation, where E discharged supervisor in reprisal for her refusal to identify and weed out those Ees who had been active in seeking representation by U and who had engaged in concerted refusal to work)

Pass, Inc.; J. Pass Inc.; and Riverside Warehouse, Inc. JD-441-81

N.L.R.B. v. Nevis Industries, Inc., d/b/a Fresno Townehouse 647 F.2d 905 (C.A. 9, June 1981)
(cts have found that Es violated 8(a)(1) by conduct toward supervisors and ordered reinstatement in 3 basic situations; first, discipline of supervisor for refusing to commit ULP; second, discipline of supervisor for testifying before Bd; and third, discharge of supervisor as pretext for terminating pro-U crew which he had hired as his own crew)

5036-6720-7000 Mass discharge

N.L.R.B. v. Downslope Industries, Inc., and Greenbrier Industries, Inc. 676 F.2d 1114 (C.A. 6, Apr. 1982)
(mass discharge of female Ees who refused to work until E listened to their complaints about sexual harassment by male supervisor, unlawful; freedom from sexual harassment is a working condition which Ees may organize to protect)

N.L.R.B. v. Downslope Industries, Inc., and Greenbrier Industries, Inc. 676 F.2d 1114 (C.A. 6, Apr. 1982)
(Ee who participated in confrontation that lead to unlawful mass discharge, and reasonably considered himself discharged, entitled to reinstatement. In mass discharge, motive of E, not individual actions of Ee, is focus of inquiry and E's motive was to squelch protected activity and unlawful net spread to include Ee)

5036-6720-7200 Of supervisor for testifying at Board hearing or grievance proceeding

Parker-Robb Chevrolet, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 058
(in overruling DRW Corp. and similar cases and holding discharge of supervisors not unlawful, Bd nonetheless held such discharges may be unlawful when discharge is for testifying at Bd hearing or at contractual grievance proceeding, for refusing to commit ULPs, or for failing to prevent unionization, since impact on Ees' statutory rights, coupled with need to insure that even statutorily excluded Ees may not be coerced into violating law or discouraged from participating in Bd process or in grievance procedures, compels their protection despite statutory exclusion)

Tyler Business Services, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 680 F.2d 338 (C.A. 4, June 1982)
(discharge of Ee because of his remarks to one of E's most important customers concerning unlawful discharge of part-time Ee and lack of insurance for part-time Ees, not unlawful, since evidence did not show discharge was for protected concerted activity where there was no showing that Ee's conduct was attempt to enforce bargaining agreement, to induce group action, or was undertaken on behalf of other Ees; and Ee was not enlisting customer's aid or sympathy on behalf of company's Ees; instead, Ee testified that he tried to keep his friendship with customer separate from his work)

5036-6720-7200 Protesting unsafe conditions

Daniel Construction Company 264 NLRB No. 104
(discharge of Ee who refused to perform job task which he believed unsafe not violative as Ee was not engaged in protected activity; Ee was not contending that E was not following safety procedures and was not engaged in strike because he was trying to choose which job tasks he would perform)

American Freight System, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 018
(discharge of driver for refusing to drive truck which he reasonably believed to be unsafe because of good faith belief that truck's tires were unsafe held violative, since driver's reasonable concern about safety of tires constituted attempt to enforce contract provisions reguarding Ee rights not to be compelled to operate unsafe equipment; thus, his conduct amounted to protected concerted activity)

Farmland Soy Pròcessing Company 263 NLRB No. 18
(discharging Ee for not immediately signing orientation form for new Ees concerning safety conditions and procedures and asking for more time to read form, violative as this incident was pretext in ivew of E's later statement to dischargee's co-worker in which E admitted he was looking for way to discharge Ee, E told Ee in discharge interview that he had been picking on E, and this referred to Ee's many complaints about safety)

Florida Steel Corporation 262 NLRB No. 102
(discharge of Ee who refused to drive truck not violative as he was discharged for refusal to perform assigned task; moreover, although he had reported to E that truck was unsafe and in need of repair, upon his reassignment to it two days later he made no attempt to ascertain if it had been repaired (which was normal policy) but merely refused to drive truck giving no explanation and was thus not engaged in protected activity)

Wagner-Smith Company 262 NLRB No. 130
(discharge of 4 Ees for complaining about hazardous working conditions violative)

Comet Fast Freight, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 040
(discharge of Ee for his refusal to drive truck he alleged was unsafe not violative as Ee was not engaged in concerted activity where he was only Ee who complained about truck's condition and testified that I was looking out for myself, not the other drivers; thus, while Ee's subjective lack of concern for his fellow Ees is not controlling, fact that other Ees did not share his concerns about truck shows he was acting alone)

Lafeyette Steel Erector, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 160
(discharge of Ee who protested E's failure to provide Ees who worked high off ground with safety belts violated Act as Ee engaged in protected activity, notwithstanding Ee chose to protest by removing his shirt which was violation of E's rules)

Colorado Forge Corporation 260 NLRB No. 004
(discharge for work stoppage protesting dangerous working conditions, unlawful)

Terras Coal Company, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 047
(discharge of miners who had walked off job after E failed to comply with request that road into mine be repaired so that Ees could ride into mine in view of miners' fear that scoop being used to carry them into mine was unsafe and their concern about delay in carrying out injured Ee, and refusal to allow miners to work upon their return, unlawful, since miners' activities protected; E's contention miners voluntarily quit inasmuch as they were given reasonable alternative of walking in on paid time, rejected, since no requirement (that) Ees abjure colorable grievance merely because E presents alternative, though arguably reasonable)

Centrex Construction Company, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 148
(no violation where Ee was discharged for spending excessive time at water cooler away from work rather than, as alleged, for making safety complaints)

Tamara Foods, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 180
(discharge for striking in protest of ammonia fumes in work environment, not unlawful, notwithstanding striking Ees broke plant rule and disregarded E's alternative solution for such problems, since E had unilaterally imposed rule and solution upon Ees who were not represented and not covered by agreement containing no-strike clause; and fact that plant had been found not in violation of OSHA regulations did not render strike unprotected since NLRA rights are distinct from and not subordinate to OSHA provisions)

Trans Air Supply Company, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 023
(violation, where E discharged leadman for persisting in arguing with plant superintendent, after he obeyed orders to return to work area, over need for fans to be turned on to clear smoke and fumes from work area)

City Disposal Systems, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 073
(discharging driver for refusing to operate what Ee claimed to be unsafe vehicle, violative as he was asserting contract right based upon his honest belief that brakes were unsafe and E's failure to show Ee that his complaint was unfounded supports Ee's claim of unsound brakes, notwithstanding another Ee drove truck w/o incident)

Maryland Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co. 256 NLRB No. 069
(suspension of Ee for failing to complete sufficient portion of painting assignment, unlawful, since really for complaining about safety rules in bargaining contract with regard to working in remote areas and time spent on Ee's complaint was significant factor in E's decision to suspend Ee)

Zurn Industries, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 098
(discharging Ees for ecomplaining about safety with respect to handrails at concrete pouring site, violative)

Babcock & Wilcox, B & W Construction Company 255 NLRB No. 069
(no violation for discharging two Ees who refused to perform assertedly dangerous job in violation of no stoppage of work clause in contract and GC did not rely on Section 502; fact that Ees did not use word refuse is of no consequence nor fact that supervisor did not threaten Ees with discharge if they did not perform work)

Hamilton Die Cast Company, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 113
(discharging 2 Ees on same day for taking leave w/o written notice held violative as other Ees have not been similarly terminated; E's motivation was to penalize them for concerted activities as one Ee filed OSHA charge and other Ee was U steward whose performance E was critical)

ITT Continental Baking Company American
Bakeries Company, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 140
(Ees' discharge for walkout in protest over alleged unsafe working conditions not violative wherc contract contains unambiguous no-strike clause over such matters while attempt is being made to resolve issues through use of mandatory arbitration and grievance procedure)

Service Machine & Shipbuilding Corp. 253 NLRB No. 080
(discharge of welders for refusing to work in the rain, unlawful; Ees' concern was about safety and health)

Irvin H. Whitehouse & Sons Company 252 NLRB No. 140
(discharge of Ees who refused to work because of safety hazards violative where contract did not contain no-strike provision)

The Motor Convoy, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 175

Pay-Wood Industries, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 086
(discharge of Ee who alone complained about safety conditions and refused to operate allegedly unsafe machine, unlawful notwithstanding Ee did not invoke contractual grievance procedure)

Pay-Wood Industries, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 086
(whether Ee's C about safe working conditions is real or imaginary, it is immaterial to the exercise of Ee's Section 7 rights to so complain)

Lyman Steel Company 249 NLRB No. 040
(U adherent's quitting job, not only because E denied Ee's vacation request, but also because of E's implicit rejection of Ee's plea for security at his work station, held constructive discharge)

Corbin-Dykes Electric Company JD-(SF)-208-82
(refusing to rehire Ee and placing Ee on E's ineligible for rehire list because he complained about safety of wiring in transfer switch box, violative, since complaints constituted protected concerted activity where safe operation of switch box was matter of common concern to other Ees who were obliged to operate switch; and moreover, Ee's complaints were also based on what Ee perceived to be violation of collective bargaining agreement which did not require Ees to perform work not in conformity with National Electrical Code and therefore, Ee was acting on behalf of all unit Ees and was engaged in protected concerted activity)

Francrete Corporation JD-(NY)-57-82
(discharge of Ee for filing too many reports concerning unsafe vehicles violative as such conduct is protected concerted activity where other drivers had voiced similar concerns)

Timothy Kasmoch and David G. Kasmoch d/b/a Warrendale Garage and Trucking JD-174-82
(discharge of truck driver because he refused to operate truck based on his belief that loaded truck would be overweight under laws of 2 states held violative, since such refusal is protected concerted activity; discharge had effect, intended or not, of serving as warning to other drivers that they were in danger of losing their jobs if they refused to violate state laws by operating overweight vehicles)

High Energy Corporation JD-100-82
(discharge of Ees who walked off job to protest unsafe working conditions violative as Ees engaged in protected activity and protection is not lost because Ees did not give prior notice, moreover, it is immaterial whether Ees were correct about the unsafe conditions)

Enerhaul, Inc. JD-(ATL)-7-82
(discharge of Ee who had engaged in protected activity regarding condition of his truck not violative where Ee would have been discharged regardless of his protected conduct for abusing truck assigned to him)

5036-6720-7300—Cont.

Berkshire Cleanway Rubbish Removal, Inc. JD-336-81
(suspension and discharge of Ee because of his complaining about safety of E's trucks and refusing to drive them under unsafe and illegal conditions, violative where other Ees shared concerns and E was aware of common concern)

Johns-Manville, Private Carriage JD-(ATL)-59-81
(discharge not violative where Ee's protests concerning alleged unsafe conditions of front axle tires of truck, were not concerted activity since protests had no object to cause E to change its policies concerning criterion of safety for front tires which it had established but was solely for Ee's own benefit)

Alaga Whitfield Foods, Inc. JD-504-80
(discharge of Ee truckdrivers who refused to work because of violence occurring on highway in independent trucker's protest violative, as Ees' activity protected because of safety concerns)

Roadway Express, Inc. JD-281-80
(discharge of Ee for refusing to obey order, lawful, notwithstanding Ee's contention that he was discharged for making a safety complaint to Department of Transportation since there was no basis for concluding that E had any knowledge of Ee's compalaint)

Roadway Express, Inc. JD-281-80
(discharge of Ee for refusing to drive truck because of asserted safety defects, lawful, where Ee contrived defect which would serve to justify his action in refusing to drive truck)

S & H Fabricating and Engineering, Inc. JD-149-80
(discharge for Cs to management about safety of van Ee was assigned to drive, unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. Service Machine & Shipbuilding Corp. 662 F.2d 1125 (C.A. 5, Dec 1981)
(discharge of welders for refusing to operate electrical equipment in the rain, unlawful, where they acted out of fear of electrical shock which was apparent to all persons involved; Ees did not lose right to protest dangers and discomforts inherent in emergency conditions by volunteering to work under such conditions; their agreement to work in conditions which, while perhaps unpleasant, were not hazardous, did not preclude their refusal to work when conditions worsened; nor was it relevant that Ees failed to state explicitly their fear of electrical shock before walking off job)

Brown & Root, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 634 F.2d 816 (C.A. 5, 1980)
(discharge of two Ees who had refused to obey foreman's order to return to work which Ees had ceased when rain had begun to blow on electrical equipment with which they were working, unlawful, since protected refusal to work in perceived unsafe conditions and refusal concerted where two Ees acted in concert, notwithstanding remainder of Ees returned to work)

City Disposal Systems, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 683 F.2d 1005 (C.A. 6, July 1982)
(discharge of Ee who refused to drive truck he believed to be unsafe not violative where Ee was not engaged in concerted activity as he was acting solely for himself, did not attempt to warn other Ees that truck was unsafe, did not seek assistance of U representative in effort to avoid driving truck, and only made isolated comment to E that E cared more about garbage than men)

Bay Wood Industries, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 666 F.2d 1011 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1981)
(dismissal of Ee because he refused to operate saw unless guard was installed on saw to protect Ee's fingers not violative, since Ee's complaints and actions did not constitute concerted activities; Ee enlisted no other Ees in this dispute, nor did he file grievance nor did he attempt to represent any interests othr than his own; Ee's complaint did not meet test for concerted activities enunciated in Aro, Inc. v. N.L.R.B., 596 F.2d 713 (1979))

N.L.R.B. v. Lloyd A. Fry Roofing Company, Inc. of Delaware 651 F.2d 442 (C.A. 6, June 1981)
(applying Mt. Healthy and Wright Line principles, discharge violative where E failed to demonstrate that it would not have discharged Ee who engaged in protected concerted activity to improve E's equipment so as to eliminate safety hazards but for that activity)

Irvin H. Whitehouse & Sons Co. v. N.L.R.B. 659 F.2d 830 (C.A. 7, Sept. 1981)
(where safety issue is one that must be submitted to binding arbitration, obligation not to strike over matter is considered to be coterminus and any stoppage violates implied no-strike clause unless safety hazzard suddenly arose and presented immediate threat; i.e., Washington Aluminum situation)

N.L.R.B. v. Tamara Foods, Inc. 692 F.2d 1171 (C.A. 8, Nov. 1982)
(Bd decision holding discharge of Ees for violating plant rule by walkout protesting unhealthy working conditions unlawful, affirmed)

Lee G. Kohls v. N.L.R.B. 629 F.2d 173 (C.A.D.C., 1980)
(discharge of Ee for refusing to drive assigned truck because breaks were not good enough for me, not unlawful, since protest and refusal not concerted and Interboro Contractors doctrine not applied, notwithstanding contention was Ee was asserting contractual right, where Ee was not asserting right on behalf of anyone other than himself nor speaking for others, no evidence Ee and U working in concert to assert contract, and fact Ee withdrew grievance filed on his behalf by U)

5036-6720-7500 For engaging in protected activity

Operating Engineers, Local 400 265 NLRB No. 168
(discharging Ee because he complained about wages, hours, and working conditions and his stated intention of filing an employment discrimination proceeding, violative)

Key Opportunities, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 170
(violation where E discharged supervisors and aides, found herein to be Ees w/i meaning of Act, because they engaged in protected concerted activity involving wages and working conditions, and engaged in protest over discharge of fellow supervisor which resulted from circumstances involving such concerns)

Good Samaritan Hospital & Health Center 265 NLRB No. 092
(discharge of two occupational therapists by coordinator of agency providing developmental therapy for learning disabled children, because therapists complained of coordinator's mismanagement of program and inappropriate treatment model to be used by agency held not violative, since therapists were in no way disturbed or troubled by any personal demands imposed on them by coordinator's policy decisions; welfare of children was therapists' concern; therapists criticisms and recommendations related to disputes outside objectives of mutual aid or protection provisions of NLRA)

Enterprise Products Company 265 NLRB No. 083
(discharge of Ees assertedly for violating rule prohibiting dissemination of company information by providing Ee, whose discharge was subject of ULP charge herein, with information regarding company's operations, unlawful, where maintenance of rule was found unlawful and action taken thereunder affecting terms of employment of those violating rule is unlawful also; Ees' disseminated information contained no trade or competitive secrets, was not confidential nor restricted, and was readily accessible to anyone and available from sources other than E's records; and E's labeling disclosure of information as theft did not excuse its own unlawful conduct)

Dunn Chevrolet, Inc. d/b/a All Star Chevrolet 265 NLRB No. 086
(E's discharge of newly hired Ee or, in the alternative, E's refusal to hire him as prospective Ee, unlawful, where E had knowledge of Ee's past involvement in U activities in his former employ and E's action was admittedly taken for such reason; moreover, even assuming direct evidence of discriminatory motive was absent, evidence also supports inference that E's action was based on discriminatory motive)

McLean Hospital, A Division of Massachusetts General Hospital 264 NLRB No. 068
(discharge not unlawful since it was not attributable to breach of Ee's Weingarten rights at investigatory interview, as contended, where Ee's request at first interview was not for participation of representative or witness on his behalf, but for postponement of interview so that he could secure legal advice of private counsel and at second interview he was offered opportunity to forego the interview entirely but offered to participate voluntarily)

Sherwood Ford, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 116
(discharging Ee, assertedly for telling office manager she was tired of being lied to, not violative where statement was part and parcel of Ee's protest on behalf of herself and other Ees over E's failure to pay holiday pay and Ee's language was not so inaccurate or offensive as to remove Act's protection)

Benjamin Electrical Engineering, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 139
(where Ee's complaint to E was alleged to have concerned unsafe working conditions but was found to have been directed toward enforcement of U contractual conditions on the job, discharging Ee for making complaint held not unlawful, notwithstanding content of complaint might have been found protected, since discharge was not for content of complaint but for insubordinate manner in making it)

Dominican Sisters of Ontario, Inc., d/b/a Holy Rosary Hospital 264 NLRB No. 158
(discharging all nurses on night shift in emergency department because they hired an attorney to pursue matter of Ees' expressed concern to E concerning number of registered nurses on duty during night shift in emergency room, violative, where such conduct constituted protected concerted activity)

Raddiour Corporation d/b/a Dollar Rent-A-Car of Las Vegas 264 NLRB No. 133
(giving oral and written warnings and then subsequently discharging Ee who had filed sex discrimination charge with state agency violative, where in view of E's desparate treatment of Ee, E's failure to show that it believed that Ee's conduct complained about by customers had occurred, timing of discipline and discharge, and E's admission that it linked Ee's poor attitude with filing of discrimination charge and that it had subjected her work to greater scrutiny because of charge)

Searle Auto Glass, Inc. d/b/a Best Glass Company 264 NLRB No. 169
(dishcarge of glazier unlawful, notwithstanding E's assertion that discharge was because of Ee's suspected activities in skimming operation and because he was engaged in glazing work in competition with E, since asserted reasons were found a sham herein and real reason was Ee's filing wage claim against E with state labor commission, in view of E's explanation to state labor department after Ee had filed for unemployment compensation that reason for discharge was Ee's filing of unjustifiable wage claim against E)

Enterprise Products, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 125
(discharge of Ee because of his remarks in ans to E's announcement of proposed production incentive of free tickets to athletic and other events rather than wage increase, violative where Ee responded that he would be hard pressed to improve production if increased production would be rewarded as proposed by E; Ee's remarks constituted protected activity and were not, as contended, threat to slow down production)

Cox Enterprises, Inc., d/b/a Atlanta Newspapers 264 NLRB No. 120
(discharging Ee for telling E about strike rumor violative notwithstanding she did not state that she supported rumored strike as Ee"speech to supervisor or another Ee must be protected because it is often essential means of achieving group goals)

Pacific Intermountain Express Co. 264 NLRB No. 047
(although protected activity of filing OSHA complaints was motivating factor in discharge decision, E would have discharged Ee even if he had not filed those complaints, as Ee was insubordinate for brazenly refusing to cancel physical therapy appointment on company time as he had been directed to do so by his supervisor)

WNAC-TV Division, RKO General, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 031
(no violation, where although GC had established prima facie case of discriminatory discharge of female news reporter for protected concerted activities of participating in staff meeting about Ees' ptn against TV station running story about a stripper and female Ees' luncheon meetings about overtime pay and negative portrayals of women, E showed that discharge was for her lack-luster performance as news reporter and would have occurred independently of any involvement in protected concerted activity)

Barry S. Salaf, M.D., A Professional Corporation, d/b/a The Victoria Medical Group and The West Jefferson Medical Group 264 NLRB No. 019
(discharge of Ees who refused to work until management heard their grievances concerning, inter alia lack of (medical) supervision of their paramedical responsibilities held violative, since such lack was matter plainly affecting Ees' terms and conditions of employment and their insistance that they be heard was protected activity)

Peerless Plating Company, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 143
(discharge for complaining that working hours set by E did not conform to contract, unlawful)

Multi-Amp Testing Services Corporation 263 NLRB No. 110
(discharge of 2 Ees separately, each for violating E's rule against disclosing internal affairs to customers, not unlawful where rule itself was not unlawful or unlawfully promulgated, and GC failed to prove that discharge was due, as contended, to mistaken belief that Ees had acted in concert and that their activity was protected)

A. Duie Pyle, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 092
(Bd has differentiated between those cases in which Ees have arguably exceeded bounds of lawful conduct during strike in moment of animal exuberance from those cases in which misconduct is so flagrant or egregious as to require subordination of Ees' protected rights in order to vindicate broader interests of society; thus, E is not entitled to discharge striker for engaging in threats unless they are accompanied by physical acts or gestures that would provide added emphasis or meaning to striker's words sufficient to warrant finding that striker should not be reinstated)

A. Duie Pyle, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 092
(in finding that E unlawfully discharged striker assertedly for threatening nonstriking Ee employed at E's nearby nonstruck plant, Bd did not accept position that incident did not involve animal exuberance on ground threatened Ee was not striker replacement nor former striker who had abandoned strike; such facts are not significant since issue is not whether striker's remarks could be perceived as justified by prior events; in any event, it would be unrealistic to conclude dispute herein would not be extended to nearby facility and consequently, Bd is not faced with picketing of neutral E)

A. Duie Pyle, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 092
(discharge of striker assertedly for picket line misconduct, unlawful, where striker threatened nonstriking Ee employed at E's nearby nonstruck facility, which was being picketed, with arson of Ee's home; such threat does not require different standard than other threats which unless accompanied by physical acts or gestures do not entitle E to discharge striker; nor does historical value of E's home required different result; consequently, striker's threat, while ill-considered and not to be condoned, was not sufficiently egregious to deny striker reinstatement)

A. Duie Pyle, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 092
(in finding E unlawfully discharged striker assertedly for picket line misconduct involving striker's threat of arson to home of nonstriking Ee, Bd found it inconsequential to its decision that striker was not provoked into making threatening remarks; while provocation would be material to determining that there were mitigating circumstances to misconduct, issue herein is not mitigation or justification, but whether striker lost protection of Act during moment of misconduct which did not entail physical acts or gestures)

A. Duie Pyle, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 092
(discharge of striker assertedly for assaulting supervisor with knife, unlawful, where ALJ discredited E's version of knife fight and specifically found that supervisor was in fact the aggressor and Bd agreed with ALJ that striker would not, but for the knife fight, have been discharged; and, even if striker used a knife, E had no honest belief striker had engaged in such physical misconduct as to lose protection of Act; and in any event, GC successfully carried burden of proving that striker did not, in fact, engage in disqualifying misconduct)

A. Duie Pyle, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 092
(in case involving picket line misconduct as defense to striker's discharge allegedly violative of 8(a)(1), fact that there was substantial picket line misconduct by some strikers and dischargees' proximity thereto, does not impute culpability to any particular strikers unless they were identified as responsible; except in cases where E proved no honest belieft of striker misconduct, determination must be made whether (a) particular dischargee engaged in asserted misconduct; and (b), if so, whether conduct was sufficiently serious as to deny him continued protection of Act or was merely trivial rough incident or moment of animal exuberance)

L. A. Water Treatment, Division of Chromalloy
American Corporation 263 NLRB No. 032
(E's discharge of Ee not violative, notwithstanding E's unlawful denial to him of representative at interview and GC's establishing make-whole remedy appropriate where GC did not establish that Ee was discharged for requesting U representative or for engaging in other protected activity)

Professional Porter & Window Cleaning Co.,
Division of Propoco, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 034
(discharging Ee for writing letter to her former E concerning labor dispute over changed working conditions due to subcontracting of work violative as activity was protected and concerted and purpose was not to injure her E-subcontractor by impugning operation but to remedy problems in working conditions)

Parr Lance Ambulance Service 262 NLRB No. 161
(discharge of ambulance driver violative where reason was his refusal to drive ambulance because certain safety equipment required by state law was missing)

E.I. Dupont De Nemours and Company, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 126
(discharge of Ee for refusing to sign record, unlawful where his request for witness at interview had been denied and interview had been continued with demand that he sign record in violation of his Weingarten rights)

Avatar, Inc., d/b/a Downtowner Motor Inn 262 NLRB No. 131
(discharge of Ee in reprisal for acting as leader and spokesperson in work stoppage protesting 1-day delay in issuing paychecks, unlawful where change affected 3 Ees and stoppage was protected notwithstanding it may have interfered with E's business)

The American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees 262 NLRB No. 121
(discharging Ee for testifying in ct suit bought by former supervisor to vindicate her rights under settlement agreement, not unlawful, since Ee had engaged in no protected activity inasmuch as participation in strike protesting discharge of supervisor and testifying in suit were assisting former supervisor in personal plight, and it was not shown that supervisor's reinstatement as result of ct decision would affect working conditions)

W. C. Electrical Co., Inc. 262 NLRB No. 066
(discharge of Ee for protesting discontinuance of E's practice of providing sick pay, violative since sick pay is term and condition of employment and Ee had obtained support of fellow Ees before speaking to E about sick leave policy; activity in protest of discontinued past practice involves matter of mutual concern to Ees and this common concern was not negated because it coincided with dischargee's individual sick pay concern)

Mann Equipment Company 262 NLRB No. 076
(Ee held to have been unlawfully discharged, rather than to have quit, where E conceded Ee was competent worker, and timing of discharge day after Ee complained about wages and other terms and conditions of employment persuasively established that Ee was discharged because of engaging in such protected concerted activity, notwithstanding that E never told Ee you are fired or you are discharged, since such formal words are unnecessary in order to find that person was fired or discharged)

Mashkin Freight Lines, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 190
(violation, where E discharged Ees with the belief that they concertedly feigned illness and that claimed inability to work was in fact concerted refusal to work in protest against working conditions or identity of bargaining agent)

New York University Medical Center 261 NLRB No. 119
(suspension of one Ee and discharge of another, assertedly for picketing private residence of management official, unlawful, where Ees' prior distribution of leaflets accusing E of engaging in racist tactics, herein held protected concerted activity, was motivating factor for E's conduct, and E failed to demonstrate that Ees would have been disciplined if only the picketing was involved)

General Motors Corporation, Assembly Division 261 NLRB No. 078
(discharge of Ee for leaving plant to consult physician when injured, after being denied permission by supervisor, unlawful, where contract provided that supervisor must grant request to visit physician under such circumstances; whether Ee had punched out before seeking permission, immaterial)

Calvin D. Johnson Nursing Home 261 NLRB No. 044
(while health care facilities have legitimate concerns with staffing and care of patients, nursing home Ees herein were ordered to leave by their supervisor, and their discharge allegedly for desertion, unlawful, in view of supervisor's prior threat of discharge, E's disinterest in any personal investigation of matter, and fact that E's personnel policy required written warning for first offense of leaving w/o permission; moreover, even if Ees were not fully justified in leaving, they would not have been discharged if they had not engaged in protected conduct of complaining about their supervisor)

T.H.E. Co. d/b/a L. D. Brinkman Southeast 261 NLRB No. 025
(threatening Ee with discharge for U activity violative, notwithstanding E's contention that Ee had resigned at time of threat, since Ee would have remained statutory Ee w/i meaning of Sec. 2(3) after alleged resignation)

George E. Mosher, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 016
(discharging Ee for pursuing grievance, violative)

Pace Motor Lines, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 189
(discharging Ee because he refused to operate unsafe vehicles, violative, where Ee's action was clearly part of group protest against unsafe equipment in light of fact that several Ees complained to E previously about unsafe equipment, discriminatee was involved in recent accident as result of faulty brakes, and Ees commenced strike to protest E's termination of discriminatee after he told Ees circumstances of his discharge)

Country Club of Little Rock 260 NLRB No. 151
(discharge of Ee for filing charge with EEOC against E and discussing that charge with news media violative, since Ee was engaged in protected concerted activity)

Phil Smidt & Son, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 090
(suspending and discharging Ee waitress for keeping track of customer seating, violative, since such conduct constituted concerted protected activity where it was in support of long standing Ee complaints and possible grievance concerning unfair customer assignments)

Hudson T. Marsden, A Sole Proprietorship 259 NLRB No. 128
(Ees who refused to work outside on rainy day and went home w/o informing E engaged in protected concerted activity and discharge violative)

Kyle & Stephen, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 097
(violation, where E discharged Ees for pursuing wage claim under state law and concertedly adhering to their claim)

Faulkner Hospital 259 NLRB No. 082
(discharging Ee employed as security guard for giving written statement to fellow Ee used in latter's grievance proceeding pertaining to his own discharge, unlawful; contention that letter compromised integrity of E's security system rejected in absence of evidence demonstrating manner in which it did so)

J. W. Microelectronics Corporation 259 NLRB No. 090
(discharge for concerted protected activity of instigating work stoppage in protest of Ees' problem of racial harassment, unlawful)

Fibracon Corp. 259 NLRB No. 014
(discharge of Ee because she walked out to protest another Ee's discharge, held violative)

Browning-Ferris Industries of Pennsylvania, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 021
(violation where E, an operator of refuse transfer site found herein joint E with trucking brokers terminated one trucking broker's contract for a truck and reduced another broker's contract for trucking services, since E's action resulted in discharge of three Ees who had spearheaded Ee drive for increased wages)

Webb Ford, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 063
(discharge for attempting to enforce contract, unlawful)

Cal-Walts, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 126
(E's layoff of Ees and hiring of new crew w/o affording Ees opportunity for recall, unlawful, since for Ees, both verbally and by engaging in work stoppage protesting paychecks not covered by funds; no economic justification, particularly in view of hiring new crew)

Litton Mellonics Systems Division, A Division of Litton Systems, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 084
(telling Ee that her job would be in jeopardy if she continued to talk to other Ees and stir them up about their working conditions, violative)

Valley Plaza, Inc. d/b/a Captain Nemo's 258 NLRB No. 076
(discharge of Ees for concertedly staying off job in protest to change in working conditions, violative)

Brookline Corporation d/b/a Hi Fi Buys 257 NLRB No. 186
(discharge of Ees engaged in lawful concerted activities violative where E's district manager, in response to Ees' asking if they were discharged, said they were acting too much like a U instead of saying no)

Burnup & Sims, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 142
(discharge of Ees assertedly because they failed to report to work held violative where E had given Ees permission to be absent from work to consult with Bd, EEOC, attorney and labor U concerning Ees' job security and other work problems notwithstanding work was interrupted; E's motive irrelevant as reason for discharge was for engaging in protected concerted activities)

Con-Tex Industries, Division of Harsco Corporation 256 NLRB No. 143
(discharge of one Ee for belief he was involved in upcoming shutdown of plant by Ees and of other Ees for engaging in shutdown, unlawful where Ees were striking to present grievances; and shutting down plant equipment to prevent its being damaged did not change Ees' activity from protected to unprotected status)

Rose's Stores, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 076
(unprecedented mass discharge of five Ees, who protested Sunday work assignment, assertedly because of their bad attitude held violative, where assertion was not real reason for discharge and E's unexplained failure to warn those five long-term Ees that they were in danger of discharge did not represent E's normal pattern of operations)

Tyler Business Services, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 088
(discharge of Ee allegedly for spreading false rumors about personal lives of E's officials and also stating he believed E's failure to provide part-time Ees hospitalization benefits was unfair, unlawful, since Ee expressed concern on behalf of Ees other than himself and his remarks concerning personal lives of E's officials did not constitute conduct so outrageous as to render his protected activity unprotected where remark did not relate to E's product or operations, or constitute deliberate intent to impugne company)

A & D Davenport Transportation, Inc. and Sun-
Fair Special Service Transportation, A Division of A & D Davenport Transportation, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 079
(discharge of Ees violative, where E's efforts to characterize Ees as having quit manifested an intent to retaliate against them for their indicated lack of satisfaction with working conditions coupled with anticipation by E that strike could possibly occur unless it moved to improve Ees' pay)

Bronco Wine Company 256 NLRB No. 013
(disciplinary warning issued to Ees who complained about lack of parts and materials violative as complaints related to terms and conditions of employment)

Fun Striders, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 183
(termination of Ees by barring their entry to plant and advising them that they had been permanently replaced, violative, where Ees had not engaged in work stoppage but temporarily left work stations in order to discuss increase in piecerate with E, and had not in fact been replaced)

Firmat Manufacturing Corp. 255 NLRB No. 150
(discharge of U card signer who was associated with E as an apprentice in educational program violative, notwithstanding he was not Ee w/i meaning of Sec. 2(3), since his discharge was integral part of pattern of conduct aimed at ridding shop of U adherents and penalizing Ees for their U activities)

Medic Ambulance Service, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 132
(discharge of Ee for informing E's customer of Ees' labor problems with E, violative)

K & E Bus Lines, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 137

SAS Ambulance Service, Inc., d/b/a Florida
Ambulance Service; et al. 255 NLRB No. 081
(discharge of Ees for distributing handbills violative, notwithstanding E's contention that handbills were defamatory)

Roy H. Park Broadcasting of Roanoke, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 036
(discharge of Ee assertedly for uttering obscenity at close of disciplinary interview during which E's manager refused Ee's request to have U representative present, violative; Ees outburst did not harm general discipline, it was triggered by manager's illegal threat of discharge to Ee, and language was not directed at manager personally but was descriptive of illegal conditions of interview and the discharge threat)

5036-6720-7500—Cont.

Dimo Ambulette Service, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 082
(discharge of Ee because of his protest over E's lunch policy and payroll policy with respect to lunch hours; violative)

Dimo Ambulette Service, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 082
(discharging Ee at time he was protesting unlawful discharge of another Ee to E's manager, violative)

Robert Batchelor d/b/a Batchelor Electric Co., a sole proprietorship 254 NLRB No. 156
(discharge of electrician assertedly because of tardiness and failure to follow orders held violative where there was no evidence that Ee failed to follow orders, no other Ee had ever been discharged for similar record of tardiness and reason for discharge was Ee's not working in protest of E's refusal to pay Ee at prevailing wage rate on government projects; protest viewed as concerted activity objective which was matter of common interest and concern to all Ees)

Quality Broadcasting Corp. of San Juan d/b/a WQBS--AM Radio Station La Gran Cadena 254 NLRB No. 118
(Bd reaffirmed its previous D/O agreeing with ALJ that discharge of Ee was unlawful, notwithstanding E's assertion that reason for discharge was its dissatisfaction with Ee's work performance, where E's real motive for discharge was Ee's activities in connection with overtime pay claims; Bd held ALJ's method of analysis was sufficient to satisfy any of various causality tests that have been articulated as appropriate for this type of case)

Jimmy Kilgore Trucking Company 254 NLRB No. 112
(discharge of Ees for engaging in protected activity of demanding increase in commission rate and expressing desire not to work following day because of unsafe conditions on job, unlawful, notwithstanding E's claim that Ees engaged in strike, where Ees were in nonwork status at time of discharge and were only threatening limited future strike action of not working following day if required to do so by E; and even if E's claim that he had not stated Ees were discharged were accepted, Ees would reasonably have so understood, which was confirmed by E's subsequent actions)

Jimmy Kilgore Trucking Company 254 NLRB No. 112
(discharge of driver not employed by respondent E-trucking company but directly employed by another E under lease with E herein, unlawful, where driver was discharged for engaging in protected concerted activity with E's drivers in requesting raise in commissions; association of E and E of leased drivers was of an intimate business character, had mutually beneficial pattern, and there was clear community of interest; and, under day-to-day oral subcontract, E had substantial control over his own drivers and those leased to it)

Quality Drywall Company, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 075
(discharge of ringleader of work stoppage, unlawful)

Justak Brothers and Company, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 146
(supervisor's telling Ee that he was on his way out because he had been passing out U cards, held violative, notwithstanding complaint did not allege remarks constituted ULPs, since GC's brief so contended and matter was fully litigated)

Consolidated Freightways 253 NLRB No. 137
(discharge of Ee who complained about and refused to operate tractor because he reasonably believed to do would be dangerous, unlawful)

Red Ball Motor Freight, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 111
(discharge violative where E failed to meet its burden that absent Ee's protectd activities her discharge would have occurred)

John Wyke, Inc.; Comanco, Inc.; and John Construction, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 118
(transfer and subsequent permanent layoff of Ee because of efforts on his behalf to obtain rate of pay specified in bargaining contract, violative)

(discharge of Ees for acting as spokesmen for other Ees and for engaging in economic strike, unlawful)

E. R. Carpenter Co. 252 NLRB No. 008
(discharging Ees for refusing to work in toxic atmosphere in deteriorating moon suits, violative where Ees were concerned not only about unsanitary nature of the suits, but also about holes in suits and possibility that toxic fumes were passing through the holes; Ees had good-faith belief that their working conditions were dengerous and this alone rendered their refusal to work protected)

Alfa Leisure, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 088
(discharge of Ee for rude conduct violative where conduct occurred in collective-bargaining setting and in fact occurred while Ee was a U representative and was present solely for purpose of bargaining)

Timet, A Division of Titanium Metals Corporation of America 251 NLRB No. 137
(discharge of Ee who complained to supervisor about his raise and then circulated letter offering to represent Ees to management to obtain cost-of-living adjustment violative as Ee's action was intended to produce group activity and constituted concerted protected activity)

Pyromatics, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 141
(discharge of Ee for circulating ptn to obtain time off from work during holiday season, unlawful, since Ee's conduct constituted protected concerted activity; assuming Ee's quartz flu statement (meaning Ees as a group would fake sickness so as not to report for work during holiday period) played role in E's decision to discharge Ee, E failed to demonstrate that it would have discharged Ee absent his circulation of ptn)

F. W. Woolworth Co. 251 NLRB No. 152
(violation where E suspended, then discharged Ee allegedly for insubordination where Ee insisted on asking E question during E's captive audience anti-U propaganda speech in disobedience of E's gag on Ee participation; E had right to protest gag and did not engage in misconduct sufficient to remove protection of Act where he used no threats, profanity or inciteful language)

Kaufman DeDell Printing, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 082
(statements to U adherent that he should take U or E and that U could not find him any jobs, unlawful threat of reprisal)

(discharge of Ee for distributing letter to fellow Ees urging them to organize for improved wages and working conditions, unlawful)

Leisure Lodge Nursing Home 250 NLRB No. 134
(discharge of Ees who were attempting to redress grievances violative; moreover discharges would have been violative even if E merely thought they were trying to address grievances)

Sullair P.T.O., Inc. 250 NLRB No. 104
(discharge of Ee unlawful, notwithstanding E's contention that discharge was result of Ee's insubordination and abusive language directed at E's manager in Ee's protest of change in company policy affecting condition of employment, where Ee's language was generally directed toward company and not to E's manager and was type of language used commonly in Ee's shop)

Roadside Mining Corporation a/k/a Gex of Colorado, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 079
(violation, where E threatened Ee with discharge if he posted notice about marathon sponsored by U)

Roadway Express, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 061
(where some Ees had engaged in unauthorized work stoppage and U steward returned to E's facility after leaving work at end of his regular work day, E's discharging steward for purportedly participating in unauthorized work stoppage held violative notwithstanding E's assumed good-faith belief that steward had participated in work stoppage upon returning to facility; Ee, in his capacity as U steward,was engaged in efforts to end work stoppage when he was discharged)

Mediterranean Diner, Inc., t/a Bay Diner 250 NLRB No. 029
(discharge of U adherent, unlawful, where for his defense of U in argument in view of E's hostility towards U and U activities)

Lutheran Social Service of Minnesota, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 018
(discharge of Ees at center for disturbed and displaced youth for their negativism about management and its policies and programs, lawful, since Ees' griping not protected in view of lack of concertedness where no express confrontational action taken, and since such concerns regarding quality of program management's perrogative, and Ees' methods were excessive causing disruption and demoralizing residents and other Ees)

David D. Sutherland d/b/a Maaco Auto Painting and Body Work 249 NLRB No. 184
(discharge of Ee who acted as spokesman to express dissatisfaction to E about Ees' wages and working conditions, unlawful, where discharge was motivated by disturbance created by Ee in registering such dissatisfaction)

(discharge of Ee assertedly for failing to properly perform in his employee representative status, violative)

Babcock & Wilcox Co. 249 NLRB No. 099
(discharge of U president because of E's erroneous belief that, while engaged in protected activities associated with his office of U president, he had instigated wildcat strike and promoted it w/i U, unlawful; in view of such finding and since remedy would be same, Bd found it unnecessary to decide whether or not E also violated 8(a)(3))

J. N. Moser Trucking, Incorporated 249 NLRB No. 106
(discharge of Ee for refusal to assist E in defeating claims made by Wage and Hour Division of U.S. Department of Labor, unlawful)

Han-Dee Pak, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 107
(violation where E warned Ees and threatened them with discharge for discussing wages with other Ees)

Fink Supply Corporation 249 NLRB No. 091
(no discharge of economic strikers proved where E told strikers' spokesman that it would have to act as though they were quitting and find replacements and -- when spokesman denied Ees were quitting -- asked what spokesman would call their action and what E was supposed to do; spokesman then volunteered that Ees would come in and clean out their desks which they did next day; E did not create ambiguous situation by wrongdoing, did not unequivocally refuse to permit strikers to return to work or make further inquiries into its intentions futile; and each party was equally able to rectify the uncertainty)

Southwest Detroit Hospital 249 NLRB No. 071
(discharge of licensed pratical nurse who informed supervisor he was concerned he had not been put in charge of shift and received premium charge pay provided for under contract and that he thought supervisors had made stupid decision by placing nursing technician in charge not unlawful, where discharge for his precipitous decision to leave subsequent meeting with supervisor and reusal to discuss matter further rather than for invoking terms of bargaining agreement)

Pacific Coast International Meat Co. 248 NLRB No. 183
(discharge of Ee, unlawful, where for her leadership in lodging Cs concerning supervisor)

Colonial Stores Incorporated 248 NLRB No. 142
(violation where Ee was discharged because she, with her husband's assistance, circulated ptn among Ees protesting E's alleged failure to abide by contract and U's purported failure to enforce contract, and because she displayed signs in her husband's car at E's parking lot protesting E's admitted failure to implement grievance settlement; Ee's protests were found herein to constitute protected concerted activities)

Sheraton Puerto Rico Corp. d/b/a Puerto Rico Sheraton Hotel 248 NLRB No. 113
(discharge of Ees for drafting, mailing, and distributing letter which complained about manager's operation of hotel and which was signed by supervisors as well as other Ees and sent to E, violative since Ees' conduct constituted legitimate concerted activity w/i meaning of Sec. 7, and discharge of supervisory/managerial personnel for their participation was also violative because of natural tendency of these discharges to discourage Ees from excercising rights guaranteed them in Sec. 7)

Bide-A-Wee Home Association 248 NLRB No. 110
(discharge of Ees who had struck in protest over discharge of supervisor, unlawful where discharge shortly after E had assured Ees that no one would be discharged made other Ees fear for their own job security; discharged supervisor had voiced Ees' objections to E about changes in their working conditions)

Firestone Steel Products Company, A Division of Firestone Tire and Rubber Company 248 NLRB No. 069
(violation where 2 Ees were discharged for refusing to do assigned job, while asking -- in absence of U representation or enforceable grievance procedure -- to see management to complain about being assigned work outside their job classification, and then departing from plant as strikers to protest situation)

Hilton Hotels Corporation, d/b/a The O'Hare Hilton 248 NLRB No. 051
(violation where U steward was discharged for fulfilling his express contractual responsibility by questioning E's change in practice in not serving unit member sandwich at end of 8-hour shift)

Allied Aviation Service Company of New Jersey, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 026
(suspension and subsequent discharge of Ee, unlawful where E's actions were caused by Ee's protected activity of sending letters to E's customers regarding lack of safety in E's function of servicing commercial aircraft)

Permanent Label Corporation 248 NLRB No. 021
(fact that E converted violative discharge to suspension w/o pay does not legalize discharge as discriminatory motive still exists)

Ontario Knife Company 247 NLRB No. 168
(discharge and refusal to reinstate Ee assertedly for leaving plant w/o permission, unlawful, where walkout was preceded by grievance discussion and was result of protected activity; even if offensive and off color remarks by supervisor were proximate cause of Ee's walkout, supervisor's statements must be considered in context of entire conversation, which was clearly protected concerted activity)

Pioneer Finishing Corporation 247 NLRB No. 182
(remark to Ee that if fellow Ee went for distributing leaflets critical of E's safety conditions, then Ee and another Ee would be next constituted unlawful threat of discharge)

United Parcel Service 247 NLRB No. 134
(implied threat of discharge for filing grievance, violative)

First Termite Control Co., Inc. 247 NLRB No. 106
(discharges for participation in work stoppage in protest of E's treatment of fellow Ee in regard to his pay, unlawful)

A & R Window Cleaning & Janitorial Services, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 078
(discharge of Ees who had engaged in work stoppage because of E's announcement that they would not be getting holiday pay for Thanksgiving because they had not been employed by E for 90 days, unlawful, notwithstanding bargaining agreement contained no-strike clause, where at time of work stoppage Ees were unaware of existence of bargaining agreement binding on them)

Yellow Freight System, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 028
(no violation where driver refused or delayed work assignment and his termination -- whether it be deemed a quit or a discharge -- was based on E's legitimate interest in moving freight rather then, as contended, Ee's assertion of a contractual right)

Sneva's Rent-A-Car JD-(SF)-283-82
(discharging taxicab driver for his efforts to achieve deregulation of taxicab industry, unlawful where driver sought deregulation to improve conditions of employment by making safer cabs possible, eliminating discriminatory dispatching of drivers and removing power of one of joint Es to control conditions of employment that gave rise to contractual violations)

Progressive Driver Service, Inc. JD-(ATL)-89-82
(although drivers herein had been threatened with discharge for concerted protected demands regarding contractual wages, their discharge was not violative, since it was for falsifying log entries and trip reports so as to get paid twice for same hours of work and for violating federal limits on number of hours driven by drivers of federally regulated motor carriers)

Niagara Falls Sightseeing By Sheridan, Inc. JD-447-82
(discharge of Ee for filing application for unemployment compensation on basis of reduced hours of work to enhance his compensation and refusing to reinstate him, unlawful)

Morrison Construction Company JD-328-82
(no violation where Ees were discharged, not for complaining about the amounts withheld for income taxes from their paychecks, as alleged, but for violating rule that Ees not go to payroll office during working hours w/o permission from their supervisor)

Rainbo Baking Company JD-(SF)-117-81
(discharge for persistence in claiming overtime payment, unlawful)

Talley's Truck Line JD-(SF)-113-81
(E removing names of drivers from call list held unlawful discharges in view of timing after E obtained knowledge of U activity, lack of advance notice, fact some of those laid off had been assigned loads for the next workday and that E failed to give convincing reason that applied to all drivers)

Methadone Maintenance Health Program, Inc. JD-173-81
(discharge of one Ee for filing claim with state agency under state wage and hour laws in concert with second Ee, unlawful; and discharge of a third Ee for expressing intention of filing such a claim, also unlawful)

Southwest Jefferson Community Hospital, Inc., a corporation wholly owned by Humana of Kentucky, Inc. JD-77-81
(violation, where E hospital, through its executive director, suggested that nurse resign and threatened her with discharge if she either complained about working conditions or discussed her disciplinary interview with anyone)

5036-6720-7500—Cont.

Nautilus-Virginia, Inc. JD-625-81
(terminating Ees who concertedly ceased work and walked off the job in protest of coworker's resignation over his proposed transfer, violative, where Ees had no intention of quitting their jobs by their actions)

Childers Manufacturing Company, Inc. JD-(SF)-11-82
(threat to discharge Ees if they engaged in protected activity of striking in support of their demand for wage increase, and their subsequent discharge for engaging in such strike, unlawful, where there was no basis for E's claim that she was unaware of purpose of strike nor her claim that Ees had announced intention to quit to work elsewhere at higher wages; Ees announcement was part of protected activity of persuading E to grant higher wages and not an announcement of resignation as was apparent from E's action in discharging Ees, which would have been unnecessary if Ees had quit)

Long Manufacturing Company JD-(SF)-298-81
(violation, where E discharged Ees because E had identified them as nucleus of resistance to its wage policies and to forestall possibility that they might be instrumental in any future U organizing attempts)

Linz Corporation JD-585-81
(discharging Ees for temporarily withholding their services until they were assured their paychecks were good, violative, since Ees were engaged in protected concerted activity where E had spotty record of untimely payment)

Mid-City Beverage Dist., Inc. JD-(SF)-233-81
(discharge of Ee unlawful where for activist role in effort to get high level management to investigate deterioration of working conditions resulting from abusive treatment by supervisor rather than as result of warnings where Ee cleared of alleged offenses and warnings issued to build case)

E. A. Fuller Bentleys, Inc. d/b/a Bentleys Lounge JD-698-81
(violation, where waitresses who had requested meeting with management and stopped work to concertedly present complaints about harassment were told to return to work or leave; and after leaving were subsequently discharged, since concerted presentation of grievances protected, whether or not justified)

United States Postal Service JD-420-81
(discharge unlawful where it was found to be motivated by Ee's grieving failure to receive sick pay rather than her low production as contended by E)

James Kraus Contractor Company JD-(SF)-249-81
(discharge of flagger on highway paving project for assertedly complaining to state highway inspector about E's work break policy on a need basis, not unlawful, where E rebutted GC's prima facie case by showing Ee would have been discharged whether she had engaged in alleged concerted activity or not due to Ee's casual approach to her job which created unreasonable risk of accident)

Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. JD-(ATL)-88-81
(discharge of two Ees not violative, where discharges were not motivated by Ees' complaints to regional manager concerning methods employed by district manager in his handling of problems at store but rather were result of conclusion by management that Ees must be replaced to alleviate problems in merchandise office)

Conrad & Sons Trucking, Inc. JD-264-81
(discharge of leader in presentation of Ee grievances regarding reduction in remuneration who had used obscene language towards supervisors, failed to properly complete on time required paper work; and refused to accept work assignment, unlawful, where discharge motivated by Ee's leadership in complaining about working conditions)

Suburpia Submarine Sandwich Shoppes JD-260-81
(discharge of Ee for urging improvement in wages and working conditions and raising concerns about return of shop manager to shop, violative)

Teresa Coal Company, Inc. JD-322-81
(discharging and refusing to reinstate eight coal miners for withholding their services in support of their grievance, violative)

Gullett & Gould Ltd. JD-676-80
(discharging Ee for refusing to drive tractor-trailer into state in violation of state's length restrictions, violative)

Boro Buses Co. JD-490-80
(discharge of Ee for seeking assistance of United States Department of Labor, while attempting to pursue grievance concerning his seniority, violative)

Meat Cutters, Local 391 JD-(SF)-304-80
(discharge of Ees for filing grievance with E over Ee working conditions, unlawful)

Professional Ambulance Service of Middlesex JD-548-80
(discharging ambulance EMT attendant for attempting to induce other Ees to strike in support of demand for increased wages, violative, although Ee denied activity and believed that state's Abandonment Law prohibited strikes)

The Gilbert and Bennett Mfg. Co. JD-878-80
(suspension and discharge of Ee because of his complaints to E directly and through U about not receiving his overtime backpay under arbitrator's award violative)

Chipmore Manufacturing Co., Inc. JD-433-80
(discharge for refusing to work overtime unlawful, since discharges were connected with concerted protected activities in which both Ees had taken part, namely sick out in protest against making previously optional overtime mandatory, and with their U activities as well)

Cracker Barrel Old Country Store, Inc. JD-443-80
(discharge of Ee who was known to have joined with other Ees in writing letter to higher management complaining about working conditions, unlawful; to extent discharge was based on her refusal to break ranks with other Ees and deal separately with management, discharge was violative as management's attempt to undermine Ees' rights to act in concert)

Pinckle Packing Company JD-(NY)-33-80
(no violation by discharge of Ee (later reduced to suspension) where reason was found to be Ee's ruining company property rather than belief Ee would complain about supervisor's breach of contract by doing unit work; Ee had previously complained about such contract violations with impunity)

Royal Travel Corporation JD-306-80
(discharge of Ees because of their roles as spokespersons for Ee group which sought wage increase, unlawful; contentions discharges because of economic reasons or deficiencies of Ees, rejected)

McLean Trucking Company JD-340-80
(threatening Ee with discharge because she had signed U card, violative)

Hotel & Restaurant Employees and Bartenders Union Local 2 JD-(SF)-178-80
(discharge of Ee for participation and distribution of leaflet protesting discharge of fellow Ee violative; contention that Ee was discharged for disloyalty rejected)

Shuttle Motor Corporation JD-327-80
(discharge of Ee allegedly for inquiring of state agency regarding legality of back stubbing i.e. E refusing to pay for current work in order to recoup where Ee had been paid too much for previous work, not unlawful, since Ee's activity not concerted where back-stubbing not matter of common complaint; further, Ee called agency before any other adverse action taken against him and subsequent back-stubbing against him rectified)

Public Service Company of New Mexico JD-(SF)-157-80
(discharge of former U officer, not unlawful, where discharge not motivated by his U activities and was not for protected activity since his actions, statements and letters which precipitated discharge were not concerted nor for object of enforcing contract)

Four Rivers Coal Company JD-289-80
(discharge of Ee for promoting among Ees their right to cost of living increase and particularly an earlier clothing allowance, unlawful)

Malibu Grand Prix Corp. JD-(SF)-90-80
(discharges for concerted refusal to work overtime, unlawful)

Cashmere Lumber Company JD-(SF)-83-80
(supervisor's statement to U steward to the effect that if he performed his steward's duties with zeal considered excessive by supervisor, supervisor would make steward's job unpleasant and cause his eventual severance, unlawful)

Melissa Marie Fashions, Inc. JD-177-80
(where Ees had received and complained as a group about bad checks, and had asked E to pay them in cash in future, E's discharge of Ees who collectively walked out in protest against E's paying Ees in check rather than cash, violative)

Standard Bridge Corporation JD-174-80
(selecting Ees for termination rather than transfer because of their attempts to become U members, unlawful)

Batavia Nursing Convalescent Inn, Inc. JD-23-80
(discharge of Ee because she solicited Ees to see individual she considered to be boss rather going through regular channels regarding their complaints held violative, since Ee's conduct was protected activity and was not so flagrantly in derogation of E's chain of command or managerial authority as to loose protection of the Act notwithstanding boss had severed all official connections with E long before incident since subsequent conduct led Ee to believe he still exerted authority)

Roadway Express, Inc. JD-888-79
(written warning issued Ee for refusing to drive tractor which Ee believed to be unsafe, unlawful; Ee's refusal to drive tractor amounted to attempt to require E to adhere to safety provisions of bargaining agreement)

N.L.R.B. v. Sheraton Puerto Rico Corp., d/b/a Puerto Rico Sheraton Hotel 651 F.2d 49 (C.A. 1, June 1981)
(enforcement denied of Bd order in case involving discharge of supervisors and some Ees for writing letter to E's president criticizing general manager and requesting his removal from that position where there was not substantial evidence in record that such managerial protest concerned actual conditions of non-supervisory employment; ct noted that enforcement might have been granted if non-supervisory Ees had written letter, participated significantly in its drafting, or even had drafting taken place after consultation with them)

N.L.R.B. v. St. Anne's Hospital 648 F.2d 67 (C.A. 1, May 1981)
(discharge of operating room nurses, assertedly for refusing assignment in operating room, unlawful, where they were discharged for being very active in group protesting hospital's on-call policy, their records at hospital over long periods of time were exemplary, supervisors had told them explicitly that if they did not feel competent in performing assigned duties other arrangements would be made, and hospital's reliance on seriousness of nurses walking out of an operation ignores fact that nurses acted out of concern for patients)

Ontario Knife Company v. N.L.R.B. 637 F.2d 840 (C.A. 2, Dec. 1980)
(discharge and refusal to reinstate Ee who walked off job after protesting excessive assignment of certain work to night shift not violative, where although fellow worker shared objection thereby meeting the mutual aid or protection requirement of Sec. 7, fellow worker did not join Ee in walking off job and there was thus no concerted activity)

Misericordia Hospital Medical Center v. N.L.R.B. 623 F.2d 808 (C.A. 2, 1980)
(discharge of head nurse (not supervisor) at hospital for participating in preparation of report to accrediting authority cataloging alleged inadequacies of hospital, unlawful, since preparation of report and presentation to authority protected activity)

Tri-State Truck Service, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 615 F.2d 65 (C.A. 3, 1980)
(Bd's finding that two Ees were unlawfully discharged for engaging in protected concerted activity reversed in absence of substantial evidence on record as whole that E knew of such concerted activity from telephone conversation with individual Ee who only asked about time and one-half for working on Saturday with no indication that subsequent decision of refusing to work was made on other than an individual basis; furthermore, E's knowledge that two discharged Ees lived together does not infer knowledge of concerted activity)

Krispy Kreme Doughnut Corp. v. N.L.R.B. 635 F.2d 304 (C.A. 4, 1980)
(discharge of Ee for refusing to forego workmen's compensation claim not unlawful, since Ee was not engaged in protected concerted activity; at most his action can be said to have been for the benefit of other employees only in a theoretical sense)

Scooba Manufacturing Company v. N.L.R.B. 694 F.2d 82 (C.A. 5, Dec. 1982)
(discharge of Ee for remark Ee made using the word union not unlawful, where remark was product of purely personal dispute with supervisor and not w/i protection of the Act)

Red Ball Motor Freight, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 660 F.2d 626 (C.A. 5, Nov. 1981)
(discharge of Ee at close of work day, assertedly because she had been dilatory in commencing work at her desk that morning, violative where substantial evidence supported ALJ's findings that Ee's growing propensity to engage in protected concerted activities caught attention of E, which was then motivated to engage in special surveillance of Ee's work performance and to seize upon her first alleged transgression as pretext to terminate her)

N.L.R.B. v. Robin American Corporation 654 F.2d 1022 (C.A. 5, 1981)
(ct held that E did not rebut prima facie case that E closed department and discharged Ees for anti-U motives)

McLean Trucking Company v. N.L.R.B. 689 F.2d 605 (C.A. 6, Sept. 1982)
(ct held substantial evidence supported Bd's finding that drivers were unlawfully disciplined for engaging in protected and concerted activity when they refused to drive tractor-trailer they believed to be unsafe pursuant to U instructions invoking provision of collective bargaining agreement; E's reliance on Jim Causley Pontiac, 675 F.2d 125 (6th Cir. 1982), unwarranted where ct held, inter alia, that E knew that drivers made their complaints pursuant to U activity; ct also reaffirmed its rejection of Interboro doctrine)

N.L.R.B. v. Pyromatics, Inc. 677 F.2d 24 (C.A. 6, Apr. 1982)
(Bd's order enforced where substantial evidence supported its finding that principal reason or dominant motive for Ee's discharge was his circulating petition among Ees to obtain E's permission for Ees to take leave of absence between Christmas and New Year's Day)

Jim Causley Pontiac, Division Jim Causley, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 675 F.2d 125 (C.A. 6, Apr. 1982)
(although affirming finding that discharged Ee's filing of MIOSHA complaint was protected concerted activity, ct for second time remanded case to Bd to determine whether E had actual knowledge of concertedness of Ee's actions where Bd on previous remand had relied on evidence already submitted and applied wrong standard in holding that it was sufficient if E knew or should have known that Ee's actions were concerted)

N.L.R.B. v. Truck Drivers Union Local 164, Teamsters 681 F.2d 456 (C.A. 6, June 1981)
(cutting salary of veteran office worker and discharging her and her daughter as part of its action to discourage U organization violative, notwithstanding U-E's claims of legitimate discharge, where ALJ characterized U-E's defenses as shifting, unfounded, and frivolous)

Supreme Optical Company, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 628 F.2d 1262 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(discharging 5 Ees for attending unemployment compensation hearing at request of former Ee held violative)

Welco Industries, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 633 F.2d 217(T) (C.A. 6, 1980)
(ct held substantial evidence supported Bd's finding that E violated Act by reprimanding and discharging Ee for her use of grievance procedure)

Vic Tanny International, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 622 F.2d 237 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(discharge of Ees, unlawful, where motivated, at least, in part by their participation in walkout in protest against E's change in their duties, where E commented that Ees laid themselves open to discharge for walking off job, and termination reports indicate discharges were result of both insubordination and having walked off job which constituted protected concerted activity; E's contention that Ees' refusal to carry out E's specific orders was sole cause of discharge, rejected)

N.L.R.B. v. James R. McCaffrey and Edward A. Cook, d/b/a ABC Concrete Company 619 F.2d 620 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(discharge for requesting increase in salary and pay for overtime, unlawful)

Jim Causley Pontiac, Division Jim Causley, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 620 F.2d 122 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(ct agreed with Bd that E discharged Ee at least in part because of Ee's protected concerted activity but remanded for finding on issue of whether E knew that activity was concerted)

Sullair P.T.O., Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 641 F.2d 500 (C.A. 7, Feb 19, 1981)
(discharging Ee for obscene language directed at management when he voiced concern about E's change in gasoline policy held not violative, as he had previously been warned about such behavior and complaint about gas policy was not even motivating factor in discharge)

N.L.R.B. v. Truck Drivers, Oil Drivers, Filling Station and Platform Workers Union, Local 705, Teamsters 630 F.2d 505 (C.A. 7, 1980)
(dismissal of Ees who had complained about staff salaries not unlawful, in view of Ees' injection of salary complaints at stewards' meeting which included attendance by stewards not employed by E, admittedly improper use of company CB radio regarding complaints, presentation of wage complaint letters at civic luncheon, general and repeated refusal to follow established, proper and known procedures for presenting wage complaints, coupled with their prior poor work records for which they had been given prior warnings and a second chance)

Pelton Casteel, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 627 F.2d 23 (C.A. 7, 1980)
(discharge of Ee who complained about rates paid on particular jobs and mandatory overtime, held, contrary to Bd, not unlawful, notwithstanding written warning concerning Ee's conduct, attitude, attendance and work record was issued in part on these complaints, where record evidence was insufficient to conclude that complaints about overtime were directed at inducing collective action or that any of Ee's complaints were more than individual gripes)

Pelton Casteel, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 627 F.2d 23 (C.A. 7, July 1980)
(ct reversed Bd finding of unlawful discharge where record did not support conclusion that Ee's continuous complaints about job rates and mandatory overtime were more than individual gripes, and was only one of several items E considered in disciplining Ee for poor attitude)

Koch Supplies, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 646 F.2d 1257 (C.A. 8, Apr 1981)
(discharge of Ee, assertedly because of Ee's complaints to E about E's promise of vacation benefits to new Ee, not violative where it was not shown that complaining Ee intended that her activities would relate to group action)

N.L.R.B. v. Hawthorne Mazda, Inc. 659 F.2d 1089(T) (C.A. 9, Aug 1981)
(discharging Ee who represented Ees at meeting with E to resolve work-related grievances, violative, where there was sufficient evidence in record to support Bd's finding that E realized that Ee was acting on behalf of his fellow Ees)

5036-6720-7500—Cont.

N.L.R.B. v. Leavitt J. Cafer, Eunice Cafer, and Travelodge International, Inc., a partnership, d/b/a Marysville Travelodge 637 F.2d 1309 (C.A. 9, 1981)
(violation where Ees were fired because they went together after work to lodge complaint about pay with Labor Board)

5036-6720-9000 Preventing employees from engaging in protected activity

Teamsters Local Union No. 574, a/w Teamsters (Lola Wheeler, an Individual) 259 NLRB No. 037
(discharge of supervisor for U related considerations held violative, since discharge caused interference with rights of other Ees)

Overnite Transportation Company 251 NLRB No. 140
(discharge of Ee truckdriver and refusal to reinstate him assertedly because he refused to drive, unlawful where Ee was complaining with other Ees about threat to personal safety because of driving during strike; Ee was refusing to drive as part of concerted attempt, on behalf of both himself and other drivers, to have safer working conditions and Ee's discharge was to discourage Ee and other Ees from engaging in these activities)

General Thermo, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 108
(threat that organizers of U could be fired, unlawful)

5036-6721 Initiation of new record-keeping procedures

Ivan-Ivan and Foodarama, Inc. d/b/a Foodarama 260 NLRB No. 046
(during U campaign, E who announced and then implemented keeping files on Ees regarding tardiness, absenteeism, averages, shortages, complaints and returned sales slips in order to discourage Ee selection of bargaining representative, violated Act)

5036-6725 Downgrading or demotion

Union Mining Company of Allegany County, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 052
(demoting Ee and giving him written disciplinary warning slip in retaliation for his testimony given at Bd hearing, unlawful)

7 Up Bottling Company 261 NLRB No. 128
(replacing Ee's daytime delivery duties with demeaning nighttime chores violative of 8(a)(1) where due to E's fear Ee might complain to OSHA)

Welfare, Pension and Vacation Funds, Blasters, Drillrunners and Miners Union Local No. 29, etc. 256 NLRB No. 170
(reduction in Ee's job responsibilities by refusing to allow her to deal directly with E's accountant or bank, distribute pension checks, answer E's office door or telephone, obtain association's signature on certain documents, or take care of E's petty cash, unlawful where motivated by Ee's participation in Workmen's Compensation hearing)

I. T. O. Corporation of Baltimore 258 NLRB No. 138
(demotion of Ee, herein assumed to be supervisory, assertedly because of his failure to attend safety meeting, unlawful, where asserted reason was pretextual since Ee was not told, and did not know, about meeting which was held on his day off when E did not expect Ee to attend; true reason for demotion was Ee's participation in protected activity of picketing aimed, not at E, but at rectification of racially discriminatory personnel practices in city's harbor; and E's action coerced and restrained, and had chilling effect upon, rank-and-file Ees seeking to exercise similar rights)

U. S. Reduction Company JD-(ATL)-13-82
(violation, where E demoted Ee for her failure to prevent, and her participation in Ees' leaving their jobs to talk to plant manager regarding their complaints about working conditions)

Tribal Americans Consulting Corporation JD-(SF)-314-80
(demoting 2 employees for holding meetingswith other staff members and contacting U.S. funding agencies,violative)

Worth Engineering, Inc. JD-298-80

The Berry Schools v. N.L.R.B. 653 F.2d 966 (C.A. 5, Oct. 1980)
(demotion of college department chairman from supervisory status allegedly for organizational activity held not ULP where Ee was unprotected by Act as supervisor)

5036-6726 Evaluation of work

Joshua's, Inc. d/b/a Fitzwilly's 253 NLRB No. 082
(implementation of Ee evaluation system to be used in granting raises not violative despite E's other anti-U activities where, though plan did not cover entire work force, no evidence application based on illegal motive)

Planned Parenthood of Alameda and San Francisco Counties JD-(SF)-294-80
(threatening to give Ee deficiency evaluation unlawful where for exercising her protected right of refraining from attending meeting with management on her own time to discuss working conditions)

The Berry Schools v. N.L.R.B. 653 F.2d 966 (C.A. 5, Aug 1981)
(E granting substandard salary increase to Ee not violative where it could properly result from Ee's poor evaluation as compared with below average evaluations of other Ees and GC failed to show E's stated reasons for substandard increase were pretextual)

5036-6727 Denial of holiday pay

Rockingham Machine-Lunex Company 255 NLRB No. 015

5036-6728 Denial of sick pay or change in sick leave policy

Texaco, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 163
(when during course of economic strike, E ceased paying accident and sick benefits to 3 Ees who had been out of work on authorized sick leave prior to inception of strike it violated Act where it had no knowledge that Ees supported strike and fact that they were U members and had supported strikes in past not enough to show they supported this strike)

Maywood, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 139
(supervisor's requesting Ee who had signed U card to furnish doctor's release in order to receive sick leave pay, not violative, notwithstanding that prior to signing U card, Ee was given sick leave by supervisor w/o being asked for doctor's excuse; Ee handbook states that sick leave must be supported by a doctor's statement)

Wilson Trucking, Inc. JD-119-82
(telling Ee he could not come back to work w/o a doctor's certificate after an absence and commenting it was because of getting U in; held implied and unlawful threat of change in working conditions)

Midwest Stock Exchange, Inc., et al. v. N.L.R.B. 635 F.2d 1255 (C.A. 7, 1980)
(ct held contrary to Bd that change in sick leave policy shortly after U victory in representation election was not unlawful, since timing alone did not justify conclusion that change was discriminatory, and record showed E's economic reason was to make department's policies on sick leave uniform with those of other departments)

5036-6729 Eviction from company houses

Friday Canning Corporation 255 NLRB No. 062
(closing migrant workers' camp because Ees engaged in economic strike, violative, because this effectively severed indicia of continued employment (discharge) to which strikers are entitled; furthermore, location of barracks was away from production area and so their staying would not interfere with production process)

5036-6731 Handling of grievances

Northwestern Dodge, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 118
(refusal to process grievances protesting layoffs of two Ees violative notwithstanding contract had expired)

Georgia Kraft Company, Woodcraft Division 258 NLRB No. 121
(refusal of E to process grievance over discharge of probationary Ee because of his absenteeism not violative, since probationary Ee had no rights to such proceeding and grievance was not presented in conformity with contract terms)

General Electric Company 255 NLRB No. 092
(E's establishment and subsequent discontinuance of sounding board program upon U's filing of R ptn, unlawful, where purpose of program was to discourage support for U and discontinuance was in reprisal for Ee support of U; further, E's justification of discontinuance of program in order to avoid ULP charges, rejected, where program had been announced and implemented prior to filing of R ptn)

The Coca-Cola Company Foods Division 254 NLRB No. 099
(forbidding Ee from discussing with other Ees his grievance meetings with management, his treatment by management and other terms and conditions of employment, violative)

American Motor Inns, d/b/a Holiday Inn No. 4 - Airport JD-732-80
(resolving Ees' grievance by removing and retiring supervisor, who was so unpopular among her supervisees that it was most drastic step E could take to curry favor with Ees and lure them away from U, violative)

American Motor Inns, d/b/a Holiday Inn No. 4 - Airport JD-732-80
(meeting with Ees at their request where they set forth their grievances not violative even though E knew that U had filed ptn since E only stated that he would check into grievances and the NLRB had placed restrictions on making any changes or promises which do not amount to implied promise of benefit if U was abandoned)

Planned Parenthood of Alameda and San Francisco Counties JD-(SF)-294-80
(E informing Ee that due to her filing charges with Bd it would not continue to process her grievances under its internal procedures, violative, notwithstanding its subsequent good faith effort to process grievances)

5036-6733 Illegal conditions on reinstatement

Talbert Manufacturing, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 105
(reinstating striking Ees at lower pay than those Ees who did not strike and received raises violative)

5036-6733—Cont.

Talbert Manufacturing, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 163
(where E permitted nonstriking Ees who were transferred to dayshift during strike to remain there, contrary to its prior policy forbidding shift changes, and denying returning strikers right to change shifts, it violated Act)

Charleston Nursing Center 257 NLRB No. 066
(E's letter to replaced economic strikers requiring them to furnish current information about their interest in reinstatement or risk losing their reinstatement rights, violative since it constituted threat to cut off statutory reinstatement rights of economic strikers)

5036-6733-3300 Of strikers

Isla Verde Hotel Corporation d/b/a Hotel Holiday Inn De Isla Verde 269 NLRB No. 073
(requiring strikers to waive their rights before Bd and other agencies as condition to their return to work, violative)

Lincoln Hills Nursing Home, Inc.; et al. 257 NLRB No. 145
(where vacation eligibility was computed upon one year's actual work rather then tenure of employment, E did not discriminatee against reinstated strikers when it denied them eligibility for vacations after substracting strike time from their employment records; moreover, finding of disparate treatment not warranted notwithstanding E sometimes allowed time lost due to sickness to be counted toward vacation eligibility)

Welker Die Casting, Inc. 268 NLRB No. 034
(telling Ee who abandoned strike and returned to work that her seniority would start anew, violative)

S. L. Industries Inc. and Extruded Products, Corp. 252 NLRB No. 151
(requiring discriminatees entitled to reinstatement to be interviewed before they were allowed to return to work held violative where such requirement had no legitimate business justification)

Huron Dressed Beef, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 031
(refusal to reinstate economic strikers except as new hires with starting wages and w/o seniority and accured vacation, medical and other benefits, and hiring permanent replacements in place of those strikers who did not accept offer to return to work as new hires, violative)

Penn Company 281 NLRB No. 090
(reinstatement of strikers to non-U plant under less favorable conditions than formerly, unlawful, where E considered that it was recalling them to non-unit jobs and failed to shown that changed circumstances prevented it from recalling them to their former jobs; fact that RD's intervening decision accreted them into existing unit did not change situation as it existed at time of their recall; moreover, by requiring them to accept employment at non-U plant, E gave them choice of abandoning U representation or refusing employment, thereby restraining and coercing them)

Harding Glass Industries 248 NLRB No. 091
(offer of reinstatement to strikers by E who had unlawfully withdrawn from multiE bargaining, on terms inferior to those contained in newly negotiated contract with multiE Association that E bound to honor violative)

Road Sprinkler Fitters Local Union No. 669, etc. v. N.L.R.B. 681 F.2d 11 (C.A.D.C., June 1982)
(no-U-talk rule imposed on reinstated strikers violative)

(E's conditioning reinstatement of two unlawfully discharged U adherents upon relinquishment of right to support U in election, unlawful)

A & D Davenport Transportation, Inc. and Sun-Fair Special Service Transportation, A Division of A & D Davenport Transportation, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 079
(violation by requiring Ees, as condition of employment or reemployment, to sign documents where Ees forego right to engage in walkouts or other protected concerted activities seeking to improve working conditions, apologize for doing so in past, and admit that dischargees had in fact resigned, thus leaving impression they were waiving any right to contend that they had been discharged for engaging in protected concerted activity)

Henry A. Young, d/b/a Columbia Engineers International 260 NLRB No. 144
(after shutdown and resulting layoff following U's claim of majority, E's statement that if Ee wanted to work for E he would have to tear up his U card and during same interview unlawfully interrogated Ee)

Delco Air Conditioning Division, General Motors Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 649 F.2d 390 (C.A. 6, May 1981)
(ct held that substantial evidence on record did not support Bd finding that E unlawfully conditioned Ee's reinstatement on his resignation as U committeeman where ALJ, although completely discrediting Ee's version of his initial discharge, credited Ee's uncorroborated testimony concerning E's alleged condition for Ee's reinstatement; furthermore, ct was unwilling to enforce backpay award upon uncorroborated testimony of Ee who would be beneficiary of reinstatement and backpay award)

5036-6736 Prohibiting solicitation and/or distribution of literature during employees own time on employer's premises

Schnadig Corporation 265 NLRB No. 020
(maintenance of rule which prohibited solicitation of any kind during working hours or collecting contributions for any purpose on company premises or company time w/o specific prior approval of general manager, unlawful, since overly broad where E did not clairfy that prohibition did not apply to lunch and break times, notwithstanding E only enforced rule with regard to actual working time, inasmuch as more existence of overly broad rule interferes with Ees' Section 7 rights and E was carrying on anti-U campaign during work time)

Schnadig Corporation 265 NLRB No. 020
(E's maintenance of rule which prohibited distribution of literature of any kind on company premises or company time w/o specific prior permission of general manager, unlawful, notwithstanding rule not generally enforced, since overly broad rule inasmuch as approval of general manager required for distribution, and E did not inform Ees rule was resinded)

Schnadig Corporation 265 NLRB No. 020
(violation, where supervisor instructed Ee to cease distributing U literature outside time clock door entrance and move at least 18 feet from plant, and did not retract order when informed his action was violation of federal law particularly where at time E was passing out anti-U literature in working area on working time)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 263 NLRB No. 015
(informing Ee who was soliciting Ee to sign U card in break area that it was against company policy to sign up Ees for U on plant property and then escorting Ee to office while informing him incident would be written up for his file, unlawful)

United Parcel Service, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 134
(supervisor informing Ee that he would rather Ee not distribute leaflets for dissident U group during Ee's nonworking time, unlawful)

Valley Plaza, Inc. d/b/a Captain Nemo's 258 NLRB No. 076
(no-solicitation rule violative where first sentence of rule prohibited Ee solicitation on nonworking time and second sentence did not state what if any right Ee supporter of U would have under rule to solicit another Ee on nonworking time and therefore, rule was capable of being interpreted as restricting Ees' rights under Act to engage in U solicitation during their nonworking time; inasmuch as posting itself of such rule was sufficient promulgation to constitute violation, admitted maintenance of rule was violative)

G. H. Bass & Co. 258 NLRB No. 086
(reprimanding Ee for distribution of pro-U letter in production area during lunch break in alleged violation of rule prohibiting distribution in work areas, unlawful, where production shut down for lunch break and all Ees off clock since in these circumstances production area at lunch break becomes non-working area, and absent resulting litter problem or impact on production)

Wometco Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Nashville, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 069
(informing Ee that Ees who signed U cards on company property or company time could be discharged, unlawful)

Wometco Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Nashville, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 069
(maintaining rule forbidding solicitation for U during working time or while on the clock while permitting solicitation for other purposes, unlawful)

Clinton Corn Processing Company, A Division of Standard Brands Inc. 253 NLRB No. 084
(warning Ee for failure to comply with unlawful overly broad no-solicitation rule which was not clarified to permit solicitation during break times and Ee had been soliciting only on his own time, violative)

General Thermodynamics, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 031
(posting of facially overly broad no solicitation-no distribution rules prohibiting solicitation on company time and distribution on company premises w/o permission of management, unlawful, notwithstanding rule never implemented and was removed prior to its effective date where Ees never informed of E's decision not to implement rules)

Sun Belt Linens, Inc., d/b/a South Texas Linen Service (Laundry and Dye House Workers, Local 281, a/w Teamsters) 250 NLRB No. 174
(rule on solicitation and distribution lawful since it was applied in such manner as to convey clear intent to permit solicitation or distribution during breaks and other periods when Ees were not at work)

Pilgrim Life Insurance Company 240 NLRB No. 140
(discharge for allegedly soliciting signing of U cards on company time, unlawful, where E had no written rules forbidding or restricting solicitations on company premises, there was no interference with production, E allowed solicitation for other purposes, and particularly absent proof solicitation took place on work time as distinguished from company time)

Conagra, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 086
(informing Ee who had had argument with Ee who was wearing Vote No hat that she was not to talk U on company time and U literature was not to be passed out in plant, unlawful, since statement not limited to prohibition during work))

Conagra, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 085
(instructing Ee not to leave department or discuss U with other Ees, unlawful, since overly broad prohibition)

Conagra, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 085
(supervisor informing Ee If you are looking for higher wages you will have to look somewhere else. We won't have you talking U on job unlawful, since could reasonably be interpreted as prohibition against soliciting at all times including nonworking time and no evidence restriction was justified by need to maintain discipline and production)

Lemon Electric Corporation 247 NLRB No. 203
(maintaining rule which prohibited solicitation at any time in work areas, unlawful)

Irwin County Electric Membership Cooperative 247 NLRB No. 196
(E's prohibiting solicitation or distribution of literature, pamphlets, or handouts on its premises, unlawful, since no distinction made between working and nonworking time and working and nonworking areas)

Styrest Nursing Home JD-(ATL)-95-82
(nursing home maintaining rule which stated no one is permitted to approach Ees or residents with view towards canvassing, soliciting or selling articles of any kind, unlawful, since not limited to working time of Ees, notwithstanding E's contention rule was directed at sale of articles by outside salesmen, since rule's language not limited to sale of articles by outside salesmen; nor was violation fully remedied by recission of rule and replacement with modified rule which limited prohibition to solicitation on working time in view of confusion generated by rule among Ees)

Vanity Fair Mills, Inc. JD-(ATL)-35-82
(E's manager informing chairman of U's grievance committee and representative of U of E's neutrality in election campaign and instructing them not to solicit votes on company time during working hours, not unlawful, where manager added what they did on break or lunch time was their own business)

European Parts Exchange, Inc. JD-170-82
(directing Ee who had been soliciting Ees to sign cards in parking lot during lunch and break time to refrain from distributing U cards during working hours or on company property, unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. Permanent Label Corporation 657 F.2d 512 (C.A. 3, 1981)
(prohibiting Ee from passing out U cards or literature while on company property, unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. Permanent Label Corporation 657 F.2d 512 (C.A. 3, 1981)
(informing Ee who was distributing U information leaflets in parking lot to Ees as they arrived for work shifts, that Ee would be subject to disciplinary action if he continued to distribute information, violative, where E distributed only in non-work area during off duty time)

N.L.R.B. v. Arrow Molded Plastics, Inc. 653 F.2d 280 (C.A. 6, July 1981)
(E's prohibiting distribution of U literature on its premises, unlawful)

American Cast Iron Pipe Company, a corporation v. N.L.R.B. 600 F.2d 132 (C.A. 8, 1979)
(maintaining and enforcing rule which forbids distribution of any written or printed matter on company property w/o company permission, unlawful, notwithstanding E's contention rule justified by special circumstance of racial tension, where few actual disciplinary incidents occurred and literature distributed was not cause of incidents)

Fun Striders, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 686 F.2d 716 (C.A. 9, 1981)
(E's discharge of and refusal to reinstate Ees for distributing leaflets during unannounced Ee work stoppage, urging Ees to engage in violent struggle against management, not violative where E reasonably believed that this advocacy threatened to inject violent confrontation into plant)

5036-6737 Layoff

Enterprise Products Company 263 NLRB No. 083
(E's response, during period of U activity among Ees, to inquiry by Ee in layoff status about job vacancy, that there would be no recall of Ees until this mess is over, unlawful, since E thereby indicated that laid off Ees would not be recalled until U activity had ceased)

Ebb Tide Processing, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 109
(layoff of Ee by supervisor in retaliation against her because of her concerted protected activity of reporting his drunken, possibly amorous, confrontation with her, unlawful)

Alle Arecibo Corporation and Alle Industries Ltd. 264 NLRB No. 163
(laying off Ees as consequence of E's carefully-timed, deliberate, and self-induced deprivation of work designed to provide E with excuse for closing plant simultaneously with expiration of U contract, violative since as result of scheme, Ees were in effect being locked out in order to bring pressure on them to abandon U)

Admiral Merchants Motor Freight, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 012
(imposing on Ees, as condition of continued employment, their repudiation of certain contract wage benefits and enforcing that condition first with threatened employment loss and then layoff, violative)

IMCO/International Measurement & Control Company, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 180
(closure of plant for afternoon with no pay to Ees because of Ees' complaints to health department regarding unsanitary conditions in plant due to presence of cats adopted by E, unlawful, where neither health department nor actual conditions required closure)

S.M.C. Rest. Corp. d/b/a Poletti's Restaurant 261 NLRB No. 001
(violations, where E following demanded by U for recognition called meeting of all Ees and interrogated Ees as to why they wanted U, promised to discuss benefits after Ees signed ptn against U, threatened to close restaurant if U came in, and w/i five days w/o warning to Ees closed restaurant for two and a half weeks which had never been previously closed)

Ogden & Moffett Company 254 NLRB No. 181
(laying drivers off because they and their fellow Ees made complaints to state agency regarding overloaded or defective trailers and also because they refused to operate trailers they considered overloaded or defective, violative)

Lummus Industries, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 079
(violation where discharge was based at least in part on prior warnings for violating unlawful no-distribution rule, notwithstanding Ee did not believe he was discharged under this rule and Ee circulated defamatory accusations of bribery and sellout to U)

R. E. & K., Inc. 252 NLRB No. 036
(preelection layoff of foreman who was leader of new crew created by E so as to be able to transfer Ees to and from such crew and thereby enable E to rid itself of some known U adherents by eliminating entire crew, unlawful; E's defense on ground layoff was necessary because of unexpected need to curtail work because of delay in installing new equipment, rejected, in view of E's awareness of potential delay for sometime prior to layoffs)

Samco Manufacturing Co., Inc. Summit Grinding Company 251 NLRB No. 066
(not unlawful where necessitated by economic conditions)

John Rooney, David Hinman and Beverly Foster, d/b/a Rooney's At The Mart 247 NLRB No. 125
(selection of U adherent for economic layoff, unlawful, since motivated by adherent's U activities where previous unlawful warning letters were factor, E's owner had suggested to adherent she might be happier working elsewhere and offered her severance pay to seek other employment)

Aero Warehouse, Inc. JD-(NY)-40-81
(layoff which coincided with U's demand for recognition and also with notification that E would not receive anticipated contract, not unlawful, in view of absence of U animus, notice of impending layoff to Ees prior to advent of U, and E's dire economic situation)

Helgested Corporation JD-643-80
(layoff violative where reason for layoff was E's displeasure with Ees for having made and pressed claim for backpay at higher wage rate to which they believed they were entitled than what they had received for an already completed job)

Tri-Supply Company of Beaumont, Inc. JD-(SF)-29-80
(E's laying off pro-U Ees and shortly thereafter adopting policy of sending Ees home early when assigned production tasks were completed, rather than following pre-election traditional policy of assuring Ees continuous full pay check, violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Robin American Corporation 654 F.2d 1022 (C.A. 5, 1981)
(ct held that evidence adequately supports that Ees were laid off because of their U membership and not for economic reasons)

N.L.R.B. v. Robin American Corporation 654 F.2d 1022 (C.A. 5, 1981)
(laying off Ee who was sister-in-law of prime U supporter, not unlawful; E's failure to deny alleged unlawful motive, the locale of small and informal plant, and in-law relationship with U adherent were not substantial evidence on which to base inference that company knew Ee was U supporter)

Miami Springs Properties, Inc., and James H. Kinley and Associates, Joint Employers v. N.L.R.B. 663 F.2d 276 (C.A. 6, Aug 1981)
(ct held substantial evidence supported Bd's finding that layoffs were ULPs and were not caused by E's troubled financial condition, where Bd relied on fact that layoffs were not announced and took place immediately after Ees engaged in protected activity of walking off job; Bd also relied on evidence of anti-U comments made by company president and disputed company's characterization of its finances at time of layoffs)

Blue Grass Provision Co., Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 636 F.2d 1127 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(E's unilaterally subcontracting its delivery operations and laying off Ees performing this work, unlawful, where U was not on notice E contemplated subcontracting and absent impasse, where U never understood E meant to subcontract operations upon expiration of contract and meetings between parties were preliminary sparring matches)

N.L.R.B. v. Rich's Precision Foundry, Inc. 667 F.2d 613 (C.A. 7, Dec. 1981)
(layoff of 2 Ees caused by reduction in work due to discriminatory dischrge of 2 other Ees violative as layoffs would not have occurred but for discriminatory action)

5036-6740 Rescheduling nonwork time

Madison Manufacturing Company 260 NLRB No. 076
(E violated Act when it unilaterally eliminated incentive payment of piece rate wages and also by unilaterally instituting new reporting time procedure for its Ees by making them leave cafeteria 5 minutes earlier)

European Parts Exchange, Inc. JD-170-82
(E changing times of U adherent's lunch and other breaks after he had passed out U authorization cards, so that he could no longer take breaks with other Ees, unlawful)

5036-6741 Less favorable treatment

Village IX, Inc. d/b/a Shenanigans 264 NLRB No. 122
(where E had policy of allowing friends and spouses of Ees to wait for them in restaurant until Ee come off duty, it violated Act when it refused to allow husband of principal U adherent, who had been subject of Bd settlement agreement over her U activities, to wait for her. Although spouse did engage in some U activity, it was never on restaurant premises and was only to assist his wife and he did not engage in any U activities independent of her; thus, spouse could not be treated as non-Ee U organizer)

Village IX, Inc. d/b/a Shenanigans 264 NLRB No. 122
(failure to timely mail invitation for E's anniversary party to U adherents, so that invitation arrived after party, violative as it was benefit granted to Ees)

K & S Circuits, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 163
(violation where E required U adherents, who had invoked Bd processes and were recalled pursuant to settlement agreement, to take math tests and fill out new applications)

Red Ball Motor Freight, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 111
(discharge violative where another Ee was disciplined with only 1-day suspension for concerted activity similar to that of discharged Ee)

Edgar L. Landen t/a Speed Mail Service 251 NLRB No. 064
(E's unexplained change w/o warning during U campaign of time of distribution of Ees' paychecks from Friday morning to Friday afternoon so that Ees could not cash them at noon held not de minimis or noncoercive; unlawful motive became unmistakably clear upon E's sudden resumption of its established practice of morning distribution after U lost election and it is unlikely Ees missed import of this sudden action)

Wilson Trucking, Inc. JD-119-82
(demand that truck drivers turn in their keys to E's facility, advance expense money and uniforms in retaliation for their organizing, unlawful)

5036-6742 Break policy

Cardinal Systems, A Division of Hospitality Motor Inns, Inc., d/b/a Cummins Component Plant 259 NLRB No. 065
(changing hours of work by no longer paying Ees for breaktime after expiration of contract, violative)

Formaloy Corp. JD-(ATL)-87-81
(institution of talking and break rules which were more restrictive than rules which existed prior to U campaign held violative, since more restrictive rules were motivated by E's desire to discourage U activity)

5036-6743 Harsher working conditions or rules

South Nassau Communities Hospital 262 NLRB No. 146
(assignment of leading U proponent to more onerous work, unlawful, where assignment followed closely on heels of Ee's U activity one day earlier, and E failed to give valid, reasonable explanation, sufficient to rebut GS's prima facie case for unlawfulness of such assignment, since E presented no evidence that any senior Ee, other than E, even though not disadvantaged thereby, was assigned such work on daily basis with no promise of relief in foreseeable future)

South Nassau Communities Hospital 262 NLRB No. 146
(alleged imposition of more onerous working conditions on U activist by E's ceasing to speak to her, not unlawful, since allegation involved alleged inaction of an individual rather than commission of an overt act, thus involving state of mind of both parties toward their relationship; in any event, assuming condition complained of existed, it did not rise to level of more onerous working condition)

Jules V. Lane, D.D.S., P.C. 262 NLRB No. 013
(curtailment of smoking or eating in Ees' lounge and of making personal phone calls in retaliation for selecting U as representative, unlawful)

7 Up Bottling Company 261 NLRB No. 128
(requiring Ee to wear hard hat at all times when in warehouse in reaction to Ee's having raised idea of going to OSHA about working conditions, unlawful)

Howard Johnson Motor Lodge 261 NLRB No. 123
(E requiring Ees to keep log sheet of all work he performed, not unlawful, notwithstanding informed Ee requirement being imposed since you have so much time to talk to new Ees about U and everything where record of nonworking time or breaktime activities not required, Ee was free to conduct U activities in off-time and E had reason to suspect Ee was soliciting Ees on work time)

Heads and Threads Company, a Division of MSL Industries, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 115
(institution of requirement that Ee advise supervisor each time they intended to use bathroom, unlawful in context of antiU diatribe after U demand for recognition)

University Townhouses Cooperative 260 NLRB No. 187
(imposing harsher shop rules and practices during U organizing campaign, violative)

Kenco Plastics Company, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 194
(increasing frequency and duration of customary visits to production area of plant to observe Ees after U filed representation ptn, violative, in view of unprecedented nature of E's visits, absence of any legitimate explanation for these visits, and suspicious timing of their occurrence after filing election ptn)

United States Postal Service 258 NLRB No. 193
(refusing to allow U steward to leave his work area contrary to normal policy violative when in retaliation for steward's protected activity as shop steward)

A.P.F. Electronics, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 068
(threatening to discharge Ees who were leaders of Ees dissatisfied with E and U's representation, if they used bathroom facilities after accusing Ees of holding U meeting in mens' room)

Clements Wire & Manufacturing Company, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 075
(transferring Ee to more physically demanding job and one which was painful to Ee because Ee would not submit to E's interrogation concerning U, violative)

Clements Wire & Manufacturing Company, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 075
(increasing production rate of U adherent, violative)

Welfare, Pension and Vacation Funds, Blasters, Drillrunners and Miners Union Local No. 29, etc. 256 NLRB No. 170
(reducing Ees' employment benefits and making working conditions more onerous by failing to issue Ees new door keys and requiring them to take their vacations in July and August only because of their participation in Workmen's Compensation hearing, unlawful)

Continental Distributing Co., Inc. 256 NLRB No. 091
(reinstatement of discriminatee to more onerous job and prohibiting him from speaking to other Ees violative where reinstatement occurred after Ee filed charges with Bd to protest his unlawful discharge and allegations of stealing and drinking on job not supported by record)

K-Mart Corporation 255 NLRB No. 112
(placing locks on telephone after advent of U campaign, violative, since E's contention that excessive phone bills were caused by Ee personal calls was pretextual, in view of fact that large phone bills were product of long-distance business calls, E had received large bills several months prior to advent of U, and policy restricting personal calls was never enforced before this time)

Highway Express, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 102
(on day after Ees signed cards, requiring Ees to punch in and out for lunch and also to record their work orders, not violative as Ees were earlier warned that they were not doing enough work and business was failing and was not more onerous work instituted in retaliation for U activities)

Boyer Ford Trucks, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 104
(E's imposition of new regulation requiring regular punching in and out by salesmen in response to new spirit of unionism exhibited by some members of sales department, unlawful since new regulation was form of harassment imposed by E in reprisal for filing of R ptn)

Boyer Ford Trucks, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 104
(imposition of rule prhobiting Ees from using photocopy machine for company business, violative where rule was obviously imposed to retaliate against decision of salesmen in selecting U as their bargaining agent)

Stants and Stants, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 109
(promulgation of new work rule and reinstating previously unenforced rule concerning Ees working conditions w/o bargaining with U, Ees' majority representative, on day discriminatees returned to work, held violative, since rules imposed additional burden on Ees and timing left little doubt that event was part of E's response to its Ees U activity)

Hotel & Restaurant Employees, Local 28 252 NLRB No. 158
(changing reporting requirements of female Ee who filed sex discrimination complaint with California FEPC so she had to report to E's office three times every workday as opposed to reporting three times a week prior to filing her complaint, violative)

S. L. Industries Inc. and Extruded Products, Corp. 252 NLRB No. 151
(after her reinstatement, Ee's being assigned full time to arduous machine work when she had shared time on machine with other Ees and being denied same lunch break given other Ees in department held violative, since inference was warranted that Ee was being made to suffer for her concerted action and U activities)

PPG Industries, Inc., Lexington Plant, Fiber Glass Division 251 NLRB No. 156
(violation where E enforced work rules more stringently to discourage U support)

PPG Industries, Inc., Lexington Plant, Fiber Glass Division 251 NLRB No. 156
(restriction of U activists to assigned areas, violative)

Billings Chrysler-Plymouth, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 089
(economically motivated rule changes not violative notwithstanding instituted day after election which E contested)

Weyerhaeuser Company 251 NLRB No. 097
(more stringent enforcement of rules against Ees for leaving work areas w/o permission as result of U campaign, violative)

Weyerhaeuser Company 251 NLRB No. 097
(imposing new restriction on Ee smoking when work was caught up or when machines were down, violative)

Mediterranian Diner, Inc., t/a Bay Diner 250 NLRB No. 029
(violation, where w/i 2 days after election E, who operated bar and restaurant, increased number of assigned tables to each waitress, prohibited smoking and talking even during breaks, required Ees to stand, changed dress code, and intensified checks on cleaning bar)

Pacific Coast International Meat Co. 248 NLRB No. 183
(assignment of more arduous tasks to Ee, unlawful, where for leadership in lodging Cs regarding supervision)

Conagra, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 085
(instructing Ee not to leave department or discuss U with other Ees, unlawful, since overly broad prohibition)

Leyendecker Paving, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 010
(truckdriver's assignment to different job was not assignment of more onerous work where it was result of traffic accident and not U activities)

ABL General Systems Corp. JD-(NY)-67-82
(brief assignment of U supporter to more difficult job which she had done before, in order to get job out, not unlawful)

European Parts Exchange, Inc. JD-170-82
(informing Ee who had solicited Ees to sign U authorization cards, and who acted as gate attendant, that he was not allowed to talk to Ees as they entered or left plant, and posting sign on Ee's desk No one is allowed to talk to guard, unlawful)

Formaley Corp. JD-(ATL)-87-81
(institution of talking and break rules which were more restrictive than rules which existed prior to U campaign held violative, since more restrictive rules were motivated by E's desire to discourage U activity)

Johns-Manville Sales Corporation JD-412-81

Chipmore Manufacturing Co., Inc. JD-432-80
(imposing new and onerous work rules and enforcing shop rules previously enforced sporadically, if at all, held in reprisal for U activities of Ees)

5036-6744 Closer supervision

Dupont Puerto Rico, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 135
(causing investigation of Ee concerning his inquiry of warehouse manager with regard to denial of raise to fellow Ee because of his five absences and his inquiry as to E's personnel policy on sick leave, disability, and promotions, violative)

Russ Togs, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 099

Peavey Company 249 NLRB No. 110
(supervisor harassing Ees by following them around, unlawful)

Tartan Marine Company 247 NLRB No. 073
(where entire work force visible to supervisors, no unlawful surveillance, absent evidence E watching Ees more closely during U campaign)

ABL General Systems Corp. JD-(NY)-67-82
(increased presence of supervisor in production area, though coincidental with advent of U, not unlawful stricter supervision where justified by need to help Ees during period of high production)

European Parts Exchange, Inc. JD-170-82
(supervisor sitting in chair of U adherent who acted as gate attendant throughout time Ees were entering, and interrupting and criticizing adherent's procedures, unlawful)

Southern Farmers Association JD-47-82
(when low level supervisor told Ee that superintendent would be even tougher supervisor if U came in, was threatening Ees with closer supervision)

5036-6745 Lockouts

Century Moving & Storage, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 083
(no lock-out where E, knowing that Ees would be attending U meeting before work usually started, moved up starting time of workday for that date, since E had valid business reason for doing so, had no knowledge when U meeting would end, and warehouse was locked because everyone was out on trucks working)

Harding Glass Industries 248 NLRB No. 091
(refusal to reinstate ULP strikers after they requested reinstatement constitutes lockout)

5036-6746 Expulsion from plant

Like Corporation JD-(SF)-69-80
(denying Ee, suspected of starting 2 fires in E's plant; access to E's parking lot when he was not working not violative)

5036-6750 Withdraw, deny or delay privileges

Volkswagen of America, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 086
(refusal to permit U and Ee subject to discipline, upon request, private consultation immediately prior to Ee's disciplinary interview, in accordance with established practice, violative)

Welfare, Pension and Vacation Funds, Blasters, Drillrunners and Miners Union Local No. 29, etc. 256 NLRB No. 170
(reducing Ees' employment benefits and making working conditions more onerous by failing to issue Ees new door keys and requiring them to take their vacations in July and August only because of their participation in Workmen's Compensation hearing, unlawful)

United States Steel Corporation JD-(ATL)-90-81
(E's changing its practice of permitting Ees to swap shifts w/o permission or supervisory knowledge because Ees filed grievances pursuant to collective bargaining agreement, unlawful)

Dick Seidler Enterprises, d/b/a Joe & Dodie's Tavern JD-(SF)-239-80
(E's withdrawal of privileges, such as allowing Ees to remain on premises longer than 15 minutes after completion of their shifts and allowing Ees to take food home for consumption by others, from Ees who worked at restaurant unlawful where such actions taken by E were in reprisal against Ees for seeking U representation)

Montefiore Hospital and Medical Center v. N.L.R.B 621 F.2d 510 (C.A. 2, 1980)
(health care institution's delay in granting permanent privileges to admit their patients to its clinic to doctors who had struck w/o notice in sympathy with institution's Ees, not unlawful in view of doctors' improper and unprotected picket-line conduct while on strike)

5036-6782 Relocating duty station

Gordonsville, Industries, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 054
(rearrangement of work location in order to restrain Ees' discussion of U, violative where idle talk (between Ees in various departments) had been tolerated by E prior to U campaign)

Pilgrim Life Insurance Company 260 NLRB No. 140
(E's attempt to isolate U supporters by restricting movements of some Ees and relocating work station of another Ee, unlawful)

5036-6784 Refusal to employ or reemploy

Bechtel Power Corporation 264 NLRB No. 088
(refusal to rehire Ee who, while acting in his capacity of U steward, threatened E with an unlawful work stoppage if E chose certain individual to become a supervisor, not unlawful, since Ee's threat was not protected by Act)

Bechtel Power Corporation 264 NLRB No. 088
(refusal to rehire supervisor who quit over alleged unlawful appointment of job steward, not unlawful, since such protest was not protected activity; Bd would not find appointment which prompted supervisor to quit unlawful absent notice and litigation of issue)

Bechtel Power Corporation 264 NLRB No. 088
(refusal to rehire Ee who, in concert with other Ees, quit job and immediately attempted to obtain paycheck, not unlawful, where demand for immediate receipt of paycheck held not to be protest involving terms and conditions of employment)

Carbonex Coal Company 262 NLRB No. 159
(transferring unit work to new mine 5 miles away at time old one is struck in order to avoid bargaining with U and then hiring new Ees through unlawfully assisted U's hiring hall while refusing to hire striking Ees and those represented by certified striking U violates Act)

Davis and Burton Contractors, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 102
(refusal to recall Ee after layoff, violative, since reason was Ee's walking off job and setting up one-man picket line, which was honored by other Ees, in protest of E's issuance to Ee payroll check which was dishonored by bank; although Ee's action violated no-strike clause of U contract, E had condoned Ee's action by settling dispute over paycheck and allowing Ee to return to work the next day and to continue work until layoff)

R. C. Lapeer Builders, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 165
(refusal to reinstate sympathy strikers after un-conditional offer to return to work violative)

Missouri Towing & Barge, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 089
(refusal to reinstate Ee for knowingly filing false workman's compensation claim, not violative)

Pettibone Corporation 255 NLRB No. 151
(refusal to rehire Ees who had quit in protest over working conditions, violative; contention that E lacked knowledge that Ees wanted to return, rejected as ULP charge effectively informed E)

Pile Foundation Construction Company, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 177
(refusing to recall Ees who had complained about contractual work-rule violations in regard to manning certain jobs, violative)

Maine Apple Growers, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 060
(delaying recall, after election, of seasonal apple packers, who had requested raise in wages and had directed grievance letter to E's board of directors, assertedly because they were responsible for low production held violative where E's business justification for its action had not been established; E's unlawful statement to Ees that agitation had to cease coupled with its unexplained deviation from its normal method of disciplining overly talkative Ees established E's unlawful motive)

Universal City Studios, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 142
(refusal to rehire Ee for second season of TV series because during first series Ee had talked to other Ees about working conditions and contacted U about supervisor changing his timecard, unlawful)

G and M Lath and Plaster Co., Inc. and Its Alter Ego, Central Texas Lath & Plastering Inc.; et al. 282 NLRB No. 137
(corporation and its alter ego's refusal to retain Ees on project doing plaster work, violative where president of corporation decided to make project non-U after corporation left completion of project, because of financial problems, to alter ego under supervision of corporate president)

United Investment Corporation d/b/a Santa's Bakery 249 NLRB No. 190
(refusal to rehire Ee upon his request because he filed claim for back overtime wages with state agency, unlawful; Ee's action was concerted as well as protected, and E knew it was concerted)

Saratoga County Economic Opportunity Council, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 074
(refusing to consider E for full time position of senior bus driver and failure to appoint him to such position, violative where Ee was qualified for such position because he had been filling in as permanent substitute, and such discriminatory treatment was motivated by E's participation in protected concerted activity for mutual aid of all Ees which entailed sending letter critical of E's operations to federal agency which provided substantial part of E's funding)

Saratoga County Economic Opportunity Council, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 074
(E's action of disqualifying Ee as substitute driver, violative where E was motivated by Ee's participation in protected concerted activity for mutual aid of all Ees which entailed sending letter critical of E's operations to federal agency which provided substantial part of E's funding)

Ontario Knife Company 247 NLRB No. 168
(discharge and refusal to reinstate Ee assertedly for leaving plant w/o permission, unlawful, where walkout was preceded by grievance discussion and was result of protected activity; even if offensive and off color remarks by supervisor were proximate cause of Ee's walkout, supervisor's statements must be considered in context of entire conversation, which was clearly protected concerted activity)

A. J. Librera Disposal Cartage and Trucking, Inc. d/b/a A. J. Librera Disposal Service, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 118
(E's refusal to hire Ees of predecessor E because they had engaged in strike against predecessor to protest wages violative)

A. J. Librera Disposal Cartage and Trucking, Inc. d/b/a A. J. Librera Disposal Service, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 118
(E's refusal to hire Ees of E's predecessor because they sympathized with predecessor E's Ees who were engaging in strike to protest wages paid by predecessor E, violative)

Frank Briscoe Incorporated 247 NLRB No. 086
(refusal to reemploy certain Ees laid off as a group because, after their lawful layoff, some of the Ees filed discrimination charges with EEOC, unlawful, since filing of such charges constituted protected concerted activity under Act, regardless of the merit of such charges)

Johns-Manville, Private Carriage JD-(ATL)-89-81
(refusal to rehire alleged discriminatee not violative where there was nothing in record to contradict credible testimony that it was E's policy not to rehire drivers who had been terminated for cause)

Teras Coal Company, Inc. JD-322-81
(discharging and refusing to reinstate eight coal miners for withholding their services in support of their grievance, violative)

Maryland Cup Corporation JD-618-80
(refusal to provide applicant for employment with application form because of U activities of applicant's relatives, unlawful)

B & F Turgeon, Inc. JD-274-80
(violatively discharged economic strikers who had made unconditional requests for reinstatement)

The Royal General Company JD-17-80
(E offering wage increases to select individuals to induce them to abandon their walkout and support for U representation while refusing to re-employ individual it considered instigator of walkout and instigator's brother)

Ontario Knife Company v. N.L.R.B. 637 F.2d 840 (C.A. 2, Dec. 1980)
(discharge and refusal to reinstate Ee who walked off job after protesting excessive assignment of certain work to night shift not violative, where although fellow worker shared objection thereby meeting the mutual aid or protection requirement of Sec. 7, fellow worker did not join Ee in walking off job and there was thus no concerted activity)

N.L.R.B. v. Robin American Corporation 654 F.2d 1022 (C.A. 5, 1981)
(refusal to reinstate striking Ees, violative, where strike was found ULP strike in view of fact that Ees struck in protest of unlawful lay-offs and discharges, unlawful closing of department, and unlawful threats and interrogations)

N.L.R.B. v. Savair Manufacturing Company 611 F.2d 169 (C.A. 6, 1979)
(order based on 8(a)(1) violation enforced, since Bd entitled to conclude from testimony of company official that E refused to hire Ee in 1976 because he was trouble during Ees' walkout in 1969)

Laurie L. Abraham v. Graphic Arts International Union, AFL-CIO, CLC, et al. 592 F.2d 1189 (D Ct DC, 1980)
(mtn for summary judgment against E dismissed where it was clear from record that no genuine issues as to facts material to resolution of instant action existed; ct not persuaded that plaintiff made prima facie case regarding E's discrimination against her for U activities by firing her and not granting her maternity leave)

Montefiore Hospital and Medical Center v. N.L.R.B 621 F.2d 510 (C.A. 2, 1980)
(health care institution's denial of full-time positions to doctors because of their filing charges with Bd, unlawful)

5036-6762 Refusal to reinstate strikers

best copy available

5036-6762—Cont.

American Olean Tile company, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 206

(violation, by denying vacancies of substantially equivalent pre-strike jobs to qualified senior economic strikers by giving inter-plant preference to strikers who abandoned strike or who made individual offers to return to work and were reinstated, albeit to positions not substantially equivalent to pre-strike positions, over the former for whom U made offer to return to work)

A. Duie Pyle, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 092

(Bd has differentiated between those cases in which Ees have arguably exceeded bounds of lawful conduct during strike in moment of animal exuberance from those cases in which misconduct is so flagrant or egregious as to require subordination of Ees' protected rights in order to vindicate broader interests of society; thus, E is not entitled to discharge striker for engaging in threats unless they are accompanied by physical acts or gestures that would provide added emphasis or meaning to striker's words sufficient to warrant finding that striker should not be reinstated)

J. E. Steigerwald Co., Inc. 263 NLRB No. 068

(informing laid-off Ee that E was not going to hire anyone because of pending ULP charges and was thus withdrawing its offer of re-employment violative)

Carbonex Coal Company 262 NLRB No. 159

(E's refusal to rehire strikers rather than six new Ees it did hire violative and it is immaterial in this situation whether they were economic or ULP strikers as no new Ees had been hired at time strikers made unconditional offer to return to work)

San Diego County Association For The Retarded 259 NLRB No. 136

(E's contention that strikers are barred from reinstatement because of their written appeal to parents of retarded students and public, for support concerning their efforts to resolve their grievances, rejected, since appeals by strikers to third parties for support concerning labor dispute issues with E do not deprive strikers of reinstatement rights)

Pacemaker Yacht Co., A Division of Mission Marine, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 095

(discharge and failure to reinstate Ees who struck E, contrary to contractual no-strike clause, to protest failure of U's health and welfare fund to fulfill its contractual medical insurance obligations held violative, since no-strike pledge relied upon by E did not constitute clear and unequivocal waiver of Ees' right to strike against actions of third party (Fund) which affected terms and conditions of employment)

S. L. Industries Inc. and Extruded Products, Corp. 252 NLRB No. 151

(denial of reinstatement to discriminatees whom E thought would most likely cause continued labor disturbances if reinstated, violative, since Ees' walkout was protected activity and E had no business justification to deny their reinstatement)

S. L. Industries Inc. and Extruded Products, Corp. 252 NLRB No. 151

(forewoman's statement to Ee (striker) seeking reinstatement that Ee would have to wait until Bd ruled on charges Ees filed before she could give answer, violative, since statement conveyed that filing of charge had cut off further consideration of possibility of reinstatement)

Huron Dressed Beef, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 031

(refusal to reinstate economic strikers except as new hires with starting wages and w/o seniority and accured vacation, medical and other benefits, and hiring permanent replacements in place of those strikers who did not accept offer to return to work as new hires, violative)

Fun Striders, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 087

(refusal to reinstate strikers who had distributed protected, but nontheless, politically inflamatory materials, violative)

Villa Care, Inc., d/b/a Edmonds Villa Care Center 249 NLRB No. 095

(discharge and refusal to reinstate Ees unlawful, since Ees were economic strikers who were subject to permanent replacement but not to discharge)

Jay-Em Corporation JD-547-81

(refusal to reinstate economic striker who had applied for and was qualified for position)

Illinois Valley Electric Cooperative, Inc. JD-281-81

(offering unit position to Ee of another company and thereby bypassing unreinstated economic strikers, violative)

Central Cadillac Company JD-243-80

(E's refusal to allow striking Ees to return to work w/o doctor's certificate, unlawful, notwithstanding E's contention that Ees made no valid unconditional offer to return to work, where strikers reported in body to E's premises at regular reporting time, most in work clothes; furthermore, medical certificate requirement instituted night before return and, subsequently, never enforced)

W S H Construction Company, Inc., J. B. Shannon and James A. Hurd, Equipment Rental Company JD-70-80

(refusal to reinstate economic strikers upon their request to return to work assertedly because they had been replaced and did not have a job, violative, where there was scant evidence proffered by E to show that it had promptly and validly employed new permanent Ees to replace strikers prior to the latters' request to return to work)

Miami Springs Properties, Inc., and James H. Kinley and Associates, Joint Employers v. N.L.R.B. 653 F.2d 276 (C.A. 6, Aug 1981)

(ct held substantial evidence supported Bd's finding that layoffs were ULPs and were not caused by E's troubled financial condition, where Bd relied on fact that layoffs were not announced and took place immediately after Ees engaged in protected activity of walking off job; Bd also relied on evidence of anti-U comments made by company president and disputed company's characterization of its finances at time of layoffs)

5036-6764 Refusal to place strikers on preferential hiring list

Brinkerhoff Signal Drilling Co. 264 NLRB No. 049

(E violated Sec. 8(a)(1) when it created impression that economic strikers who were seeking to return to work were not being granted their Laidlaw preference in employment over new applicants and also by requiring returning strikers to fill out same employment register that all job applicants signed)

Lincoln Hills Nursing Home, Inc.; et al. 257 NLRB No. 145

(removal of economic striker's name from recall list violative)

5036-6766 Sale of business

K & K Transportation Corp., Inc. 262 NLRB No. 182

(failure to reinstate ULP strikers husband and wife not violative, where E had sufficient basis to believe they had sabotaged E's trailer-truck causing serious damage to equipment and endangering safety of other motorists, and GC failed to prove that strikers were not in fact guilty of alleged misconduct; fact that misconduct occurred miles away from E's facility was apparently result of premeditated conduct engaged in far from picket line)

5036-6770 Partial or complete termination or liquidation of business

IMCO/International Measurement & Control Company, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 180

(closure of plant for afternoon with no pay to Ees because of Ees' complaints to health department regarding unsanitary conditions in plant due to presence of cats adopted by E, unlawful, where neither health department nor actual conditions required closure)

Henry A. Young, d/b/a Columbia Engineers International 249 NLRB No. 144

(E threat to move business or to file bankruptcy rather than to pay U scale or benefits, unlawful)

C & W Mining Co., Inc. and/or C. & W Hauling Co., Inc. 248 NLRB No. 039

(E's sale of 2 of its 30 trucks 3 months after strike which had no effect on Ee's job did not violate Act)

Aztec Manufacturing Company JD-(SF)-92-80

(E's elimination of shift and resultant termination of all shift Ees not violative, notwithstanding timing and abruptness of action, where E's decision was motivated by substantial business reasons and prior to any knowledge of Ees' organizational meeting of previous night)

N.L.R.B. v. Southern Plasma Corp. 626 F.2d 1287 (C.A. 5, 1980)

(E may shutdown entire business even if motivated by anti-U conduct but cannot close it temporarily and reopen in order to oust U)

5036-6773 Denial of retirement benefits

National King Coal, Inc. JD-(SF)-24-81

5036-6774 Change in method of compensation

General Battery Corporation 261 NLRB No. 043

(substituting nonmeasured rate for incentive rate not unlawful, notwithstanding it was done shortly before scheduled rerun representation election, where it was based on business considerations; rate was applied to only small part of unit, was consistent with companywide practice in similar problem situations, approximated incentive rate in this and other departments, and Ees were told it was temporary and no mention was made of U)

Hudson Manufacturing Company 260 NLRB No. 076

(E violated Act when it unilaterally eliminated incentive payment of piece rate wages and also by unilaterally instituting new reporting time procedure for its Ees by making them leave cafeteria 5 minutes earlier)

Jaybil Steel Products, Inc.; etc. 258 NLRB No. 157

(changing method of pay from piecework to hourly basis which resulted in substantial loss in pay to Ees, unlawful, where instituted w/o business purpose at beginning of week immediately following organizing campaign)

Taylor-Dunn Manufacturing Company 252 NLRB No. 118

(revising incentive system by eliminating minor bonus hours so that favorable impact of decision was realized 4 days before election, violative as plan to change incentive program was in germinal form only prior to advent of U)

5036-6776 Institution of mandatory overtime

Illinois Bell Telephone Company 255 NLRB No. 063

(E who disciplined shop steward and U vice president for posting notices informing Ees of their right to seek U representation if E requested Ees to work mandatory overtime violated Act; U was not advocating Ees to refuse to work overtime which could be unprotected partial strike but rather was engaging in protected activity of urging Ees to seek help through U)

5036-6777 Suspension

United States Postal Service 264 NLRB No. 091

(suspension of Ee who persisted on several occasions to seek clarification of poorly-observed work rule, violative, where rule was incorporated into collective bargaining agreement and questioning such rule was protected concerted activity since it applied not only to Ee but to fellow Ees as well; Ee's conduct in shouting for steward to pursue her inquiry, although seen as rash and ill-mannered, was not so offensive, defamatory or opprobrious as to remove her from the protection of the Act)

7 Up Bottling Company 261 NLRB No. 128

(suspension based on Ee's alleged failure to abide by earlier warning, violative of 8(a)(1), since earlier warning had been violative of 8(a)(1) because E was influenced by possibility of Ee's complaining to OSHA)

New York University Medical Center 261 NLRB No. 118

(suspension of one Ee and discharge of another, assertedly for picketing private residence of management official, unlawful, where Ees' prior distribution of leaflets accusing E of engaging in racist tactics, herein held protected concerted activity, was motivating factor for E's conduct, and E failed to demonstrate that Ees would have been disciplined if only the picketing was involved)

Nanticoke Homes, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 107

(suspending Ee spokesman for refusing to supply inofrmation on U meeting, unlawful)

Illinois Bell Telephone Company 259 NLRB No. 167

(warning and suspending Ee who used vulgar term while discussing her grievance pertaining to evaluation criticizing amount of time away from workplace, violative, where Ee's discussion was concerted activity and grievance was a matter of mutual concern to other Ees)

East Chicago Rehabilitation Center, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 135

(suspension and discharge of Ees for engaging in protected strike, violative)

Baker Marine Corporation 258 NLRB No. 091

(no violation where E suspended and discharged Ees for refusing to work on legs being assembled for drilling rig in contravention of no-strike clause since, contrary to GC's contention that such work was abnormally dangerous w/i Sec. 502 of Act, conditions considered dangerous by Ees had been in existence w/o change for considerable period of time and had been previously accepted by Ees w/o complaint)

United States Postal Service 256 NLRB No. 012

(suspension of Ee assertedly because of his insubordinate conduct during disciplinary interview herein found unlawful because Ee was denied his request to have U representative present during interview, violative, where Ee's conduct was product of such interview and may never have occurred if unlawful interview had not taken place; Kraft Foods, Inc., 251 NLRB No. 6, distinguished)

Atlas Minerals, Division of Atlas Corporation 256 NLRB No. 022

(suspension of Ee assertedly because of safety infraction on job, unlawful, where GC made prima facie showing sufficient to support inference that Ee's protected conduct was motivating factor in decision to suspend Ee, and E then failed to meet its burden of demonstrating that suspension would have taken place even in absence of Ee's protected conduct)

McLean Trucking Company 252 NLRB No. 104

(discharge of Ee and subsequent conversion of discharge into suspension and written warning because he refused to drive tractor-trailer which he honestly and reasonably believed to be unsafe held unlawful, since refusal was right Ee was at liberty to exercise under contract even though at time of refusal he had not made any specific reference to contract)

Greyhound Lines, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 167

(suspension of drivers who prepared and issued press release announcing Ees' concerted adherence to speed limit resulting in slowdown in protest of E's conduct of labor relations, violative; contrary to contentions press release contained neither malicious falsehoods nor disparagement of quality of E's products or services)

F. W. Woolworth Co. 251 NLRB No. 152

(violation where E suspended, then discharged Ee allegedly for insubordination where Ee insisted on asking E question during E's captive audience anti-U propaganda speech in disobedience of E's gag on Ee participation; E had right to protest gag and did not engage in misconduct sufficient to remove protection of Act where he used no threats, profanity or inciteful language)

Allied Aviation Service Company of New Jersey, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 026

(suspension and subsequent discharge of Ee, unlawful where E's actions were caused by Ee's protected activity of sending letters to E's customers regarding lack of safety in E's function of servicing commercial aircraft)

Brunswick Corporation JD-21-82

(reprimanding and suspending U adherent for distributing literature pertaining to terms and conditions of employment, on non-working time and in non-working areas, violative)

Berkshire Cleanway Rubbish Removal, Inc. JD-336-81

(suspension and discharge of Ee because of his complaining about safety of E's trucks and refusing to drive them under unsafe and illegal conditions, violative where other Ees shared concerns and E was aware of common concern)

The Gilbert and Bennett Mfg. Co. JD-578-80

(threatening to discharge Ee if he made any more fuss to U about his overtime backpay under arbitrator's award, violative)

Peschke Packing Company JD-(NY)-33-80

(no violation where suspension was found to be for Ee's disregard of company policy by taking excessive time for relief breaks rather than for his complaint about supervisor's breach of contract by doing unit work)

N.L.R.B. v. St. Anne's Hospital 648 F.2d 67 (C.A. 1, May 1981)

(suspension of nurse assertedly for bribery and extortion because she asked for time and one-half if she was called to work after her regular working hours, unlawful, where action was taken in retaliation for her participation in nurses' group protesting hospital's on-call policy, she did not ask to get paid for hours that she did not work, and asserted reason for suspension was a ridiculous accusation and reflected E's hostility against any member of protesting group)

Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel Corp. v. N.L.R.B. 618 F.2d 1009 (C.A. 3, 1980)

(contention that Ees were properly suspended for refusing for safety reasons to perform job assignment, purportedly because their action was unprotected because it violated contract, rejected, since Ees had sincere belief that abnormally dangerous condition existed and their actions were both sincere and reasonable)

Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel Corp. v. N.L.R.B. 618 F.2d 1009 (C.A. 3, 1980)

(suspension of Ees for refusing to perform job assignment for safety reasons, unlawful, since Ees' conduct was concerted, and not individual, action, it constituted protected activity, and E failed to present alleged violation of contract as affirmative defense)

N.L.R.B. v. Southwestern Bell Telephone Company 694 F.2d 974 (C.A. 5, Nov. 1982)

(suspending Ee for alleged insubordination which occurred at disciplinary meeting concerning Ee's outbursts of day before during dispute over overtime work assignments, violative, where meeting was held to discipline Ee unlawfully for his conduct of previous day and clearly provoked outbursts that ostensibly justified suspension; doctrine of provoked insubordination applied)

McLean Trucking Company v. N.L.R.B. 689 F.2d 605 (C.A. 6, Sept. 1982)

(ct held substantial evidence supported Bd's finding that drivers were unlawfully disciplined for engaging in protected and concerted activity when they refused to drive tractor-trailor they believed to be unsafe pursuant to U instructions invoking provision of collective bargaining agreement; E's reliance on Jim Causley Pontiac, 675 F.2d 125 (6th Cir. 1982), unwarranted where ct held, inter alia, that E knew that drivers made their complaints pursuant to U activity; ct also reaffirmed its rejection of Interboro doctrine)

N.L.R.B. v. United States Postal Service 689 F.2d 835 (C.A. 9, Oct. 1982)

(enforcement denied since suspension was not unlawful where it was for insubordination in walking out of discussion which was not disciplinary, rather than for exercising Weingarten rights)

Caterpillar Tractor Co. v. N.L.R.B. 638 F.2d 140 (C.A. 9, 1981)

(suspension of chief steward for assisting Ee with filing of her grievance, unlawful; chief steward's outburst of profanity did not provide good cause for suspension where such outburst was in response to supervisor's interference with filing of grievance)

5036-6779 Transfer of work elsewhere

Carbonex Coal Company 262 NLRB No. 159

(transferring unit work to new mine 5 miles away at time old one is struck in order to avoid bargaining with U and then hiring new Ees through unlawfully assisted U's hiring hall while refusing to hire striking Ees and those represented by certified striking U violates Act)

Hall of Mississippi, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 119

(telling Ees that they were being laid off because of their U activities and implying that E would transfer work from local plant to another plant, violative)

Heat Transfer Group, Gulf and Western Mfg. Co. JD-381-82

(E's repudiating agreement by announcing its intention to and by commencing to relocate portion of unit work to another location for performance by non-unit Ees represented by another U with contract providing for less costly wages and benefits held violative, as E's purpose was to evade obligations and to frustrate Ees' right to refuse to make mid-term concessions)

5036-6780 Disqualification of employment compensation

McLean Hospital, A Division of Massachusetts General Hospital 264 NLRB No. 068
(where E's discharge of Ee was found lawful in ULP proceeding, E's communication of its lawful reasons to state unemployment agency for discharge did not violate 8(a)(1))

5036-6781 Loss of overtime work or pay

Electric Hose and Rubber Company 262 NLRB No. 014
(elimination of overtime during U organizing campaign not violative where E introduced its projections of production needs upon which its decision was based but did not produce actual production records and GC did not prove that E, in fact, did not base its decision on these projections but acted out of U animous)

Sambo's Restaurants, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 054
(denying Ees overtime work because they filed grievances)

Roadway Express, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 153
(denial of overtime pay to Ee, who had filed charges against E, for time spent discussing his grievance after working hours, not unlawful, where E had no policy for such pay)

Caterpillar Tractor Company 257 NLRB No. 029
(reduction of weekend overtime, not unlawful, where such reduction was result of creation of irregular shifts and there was no evidence that shifts were created for discriminatory reasons)

Worth Engineering, Inc. JD-295-80

5036-6782 Rescheduling of hours

Carbonex Coal Company 262 NLRB No. 159
(change of shift schedule from 8 hours to 12 hours without notifying or consulting with U violative)

Dick Seidler Enterprises, d/b/a Joe & Dodie's Tavern JD-(SF)-239-80
(knowingly creating situation where E had Ees with idle time, and subsequently reducing work hours, unlawful where done out of antipathy toward U supporters)

5036-6783 Workload increased

Flair Molded Plastics, Inc. JD-8-82
(increasing throughput by speeding up machines not violative where for economic reasons and absence of discriminatory motive)

Clements Wire and Manufacturing Company, Inc. JD-338-80
(increasing Ee production rates in reprisal for Ees' support and activities on behalf of U, unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. Circo Resorts, Inc., d/b/a Circus, Circus 646 F.2d 403 (C.A. 9, May 1981)
(E's statement made following unlawful discharge of Ees, who were active in obtaining signatures to U authorization cards, that more workers would not be employed until this U thing was over, thereby indicating that E would remain understaffed, unlawful)

5036-6784 Change in vacation policy

Northwestern Dodge, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 118
(refusing laid off Ee accumulated vacation pay on anniversary date of his employment violative where terms of expired contract did not apply only to Ees working on anniversary date)

Lincoln Hills Nursing Home, Inc.; et al. 257 NLRB No. 145
(where vacation eligibility was computed upon one year's actual work rather than tenure of employment, E did not discriminate against reinstated strikers when it denied them eligibility for vacations after subtracting strike time from their employment records; moreover, finding of disparate treatment not warranted notwithstanding E sometimes allowed time lost due to sickness to be counted toward vacation eligibility)

Larson Supply Co., Inc. 251 NLRB No. 175
(withdrawing advance vacation privileges)

Streamway Division of The Scott & Fetzer Co. 249 NLRB No. 054
(E's change in vacation policy advantageous to Ees, not unlawful, where GC's claimed immediately favorable nature of change was speculative, there was no evidence of E's knowledge of organizational attempt, change was not made with any purpose other than to remedy grievance, and there was no reason for concluding that change would interfere with unionization of E by Ees)

Wyman-Gordon Company v. N.L.R.B. 654 F.2d 134 (C.A. 1, 1981)
(supervisor's statements to Ees, who had asked if they could change their vacation dates if the election was scheduled to be held at that time, which implied that it could be arranged if they planned to vote against U, violative)

5036-6785 Transfer to another job, shift or plant

Gurabo Lace Mills, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 044

Electric Hose and Rubber Company 262 NLRB No. 014
(informing Ee that his right to transfer to new facility was denied because of his U activities, violative)

7 Up Bottling Company 261 NLRB No. 128
(replacing Ee's daytime delivery duties with demeaning nighttime chores violative of 8(a)(1) where due to E's fear Ee might complain to OSHA)

Western Marine Electronics, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 057
(violation, where Ee transferred from machine shop to dusty, monotonous sanding job after he filed grievance contending he was in unit covered by bargaining agreement and was not receiving contract wage or benefits, and after meeting on his grievance Ee was told he was being transferred because of grievance)

Clements Wire & Manufacturing Company, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 075
(transferring Ee to more physically demanding job and one which was painful to Ee because Ee would not submit to E's interrogation concerning U, violative)

John Wyke, Inc.; Comanco, Inc.; and Jobe Construction, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 118
(transfer and subsequent permanent layoff of Ee because of efforts on his behalf to obtain rate of pay specified in bargaining contract, violative)

Russ Togs, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 099
(transfer of grievants to other jobs with more arduous duties and closer supervision, unlawful)

Delta Faucet Company, a Division of Masco Corporation of Indiana 251 NLRB No. 071
(E's implementation of job rotation plan that was designed by E to transfer leading U adherent to another job that was less of his liking, unlawful)

Louisiana Council No. 17, AFSCME, AFL-CIO 250 NLRB No. 072
(U council's threat to transfer Ee-staff member to different location in his assignment of servicing U locals, unlawful, where action was in retaliation for his protected U and concerted activities; action came on heels of unlawful suspension of Ees for attending U meeting and for soliciting aid outside of labor organization, and closely followed council's attempt to prevent second U meeting involving U's attorney called to address, amont other things, Ees' suspensions)

Suburban Ford, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 051
(unprecedented reshuffling, prior to election, of automobile salesmen's jobs, transferring them from new to used cars sales or vice versa and replacing or augmenting salesmen with untrained novices with little or no qualifications unlawful, in view of salesmen's experience and expertise in jobs they held; E's actions were prejudicial to salesmen's earnings, based on commissions)

National Southwire Aluminum 247 NLRB No. 175
(E who transferred Ees to different jobs in retaliation for Ees' U activities violated Act notwithstanding job assignments were less physically demanding and paid same salary)

Tribal American Consulting Corporation JD-(SF)-314-80
(transferring school bus driver in retaliation for his strike and other U activities, violative)

Clements Wire and Manufacturing Company, Inc. JD-338-80
(transfer of Ee to more physically demanding job and one which was painful for her, because she would not submit to supervisor's interrogation about U, unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. St. Anne's Hospital 640 F.2d 67 (C.A. 1, May 1981)
(refusing to allow nurse to return to operating room duties to which she had been assigned prior to maternity leave, unlawful, where action was contrary to past policy and in retaliation against nurse with spotless 10-year record whose only fault was her active participation in nurses' protest against hospital's on-call policy)

5036-6786 Withholding vacation pay

Stokely-Van Camp, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 128
(withholding and deferring vacation pay of striking Ees violative where contract entitled them to paid vacations on request and but for strike vacation would have been allowed; contention that Ees cannot be on vacation and strike at same time so that E may maximize number of Ees available for work during strike, rejected)

Gulf Envelope Company 256 NLRB No. 058
(E's refusal to pay strikers accrued vacation pay pursuant to previous bargaining contract, unlawful; E's refusal not justified by its preference for individual requests rather than by U, or by busy administrative period at end of strike)

Rockingham Machine-Lunex Company 255 NLRB No. 015
(E's refusal to pay strikers on strike on date it had been customary for E to pay vacation benefits to those on pay roll as of that date, unlawful, where striker's denied benefits had not informed E they would not be returning to work)

C. F. Martin & Co., Inc. 252 NLRB No. 167
(withholding accrued vacation benefits from striking Ees, violative)

Harowe Servo Controls, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 120
(not granting vacation pay to ULP strikers who were unlawfully not recalled by eligibility date, though strike over, violative, as benefits vested on that date notwithstanding they had not been recalled)

Jacques Syl Knitwear, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 191
(denying accrued vacation pay to striking Ees, unlawful)

5036-6787 Use of blacklists

Dunmor Company d/b/a Madison South Convalescent Center 260 NLRB No. 106
(labelling Ee as union agitator in response to prospective E's reference check, violative)

Mount Desert Island Hospital 259 NLRB No. 080
(blacklisting Ees)

Cooley's, Inc. JD-71-82
(calling up Ee's new E and discrediting Ee after Ee had filed charges with Bd, violative)

5036-6788 Denial of paid vacation

Lincoln Hills Nursing Home, Inc.; et al. 257 NLRB No. 148
(where vacation eligibility was computed upon one year's actual work rather then tenure of employment, E did not discriminatee against reinstated strikers when it denied them eligibility for vacations after substracting strike time from their employment records; moreover, finding of disparate treatment not warranted notwithstanding E sometimes allowed time lost due to sickness to be counted toward vacation eligibility)

Climate Control Corporation 251 NLRB No. 102
(denying vacation benefits in retaliation for U activity, instigation of ULP charge, and providing evidence to Bd, violative)

Transitank Car Corporation JD-(ATL)-8-82
(denial of promised vacation in reprisal for participation in U campaign, unlawful)

5036-6789 Reduction in work or hours

United Supermarkets, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 179
(E's reduction of Ee's working hours, unlawful, where E had knowledge of Ee's strong U activities; contrary to longer hours worked by other Ees in same job category, Ee was singled out for reduction because of his support of U)

7 Up Bottling Company 261 NLRB No. 128
(directive that Ee work strict 40-hour week, i.e. w/o overtime, issued in part because of Ee's mention of possibility of complaining to OSHA, violative of 8(a)(1))

American Interstate Freight Lines 258 NLRB No. 131
(refusing assignment of work to Ee on many occassion becacse he went to U concerning his employment complaints, including contract provision that called for guaranteed work week, violative)

K & E Bus Lines, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 137
(reducing Ees' assignments which resulted in diminished earnings for Ees, unlawful)

Dick Seidler Enterprises, d/b/a Joe & Dodie's Tavern 254 NLRB No. 048
(reducing number of hours Ees were scheduled to work because they had too much idle time for hostility, i.e., in which to vent their differences over U, violative; fact the Ees had idle time was directly related to E's earlier decision to hire additional Ees to offset influence of U sympathizers and to lend support to Ees opposed to U representation)

Berger Transfer and Storage, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 082
(E violated Act where rehired striker changed from guaranteed 40 hours week and placed on seniority list which caused him to work less than 40 hours)

Behring International, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 085
(E unlawfully deliberately reduced work available to its warehouse Ees in preelection period by diverting freight and using contract labor in order to discourage Ees from supporting U)

Dick Seidler Enterprises, d/b/a Joe & Dodie's Tavern JD-(SF)-239-80
(knowingly creating situation where E had Ees with idle time, and subsequently reducing work hours, unlawful where done out of antipathy toward U supporters)

5036-6790 Denial of or change in insurance coverage

Texaco, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 170
(coercion of Ees to refrain from declaring their position on strike by terminating their sick leave benefits while they were medically excused from work, unlawful)

Richland Co. & Assoc., Division of McDonald Construction, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 026
(threat to bill and actually billing Ees for insurance premiums prior to election, unlawful, since conduct was attempt to coerce Ees into abandoning U)

J. J. Cassone Bakery, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 032
(E's preelection change in Ees' life insurance coverage held not unlawful and not interference, since E was not statutorily obligated to stay or abandon implementation of new beneficial insurance program based on sound business considerations simply because election had been scheduled to take place some 6 months in the future, and implementation of plan was not achieved until shortly before election because of administrative bungling)

5036-6791 Discrimination against supervisors

Brookline Corporation d/b/a Hi Fi Buys 257 NLRB No. 166
(finding that store manager was supervisor sufficient to support dismissal of portion of complaint relating to her discharge)

Comfort Health Corporation d/b/c Kendallville Nursing Home JD-329-80
(discharge of supervisor solely for that supervisor's own U activities does not contravene...Act)

The Berry Schools v. N.L.R.B. 653 F.2d 966 (C.A. 5, Oct. 1980)
(demotion of college department chairman from supervisory status allegedly for organizational activity held not ULP where Ee was unprotected by Act as supervisor)

5036-6792 Requiring sick leave authorization

Roma Baking Company 263 NLRB No. 004
(statement that Ees would have to go to baker's school if U came in violative as threat of reprisal as it reasonably creates impression that more stringent qualifications would be imposed for job retention)

South Nassau Communities Hospital 262 NLRB No. 146
(E's requiring U activist to produce doctor's note after taking a day of sick leave, unlawful, where Ees not involved in U activity had been orally counseled about absenteeism and given fair warning of consequences, which was not done in U activist's case; and latter was never told, throughout all the years of her employment, that E was dissatisfied with her attendance, and even her performance appraisal form indicated good attendance)

5036-6793 Change in work rules

K & E Bus Lines, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 137
(violation, where E promulgated unlawful no congregating rule in handbook)

Staats and Staats, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 108
(promulgation of new work rule and reinstating previously unenforced rule concerning Ees working conditions w/o bargaining with U, Ees' majority representative, on day discriminatees returned to work, held violative, since rules imposed additional burden on Ees and timing left little doubt that event was part of E's reponse to its Ees U activity)

Pilgrim Life Insurance Company 249 NLRB No. 140
(E's attempt to isolate U supporters by restricting movements of some Ees and relocating work station of another Ee, unlawful)

Kreton Char-Broil, Inc., d/b/a Coram Pond Diner 248 NLRB No. 182
(violation, where E changed its lenient work rules to forbid Ees who were demanding improved terms of employment to talk to customers or other Ees)

Tartan Marine Company 247 NLRB No. 073
(warning Ees against talking while working, not violative, since working time is for work and particularly since warnings not a policy initiated during U's campaign)

Mother Federal Credit Union JD-(SF)-8-80
(disparately enforcing work rule only against Ees engaged in U activity)

5036-6796 Change in loan policy

St. Francis Hospital 249 NLRB No. 017

5036-6798 Change in lunch and/or break period practices

Larsen Supply Co., Inc. 251 NLRB No. 175
(E violated Act where prior to election which U won, Ees were allowed to take their lunch breaks whenevers it was convivient but afterwards required them to take it at specified time in retaliation for U vote and w/o E bargaining with U)

Battery Bill, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 030

Conagra, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 068
(threat to eliminate bathroom breaks in bargaining if U came in, unlawful)

5036-7800 Affirmative defenses to charges of changes in conditions of employment

5036-7500—Cont.

C. R. Adams Trucking, Inc., and Michael Cates 262 NLRB No. 067
(discharging Ees for not complying with E's request that they falsify U membership applications by stating that they are in dependent contractors, so E would not have to pay to U health and welfare benefit payments, violative)

5036-7525 Business management considerations

Operating Engineers and Participating Employers Pre-Apprentice, Apprentice and Journeymen Affirmative Action Training Fund For Hawaii and Operating Engineers Joint Apprenticeship Committee For Hawaii 265 NLRB No. 131
(discharge of Ees of U apprentice training fund lawful, where made in interest of efficiency of operation in accord with staffing study and not motivated by attempts of these Ees to obtain enforcement of manning ratios in apprentice program they administered; and where decision to discharge was not made by or influenced by individual who had made unlawful threat of discharge to these Ees for cooperating with government agencies against him)

Rose's Stores, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 076
(unprecedented mass discharge of five Ees, who protested Sunday work assignment, assertedly because of their bad attitude held violative, where assertion was not real reason for discharge and E's unexplained failure to warn those five long-term Ees that they were in danger of discharge did not represent E's normal pattern of operations)

Maine Apple Growers, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 060
(delaying recall, after election, of seasonal apple packers, who had requested raise in wages and had directed grievance letter to E's board of directors, assertedly because they were responsible for low production held violative where E's business justification for its action had not been established; E's unlawful statement to Ees that agitation had to cease coupled with its unexplained deviation from its normal method of disciplining overly talkative Ees established E's unlawful motive)

S. L. Industries Inc. and Extruded Products, Corp. 252 NLRB No. 151
(requiring discriminatees entitled to reinstatement to be interviewed before they were allowed to return to work held violative where such requirement had no legitimate business justification)

Amber Delivery Service, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 016
(institution of changes in methods of operation designed to change Ees' status to that of independent contractors, violative)

J. N. Moser Trucking, Incorporated 249 NLRB No. 106
(E's defense that reason for discharge of Ee truckdriver was Ee's damaging engine rejected, notwithstanding fact that damage gave E cause to discharge Ee, since real reason for discharge was Ee's refusal to assist E in defeating claims made by Wage and Hour Division of U.S. Department of Labor)

Flair Molded Plastics, Inc. JD-8-82
(increasing throughput by speeding up machines not violative where for economic reasons and absence of discriminatory motive)

Aero Warehouse, Inc. JD-(NY)-48-81
(layoff which coincided with U's demand for recognition and also with notification that E would not receive anticipated contract, not unlawful, in view of absence of U animus, notice of impending layoff to Ees prior to advent of U, and E's dire economic situation)

Aztec Manufacturing Company JD-(SF)-92-80
(E's elimination of shift and resultant termination of all shift Ees not violative, notwithstanding timing and abruptness of action, where E's decision was motivated by substantial business reasons and prior to any knowledge of Ees' organizational meeting of previous night)

Soule Glass and Glazing Co., et al. v. N.L.R.B. 652 F.2d 1055 (C.A. 1, May 1981)
(elements of Section 8(a)(1) violation are determined by reference to objective test; it is not necessary to show that particular Ees actually felt coerced, or that E intended to produce impermissible effect; rather only need show that E's actions would tend to coerce reasonable Ee; however, E can defend on grounds of business justification and then there is violation only when Sec. 7 rights outweighs business justification for E's actions)

Soule Glass and Glazing Co., et al. v. N.L.R.B. 652 F.2d 1055 (C.A. 1, May 1981)
(E may lawfully treat differently U and non-U Ees in different bargaining units, where legitimate business justification is shown for such action, and absent bad faith or anti-U motive)

Midwest Stock Exchange, Inc., et al. v. N.L.R.B. 636 F.2d 1255 (C.A. 7, 1980)
(ct held contrary to Bd that change in sick leave policy shortly after U victory in representation election was not unlawful, since timing alone did not justify conclusion that change was discriminatory, and record showed E's economic reason was to make department's policies on sick leave uniform with those of other departments)

5036-7550 Good-faith belief that employee misconduct justified change

Jacques Syl Knitwear, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 191
(discharge of and refusal to reinstate strikers for allegedly violently assaulting fellow Ee during strike, not lawful, where Ee alleged to have been assaulted had swung her pocketbook at strikers and in fact assault as alleged had not taken place; notwithstanding dischargees found guilty of alleged assault in municipal ct)

5036-7550-3000 May be defense

Good Samaritan Hospital & Health Center 265 NLRB No. 092
(discharge of two occupational therapists by coordinator of agency providing developmental therapy for learning disabled children, because therapists complained of coordinator's mismanagement of program and inappropriate treatment model to be used by agency held not violative, since therapists were in no way disturbed or troubled by any personal demands imposed on them by coordinator's policy decisions; welfare of children was therapists' concern; therapists criticisms and recommendations related to disputes outside objectives of mutual aid or protection provisions of NLRA)

K & K Transportation Corp., Inc. 262 NLRB No. 182
(failure to reinstate ULP strikers husband and wife not violative, where E had sufficient basis to believe they had sabotaged E's trailer-truck causing serious damage to equipment and endangering safety of other motorists, and GC failed to prove that strikers were not in fact guilty of alleged misconduct; fact that misconduct occurred miles away from E's facility was apparently result of premeditated conduct engaged in far from picket line)

N.L.R.B. v. Fixtures Manufacturing Corporation 669 F.2d 547 (C.A. 8, Jan. 1982)
(ct rejects Bd's theory that Ee's wrongdoing, however serious, is automatically immunized from results of polygraph test given for impermissible reason, i.e., Ee was ordered to take test on day E received written report of his U activity)

Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 664 F.2d 1095 (C.A. 8, Nov. 1981)
(make whole relief, including back pay and reinstatement, improper where Ees were discharged for admittedly stealing goods from E and not for requesting U assistance at investigatory interview; Section 10(c) of Act, precludes back pay order and reinstatement under such circumstances)

5036-7550-5000 No defense if activity protected

Maryland Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co. 256 NLRB No. 069
(suspension of Ee for failing to complete sufficient portion of painting assignment, unlawful, since really for complaining about safety rules in bargaining contract with regard to working in remote areas and time spent on Ee's complaint was significant factor in E's decision to suspend Ee)

5036-7550-6700 No defense if conduct did not in fact occur

General Telephone Company of Michigan 251 NLRB No. 099
(E's disciplining Ees for alleged misconduct during strike, violative, where E failed to detail in record activity for which each striker was accused; E's honest belief that misconduct had occurred required some specifity in record linking particular Ees to particular allegations of misconduct in order to satisfy E's burden of proof)

Roadway Express, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 061
(where some Ees had engaged in unauthorized work stoppage and U steward returned to E's facility after leaving work at end of his regular work day, E's discharging steward for purportedly participating in unauthorized work stoppage held violative notwithstanding E's assumed good-faith belief that steward had participated in work stoppage upon returning to facility; Ee, in his capacity as U steward,was engaged in efforts to end work stoppage when he was discharged)

Babcock & Wilcox Co. 249 NLRB No. 099
(discharge of U president because of E's erroneous belief that, while engaged in protected activities associated with his office of U president, he had instigated wildcat strike and promoted it w/i U, unlawful; in view of such finding and since remedy would be same, Bd found it unnecessary to decide whether or not E also violated 8(a)(3))

5036-8300 Threats of changes in conditions of employment

Marine Optical, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 158
(advising Ees, prior to transferring operations to new location, that E would not recognize U or apply existing contract at new location, and that wages, hours, and benefits at new location would be different from those in effect at old location, unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. United Optical Workers Union Local 408, Electrical Workers (Marine Optical, Inc.) 671 F.2d 11 (C.A. 1, Feb. 1982)
(E's statements to Ees which made it clear that the U contract would end upon relocation of operations and that E intended to change conditions of employment held violative, where statements, following E's withdrawal of recognition from and refusal to bargain with U, could reasonably be interpreted by Ees as a message that U membership would be futile)

N.L.R.B. v. Chatfield-Anderson Co., Inc., dba Truss-Span Co. 606 F.2d 266 (C.A. 9, 1979)
(notwithstanding ct affirming Bd's finding of violations, ct stated that threats were generally mild and company issued disclaimers which tended to dissipate coercive impact; furthermore, statements made by low-level supervisors are more likely to express individual views and less likely to influence Ee's decision than statements by high-level officials which bears the imprint of company policy)

5036-8301 Generally

Parker-Robb Chevrolet, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 058
(although discharge of supervisor may be lawful, E's use of such discharge to threaten Ees may constitute 8(a)(1) violation on basis of such threat)

Magnolia Manor Nursing Home, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 040
(in finding 8(a)(1) violations, ALJ considered fact that E's statements were part of overall pattern of conduct aimed at coercing Ees in exercise of their statutory rights and that E had the power to hire and fire Ees; moreover, E never gave assurances against reprisal and, in some cases, did make threats of reprisal)

TRW, Incorporated v. N.L.R.B. 654 F.2d 307 (C.A. 5, 1981)
(supervisor's statements to Ee that we ain't going to negotiate with U and that he was better U ouster than another management Ee are abrasive and hostile but do not rise to level of threats or reprisal against Ee for engaging in U activities, but were mere puffing boasts and expressions of opinion)

Seligman and Associates, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 639 F.2d 307 (C.A. 6, 1981)
(Bd's finding of supervisor's unlawful threats to Ees supported by substantial evidence; it is irrelevant that supervisor was friendly with Ees she spoke to and that she eventually married one of them)

N.L.R.B. v. Franklin Property Company, Inc., d/b/a The Hilton Inn 617 F.2d 447 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(ct enforced Bd order where there was substantial evidence to support findings that E coercively interrogated and threatened Ees)

N.L.R.B. v. Gold Standard Enterprises, Inc., et al. 679 F.2d 673 (C.A. 7, May 1982)
(threatening Ees with retaliation for engaging in concerted activities, violative even if Ees have not attempted or even contemplated exercising their Section 7 rights)

5036-8302 Nonspecific threat of reprisal

Allied Industrial Workers of America, AFL-CIO, Region 8 265 NLRB No. 077
(statement by regional director of E, a U, to one of its regional representatives that he would retaliate against the regional representatives for getting together against him and filing joint grievance unlawful, since statement was likely to convey to the regional representative to whom it was made, one of the grievance participants, threat as to such protected activity)

Daniel Construction Company, A Division of Daniel International Corporation 264 NLRB No. 079
(foreman's remarking to Ees that it would be to our best interest that we would not get a U--and we should try to get our signed U card back--- held violative, since Ees would reasonably have had tendency to cause them to consider possible perils of not attempting to retrieve U cards)

Economy Fire and Casualty Co. 264 NLRB No. 003
(statement that no one knows what will happen because there's never been a union in E's offices before in response to question whether E will move if U wins held thinly veiled threat of retaliation even though it was qualified by statement that it would not be in E's best interest to move)

St. Francis Hospital 263 NLRB No. 109
(supervisor saying, in response to Ee's refusal to talk to supervisor because Ee was too busy when requested, okay just wait until you want to talk to me about something, held not violative, since statement, standing alone was too nebulous to constitute unlawful threat of reprisal; no evidence linking supervisor's statement to any job action supervisor might take against Ee)

Atlas Railroad Construction Co. 262 NLRB No. 186
(E official's statement to U steward during argument about show up pay that U steward thought he had power because they were on coal mine job but that he, E official, would show him who had the power, violative since statement was threat of reprisals against U steward for demanding that E comply with terms of bargaining agreement)

Granite City Journal, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 140
(E official's anti-U statements to Ee, stating he knew where Ee was vis-a-vis U, accusing Us of having outlived their purpose and being communistic, and implying that he was fearful of losing his job and that he would do whatever was necessary to save his career, while accusing Ee of participating in conduct which was ruining his life, not unlawful, since official's assumption that he knew where Ee stood in regard to U was more rhetorical than informational as alleged, and there was no threat of unspecified reprisals)

Carruthers Ready Mix, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 090
(suggesting to striker on first day of strike in presence of other striking Ees that U supporters would not be tolerated at E's plant, unlawful)

Onan, a Division of One Corporation 261 NLRB No. 187
(where supervisor asked why Ee wore U cap and Ee replied it was to keep the sun off, supervisor's statement that that had better be the only reason constituted unlawful threat of unspecified reprisal)

Sterling Sugars, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 071
(threatening Ee with unspecified reprisals and discharge if he testified against E, violative since it was clear attempt to interfere with Bd's processes)

G.T.A. Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Restaurant Horikawa 260 NLRB No. 029
(E's statement to U adherent that he had means of getting even violative)

Quick Find Co. 259 NLRB No. 144
(asking non-unit Ee well, what can they do now? held unlawful threat in context, as it followed Ee's statement that her husband, found supervisor herein, would be subject to discharge if they abandoned U)

Caffe Giovanni, Inc. d/b/a Giovanni's 259 NLRB No. 031
(threatening reprisals against Mexicans because of their support for U, unlawful, where Ee's testimony to that effect was credited and, other than a denial, E offered no explanation for its conduct)

Caffe Giovanni, Inc. d/b/a Giovanni's 259 NLRB No. 031
(E's interrogation of Ee as to his U activities, accompanied by threats of unspecified harm if U won election, unlawful, where, although Ee may have taken E's remarks in jest, she was quite sincere, meant what she said, and understood seriousness of her remarks)

Arnold Ready Mix Corporation 259 NLRB No. 026
(violation where E threatened Ees with reprisals, including bad work assignment and bad references because they filed grievances protesting E's use of relatives while other U members were on layoff)

Saint Luke's Hospital 258 NLRB No. 045
(department head's calling Ees to office, warning them to think twice about what they were getting into before getting involved with U because E would never recognize U, held unlawful threat of reprisal and futility of organizing efforts, notwithstanding personal and friendly nature of conversation)

Brockwood Furniture, Division of U.S. Industries 258 NLRB No. 028
(statements to Ees that they would get in trouble by supporting U and by being on U organizing committee, that leadman could not afford to vote for U, and that Ee seeking higher wages for another Ee should change his negative attitude held interference and violative of 8(a)(1))

Thurston Motor Lines, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 171
(after Bd agent announced that U had won election, E's statement, You all lied to me. You all will take it as the chips fall held thinly veiled threat of reprisal)

Clements Wire & Manufacturing Company, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 075
(telling Ees if U came in a lot would be taken away from them, violative)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours & Company, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 033
(telling Ee to lay low on U matters since he had been written up for unsatisfactory performance, violative, where such statement constituted threat of unspecified reprisals)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours & Company, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 033
(telling U adherent that he was discussed at meeting of supervisors and considered threat because of his U activities and his filing workmen's compensation claim, violative)

Harrison Steel Castings Company 262 NLRB No. 059
(in response to inquiry of Ee as to what Ees who had change of heart about U should do, president of E said they should remove their U insignias and turn it into their supervisors, violative, since suggestion by president plainly implied that those wearing U buttons had cause for alarm)

Magnesium Casting Company, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 137
(threat that Ee should look after his job because he had a family, unlawful, in view of E's statement that U should not get in for betterment of Company)

Hall of Mississippi, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 119
(remarks that Ees were making big mistake in supporting U and were going to learn hard way, violative)

Han-Dee Pak, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 107
(threatening trouble to Ees who signed U cards, violative)

Capriccio's Restaurant, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 100
(E unlawfully threatened Ees with reprisals for engaging in U activities by telling them that, after it made telephone call out-of-town, it would make everybody involved with U disappear)

Lyman Steel Company 249 NLRB No. 040
(pressing Ee to sign statement that he had received U authorization card from U advocate during working hours, violative, since activity, in anti-U context, suggested E planned reprisals for Ees who supported petitioner)

St. Francis Hospital 249 NLRB No. 017
(statement that Ee would be punished to the maximum if she was ever caught with U materials violative)

Permanent Label Corporation 248 NLRB No. 021
(threats of discipline directed toward 3 most active U supporters during meeting of supervisors violative where E had contrived, flimsy basis for believing Ees to be supervisors)

International Medication Systems, Ltd. 247 NLRB No. 190
(remark What if you get put in jail? to Ee who had executed affidavits relating to investigation and trial of Bd proceeding, unlawful, where, in context in which it was said, it may reasonably be construed as threat of reprisal for being involved with U)

Mid-East Consolidation Warehouse, A Division of Ethan Allen, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 090
(suggestion to Ee that he should try to talk Ees out of supporting U and that last time this happened about the union, you know, the company wouldn't put up with that constituted threat that company would retaliate against Ees for their U activities)

J. P. Stevens and Company, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 044
(statement to Ee that Ees would have to go on strike to get U in at plant, unlawful as threat of reprisal, since statement was not based on objective fact and was obviously injected to raise fears of reprisal)

Frederick's Foodland, Inc. d/b/a Bucyrus Foodland
North and Bucyrus Foodland South 247 NLRB No. 038
(unlawful threat of disparate treatment by statement to U adherent that if he were caught sitting or laughing in back room, you're dead)

Cities Plant JD-57-81
(threatening Ees with discipline and reprisals for filing grievances, unlawful)

American Interstate Freight Lines JD-117-81
(warning Ee with reprisal if he sought Us help, violative)

Convenience Store Distributing Company, a Partnership of Marsh Supermarkets, Inc. and King Kwix Minit Market, Inc. JD-745-80
(informing Ee that only bad people needed Us violative, since statement could reasonably cause Ee to believe that E was threatening some sort of disciplinary action against such bad Ees who supported U)

Lucky Lion Edgewater, Inc. d/b/a Lucky Lion JD-(SF)-348-80
(E's failure to produce documentation, solely w/i its control, to support claim of its financial difficulties, required drawing of adverse inference; accordingly, supervisor's statements, regarding impact of successful organizing campaign upon Ees, were not shown to be related to economic necessities and were not reasonable predictions but threats of retaliation)

5036-8302—Cont.

U. S. Postal Service JD-(SF)-242-80

(supervisor held not to have threatened to retaliate against Ee because of U steward's insistence on investigating incident involving supervisor and Ee, or to have retaliated against attempts of U steward to investigate incident by issuing Ee a letter of warning, where Ee engaged in conduct which E reasonably viewed as insubordinate and supervisor immediately reported incident to his superiors at which time decision was made to discipline Ee, and such decision was reached several hours prior to steward's arrival at the scene)

Paschke Packing Company JD-(NY)-33-80

(interrogation of Ee as to why he had filed ULP charges against E and threats to make it rough for him, unlawful)

Giuliem Apparel Corp. JD-162-80

Garden State Motors Co. JD-160-80

Roadway Express, Inc. JD-868-79

(no violation by E's statement that disciplinary action would result from senior Ee's refusal to carry out assignment because of availability of junior men when he was told that assignment was according to past practice and that grievance procedures were available for his protests)

E. W. Saybolt & Company, Inc. JD-06-80

(E's statement upon being told that Ee had been subpoenaed to testify in this proceeding that he was sure Ee would do the right thing held not to constitute threat of reprisal for testifying in Bd proceeding)

N.L.R.B. v. Permanent Label Corporation 657 F.2d 512 (C.A. 3, 1981)

(advising non-supervisory Ees it was unlawful for them to engage in U activities since they were considered to be supervisors and E had right to take action against them if they engaged in U activity)

Standard-Coosa-Thatcher Carpet Yarn Division, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 691 F.2d 1133 (C.A. 4, Sept. 20, 1982)

(when U adherent told E that U would challenge results of election in ct and E replied, you are getting in deeper and deeper, it violated Act, as such conduct is calculated to make Ee fearful of E's reaction to her U activity)

J. P. Stevens & Co., Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 638 F.2d 676 (C.A. 4, 1980)

(ct deferred to Bd's expertise in finding posted notice stating that signing U card can have serious consequences unlawfully coercive especially in context of E's history of misconduct; moreover, notice was posted only day after known U activist disappeared from plant)

Rock Hill Telephone Company v. N.L.R.B. 605 F.2d 139 (C.A. 4, 1979)

Berman's, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 676 F.2d 1138 (C.A. 6, May 1982)

(threatening Ees with discipline for wearing T-shirts with slogan I'm tired of bustin' my ass not violative, since no evidence supported Bd's finding that wearing of T-shirt constituted exercise of any right protected under NLRA)

N.L.R.B. v. Fisher Cheese Company 642 F.2d 452(T) (C.A. 6, Dec 29, 1980)

(ct denied enforcement of Bd's order finding that certain statements made by E during U organizing campaign constituted veiled threat of economic retaliation, since law of this circuit is clearly contrary to that relied upon by Bd as authority to issue order)

Red Oaks Nursing Home, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 633 F.2d 503 (C.A. 7, 1980)

(personnel director's telling Ee that if Union came in he was going to make it hard for you girls, violative)

5036-8303 Discipline or warnings thereof

The Exchange Bank 264 NLRB No. 111

(E telling Ee that at least 10 people had told him that he had gotten all this started, and that she was trouble maker and instigator in bookkeeping department, and it can't be allowed to go on and then asking her why she wouldn't tear up pin and telling her he would do whatever was necessary to see that bank ran smoothly, violative)

Vincent Brass & Aluminum Co. 264 NLRB No. 070

(E's superintendent informing U steward that he was tired of all the grievances and nit picking and threatening to start writing Ees up for overstaying breaks or lunch period, unlawful)

U. S. Electrical Motors, A Division of Emerson Electric Co. 261 NLRB No. 184

(threat to discipline U adherent if any additional Ee complaints were received regarding U adherent's U solicitations, unlawful in that it conditioned U adherent's protected activity on receptiveness of his fellow Ees)

M K Laboratories, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 021

(refusing to permit Ees to attend unemployment compensation hearing involving fellow Ee and threatening them with discipline if they took time off, unlawful where there was no record evidence that E did in fact have legitimate business reason for denying Ees' request to attend the hearing, as contended)

Saint Luke's Hospital 238 NLRB No. 048

(asking Ee what he thought about U organizing efforts of health care Ees, how he felt about U, and warning Ee that he would have to take responsibility if he honored picket line during anticipated strike held unlawful threat of disciplinary action)

(approaching number of Ees of Mexican descent concerning possibility that they might be reported to Immigration Service should U be successful, violative)

5036-8308 Blacklist

Alpha Cellulose Corporation 265 NLRB No. 010

(statements in E's letters to Ees that they would be unable to find employment with area employers after being replaced in strike held not predictions of consequences of unionization, but unlawful, where statements were not-so-subtle threat that Ees who engaged in protected activities would be blacklisted by E and would, for discriminatory reasons, be denied employment by other Es, since E's letters made no mention of unemployment in area nor spoke to general problems of unemployed persons gaining employment and, instead, suggested that replaced striker would not be hired by other Ees, thereby impressing upon Ees folly and futility of electing U)

Alpha Cellulose Corporation 265 NLRB No. 010

(unlike cases in which evidence was insufficient to establish that E remarks about Ees finding other employment after being replaced in strike constituted threats to blacklist Ees on account of their protected activities, E's statements herein, when viewed in overall context and E's strong anti-U message, and coupled with its threats of permanent replacement, constituted unlawful implied threat to blacklist Ees for their protected activities)

Larid Printing, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 040

(informing Ee he was making big mistake in bringing U in, if U came in and shop closed down Ee was going to have bad name in industry, and if U came in E would have to get very technical, and everything would have to be done by book, unlawful)

Valley Plaza, Inc. d/b/a Captain Nemo's 258 NLRB No. 076

N.L.R.B. v. Lloyd Wood Coal Co., Inc. 585 F.2d 752 (C.A. 5)
(informing Ee that if plant closed when U came in, E would have difficulty in getting another job with non-U E, violative)

5036-8310 Denial of reemployment or reinstatement

Brunswick Hospital Center, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 112
(threat made by E to guard that two striking nurses were troublemakers and no matter what outcome of strike would be, they would not be employed again by E held violative, notwithstanding threat was made to guard not member of unit of nurses; guards not supervisors as defined in Act and customary exclusionary language in Act does not presume guards are supervisors; both guards and nurses had Ee status, therefore threat was coercive)

Admiral Merchants Motor Freight, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 016
(supervisor's threat not to recall Ee unless he waived his contractual benefits, unlawful)

Atlas Railroad Construction Co. 262 NLRB No. 156
(telling Ee that E would not hire other Ee because of his actions while serving as U steward on previous job, violative)

Carruthers Ready Mix, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 090
(threatening Ee that he would not be recalled because of his participation in strike, unlawful notwithstanding remark was not alleged as violation and alleged speaker denied making it, since issue was fully litigated, and speaker's testimony was not credited)

(statement that E would not hire anyone who had worked at unionized store constituted unlawful threat)

Edward A. Utlaut Foundation, Inc. d/b/a Edward A. Utlaut Memorial Hospital and Fair Oaks Nursing Home 249 NLRB No. 162
(violation and interference where E misstated law on strikers' rights by declaring that it had no duty to rehire Ees who were replaced during strike and thus threatened Ees with future permanent loss of employment if they engaged in economic strike)

Butterfield Homes, Inc. JD-(SF)-101-82
(telling Ee that an applicant had been denied employment because of his past activities on behalf of a U, violative)

Vinci Investment Co., d/b/a Pacific Honda JD-(SF)-56-81
(telling applicants that they would not be hired if they supported U, violative)

U. S. Oil & Refining Company JD-(SF)-116-80
(no violation by informing U president that U's interpretation of seniority provisions of bargaining agreement would have adverse effect on summer employment for sons and daughters of E's Ees)

5036-8311 Suspension

Inland Steel Company 264 NLRB No. 015
(E's discharge of Ee for refusal to cross picket line at E's premises resulting from strike against contractor performing work there and whose Ees were represented by local U other than local representing E's Ees, violative, notwithstanding no-strike provision in agreement between E and U, since agreement did not encompass sympathy strikes; right to participate in sympathy strike not otherwise waived, and picketing not in violation of Section 8(b)(4))

Huck Manufacturing Company 264 NLRB No. 088
(where E in discussion with Ee originally stated that he could permanently replace all striking Ees and then retracted statement and stated correctly that striking Ees would be eligible for reinstatement as their replacements left his employ did not violate Act as his explanation was not in error nor coercive)

Intermountain Rural Electric Association 253 NLRB No. 164
(manager's remark to U adherent that he had been thinking of suspending her and that she would probably be fired if she failed to report for work despite having doctor's note to take leave, violative, since remark was motivated by adherent's U activities)

Weyerhaeuser Company 251 NLRB No. 097
(comment to Ee in reference to his giving advice to fellow Ee concerning U and wage claim which was coupled with reference to suspended Ee, violative, where it could reasonably be construed as threat of suspension)

Good Samaritan Nursing Home, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 030
(violation where supervisor informed Ee that she could either talk to him w/o another Ee being present as witness at Ee interview, or consider herself suspended)

Consolidated Edison Company of New York, Inc. JD-(NY)-70-82
(threatening suspension if two Ees exercised their right to file grievances under contract, not unlawful, where Ees had in past utilized grievance machinery in bad faith to harass E and supplant their own terms and conditions of employment for those established through bargaining process)

The Gilbert and Bennett Mfg. Co. JD-578-80
(suspension and discharge of Ee because of his complaints to E directly and through U about not receiving his overtime backpay under arbitrator's award violative)

5036-8312 Discharge or layoff

Belcher Towing Company 265 NLRB No. 159
(supervisor's threat that E could find reason to fire an Ee, if it wanted to, made in response to Ee's statement that if E thought Ee was U plant they say you could get fired, unlawful)

Belcher Towing Company 265 NLRB No. 159
(supervisor's threat to Ee that one of the few ways to save his job was to apologize to E for signing U card and to promise to vote for company, unlawful)

Belcher Towing Company 265 NLRB No. 159
(supervisor's threat to Ee that, if E wanted to, it could find reason to fire Ee because he had signed U card, unlawful)

Fuqua Continental Corp.; Elite Services, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 165
(E's soliciting and directing Ee to sign card for favored U, and threatening him with discharge if he refused to do so and with reprisals if he supported rival U, unlawful)

Howard and Roberta Feldman Corporation d/b/a L. A. Baker Electric 265 NLRB No. 203
(E's conduct held unlawful where, during conversation with Ee-U adherent, E implicitly threatened Ee with discharge by making thinly veiled allusions to discharge on previous day of another U protagonist and then stating that E didn't want any trouble in the shop and that if Ee thought he could do better that he could go elsewhere; such invitation to quit is coercive and threatening because it conveys to Ees clear message that support for U and continued employment are not compatible)

Howard and Roberta Feldman Corporation d/b/a L. A. Baker Electric 265 NLRB No. 203
(contention that E threatened Ee with discharge if he caused any trouble in shop because of his participation in pro-U conversations, rejected, since E's conversational references to possible trouble cannot be considered threats of discharge)

Elias Mallouk Realty Corp. 265 NLRB No. 156
(E asserting it was not able to meet U's wage demands, that it had overbundance of personnel and warning Ees against supporting incumbent U held veiled and implied threat of discharge and economic reprisal; and no less effective because implied)

Allied Industrial Workers of America, AFL-CIO, Region 8 265 NLRB No. 077
(statement by regional director of E, a U, to one of its regional representatives that another regional representative should keep his nose out of office clericals strike or he would be fired, unlawful, since at least regional representative to whom statement was made was restrained or coerced as to such protected conduct)

Allied Industrial Workers of America, AFL-CIO, Region 8 265 NLRB No. 077
(threat by regional director of E, a U, to discharge regional representative for entering regional office w/o permission, not unlawful where prohibiting regional representative from entering w/o permission was found not unlawful herein)

Allied Industrial Workers of America, AFL-CIO, Region 8 265 NLRB No. 077
(threat by regional director of E, a U, to discharge U regional representative for filing charges against him, not unlawful since regional director referred, not to filing of ULP charges with Bd, but to filing of internal charges with E to cause impeachment of regional director, which, as Ee activities to cause change in management, were unprotected)

Dunn Chevrolet, Inc. d/b/a All Star Chevrolet 265 NLRB No. 005
(E's threat to newly hired Ee that he could not work for E because of his past involvement in U activities in his former employ, unlawful)

Gayston Corporation 265 NLRB No. 001
(threatening discharge of Ee because of Ee's seeking assistance of OSHA, unlawful)

London Chop House, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 083
(threat to discharge, and discharge of bargaining committee member for distributing document informing fellow Ees, w/o authorization from committee, U, or E, about health care and other issues contained in proposed contract subject to Ee ratification, unlawful, since Act's protection is not lost because Ee opposed U while holding official position in U; Ee, who believed that distribution would result in rejection of contract, engaged in protected activity of opposing U which was concerted even though E acted alone; and fact that E initially supported, but later opposed, ratification is irrelevant and was not ethically and morally reprehensible)

Interior Alterations, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 093
(threatening to discharge Ees for protesting assignment of contractual unit work to nonunit Ees and for seeking to implement terms of contract, violative)

House of Cycle, Inc., t/a Kay Motors 264 NLRB No. 137

(E's superintendent threatening to layoff whole shift because of exercise of their contractual right to bid on jobs, unlawful)

Admiral Merchants Motor Freight, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 012
(imposing on Ees, as condition of continued employment, their repudiation of certain contract wage benefits and enforcing that condition first with threatened employment loss and then layoff, violative)

Airport Parking Management 264 NLRB No. 002
(threat to discharge Ees if they went on strike, unlawful)

Cardio Data Systems Corp. 264 NLRB No. 011
(threat to discharge Ee if she continued her solicitation in favor of U on her own time on/or off company premises, unlawful, where E told Ee not to report for work 20 or 30 minutes early and not to be seen in E's parking lot, nor to leave late after quiting work)

Economy Fire and Casualty Co. 264 NLRB No. 003
(telling Ees that Ees who signed U cards could lose their jobs if U did not come in held unlawful threat notwithstanding use of word could)

Service Spring Company, A Division of Garlock, Inc., A Wholly-Owned Subsidiary of Colt Industries 263 NLRB No. 103
(statement made to Ee after U won election that U would cost people jobs violative as threat)

Host Services, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 086
(threat to discharge Ees if they engaged in economic strike violative)

Ram Construction Company, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 031
(E's president's suggestion to Ee, during argument, that it might be better for everyone if he would seek other employment, violative, notwithstanding fact that president's words may have been spoken in anger, since suggestion constituted implied threat of discharge for filing grievance)

L. A. Water Treatment, Division of Chromalloy American Corporation 263 NLRB No. 022
(threatening to discharge Ees if they did not withdraw decertification ptn, violative)

Granite City Journal, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 140
(E's remarks to Ees upon advent of U that only people who would continue with E were those who wished to work there, coupled with allusions to several large accounts opening up, unlawful, where remarks were neither ambiguous nor lost upon Ees who understood E's message to be that those who supported U would be terminated)

South Nassau Communities Hospital 262 NLRB No. 146
(E's remarks to Ees that U adherent was discharged for engaging in solicitation against E policy, and that E will do everything in its power to keep U out held follow-up to unlawful discharge and unlawful threat regarding any efforts Ees might engage in to seek U representation)

R. L. White Company, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 069
(strikers would be discharged)

C. R. Adams Trucking, Inc., and Michael Cates 262 NLRB No. 067

(supervisor's statement that he would always remember that Ee had U hat and T-shirt on found unlawful threat of discharge or reprisal)

United Supermarkets, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 179
(supervisor's telling U adherent that we fired your friend, that even U supporters would be expected to toe the line, that supervisor knew discharged Ee had been attending U meetings as well as talking to other Ees, and that you can see what happened to her held unlawful thinly veiled threat that same would happen to other U adherents)

Conair Corporation 261 NLRB No. 178
(E's mailgram to ULP strikers, stating that unless they report for work by specified date, they will be deemed to have voluntarily quit their jobs, unlawful, since E thereby explicitly threatened strikers with discharge if they continued to exercise their protected concerted right to engage in strike protesting E's ULPs)

Conair Corporation 261 NLRB No. 178
(E's statement to Ees at mass meeting during organizational campaign that if E presented its wage package deal and Ees did not like it the door would be open held not implied threat of discharge; in context of E's entire speech what was meant and actually conveyed with reference to open door policy for Ee talks with E)

Conair Corporation 261 NLRB No. 178
(letter sent to all Ees engaged in ULP strike, which rescinded prior mailgram unlawfully threatening Ees with discharge for continuing strike, unlawful, since letter constituted express or implied threat of discharge where it offered reinstatement to strikers' former jobs, or substantially equivalent positions if they unconditionally accepted E's offer to return to work then and there, and E considered Ees who did not return to work as having quit; rescission of mailgram was ineffective since letter herein posed same threat)

Conair Corporation 261 NLRB No. 178
(E's letter to ULP striker, advising that E had notified insurance company carrying Ee's medical and life insurance policies that Ee was no longer working for Ee, which resulted in insurance company's notice to Ee that his insurance coverage was terminated because he had left job, unlawful, since, in view of E's unlawful conduct, including numerous oral and written threats of discharge, letter constituted implied threat of discharge)

Conair Corporation 261 NLRB No. 178
(signs posted by E outside plant during ULP strike informing public and Ees that Ees were not on strike, unlawful, since signs constituted implied threat of discharge, in view of E's numerous threats of plant closure and discharge; moreover, signs also warned nonstriking Ees that no valid strike existed and that they had better continue working on penalty of losing their jobs; and E's admission that it knew statement on signs was false reinforces conclusion herein)

Conair Corporation 261 NLRB No. 178
(threats by E to close business and discharge or lay off Ees because of U activity are most egregious form of interference with free exercise of Ee rights)

Marion Rohr Corporation 261 NLRB No. 138
(E warning Ee of prospect of layoffs and plant shutdown by citing another E as example and necessary linkage and causation between unionization and E going out of business)

5036-8312—Cont.

Marion Rohr Corporation 261 NLRB No. 138
(telling Ees that if U came in there would be layoffs caused by U-imposed rigid classifications of employment operations, not unlawful, because it pertains to possible action by U rather than E)

Marion Rohr Corporation 261 NLRB No. 138
(telling Ees that those who signed cards would not be fired, but that card distributors would be fired eventually, violative)

Heads and Threads Company, a Division of MSL Industries, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 115
(supervisor's statement to Ee that latter was trying to get U in was not unlawful creation of impression of surveillance, but was unlawful threat of discharge when statement was completed with reminder of what happened after last attempt to get U in)

(threatening to discharge Ees in retaliation for their pro-U activities, unlawful)

Calvin D. Johnson Nursing Home 261 NLRB No. 044
(supervisor's statement that other Ees had been discharged for making complaint to management about his treatment of them held implied threat of discharge if Ees should engage in such conduct which Bd has consistently held to constitute protected concerted activity)

United Technologies Corporation 260 NLRB No. 196
(threatening to discharge Ees for distributing U literature and ordering them to cease doing so while attempting to enforce unlawful distribution rule, violative)

Cooper-Jarrett, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 159
(E's abusive remarks to U steward held unlawful veiled and implied threats of discharge, where steward was singled out for criticism because of his failure to support E's proposed Ee reinvestment program; to find no violation because E did not specifically refer to steward's U activity would merely reward wrongdoer for being circumspect; while never explicitly threatening discharge, E expressed wish that steward did not work for him or that he could be fired; and such remarks, in light of later statements to Ees about ousting steward, interfered with steward's right to hold U office)

Southland Knitwear, Inc. and Metropolitan Industries, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 087
(telling Ees that they could lose their jobs if they failed to sign authorization cards for U favored by E, violative)

Gould, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 002
(before election but after U began organizing, telling Ee that if U were in plant that E would have laid her off and not transferred her held unlawful implied threat that E would make less effort to preserve employment during slack periods if Ees were represented by U)

Thermo King Corporation 247 NLRB No. 048
(baseball poster, displayed by E during election campaign, bearing slogan You only get one strike and you are out. And that's the way it is with the Union held not to constitute threat of discharge, since factual representations that when Ees engage in strike they are not receiving pay, and they are walking or out on picket line, are permitted as expressions of free speech)

Gelax Apparel Corporation 247 NLRB No. 026

Progressive Driver Service, Inc. JD-(ATL)-89-82
(where Ees had stated that if they did not get a definite answer as to how the contractual pay provisions were to be interpreted they would file federal lawsuit against E and U for failure to honor contract, E's threatening to discharge them if they continued to pursue the contract matter and did not forget the lawsuit, violative)

ITT McDonnel and Miller, A Unit of Fluid Handling Division of International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. JD-337-82
(threat of discharge and suspension of Ee when he interfered with supervisor's removal of grievances which Ee had posted on E's bulletin board, made available to U under contract, not unlawful, where Ee's conduct was unprotected because not reasonably related to enforcement of contract right nor otherwise reasonable; there was no hostility toward U, grievances, or bargaining; threat was made when Ee physically impeded supervisor from leaving bulletin board area; and supervisor's remark cannot be construed as threat to discharge Ee for exercising percieved contract right)

All-Type Welding & Boiler Repair Co., Inc. JD-(NY)-78-82
(threat of discharge designed to cause Ee to drop his protests about E's failure to pay contractually agreed upon wage increase, unlawful)

T. Marshall Corp., T/A Cliffside Health Care Center JD-(NY)-29-82
(threatening Ees with discharge for engaging in economic strike, unlawful)

Childers Manufacturing Company, Inc. JD-(SF)-11-82
(threat to discharge Ees if they engaged in protected activity of striking in support of their demand for wage increase, and their subsequent discharge for engaging in such strike, unlawful, where there was no basis for E's claim that she was unaware of purpose of strike nor her claim that Ees had announced intention to quit to work elsewhere at higher wages; Ees' announcement was part of protected activity of persuading E to grant higher wages and not an announcement of resignation as was apparent from E's action in discharging Ees, which would have been unnecessary if Ees had quit

Kimberly-Clark Corporation JD-(SF)-291-81
(threats of E's assistant superintendent to U officials and in presence of other Ees to ascertain way of getting rid of Ee who was continually filing grievances and to discharge Ee who grieved matter, unlawful, notwithstanding disavowals and assurances of E's employee relations manager and plant manager)

Sav-On Drugs, Inc. JD-(SF)-214-81
(statements to Ees and applicants for employment that they would have to join (particular) U as condition of employment and posting of letter threatening Ees that they would not be scheduled for work unless they joined U, held violative)

(threatening U adherents with discharge if they did not submit to false credit check, violative)

Helgesteel Corporation JD-643-80
(threat that Ees would not have job to come back to if they pursued their claim for backpay at higher wage rate than they had received for an already completed job, violative)

Catalytic, Inc. JD-(SF)-345-80
(telling Ee that if any more grievances were filed, he would run the bunch of them down the hall, violative)

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company JD-(SF)-322-80
(supervisor's response to U steward presenting grievances that he was a troublemaker and troublemakers would not get far in the company held unlawful threat to job tenure or chances for advancement)

Maryland Cup Corporation JD-618-80
(advising U adherent that it would not be unwise for him to resign from his employment if the U lost a scheduled election, unlawful as E acquiescence in pressure by some Ees to penalize another Ee for his U or concerted activities)

Hughes-Bechtol, Inc. JD-556-80
(foreman's warning to Ee who complained about plumbers doing laborers' work that he should watch his step, violative, where such comment was clear threat that Ee's job was in jeopardy if he persisted with his protected concerted activities)

Chipmore Manufacturing Co., Inc. JD-432-80
(violation by threat that U activitist would be fired if he continued to hang around with other company Ees or if he got caught in the tool room–in violation of a rule that was enforced sporadically until U campaign)

Guardian Industries Distribution Center, Inc. JD-(NY)-45-80
(E's statement that he was dissatisfied with condition of warehouse and that if Ees did not work together, he would find people who would, not unlawful threat of discharge, as contended, where there was no reference to U and U supporters were not singled out)

Alan S. Dubin and Nicholas A. Micelli, A Partnership d/b/a L. A. Inhalation Therapy Services JD-(SF)-225-80
(telling Ees that they must forswear their U membership or allegiance as condition of keeping their jobs, unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. Concord Furniture Industries, Inc., d/b/a Bradford Furniture Company 675 F.2d 426 (C.A. 1, Mar. 1982)

(supervisor stating that Ee might be discharged because of U activity and that Ee and another Ee would be reinstated as soon as this U thing goes through, violative, since sufficiently coercive in context)

N.L.R.B. v. Clark Manor Nursing Home Corp. 671 F.2d 657 (C.A. 1, Feb. 1982)

(E's statement that it was going to get rid of the troublemakers, violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Sheraton Puerto Rico Corp., d/b/a Puerto Rico Sheraton Hotel 651 F.2d 49 (C.A. 1, June 1981)

(general manager's memorandum to Ees warning them that fate of supervisors who were discharged because they wrote E criticizing general manager's operation of E's hotel and suggesting his removal from that position would befall Ees if they engaged in similar complaints in future held not violative where general manager's post-discharge memo only suggested that he was faced with a revolt of the managers and was not generalized threat against non-supervisory Ee protests)

N.L.R.B. v. Jack August Enterprises, Inc. 583 F.2d 575 (C.A. 1)

(telling Ees that leader of Ee organizational activities would be terminated when the time was right, or w/i 90 days waiting period following U election)

Grandee Beer Distributors, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 630 F.2d 928 (C.A. 2, 1980)

(threats to hire new Ees immediately after U representative requested recognition held violative where evidence on record supported conclusion that Ees could reasonably infer from timing that such threats were directed towards Ees' decision to join U)

N.L.R.B. v. Donald E. Hernly, Inc. 613 F.2d 457 (C.A. 2) (1980)

(enforcement denied where ct found that record of proceedings lacked substantial evidence to support conclusions contrary to ALJ; ct rejected argument that E's statements had tendency in the totality of circumstances to intimidate Ees or Ees feared that they would lose two hours show up pay or be laid off)

Central Freight Lines, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 666 F.2d 238 (C.A. 5, Jan. 1982)

(supervisor's remarks that if E were unionized, full-time Ees might be part-timers or jobless supported inference of unlawful threat of reduced work or discharge, where Ee who testified regarding remarks was sure that statements were made but unsure in what connection they were made)

N.L.R.B. v. Proler International Corporation 635 F.2d 351 (C.A. 5, 1981)

(interrogation of Ee concerning U's organizational activities and warning Ee that if any Ee induced other Ees to join U it might endanger their jobs, unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. Proler International Corporation 635 F.2d 351 (C.A. 5, 1981)

(E's personnel officer advising Ee who had filed charges against E that whether or not charges were sustained, Ee would lose his job)

N.L.R.B. v. Lloyd Wood Coal Co., Inc. 585 F.2d 752 (C.A. 5)

(threat of loss of jobs if U came in, violative)

Miami Springs Properties, Inc., and James H. Kinley and Associates, Joint Employers v. N.L.R.B. 653 F.2d 276 (C.A, 6, Aug 1981)

(threat of layoff, unlawful)

Donn Products, Inc. and American Metals Corp. v. N.L.R.B. 613 F.2d 162 (C.A. 6)

Midwest Stock Exchange, Inc., et al. v. N.L.R.B. 636 F.2d 1255 (C.A. 7, 1980)

(supervisor's statement to Ee that she had nothing to worry about if she was not engaged in U activities constituted implied threat to the effect that Ee would have something to worry about if she did engage in such activities; inference is permissible from supervisor's failure to testify that his honest testimony would either have been damaging to case of E in some way or that it would not substantially have differed from Ee's testimony about this incident)

Midwest Stock Exchange, Inc., et al. v. N.L.R.B. 636 F.2d 1255 (C.A. 7, 1980)

(warning Ee not to pass out U leaflets and to keep his nose clean because there were supervisors around who wanted him fired, violative, where such statements interfered with Ee's protected activities and constituted threat of reprisal for such U activities)

Midwest Stock Exchange, Inc., et al. v. N.L.R.B. 636 F.2d 1255 (C.A. 7, 1980)

(giving Ees list of dischargeable offenses and suggesting that E would resort to pretextual excuses for discharge, such as abusive language on part of Ees, violative)

Midwest Stock Exchange, Inc., et al. v. N.L.R.B. 636 F.2d 1255 (C.A. 7, 1980)

(supervisor's act of congratulating Ee for being on hit list and then agreeing with Ee that E would try to discharge all Ees on such U list, violative)

Midwest Stock Exchange, Inc., et al. v. N.L.R.B. 636 F.2d 1255 (C.A. 7, 1980)

(telling U adherent that her job was at stake, violative)

Midwest Stock Exchange, Inc., et al. v. N.L.R.B. 636 F.2d 1255 (C.A. 7, 1980)

(ct overruled Bd's finding of unlawful threat based on Ee's testimony alleging that supervisor told her to be careful about her U activities because E intended to get rid of every Ee on U list; Ee's testimony was incomplete, self-serving, and none of Ee's allegations were mentioned in sworn affidavit Ee gave to Bd; furthermore, supervisor's testimony that members of management uttered anti-U statements in meetings with Ees was also discredited where record indicated that such testimony was refuted by 15 other witnesses and that he was biased for being fired after only 3 months in E's employment)

N.L.R.B. v. Campbell 66 Express, Inc. 609 F.2d 312 (C.A. 7, 1979)

(supervisor's statement that Ee should come to him before going to U, not violative in view of lack of substantial evidence of prior threat of discharge or layoff)

N.L.R.B. v. Tamara Foods, Inc. 692 F.2d 1171 (C.A. 8, Nov. 1982)

(Bd decision holding that threat of discharge for striking in protest against unhealthy working conditions was unlawful, affirmed)

N.L.R.B. v. Chem Fab Corporation 691 F.2d 1252 (C.A. 8, Nov. 1982)

(ct held that GC sustained burden of proving interference outlined in NLRB v. Link-Belt Co., 311 U.S. 584, in regard to statements made in joking manner which, unlike General Thermo relied on by E, specifically reminded Ees of layoff involved in prior U activity and occurred in work place, not in recreational atmosphere of picnic)

N.L.R.B. v. Midland National Life Insurance Company 621 F.2d 901 (C.A. 8, 1980)

(restriction of Ee to her desk, after being reprimanded for engaging in U activities, until after election, and threat to discharge her if she left that immediate area, unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. Westinghouse Electric Corporation 612 F.2d 1072 (C.A. 8)

(ct upheld violation where E threatened Ees with discharge if they followed fellow Ee's example of passing out authorization cards)

Bill Johnson's Restaurants, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 660 F.2d 1335 (C.A. 9, Nov 1981)

(violation, where supervisor, after informing Ee he had to fire U adherent who had been antagonizing other Ees, asking Ee whether any other Ees had been contracted by adherent, and subsequently asked Ee if any other Ees had been talking about U; taken together these two conversations clearly implied that (Ee) involved in unionization would be fired)

N.L.R.B. v. Steven Davis and Michael Provenzano, d/b/a Carlton's Market 642 F.2d 350 (C.A. 9, Apr 20, 1981)

(threat to get Ee discharged from any future job because of U activities and threats to discharge Ees if U organized the store, unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. The Saloon, Inc. 647 F.2d 171(T) (C.A. 9, Mar 1981)

(implying to Ee that another Ee might be dismissed if she did not repudiate U benefit program, violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Bolsa Drainage, Inc. 639 F.2d 789(T) (C.A. 9, 1981)

(threatening discharge and physical violence if Ees persisted in concerted efforts to secure pay raises, violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Chatfield-Anderson Co., Inc., dba Truss-Span Co. 606 F.2d 266 (C.A. 9, 1979)

N.L.R.B. v. Flite Chief, Inc.; et al. 566 F.2d 1182 (C.A. 9, 1979)

(threat to discharge Ees who associated with a U adherent, unlawful)

5036-8312-5000 Directed at supervisors

B. E. & K., Inc. 252 NLRB No. 036

(allegation that supervisors were discharged because of their U activity or beliefs, dismissed; although finding of unlawful discharge would be warranted were they not supervisors, they do not come w/i protection of 8(a)(3), and facts concerning their discharge do not show restraint and coercion of Ees w/i meaning of 8(a)(1))

5036-8314 Changes in absenteeism rule

Foundation of California State University, Sacramento 255 NLRB No. 029

(informing Ees that if U came in requirement of note from doctor where two or more days of sick leave were taken would be enforced, unlawful)

5036-8318 Handling of grievances

Woodview Rehabilitation Center 265 NLRB No. 122

(violation where E made speech to Ees in which it threatened that they would lose benefits, would no longer be able to resolve their grievances by going to E if they selected U to represent them, and threatened that selection of U would be futile since E, not U, would decide on manpower requirements and timing of pay raises)

Onan, a Division of Onan Corporation 261 NLRB No. 187
(threat of loss of Ees' right to present grievances or problems directly to management and requirement that Ees go through U if U selected, unlawful)

Gould, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 002
(threatening, before election, to eliminate E's open door policy for discussion of complaints and grievance, violative because it penalizes Ees for exercise of statutory rights, as Sec. 9(a) guarantees Ees right to bring problems directly to E as long as U agent has right to be present and adjustment is not contrary to contract. E was not discribing typical grievance procedure but was threatening total cessation of all contacts between management and Ees)

G. F. Business Equipment, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 123
(loss of access to management to present grievances)

5036-8320 Increase in production

United Supermarkets, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 179
(threats to increase production requirements and to reduce working hours of certain Ees, assertedly for purpose of reducing labor costs, unlawful, since threats were made because of Ees' U activities)

Madani Brothers, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 126
(eliminate loans to Ees)

5036-8322 Less favorable treatment

Ram Construction Company, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 031
(E's telling Ee that unless written complaint was withdrawn he would no longer receive preferential treatment and would be treated as U radical, violative)

Arnold Ready Mix Corporation 259 NLRB No. 026
(violation where E threatenes Ees with reprisals, including bad work assignment and bad references because they filed grievances protesting E's use of relatives while other U members were on layoff)

General Electric Company 255 NLRB No. 092
(threatening strict enforcement of length of breaks if U came in, unlawful)

Intermountain Rural Electric Association 253 NLRB No. 164
(manager's remark to U adherent that he had been thinking of suspending her and that she would probably be fired if she failed to report for work despite having doctor's note to take leave, violative, since remark was motivated by adherent's U activities)

PPG Industries, Inc., Lexington Plant, Fiber Glass Division 251 NLRB No. 156
(violation where supervisor told Ees that if things didn't go the way Ees hoped with regard to U campaign, he was going to cut out extended breaks and talking, and Ees were in effect going to work harder)

Chester Valley, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 190
(E's statement that if U came in he might change part-time Ees' hours which had been accomodated to their school sports activities, unlawful)

Chester Valley, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 190
(E's letter to all Ees stating that U might bargain away flexibility in work hours for something more favorable to them, and that E's existing practice was much easier than trying to find flexibility provision in U contract, unlawful)

Delta Faucet Company, a Division of Masco Corporation of Indiana 251 NLRB No. 071
(general foreman threatening Ees that if they chose U as their representative, E would do away with procedural safeguards in Ee handbook)

Perco Industries, Inc. JD-56-82
(telling Ees clock-out rules will be enforced more strictly because they chose U, violative)

The Gilbert and Bennett Mfg. Co. JD-578-80
(statement to coworker of Ee who was entitled to backpay pursuant to arbitration award that if Ee did not stop asking about overtime backpay E would punish Ee more severely for safety violations than previously, violative)

5036-8327 Loss of opportunities for advancement

Nissan Motor Corporation in U.S.A. 263 NLRB No.
(statement that Ee would not be considered for promotion because of U's organizing campaign violative)

Nissan Motor Corporation in U.S.A. 263 NLRB No. 083
(statement that Ee would not be considered for promotion because of U's organizing campaign violative)

Management Training Corporation (Formerly Thiokol Corporation) 261 NLRB No. 013
(where E had policy of promoting Ees as vacancies occurred and of granting annual merit increases, its withholding of these promotions and benefits combined with statements that if U lost election they would be granted immediately, but if U won they would be deferred indefinitely, violated Act)

Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc. 253 NLRB No. 023
(supervisor's statement that he could no longer support Ee's application for management position because of Ee's U activities unlawful, notwithstanding supervisor's later repudiation of remarks)

Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc. 253 NLRB No. 023
(supervisor expressing desire to see Ee in management position, but at same time informing Ee that if Ee aspired to management position Ee had better change her ways, unlawful)

Ford Motor Company 251 NLRB No. 066
(supervisor's statement to Ees who filed grievances, contemplated civil suits and filed ULP charges over E's promotional policies are not looked upon favorably and would not be promoted, unlawful)

National Southwire Aluminum 247 NLRB No. 173
(E's statements to Ee wearing U button that his U activities would have negative effect on his chances for job reassignment constitute threat but not interrogation as to his U sympathies)

TRW-United Greenfield Division v. N.L.R.B. 637 F.2d 410 (C.A. 5, 1981)
(telling Ee that it would like him on Company side and he had the ability to go places along with coercive interrogation held threat of loss of promotion if Ee supported U)

5036-8328 Oppose employee's unemployment compensation claim

Campo Slacks, Inc. and J & E Sportswear, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 057
(E's president informing U officer that had been filing grievances that if she didn't give him a hassle he would let her sign up for unemployment insurance compensation unlawful threat to oppose her receipt of unemployment compensation if she invoked contractual grievance procedure)

Knapp Foods, Inc. d/b/a Hi-Lo Foods 247 NLRB No. 146
(supervisor's telling Ee that U campaign leader would lose his profit sharing benefit on account of unionization of plant, violative)

5036-8329 Loss of benefits

Belcher Towing Company 265 NLRB No. 159
(maintenance and distribution of eligibility standard for Ee benefits, including thrift and Ees' stock option plan, unlawful, where Ees were told that they would not be eligible for, and owuld be excluded therefrom, if they were covered by a bargaining agreement)

Belcher Towing Company 265 NLRB No. 159
(E's explanation at Ee meetings of Ee eligibility for E's existing benefit plans, unlawful, where explanation left Ees with impression that plans would be forfeited if Ees voted for U, and E's comments that plans were bargainable did not dispel such impression; at least one Ee understood E to say that federal government would not permit Ees to have benefit plans if U came in; E also made point that its subsidiaries' Ees, covered by bargaining agreement, did not participate in its plans, and stated E would take hard stance against being a pushover)

Belcher Towing Company 265 NLRB No. 159
(supervisor's remark at Ee meeting, called to discuss Ee benefits, although made playfully, that E was hard bargainer, unlawful, where Ees were seriously concerned about possible loss of benefit plans and, while supervisor may have intended remark as jest, it was not so received by Ees)

Woodview Rehabilitation Center 265 NLRB No. 122
(violation where E made speech to Ees in which it threatened that they would lose benefits, would no longer be able to resolve their grievances by going to E if they selected U to represent them, and threatened that selection of U would be futile since E, not U, would decide on manpower requirements and timing of pay raises)

Cardio Data Systems Corp. 264 NLRB No. 011
(posting of memorandum stating that a U deprives Ees of right to settle problems or complaints directly with E w/o interference by U, unlawful, since statement is contrary to statutory protection available to Ees under Sec. 9(a), as well as E's admitted practice of allowing Ees direct access to management to discuss complaints and, consequently, statement threatened to deprive Ees of existing benefit should they select U as their representative)

Cardio Data Systems Corp. 264 NLRB No. 011
(posting of statement made by general manager of company constituting single E with E herein, and attributable to latter, that E's practice of promoting Ees from w/i would end with U representation, unlawful, since statement's threat to withdraw existing benefit was not rooted simply in what had occurred at another location with manager's prior E but related to what was possible or impossible in a U organization and, as such, amounted to an unlawful threat)

Economy Fire and Casualty Co. 264 NLRB No. 003
(telling Ees that if U came in they would then have to go through U steward with problems held threat of loss of benefits as it refers to Ee's management)

Economy Fire and Casualty Co. 264 NLRB No. 003
(warning that all benefits could be taken away except those management decided to keep held threat that E would adopt bargaining stance to ensure that collective bargaining could not result in any increased benefits and would or could probably result in decreased benefits)

Zero Corporation, Zero East Division 262 NLRB No. 064
(E's general manager's remarks that U would be detriment to Ees aspiring for better working conditions and would result in loss of business for E, violative)

Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 087
(threat that unless U withdrew charges it had filed, E would withdraw economic benefits it had granted and require Ees to pay back amount of increases they had received, unlawful)

Progressive Supermarkets, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 074

Pantex Towing Corporation 258 NLRB No. 113
(E's threatening tugboat's crew with discontinuance in operations and thus their employment, as well as outright loss of substantial benefits-bed and board-violative where it was threat of penalty or consequence should Ees exercise their rights under Act to vote for U)

Sioux Products, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 056
(telling Ees that if U won election they would lose benefits and completely lose profit-sharing, violative)

Pace Oldsmobile, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 111
(threatening to cause loss of pension and profit sharing benefits if U selected as representative of Ees, unlawful)

Richland Co. & Assoc., Division of McDonald Construction, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 026
(threat to discontinue paying Ee insurance premiums for which Ees would probably be billed if U won election, but that they would not have to pay if U lost, unlawful)

K-Mart Corporation 255 NLRB No. 112
(telling Ee that if U came in, the company only had to give what they wanted or they could even take away, violative)

Pine Valley Meats, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 061
(telling Ees that monies which U victory would require E to spend on attorney's fees for contract negotiations would otherwise be theirs if U were not selected, violative)

Boyer Ford Trucks, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 184
(statement to Ees that, if U won, Ees would no longer be covered by terms of existing welfare and pension plan, violative)

Badische Corporation 254 NLRB No. 164

Pickering & Co., Inc. 254 NLRB No. 137
(threat to Ees of loss of benefits if they selected U as representative violative, notwithstanding it was made by low level supervisor)

Hasbro Industries, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 070
(E's sending two letters to homes of unit Ees which, in effect, equated selection of U with loss of existing benefits, unlawful)

Hasbro Industries, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 070
(E's campaign letter to Ees which pointed out what might result if strike ensued such as lost wages, loss of company-paid benefits and possible permanent replacement, not unlawful)

Dick Seidler Enterprises, d/b/a Joe & Dodie's Tavern 254 NLRB No. 045
(E's communication to Ees that they would absolutely lose all direct access to management if they chose to be represented by U and that E would be legally obligated to deal solely through U was erroneous statement of Ees' Sec. 9(a) rights and unlawful threat of loss of benefits)

Gordonsville, Industries, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 054
(telling Ee, during U campaign, that if U came in she would not be able to come in and talk (to her supervisor), violative as threat of loss of benefits)

Taylor-Dunn Manufacturing Company 252 NLRB No. 118
(supervisor's remarks during break, in response to Ee's question, that when a U comes in you bargain from minimum wage up and there are no benefits until contract signed, violative as remarks were threat of loss of existing benefits)

Behring International, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 055
(plant manager's statement to Ee that, if Ees voted for U, he would probably handle negotiations and that there was a good chance that Ees would then lose their stock option plan, profit-sharing and pension benefits, unlawful, notwithstanding that E's comment was recognized as insubstantial by Ee whose response was in nature of protest which did not reduce significance of E's threat)

Maywood, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 139
(supervisor's statement that if Ees got U in all benefits including profit sharring and incentive would be dropped and Ees would be dropped back to the minimum wage, violative)

Climate Control Corporation 251 NLRB No. 102
(posting notice threatening Ees with loss of existing benefits if U were voted in, violative)

Chester Valley, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 190
(statement that U might force E to discontinue existing benefits of discount on gasoline and auto repair work, uniforms, and liberal breaktimes, unlawful)

Chester Valley, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 190
(contention that E's oral comments as to eliminating part-time Ees or their flexible work hours were not unlawful because Ees who heard remarks were not themselves part-time Ees, rejected, since it is reasonable to infer that E's remarks were passed along to part-time Ees, as they actually were; assuming that E did not thereby intend to threaten Ees and that Ees were not in fact coerced, such assumptions would not render threats herein lawful)

Chester Valley, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 190
(telling Ee that benefits which Ee wanted U to obtain for Ees were too expensive for E's gasoline station and E would turn it into self-service station if he had to, not unlawful, since remarks dealt with an economical means of accomodating two objectively demonstrable circumstances, namely, specific proposed U demands and gasoline station's financial condition)

B-P Custom Building Products, Inc.; and Thomas R. Peck Mfg. 251 NLRB No. 179
(telling Ees that they could lose both their profit-sharing and pension benefits if U came in, violative)

Weyerhaeuser Company 251 NLRB No. 097
(comment that Ees might lose benefits in response to Ee's statement that U Ees would get so much an hour, not unlawful, where conversation was related to E's letter to Ees outlining give-and-take of bargaining process)

Stanley M. Feil, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 065
(E's statements that Ee should consider fact U might negotiate restrictions on right to employ retired Ees, not unlawful)

American Telecommunications Corporation, Electromechanical Division 249 NLRB No. 149
(statement that Ees at plant which had voted for U were being denied benefits that non-unionized Ees were granted violative as threat of reprisals)

Edward A. Utlaut Foundation, Inc. d/b/a Edward A. Utlaut Memorial Hospital and Fair Oaks Nursing Home 249 NLRB No. 162
(statement implying that Ees would lose insurance coverage paid for by E if U were certified, unlawful and interference)

MGM Grand-Reno, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 153
(supervisor's statement to U advocate that he should not expect E to continue its practice of accomodating Ees, who also wanted to attend school, in event U was voted in, held violative, since statement suggested reprisals in form of denial of existing benefits in response to Ees' decision to select U)

Fotomat Corporation 248 NLRB No. 150

American Sunroof Corporation; et al. 248 NLRB No. 038
(threat that Ees would not be eligible for new pension plan if U prevailed, unlawful)

American Sunroof Corporation; et al. 248 NLRB No. 038
(informing Ees that eligibility in pension plan was limited to nonbargaining unit Ees, unlawful)

Conagra, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 085
(threatening to eliminate pension plan if U came in, unlawful)

Sambo's Restaurant, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 122
(statement to waitress performing nonwaitress tasks that if she were represented by U she could not do this type of work constituted unlawful threat of loss of existing benefit)

J. H. Block & Co., Inc. 247 NLRB No. 041
(loss of vacation pay and Christmas bonus if U was selected)

Lacks Industries, Inc. JD-346-82
(alleged unlawful threat of loss of benefits, made by E during U organizational campaign, not unlawful, where E was trying to communicate to Ees that collective bargaining could result in lessening of current wages and benefits, and comments, unaccompanied by threats, were protected by 8(c) proviso)

Sea-Alaska Products, Inc. JD-(SF)-138-82
(loss of free lodging and board)

Translatank Car Corporation JD-(ATL)-8-83
(threat of loss of work gloves and tools if U came in, unlawful)

New Mayo, Inc., d/b/a Mayo Products Company JD-(ATL)-10-81
(telling Ees that they were not going to get as much as they expected because of their U activities, violative, where such statement could be interpreted that E would reduce Ee benefits in retaliation against their U activities; moreover, this statement could be interpreted that Ees could not reasonably expect to attain their goals through U activity)

5036-8329—Cont.

Vinci Investment Co., d/b/a Pacific Honda JD-(SF)-56-81
(telling Ee that Ees not in U would receive better benefits than Ees in U and telling another Ee that Ees in U would not receive certain benefits, violative)

Bailey Glass Company, Inc., and/or Blue Mountain Glass Mfg., Inc., d/b/a Bailey Glass JD-452-80
(violation where E announced to Ees intention to repudiate provisions of contract which relate to hospitalization insurance premium)

CRC Pipeline Equipment, a Division of Crutcher Resources Corporation JD-(SF)-140-80
(E's statements to effect that bargaining was two way street and benefits could be decreased, remain same, or be increased, not unlawful, since it was explanation of how contract arrived at and legitimate message that Ees might wind up with less benefits after unionization, rather than threat of economic reprisal that Ees would automatically lose benefits by voting for U)

Hart Ski Mfg. Co., Inc. JD-11-80
(E's owner threatening not to sign contract negotiated with Ee committee unless ULP charges and ptn withdrawn, stating ptn had been filed by outside U and there was no purpose in ptn since Ees had approved contract between E and committee, unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. Hasbro Industries, Inc. 672 F.2d 978 (C.A. 1, Feb. 1982)
(E's letter implying retaliation against unionization by withdrawal of benefits, unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. Laredo Coca Cola Bottling Company 613 F.2d 1338 (C.A. 5) (1980)
(E president stating to Ees during pre-election E's captive-audience meeting that there would be no Christmas bonus that year, that the funds that would otherwise be used to pay Christmas bonuses would be used to pay his attorney's expenses in opposing U, and that other benefits were to be terminated, violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Wilker Brothers Company, Inc. 682 F.2d 660 (C.A. 6, June 1981)
(unannounced reduction in contributions to fund for Ees in need before election, not unlawful where Ees did not know until the hearing that contributions were reduced and therefore reduction was not timed to affect them regarding their U activities)

N.L.R.B. v. Mark I Tune-Up Centers, Inc. 691 F.2d 415 (C.A. 8, Oct. 1982)
(threat of loss of benefits made at election and heard by Ee who had not yet voted violative)

L'Eggs Products, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 619 F.2d 1337 (C.A. 9, 1980)
(statements by supervisors that if U came in Ees could lose benefits violative, notwithstanding qualifying words such as possibility, might or probably were used as benefits referred to were controlled by E)

5036-8333 Loss of overtime work

Autoprod, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 042
(telling Ees that overtime work was too expensive because E had to pay into U funds held threat of loss of overtime and side jobs if U won second decertification election)

Grane Trucking Company 261 NLRB No. 059
(E's threat to U adherent truck driver that it would pull him off run with consequent loss of overtime pay, violative where made in reprisal for his activity of trying to persuade another E to join U)

Sambo's Restaurants, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 054
(threatening Ees with loss of overtime work if they filed grievances violative)

Truck Stations, Inc., d/b/a Woody's Truck Stops 258 NLRB No. 094
(statements to Ees that if U won election shift hours would be reduced and pay consequently lowered, violated Act)

Walter Jack and Dixie A. Macy d/b/a 7-Eleven Food Store 257 NLRB No. 035
(threat to reduce one Ee's hours and add those hours to another Ee's schedule in order to persuade the latter Ee to withdraw his support of U, unlawful)

Fluid Packaging Company, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 196
(supervisor's statement, if you're going to work overtime, you're not to talk U, held unlawful threat)

Sea-Alaska Products, Inc. JD-(SF)-134-82

5036-8334 Loss of jobs

Alpha Cellulose Corporation 265 NLRB No. 010
(E's letter indicating to Ees not only that, if they struck, they could be permanently replaced, as is permitted, but that they could lose their jobs as result of striking held unlawful and interference with election, since such clear threats to sever employment relationships in event Ees engage in economic strike amount to unlawful threats of job loss)

Alpha Cellulose Corporation 265 NLRB No. 010
(E's letter to Ees held unlawful and basis for valid objection to election, where letter, when read in light of E's prior letter to Ees found unlawful herein because it stated that Ees could lose their jobs as result of engaging in economic strike, confirmed to Ees that an exercise of their right to strike would, as a matter of course, lead to permanent loss of their jobs and accompanying benefits)

M & G Convoy, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 145
(threatening Ees that he would not transfer them to new facility after he closed existing facility because they actively enforced contract terms)

Daniel Construction Company, A Division of Daniel International Corporation 257 NLRB No. 176
(threatening Ees with loss of future employment if they selected U by telling them E would not get contract for job since builder decided to build job open shop, violative)

Samuel J. Wade, an Individual d/b/a Major Cab Company 255 NLRB No. 181
(E's telling U adherent that E would remove his radio from his cab because of his U activities, violative)

B. E. & K., Inc. 252 NLRB No. 036
(E's preelection response to Ees complaints about wages that they did not have to stay, that it could be a lot worse because they could be getting nothing, and that if they did not like state's low pay scales they could get out of state held unlawful implied threat of loss of jobs and interference with election)

B. E. & K., Inc. 252 NLRB No. 036
(injection of idea of blacklist into E's preelection remarks by stating that other Es put Ees' names on it if they were affiliated with or voting for U held threat of loss of job opportunity with E and with other Es and, as such, interference with election; effect of E's disavowal that it would consider it as not intended as a true disavowal)

American Interstate Freight Lines JD-117-81
(threat to deprive Ee of employment if he did not drop NLRB charge and wage-claim grievance, violative)

5036-8335 Harsher working conditions

Tra-Mar Communications, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 089
(E's statement that ——any privileges that you have now are definitely going to be taken away if the U is voted (in) held violative, since remark constituted threat of more onerous working conditions and loss of privileges if Ees were to select U as their representative)

Larid Printing, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 040
(informing Ee he was making big mistake in bringing U in, if U came in and shop closed down Ee was going to have bad name in industry, and if U came in E would have to get very technical, and everything would have to be done by book, unlawful)

Larid Printing, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 040
(E's president informing Ee he was going to get him for trying to shut down company that Ee was sneaky bastard and if Ee made any mistakes on job there would be no one to protect him, unlawful)

South Nassau Communities Hospital 262 NLRB No. 146
(supervisor's telling Ees at regular departmental meeting, in response to Ee's question, what existed at another E's facility as result of bargaining with U held not unlawful threat of imposing more onerous working conditions, since supervisor was merely conveying to Ees a bit of knowledge he acquired while employed elsewhere and was trying to be responsive to question in the process)

Onan, a Division of Ona Corporation 261 NLRB No. 187
(threat to restrict movement around plant if U came in, unlawful)

Marion Rohr Corporation 261 NLRB No. 138
(telling Ees that if U came in he would begin timing Ees' stay in bathroom, violative)

Herider Farms, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 113
(threatening to transfer Ees to less desirable jobs because of their apparent involvement in U's organizing campaign, violative)

Inland Steel Company 259 NLRB No. 024
(supervisor's statement to Ee about manner in which Ee's department could be operated if some of the Ees in department continued to press grievance regarding their claim that a supervisor had wrongfully deprived them of wages by performing unit work held unlawful threat, since spervisor, as general foreman, had authority to impose strictures to make it more difficult for all Ees in the department because a few of them had filed a grievance)

Dimensions in Metal, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 078
(E's executive vice-president's threat to be on other side of fence working against Ees if U were in plant, violative since it was at least implied threat of less desirable working conditions if Ees selected U)

Colson Equipment, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 015
(supervisor's remark that E would crack down on safety rules if U were successful, unlawful)

5036-8335—Cont.

Evans Brothers Barber & Beauty Salons, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 023
(violation where E told Ees that if they selected U they would have to work by U rules which would make Ees stay in the shop and sign in and out when leaving)

Atlas Minerals, Division of Atlas Corporation 256 NLRB No. 022
(statement to Ees that safety discipline would be tightened up, made after safety inspection by federal agency which found Ee safety violations, not unlawful threat to Ees because they had invoked processes of safety law, where Ees' failure to follow safety rules gave E plausible and not improper reason for imposing stern conditions and was not in retaliation for inspection; E had regularly threatened Ees with safety violation write-ups in order to induce safer conduct; and E's suspicion of Ee concert in causing inspection was unproven and remote)

Mark Lines, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 191
(telling Ee drivers that once U was voted in Ees would be required to return their buses to specific garage each evening instead of taking buses home or to rented space near their homes as arranged by E in past, violative)

Sanitas Cura, Inc. d/b/a Parkview Acres Convalescent Center 255 NLRB No. 149
(telling Ee that E would make it tougher on Ees because of U organizational campaign, violative)

SAS Ambulance Service, Inc., d/b/a Florida Ambulance Service; et al. 255 NLRB No. 031
(E's threatening members of U organizing committee that working conditions could be worse with U, and that E could require them to stay in their ambulances 24 hours a day rather than in office, violative)

Badische Corporation 254 NLRB No. 164

Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc. 253 NLRB No. 023
(supervisor's statement that if U came in things would change drastically, limitations would be placed on breaks, Ees would not be allowed to chit-chat, and office atmosphere would be much stricter)

Certain-Teed Insulation Company 251 NLRB No. 208
(advising U's observer and president-elect of local that E would be more stringent in enforcement of break periods after election, violative, absent evidence that Ees in fact were abusing break periods in any way)

Sumco Manufacturing Co., Inc. Summit Grinding Company 251 NLRB No. 046
(E's threats to take away Ee breaks unlawful, where made in retaliation against Ees' U organizing activities and Es advanced no legitimate business reasons to justify threats)

American Sunroof Corporation; et al. 248 NLRB No. 038
(threat that Ees would be on timeclock if U prevailed, unlawful)

Knapp Foods, Inc. d/b/a Hi-Lo Foods 247 NLRB No. 146
(supervisor's telling Ee that if plant went U, he would have to take driver's test, violative)

Notre Dame Hills Medical Services, Inc., d/b/a Notre Dame Hills Convalescent Center 247 NLRB No. 126
(supervisor's telling Ee that if Ees did not vote against U in election, the facility would become unionized which would hurt Ees' chances of wage increase, their job security, and possibility for improvement in working conditions, violative; statement constituted threat of loss of employment and loss of wage increase, and of more onerous working conditions)

J. P. Stevens and Company, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 044
(E's statement that if Ee went to a U lawyer, as she claimed she would, that it would be made so hard for her she would have to quit, unlawful, even though E's statement was perceived as a joke by Ee, since statement amounted to threat of reprisal and, in context of E's other ULPs, could not be dismissed as isolated or not being implemented because statement was made in joking manner)

Tilden Rack and Basket Corporation JD-(NY)-2-82
(telling U adherent that E was going to have to crack down and enforce plant rules more strictly, violative)

Ford Motor Company, Automotive Division, Twin Cities Plant JD-57-81
(threatening Ee with imposition of higher working standards because he had filed a grievance, unlawful)

J. C. Penney Company, Inc. JD-697-80
(threats to Ees that their working conditions would change for the worse immediately after E learned U had won election, violative)

John Skura, William Donofrio and Margaret Dubas t/a Boulevard Associates d/b/a Sheraton Inn JD-386-80
(threatening Ee with more stringent inspection of her work in order to establish a reason for her discharge because of her U activities, violative)

(threatening that if U came in Ees would have to work certain set hours w/o exception and no alternative arrangements would be permitted, unlawful)

Nice-Pak Products, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 173
(where during U campaign, E changed start of work week for 3rd shift from Monday to Sunday night as Ees had previously requested violated Act)

Medi-Mart, A Division of Stop & Shop Company, Inc. JD-314-82
(explaining possibilities resulting from negotiations, that, if U came in, part-time student Ees would have harder time getting time off and less scheduling flexibility, held threat of loss of benefits where only one U contract stated that schedules could be changed only in emergency and contracts did not require 15-hour week but only that Ees be offered 15 hours)

5036-8339 Loss of access to management

T. L. C. Lines, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 150
(threatening to no longer discuss pay raises with Ees if U were selected, violative)

General Electric Company 264 NLRB No. 126

Cardio Data Systems Corp. 264 NLRB No. 011
(posting of memorandum stating that a U deprives Ees of right to settle problems or complaints directly with E w/o interference by U, unlawful, since statement is contrary to statutory protection available to Ees under Sec. 9(a), as well as E's admitted practice of allowing Ees direct access to management to discuss complaints and, consequently, statement threatened to deprive Ees of existing benefit should they select U as their representative)

Economy Fire and Casualty Co. 264 NLRB No. 003
(telling Ees that if U came in they would then have to go through U steward with problems held threat of loss of benefits as it refers to Ee's management)

(telling Ees that if U came in they would no longer have direct access to management violative)

Amoco Fabrics Co., Patchogue-Plymouth Division/ Nashville Mills 260 NLRB No. 038
(threat that if U came in would no longer be able to take grievances directly to supervisor violative)

Jensen Sound Laboratories 258 NLRB No. 181
(memo to Ees stating that if U were selected Ees would lose all rights to speak to management concerning wages, benefits etc. except through U is violative of Act as threat of loss of benefits)

5036-8339—Cont.

Standard-Coosa-Thatcher, Carpet Yarn Division, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 045

General Electric Company 255 NLRB No. 092
(supervisor's statement that if U came in it would mean Ee would be giving up his rights to speak for himself, not unlawful, since statement of U's functions as collective bargaining representative rather than implied assertion that Ees would be denied access to management)

Limestone Apparel Corp. 255 NLRB No. 101
(if Ees select U, they gave up right to come to E and present their own grievances held violative)

Dick Seidler Enterprises, d/b/a Joe & Dodie's Tavern 254 NLRB No. 045
(E's communication to Ees that they would absolutely lose all direct access to management if they chose to be represented by U and that E would be legally obligated to deal solely through U was erroneous statement of Ees' Sec. 9(a) rights and unlawful threat of loss of benefits)

Conagra, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 085
(statement that E would not talk to individual Ees but only to shop stewards about grievances, unlawful as threat of more difficult working conditions)

Johns-Manville Sales Corporation JD-412-81
(statement to Ees that they would be better off dealing directly with plant manager, rather than through U)

Dick Seidler Enterprises, d/b/a Joe & Dodie's Tavern JD-(SF)-239-80
(threatening Ees with loss of access to management if U became Ees' representative, unlawful, where E conveyed message to Ees by letter on day before election that if U represented Ees, Ees could not deal directly with E and E would be legally obligated to deal solely through U regarding all aspects of Ees' terms of employment; E thereby misstated Ees' statutory rights under Sec. 9(a))

N.L.R.B. v. Colony Printing and Labeling, Inc. 651 F.2d 502 (C.A. 7, June 1981)
(E informing Ees that signing U cards meant giving up right to talk to us about your hours, your work, your working conditions, your pay and everything else concerning your future and continued employment, unlawful since Ees may still present grievances directly to E so long as U representative is given opportunity to be present)

5036-8341 Withdrawal of privileges

Marion Rohr Corporation 261 NLRB No. 138
(telling Ees that if U came in he would no longer permit simultaneous vacations of husbands and wives, violative)

Foundation of California State University, Sacramento 255 NLRB No. 029
(threatening that if U came in Ees would have to work certain set hours w/o exception and no alternative arrangements would be permitted, unlawful)

Foundation of California State University, Sacramento 255 NLRB No. 029
(threatening that if U came in Ees would be docked if late rather than allowed to make up time, unlawful)

Sunco Manufacturing Co., Inc. Summit Grinding Company 251 NLRB No. 046
(E's threats to take away Ee breaks unlawful, where made in retaliation against Ees' U organizing activities and Es advanced no legitimate business reasons to justify threats)

Villa Care, Inc., d/b/a Edmonds Villa Care Center 249 NLRB No. 095
(informing Ees that personal leave for doctor and dental appointments would no longer prevail if U was elected, unlawful)

Lecks Industries, Inc. JD-346-82
(supervisor's statement to Ees that as result of U organization Ees would not be able to come to supervisors and talk to them as they had in the past because U would be Ees' exclusive representative, not unlawful, since statement was not a threat but simply campaign rhetoric and an opinionated prediction on part of supervisor as to impact of U organization which would result in a change in communication between supervisors and Ees)

United States Steel Corporation JD-(ATL)-90-81
(E's threatening to change its practice of permitting Ees to swap shifts w/o permission because of Ees' filing of grievances, unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. Mark I Tune-Up Centers, Inc. 691 F.2d 415 (C.A. 8, Oct. 1982)
(statements at pre-election meeting that unionization might cause E to close some of its shops, eliminate shop privileges and impose more onerous working conditions violative where no objective basis for E's predictions)

5036-8342 Downgrading, or demotion

T. L. C. Lines, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 150
(threatening to reclassify mechanics as apprentices if they selected U, violative)

Gentile Pontiac 260 NLRB No. 086
(while E may freely express dislike for U w/o violating Act, E's statement concerning demotion of chief U organizer with advent of U, unlawful)

Channel Island Development Corp., d/b/a The Lobster Trap & Casa Sirena Marina Hotel 259 NLRB No. 160

Atlas Metal Parts Co., Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 660 F.2d 304 (C.A. 7, Sep. 1981)
(threat to give Ee dirty or bad-rated jobs if he did not stop filing grievances, unlawful)

(threatening Ees with denial of vacation benefits because of U, violative)

5036-8344 Closer supervision

A.P.F. Electronics, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 068
(berating Ee for contacting U representative regarding making and receiving phone calls on job and threatening increased supervision and discharge because of Ee's protected action, unlawful)

5036-8345 Withholding of promotion

Champion Road Machinery International Corporation 264 NLRB No. 123
(threatening delays in reviews and promotions if Ees selected U, unlawful)

Larid Printing, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 040
(E's president asking Ee why Ee wanted U and stating Ee could not get raise or promotion because of presence of U, unlawful)

Cardio Data Systems Corp. 264 NLRB No. 011
(posting of statement made by general manager of company constituting single E with E herein, and attributable to latter, that E's practice of promoting Ees from w/i would end with U representation, unlawful, since statement's threat to withdraw existing benefit was not rooted simply in what had occurred at another location with manager's prior E but related to what was possible or impossible in a U organization and, as such, amounted to an unlawful threat)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 263 NLRB No. 015
(supervisor asking black Ee who was wearing U insignia why Ee was getting so involved with U, if any one was presuring him to join U and in same conversation indicating to Ee that E would be making more black supervisors but that Ee should not wear pro-U insignia and to continue to do so would result in his not being considered for supervisor position, unlawful)

Onan, a Division of Ona Corporation 261 NLRB No. 187
(threats of loss of promotion for wearing U cap and paraphenalia, unlawful)

Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc. 253 NLRB No. 023
(supervisor's statement that he could no longer support Ee's application for management position because of Ee's U activities unlawful, notwithstanding supervisor's later repudiation of remarks)

Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc. 253 NLRB No. 023
(supervisor expressing desire to see Ee in management position, but at same time informing Ee that if Ee aspired to management position Ee had better change her ways, unlawful)

(supervisor's response to U steward presenting grievances that he was a troublemaker and troublemakers would not get far in the company held unlawful threat to job tenure or chances for advancement)

5036-8346 Eliminate bidding on jobs

Vincent Brass & Aluminum Co. 264 NLRB No. 070
(E's vice-president referring to grievances regarding job bidding and stating he was tired of cherry picketing and nit-picking, that he had skilled people and would put them where he wanted contrary to bargaining agreement, since down-bidding ruining company because of expense of training, and subsequently stating there would be no job-bidding at all, unlawful)

5036-8347 Loss of profit sharing

Onan, a Division of Ona Corporation 261 NLRB No. 187
(threat of loss of profit-sharing benefits and savings plan to which E contributed if Ees selected U, unlawful)

Conair Corporation 261 NLRB No. 178
(E's conduct in stamping Statements of Account distributed to Ees enrolled in profit sharing plan with phrase For Non-U Ees Only or with notation U members are not entitled to profit sharing plan held per se violation, since it clearly constituted threat that Ees would lose their right to participate in profit sharing plan if U came in)

Conair Corporation 261 NLRB No. 178
(E's use of campaign literature referring to E's profit sharing plan as being only for non-U Ees, unlawful)

Harvey & Madding, Inc., d/b/a Dublin Honda JD-(ATL)-97-81
(E's discussing with Ees, week after R ptn filed, Ees' status under E's existing profit sharing plan held violative as veiled threat to Ees of loss of benefits if U selected in election)

5036-8348 No wage increase

Great Western Coca-Cola Bottling Company, d/b/a Houston Coca-Cola Bottling Company 265 NLRB No. 106
(allegation that Ees were told that they would be denied wage increases because of U, dismissed, since GC failed to prove allegation, where E denied making statement, and GC failed to elicit testimony of two Ees present when statement was assertedly made to testifying Ee, and it is reasonable to infer that they would not have corroborated latter's testimony)

Larid Printing, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 040
(E's president informing Ee he had intended to give Ee night work differential, but could not because of U campaign, unlawful)

Larid Printing, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 040
(E's president asking Ee why Ee wanted U and stating Ee could not get raise or promotion because of presence of U, unlawful)

R. L. White Company, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 069
(supervisor's statement to Ee that if U came in everything would be frozen not violative threat of loss of benefits but statement of legal effect of selecting bargaining representatives)

Management Training Corporation (Formerly Thiokol Corporation) 261 NLRB No. 013
(where E had policy of promoting Ees as vacancies occurred and of granting annual merit increases, its withholding of these promotions and benefits combined with statements that if U lost election they would be granted immediately, but if U won they would be deferred indefinitely, violated Act)

Emory Nursing Home, Inc. d/b/a Emory Convalescent Home 260 NLRB No. 071
(suggesting to Ee that any wage increase she and other Ees were set to receive would be eliminated by necessity for hiring lawyer to negotiate with U, violative)

Quick Find Co. 259 NLRB No. 144
(after questioning Ees about their U activities, telling them that they were booked for raise violative, as it implied that benefits would be withheld because of U activity)

Daniel Construction Company, A Division of Daniel International Corporation 257 NLRB No. 176
(telling Ees that if U was voted in, E would no longer be free to grant wage increases w/o first negotiating with U for such wage increases, not violative since this was no more than exposition of one aspect of E's legal bargaining obligation)

Clements Wire & Manufacturing Company, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 075
(telling Ees that if E encountered too much difficulty with U regularly scheduled raise would be canceled, violative)

Sanitas Cura, Inc. d/b/a Parkview Acres Convalescent Center 255 NLRB No. 149
(telling adherent that attempt to secure U representation might mess up the raise Ees were expected to receive pursuant to mandatory increase in federal minimum wage, violative)

(statement that because of U campaign E would withhold previously scheduled seniority raises, violative)

I/O Optics Limited, U.S.A. 251 NLRB No. 037
(exhibiting to group of Ees, paper containing names of Ees scheduled to receive pay raises, unlawful since it amounted to implied threat that continued U activities would result in loss of scheduled pay raises)

St. Francis Hospital 249 NLRB No. 017
(no raise until U activities cease)

Hinky Dinky Super Markets, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 169
(telling Ees that they probably would not get raise if U won because all raises would then be subject to negotiation, held not violative, citing Strumpf Motor Company, 208 NLRB 431, 432 (1974))

Notre Dame Hills Medical Services, Inc., d/b/a Notre Dame Hills Convalescent Center 247 NLRB No. 126
(supervisor's telling Ee that if Ees did not vote against U in election, the facility would become unionized which would hurt Ees' chances of wage increase, their job security, and possibility for improvement in working conditions, violative; statement constituted threat of loss of employment and loss of wage increase, and of more onerous working conditions)

Ellis Hospital JD-164-82
(letter informing Ees that in event they selected U they would not receive regularly scheduled wage increase held unlawful threat and interference with election where annual wage increase was established working condition, notwithstanding that precise amount for the year had not yet been set)

Pascack Valley Hospital Association JD-(NY)-85-81
(threatening Ee with loss of future raises because of his activities on behalf of U, violative)

Penz Tool and Manufacturing Co., Inc. JD-644-80
(implied threat that potential raises were adversely affected by fact that ULP charges had been filed with Bd, unlawful where such conduct clearly had tendency to direct anger of Ees at ones they might believe caused such problem and to inhibit such Ees from exercising their own protected concerted rights)

Round Table Enterprises Inc. t/a Thrift T Mart JD-(NY)-62-80
(statement to Ee that another Ee would not get raise because he's starting trouble around here, with this union, violative)

The Marley Heat Transfer Company JD-(SF)-263-80
(no violation where E who recently purchased plant promised that new wages and benefits package would take effect on certain date but before election told Ees that if U won, E would negotiate with U concerning wages and benefits, where E's package was discretionary and amount had not been determined before advent of U or election)

Werth Engineering, Inc. JD-295-80
(where E had no established practice of granting wage increase its refusal to grant promised raise not violative where because of U activity taking place to grant it would be violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Cable Vision, Inc. 660 F.2d 1 (C.A. 1, Sept. 1981)
(violation, where E impliedly blamed U for E's decision to withhold wage increases)

Air Express International Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 659 F.2d 610 (C.A. 5, Oct. 1981)
(threatening to withhold raises from some Ees while promising raises to others, violative where purpose was to discourage U activity and to weaken pro-U majority)

Florida Steel Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 648 F.2d 233 (C.A. 5, June 1981)
(violation since E misstated law in that it implied it might lawfully withhold customary periodic increases, and other benefits that would otherwise be granted where E informed Ees via videotape that at one of E's unionized plants Ees did not receive wage increase during months of negotiations since E required to bargain before granting wage increases based on annual wage survey whereas during same period Ees at E's non-U plant had received increase, and only after U voted out after negotiations did not result in contract did Ees receive wage increase)

N.L.R.B. v. Midland National Life Insurance Company 621 F.2d 901 (C.A. 8, 1980)
(threatening Ees with loss of salary increases and other benefits, unlawful)

(loss or delay in planned raises or bonuses)

5036-8349 Financial loss

American Display Manufacturing Co., Inc. 259 NLRB No. 006
(informing Ees that if U came in, made rediculous demands and caused strike, E might not be able to make timely deliveries and lose largest account and thereby result in possible loss of jobs, unlawful because U had not, as yet, made any demands)

Palby Lingerie, Inc. and Argus Lingerie Corp. 252 NLRB No. 032
(violation where E made reference to strike in the event of U coming with consequence of loss of pay to Ees)

5036-8349—Cont.

Alenco, A Division of Redman Building Products, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 067
(personnel director's remark that U was going to have to wind up going to Board to get requested wage information concerning asserted unilateral reduction in pay rates of certain Ees, and that it could take years not violative, since remark was no more than statement reflecting U's legal right to avail itself of Bd's processes to obtain requested information)

Stanley M. Fell, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 065
(E's statements that Ee should consider fact U might negotiate restrictions on right to employ retired Ees, not unlawful)

Louisiana Council No. 17, AFSCME, AFL-CIO 250 NLRB No. 072
(E's response that Ee got the picture when asked by Ee if it meant Ees' paychecks after E had stated that he would not take matter of Ees' U activities lightly, unlawful)

5036-8350 Reduction in pay

Brooks Brothers, a Division of Garfinckel, Brooks Brothers, Miller & Rhoads 261 NLRB No. 130
(E's statement that he knew for fact that there was no guarantee of higher commission rates or drawer rates with U contract and in some instances rates had gone down was not threat to lower wages in reprisal for U activity because it was truthful or at least noncoercive expression of E's views and E attributed lower rates to product of bargaining rather than advent of U)

Halo Lighting Division of McGraw Edison Company 259 NLRB No. 086
(threatening Ees that they would have to start at bottom of Federal wage rates if Ees did not vote for incumbent U, unlawful)

Greyhound Food Management, Inc. d/b/a Burger King 258 NLRB No. 178

Dura-Vent Corporation 257 NLRB No. 083
(violation where E threatened Ees with wage reductions unless they accepted different positions which required them to abandon positon w/i unit, U membership and rights of Ees generally under Act)

Clements Wire & Manufacturing Company, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 075
(telling Ees that if U came in they would be making less money, violative)

Association of Apartment Owners of The Whaler on Kaanapali Beach 255 NLRB No. 010
(E's statements in Ee meeting that if U come in wage rates would be set by U-master agreement not violative where upon questioning by Ees, E agreed that wages would be negotiable, thus neutralizing potentially violative statement)

Raimund Cornsen Co., Inc. d/b/a Raycor Co. 249 NLRB No. 078
(threat of lower classifications and thus of lower wages with U, unlawful)

Sambo's Restaurant, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 122
(threat to reduce waitresses' wages if Ees supported U, unlawful)

Sneva's Rent-A-Car JD-(SF)-283-82
(statement that E guaranteed that unlawfully discharged taxicab driver would not make any money if he returned to work constituted unlawful threat of loss of wages because of Ee's earlier protected activities)

(supervisor asking Ee how U meeting went and informing Ee materials necessary for his work would not be ordered until U talk settled violative)

Larid Printing, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 040
(stating to assembled Ees that U would probably make him cut back on help because everybody would have specific job title and if U came in medical unsurance would be cancelled, unlawful)

Granite City Journal, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 140
(E's statements to recently hired and therefore most vulnerable Ees that E was overstaffed and plans to acquire another enterprise had to be shelved because of U's advent, unlawful, since E thereby conveyed threat of lost employment or work opportunities because of U; E's comment was not straightforward announcement of business decision because it was not reasoned prediction based on objective facts demonstrating probable consequences outside E's control; and it was not free speech protected by 8(c) but unadorned warning of adverse consequences designed to discourage Ees' U activity)

United Supermarkets, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 179
(threats to increase production requirements and to reduce working hours of certain Ees, assertedly for purpose of reducing labor costs, unlawful, since threats were made because of Ees' U activities)

Marion Rohr Corporation 261 NLRB No. 138
(telling Ees that if U came in their work week would be reduced because U's contract prohibits longer work week, not unlawful, because it pertains to possible action by U rather than by E)

Broadway Catering Corp. d/b/a Studio 54 260 NLRB No. 166
(telling U adherent he would be denied additional work if he continued his U activities, unlawful)

Halo Lighting Division of McGraw Edison Company 259 NLRB No. 086
(E's prediction that, if E lost incumbent U's label as result of U's loss of impending election, U members would refuse to install E's product with resultant loss of business and jobs, unlawful, where E's evidence showed that refusal of U members to handle E's product occurred at point too remote in time to support E's stated belief; and, while E's further evidence indicated E's belief in advantages of having U contract, it did not show that U members as a group would not handle E's product, or that U would unlawfully induce its members to do so)

Cumberland Farms Dairy of New York, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 120
(statement that Ees would suffer reduction in number of days they worked if they complained about overly-long hours, violative)

Truck Stations, Inc., d/b/a Woody's Truck Stops 258 NLRB No. 094
(statements to Ees that if U won election shift hours would be reduced and pay consequently lowered, violated Act)

Great Scot of Florida, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 126
(statement that if U voted in Ees' working hours would be cut, violative)

Richland Co. & Assoc., Division of McDonald Construction, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 026
(statement to Ees that E was delaying bidding on new work until after election, unlawful, since it was transparent warning that E was already in process of implementing his prior threat to close if U won election, as well as effort to coerce Ees into voting against U; E's contention that statement was not unlawful because he had made decision to close U before U organization began and was therefore simply informing Ees of previous management decision, rejected)

Pacific Intermountain Express 250 NLRB No. 180
(violation where E removed customer accounts from Ee and told other Ees that it had done so because of customer's demand that U sales representatives not service them)

Knapp Foods, Inc. d/b/a Hi-Lo Foods 247 NLRB No. 146
(threatening to cut Ees' hours from 40 to 20 per week because of prospective unionization of warehouse, violative)

Knapp Foods, Inc. d/b/a Hi-Lo Foods 247 NLRB No. 146
(violation, where during pre-election period supervisor told Ee that E was screwing Ees but it could not be proved, and that Ees' hours would stay cut until U matter was cleared up)

Sullivan Transfer Co. 247 NLRB No. 117
(E's statement to Ee that if he continued to be represented by U it would result in significant reduction in number of hours worked violated Act)

Locks Industries, Inc. JD-346-82
(E's statements to Ee during U organizational campaign that E's plant could end up same way as another E's plant with workforce half of what it was, not unlawful, where statements reflected facts involving other Es in allied industries and in same area and therefore was statement of opinion as to possible consequences of unionization based upon economic factors in area and, as such, was protected by 8(c) proviso)

Convenience Stores Distributing Company, a Partnership of Marsh Supermarkets, Inc. and King Kwix Minit Market, Inc. JD-745-80
(supervisor's telling Ee drivers that there was possibility that E distributor would get contract from chain of stores, but that store chain did not like Us and if U was successful at E's premises then E would not get contract, violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Chester Valley, Inc. 652 F.2d 263 (C.A. 2, June 1981)
(warning that if unionization occurred, E's main facility might become self-service, flexible work hours might be bargained away, and E might not be able to afford part-time Ees, violative as veiled threats of reprisal for pro-U votes; in most instances E failed to attribute possible unfavorable changes to any costs which would result from U representation)

N.L.R.B. v. Eastern Steel Company 671 F.2d 104 (C.A. 3, Feb. 1982)
(E's threat to Ees that practice of assigning Ees to whatever work was available would cease and that they would work fewer hours, unlawful)

5036-8354—Cont.

Central Freight Lines, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 666 F.2d 238 (C.A. 5, Jan. 1982)

(supervisor's remarks that if E were unionized, full-time Ees might be part-timers or jobless supported inference of unlawful threat of reduced work or discharge, where Ee who testified regarding remarks was sure that statements were made but unsure in what connection they were made)

N.L.R.B. v. Sure-Tan, Inc., and Surak Leather Co. 672 F.2d 592 (C.A. 7, Feb. 1982)

(E's statements implying that yes vote would result in little work held threat as it was warning of adverse economic impact w/o objective basis for Ees to believe that predicted result was not caused solely at E's initiative)

N.L.R.B. v. Steven Davis and Michael Provenzano, d/b/a Carlton's Market 642 F.2d 350 (C.A. 9, Apr 20, 1981)

(threat of reduction in hours if U organized the store unlawful)

5036-8355 Issuing warnings

South Nassau Communities Hospital 262 NLRB No. 146

(warning letters issued to U activists for infraction of E rule by overextending their lunch breaks, unlawful, notwithstand that similar punishment was given to Ees not actively supporting U, where extension of lunch break was common practice engaged in by supervisors and Ees, of which E was well aware; and, as shown by E's remarks in answer to Ee's inquiry about her similar situation, discipline of Ees herein was directly related to their U activities)

South Nassau Communities Hospital 262 NLRB No. 146

(supervisor's remarks to Ee who was not U supporter, after supervisor had issued warning letters to U activists assertedly for breaching E rule, that Ee, who had similarly breached rule, was doing a fine job and was not involved in anything, and that management was looking at certain people held to lead to conclusion that E's issuance of warning letters unlawfully coerced and was in retaliation against U activists)

Mark I Tune-Up Centers, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 138

(in context of threat to close plant of E engaged in automotive repairs, statement that Ees would no longer be able to purchase materials at cost nor use E's utilities, tools, and facilities, unlawful, since statement, indicating that E can be strict and tough, and that E's rules might be enforced more strictly, was threat to change to more onerous working conditions)

Herman Brothers, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 121

(supervisor informing Ee who had been given permission to take off next day that if Ee, who opposed ratification of proposed contract, went to U hall next day Ee would be given warning letter for excessive absenteeism, unlawful, since supervisor never denied Ee had previously been given permission to take day off and E's concern was that reason Ee wanted to be off was to attend tally of mail ballot on contract ratification)

AMCAR Division, ACF Industries, Incorporated 247 NLRB No. 138

(warning Ees that if they honored picket line of U representing other Ees at E's plant they would be in violation of no-strike clause and would be charged with unexcused absences, unlawful, since there was no waiver by terms of contract or on basis of bargaining history of Ee's right to engage in sympathy strike or to refuse to cross picket lines of another U)

5036-8357 Stricter enforcement of rules

Larid Printing, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 040

(informing Ee he was making big mistake in bringing U in, if U came in and shop closed down Ee was going to have bad name in industry, and if U came in E would have to get very technical, and everything would have to be done by book, unlawful)

Vincent Brass & Aluminum Co. 264 NLRB No. 070

(E's superintendent informing U steward that he was tired of all the grievances and nit picking and threatening to start writing Ees up for overstaying breaks or lunch period, unlawful)

Hudson Oxygen Therapy Sales Company 264 NLRB No. 004

(E's implying to Ee complaining about disciplinary write-up for infraction of work rule that, as in the past, E would continue to protect Ee's interests in the future, which was accompanied by inarticulated further premise that, if Ee continued her support for U, further discipline would be imposed, unlawful)

Cardio Data Systems Corp. 264 NLRB No. 011

(posting of statement clearly implying that consequence of selecting U to represent Ees would lead to further erosion of favorable informal atmosphere of employment, unlawful; even though statement asserted this could be the result, entirety of statement clearly threatened Ees with more stringent rules and procedures should they organize)

South Nassau Communities Hospital 262 NLRB No. 146

(E's advising Ees of possibility of stricter enforcement of company rules and working conditions once U represented Ees, unlawful, where E sized upon opportunity at regularly scheduled business meeting to discourage U activity, and such remarks fell outside protection of 8(c))

Midwest Motel Management Corp. of Birmingham 261 NLRB No. 100

(stricter enforcement of E's work rules if Ee's supported U)

High Energy Corporation 259 NLRB No. 097

(E's threat to Ees that, if they selected U, more stringent work rules would be implemented by restricting coffee and food breaks, unlawful)

K & E Bus Lines, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 137

(E announcing to Ees who were school bus drivers that forthwith E would follow school bus driving manual)

General Electric Company 255 NLRB No. 092

(threatening strict enforcement of length of breaks if U came in, unlawful)

Foundation of California State University, Sacramento 255 NLRB No. 029

(threatening that if U came in Ees would have to work certain set hours w/o exception and no alternative arrangements would be permitted, unlawful)

Foundation of California State University, Sacramento 255 NLRB No. 029

(threatening that if U came in Ees would be docked if late rather than allowed to make up time, unlawful)

Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc. 253 NLRB No. 023

(E's statement that work rules, especially in regard to punctuality would be tightened up in event of unionization, unlawful)

Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc. 253 NLRB No. 023

(supervisor's statement that if U came in things would change drastically, limitations would be placed on breaks, Ees would not be allowed to chit-chat, and office atmosphere would be much stricter)

GE's Trucking, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 131

(E's statement that presence of U would require more stringent application of work rules presently enforced leniently held unlawful threat of reprisal)

5036-8358 Refusal to reinstate strikers

Brinkerhoff Signal Drilling Co. 264 NLRB No. 049

(E violated Sec. 8(a)(1) when it created impression that economic strikers who were seeking to return to work were not being granted their Laidlaw preference in employment over new applicants and also by requiring returning strikers to fill out same employment register that all job applicants signed)

Brinkerhoff Signal Drilling Co. 264 NLRB No. 049

R. L. White Company, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 069

(strikers would be discharged)

Charleston Nursing Center 257 NLRB No. 066

(E's letter to replaced economic strikers requiring them to furnish current information about their interest in reinstatement or risk losing their reinstatement rights, violative since it constituted threat to cut off statutory reinstatement rights of economic strikers)

Rockingham Machine-Lunex Company 255 NLRB No. 015

(E informing Ees that if they went on strike and E would assume they no longer wanted their jobs, unlawful for strikers are still Ees)

Huck Manufacturing Company 254 NLRB No. 088

(E's statement to returning strikers that if they struck again they would be permanently replaced violative as it made no distinction between economic strikers and ULP strikers)

Huck Manufacturing Company 254 NLRB No. 088

(where E in discussion with Ee originally stated that he could permanently replace all striking Ees and then retracted statement and stated correctly that striking Ees would be eligible for reinstatement as their replacements left his employ did not violate Act as his explanation was not in error nor coercive)

Peat Manufacturing Company 251 NLRB No. 153

(telling economic strikers that they were not going to get their jobs back, violative, since they were entitled their jobs once strike had ended, they applied for reinstatement and openings for which they were qualified became available)

N.L.R.B. v. Laredo Coca Cola Bottling Company 613 F.2d 1338 (C.A. 5) (1980)

(violation where, after Ees went on strike to protest E's ULP, E was accurately quoted in newspaper as having said that Ees hired to replace strikers were permanent and that E planned to replace all strikers, E's comments constituted threats not to reinstate ULP strikers)

N.L.R.B. v. The Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Memphis 616 F.2d 949 (C.A. 6, 1980)

(violation where E threatened with discharge, and delayed reinstatements of, several Ees who were engaged in ULP strike)

5036-8359 Refusal to recall laid off employees

Hart Ski Mfg. Co., Inc. JD-11-80

(violation, where E's owner, at least indirectly, threatened that laid off Ees would not be recalled until contract offered by E had been accepted by stating he had to have some basic understanding of where Ees were going and whether they would accept management's proposal before company could start calling laid off Ees back to work)

5036-8360 Installation of time clocks

5036-8360—Cont.

Como Fabricating & Engineering Company 263 NLRB No. 132
(threat to not recall laid-off Ee if he sided with U, unlawful)

Progressive Supermarkets, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 074
(if U won election)

Foundation of California State University, Sacramento 255 NLRB No. 029
(threatening that if U came in time clocks would be installed, unlawful)

5036-8366 Shut down or removal of plant to new location

Enterprise Products Company 265 NLRB No. 083
(directing senior Ee to carry threat to other Ees that E would close plant rather than accept U, unlawful)

Admiral Merchants Motor Freight, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 016
(E's president's threat to close plant if Ees did not accede to his plan to reduce debt to pension and health and welfare funds, as ordered by ct, by giving up some of their contractual benefits, unlawful)

Penn Color, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 058
(threatening to relocate plant because of Ees' U activities, unlawful)

Bai Research Corporation 257 NLRB No. 127
(threatening to move to new location and bringing in police to instill in Ees' minds that E was serious about move, violative)

Colson Equipment, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 015
(supervisor's remark that E had choice of closing up and moving, unlawful, since the remark when made under circumstances herein could only be construed as threat to take such action because of U activities, and such threats, which are not based on objective facts, constitute violations; moreover, supervisor did not cite any economic justification to support his statement, and his remarks, as a supervisor, could be construed as representing E's position)

Viracon, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 037
(sending all Ees letter stating that had Ees been represented by U earlier, plant would already have been closed and suggesting in letter that, should plant be closed, E would simply move to another location, but that some Ees would remain unemployed, violative)

Steinerfilm, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 017
(threat to move plant and that Ees would lose jobs if U came, violative)

Monterey Drilling Company 255 NLRB No. 074
(E's threat that E would move and none of present Ees would move with E if Ees selected U, violative)

Riley-Beaird, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 085
(E's unrelenting message to Ees, through speeches, slides, and posters, constituted implied threat to Ees that selection of U would result in plant closure, where E's campaign theme was inevitability of bargaining table disagreement, resultant strike and ready alternative of plant closure and removal)

Kaufman DeDell Printing, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 002
(threat to move machinery out of building if it was necessary for everyone to join U, unlawful)

Owen Lee Floor Service, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 070
(threat of E's vice-president to set up another company elsewhere to avoid bargaining with U, unlawful)

Han-Dee Pak, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 107

Material Transportation, Co., Inc. JD-670-80
(threatening Ees that if they selected U to represent them, its contract to haul coal would not be renewed and E would shut its doors, violative)

Dean Products, Inc. and American Metals Corp. v. N.L.R.B. 613 F.2d 162 (C.A. 6)
(threat immediately before U election of closing plant and moving its production to another plant, violative)

5036-8368 Reorganization of method of doing business

Chester Valley, Inc. 251 NLRb No. 190
(telling Ees that, because of costs that could occur if U came in, E would have to cut corners somewhere and possibly this would be done by turning E's gasoline station into self-service facility, unlawful)

Owen Lee Floor Service, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 070
(threat of E's vice-president to set up another company elsewhere to avoid bargaining with U, unlawful)

5036-8370 Replacement of strikers

Grove Valve and Regulator Company 262 NLRB No. 035
(E who conducted extensive search for job applicants during U campaign and then gave large group of applicants tour of plant explaining to Ees that these people would be their replacements in event of strike violated Act as this conduct created fear in Ees that if they selected U strike was inevitable and they would be immediately and permanently replaced)

Grove Valve and Regulator Company 262 NLRB No. 035
(memo distributed by E to its salaried personnel during course of U campaign which assured them of their safety and continued production if a strike should occur at plant, violated Act for it created impression that strike was certainty and economic strikers would be immediately replaced)

Cooperativa De Credito Y Ahorro Vegabajena 261 NLRB No. 161
(threat that ULP strikers would be replaced if they did not go back to work by certain date, violative)

Heads and Threads Company, a Division of MSL Industries, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 115

Best Products Co., Inc. 259 NLRB No. 016
(statements that if U was voted in strike would be inevitable and strikers would lose their jobs violative)

Gulf Envelope Company 256 NLRB No. 058
(E informing strikers that if they did not return to work by certain date their jobs would be permanently filled and their employment terminated, unlawful, since not legitimate prediction of economic consequences, but coercion, in view of use of word terminated which could be logically understood to mean fired; further, informing strikers that they may be placed on preferential hiring list to be discontinued after one year and that even if they were reinstated it would be w/o seniority except for benefits, unlawful, and not mooted, notwithstanding no strikers ever placed on such list)

Rockingham Machine-Lunex Company 255 NLRB No. 015
(E informing Ees that if they went on strike and E would assume they no longer wanted their jobs, unlawful for strikers are still Ees)

Piezo Technology, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 122
(reading prepared speech to Ees that if Ees engaged in economic strike and were replaced, Ees will lose their Ee status, violative)

Berger Transfer and Storage, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 002
(E telling strikers if they did not report to work in half hour they would be terminated and their insurance cancelled, violative, as it is threat of reprisal for engaging in protected activity)

Huron Dressed Beef, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 031
(refusal to reinstate economic strikers except as new hires with starting wages and w/o seniority and accured vacation, medical and other benefits, and hiring permanent replacements in place of those strikers who did not accept offer to return to work as new hires, violative)

Sanders Bus Line, Inc. JD-(SF)-120-82
(E informing ULP strikers that if they did not report to work prior to being replaced they would be terminated, unlawful)

Sanders Bus Line, Inc. JD-(SF)-120-82
(threat to replace Ee who was on leave of absence if she did not cut short her leave and report to work during ULP strike, unlawful)

Vinci Investment Co., d/b/a Pacific Honda JD-(SF)-56-81
(letter to Ees stating that when strikers were permanently replaced they lost their jobs, violative, where such misstatement had coercive impact)

K-P Graphics, Inc. d/b/a Impression Northwest JD-(SF)-187-80
(E's issuing letter to strikers informing them that if they did not return to work on particular day, they would be permanently replaced, and, if hired later, would be as new Ee held violative, since action interfered with Ees' rights)

Mather Federal Credit Union JD-(SF)-8-80
(telling ULP strikers that they were permanently replaced)

N.L.R.B. v. Hasbro Industries, Inc. 672 F.2d 978 (C.A. 1, Feb. 1982)
(E's letter conveying message that there would be a strike and proU Ees would be replaced, unlawful)

5036-8370-5000 Prior to strike

Eagle Comtronics, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 070
(merely informing Ees that in case of an economic strike, strikers could be replaced by applicants whose names were on file w/o delineating their specific rights as economic strikers, not unlawful, since E need not detail Laidlaw protections of strikers so long as E does not threaten to deprive Ees of Laidlaw rights)

Progressive Supermarkets, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 074
(E's repeated references to posibility of strikes and fact that economic strikers can be permanently replaced violative when considered in context of E's other campaign statements which were clear violations of Act)

Progressive Supermarkets, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 074
(where E's campaign speeches contained constant references to U's own anti-U campaign where it had forced strike and permanently replaced strikers, these references found violative as not so subtle threat that E would also force strike resulting in permanent replacement of strikers)

5036-8375 Sale of business

Allen-Stone Boxes, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 171
(reporting to Ees prospect of sale of business, merger of operations, or jobbing out of work if U came in, violative)

5036-8375—Cont.

Head Industries, Inc., and Its Wholly Owned Subsidiary, B & K Transportation, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 089
(E vice-president's unequivocally stating to Ee that if the Union got in—he would sell the equipment and all of us drivers would be without a job, violative)

Nacker Packing Company v. N.L.R.B. 615 F.2d 456 (C.A. 7) (1980)
(threats to discriminatee and other Ees that it would be discriminatee's fault if E had to sell business and Ees lost their jobs because of discriminate's resort to Bd processes, unlawful)

5036-8379 Shutdown or liquidation of business

Donnelly Manufacturing Co. Division of Brockhouse Corp. 265 NLRB No. 196
(manager stating to Ees that E's president couldn't stand for U coming in and would have to close business, unlawful threat of plant closing, notwithstanding jesting manner, since did not predicate statement on economic basis or give any supporting figures for conclusion)

De Queen General Hospital 264 NLRB No. 069
(E's placing advertisement in local newspaper admonishing hospital Ees to vote against U, and informing Ees that doctors might be obligated to take their patients elsewhere if hospital was unionized and patient care suffers, violative)

Larid Printing, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 040
(E's production manager asking Ee if Ee was for U and informing Ee if U comes in it will kill us, unlawful)

Vincent Brass & Aluminum Co. 264 NLRB No. 070
(E's superintendent informing U steward that E's vice-president was tired of grievances pertaining to job bidding, and of U problems, and was going to close plant, unlawful)

L. A. Water Treatment, Division of Chromalloy American Corporation 263 NLRB No. 022
(threatening to close plant if Ees decertified incumbent U or selected labor organization other than incumbent as their bargaining representative, violative)

R. L. White Company, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 069
(supervisor's threat of plant closure violative notwithstanding prefaced by statement in my opinion)

Grove Valve and Regulator Company 262 NLRB No. 035
(statements made by E in speeches to Ees prior to election which emphasized inevitability of strikes, threatened loss of strikers jobs and plant closure violative especially in light of fact that they were made in context of other violative conduct)

Dutch Boy, Inc., Glow-Lite Division 262 NLRB No. 001
(vice-president's remark to Ees, in response to Ee question whether U would be help to E, made in context of E's numerous ULPs during U campaign, that his prior job was best he had ever had — but company went broke after U came in.. held violative as implied threat to Ees that U victory in election would result in loss of jobs)

Conair Corporation 261 NLRB No. 178
(signs in plant's rest rooms threatening plant closure, not unlawful, in absence of evidence that E was responsible for the posting or was aware of the signs' existence)

Conair Corporation 261 NLRB No. 178
(even assuming E could not be found to have initiated, promoted, aided, or participated in distribution of raffle tickets for all expense paid trip to E's new facilities in Hong Kong, and for signs appearing in plant stating Vote No or Move to Hong Kong and similar signs, raffle tickets and signs appearing 2 weeks before election held unlawful threats of plant closure, since E was aware of such activity and had duty to unequivocally disavow any responsibility for such material, but E failed to do so even though it had ample time)

Conair Corporation 261 NLRB No. 178
(E's preelection remarks to Ees at mass meeting, and distribution of leaflet, referring to high unemployment rate in State and corresponding loss of U membership throughout country, and statement that no company can possibly give what U promises and still stay in this competitive business held unlawful implied threat of plant closure)

Conair Corporation 261 NLRB No. 178
(threats by E to close business and discharge or lay off Ees because of U activity are most egregious form of interference with free exercise of Ee rights)

Marion Rohr Corporation 261 NLRB No. 138
(E warning Ee of prospect of layoffs and plant shutdown by citing another E as example and necessary linkage and causation between unionization and E going out of business)

S.M.C. Rest. Corp. d/b/a Poletti's Restaurant 261 NLRB No. 051
(violations, where E following demanded by U for recognition called meeting of all Ees and interrogated Ees as to why they wanted U, promised to discuss benefits after Ees signed ptn against U, threatened to close restaurant if U came in, and w/i five days w/o warning to Ees closed restaurant for two and a half weeks which had never been previously closed)

Fred Lewis Carpets, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 108
(stating to Ees that E would go bankrupt if forced to pay U wages and benefits, violative, where E never offered any supporting figures or other evidence to base its predictions and such prediction of bankruptcy constituted veiled threat to close business if Ees selected U)

High Energy Corporation 259 NLRB No. 097
(manager's statement concerning possibility of plant closure in event of unionization, unlawful, since it constituted a threat of retaliation rather than a prediction, where E introduced no evidence that his statements were based on fact or that eventuality of plant closure was a demonstrable probable consequence of such fact; and chairman of E's board of directors subsequently pointed up inaccuracy of manager's remarks by assuring Ees that plant would not be closed in event of unionization)

Air-Vac Industries, Inc., Leeward Constructors, Inc., Air-Vac Environmental Limited 259 NLRB No. 051
(E's statement to Ees that if he had to pay contractual benefits and wage increases as provided in supplemental agreement, E will have to close its doors, give up municipal work and Ees would lose their jobs held violative)

St. John's Construction Corporation 258 NLRB No. 067
(E's telling Ees that, faced with U organization, it had options of closing its doors, subcontracting, or going out of business, violative)

Dimensions in Metal, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 078
(threatening to close plant before letting U in, violative)

Cumberland Farms Dairy of New York, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 120
(statement that E would close plant rather than tolerate U, violative)

Marhoefer Baking Company, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 071
(threatening to discontinue operation if Ees chose to be represented by U, violative)

Piggly Wiggly, Tuscaloosa Division Commodores Point Terminal Corporation 258 NLRB No. 142

Hopcroft Art and Stained Glass Works, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 190

Pantex Towing Corporation 258 NLRB No. 113
(E's threatening tugboat's crew with discontinuance in operations and thus their employment, as well as outright loss of substantial benefits-bed and board-violative where it was threat of penalty or consequence should Ees exercise their rights under Act to vote for U)

Greyhound Food Management, Inc. d/b/a Burger King 258 NLRB No. 178
(threat of closing E's facility)

Timberline Energy Corporation 258 NLRB No. 037
(telling U agent that he would not recognize U and would move operation out of state before allowing U in, violative)

George W. Kugler, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 007
(threatening to close terminal where Ee was employed if he won reinstatement through grievance proceeding, unlawful)

Micro Metl Corporation 257 NLRB No. 005
(night superintendent's comment that he believed E would close plant if U were selected as bargaining representative, violative)

Clements Wire & Manufacturing Company, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 075
(telling Ees that if they could not work out their problems then outsiders would come in and plant would close down, violative)

Mark I Tune-Up Centers, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 130
(E representative's threat of closure of U's facility, unlawful where, although E has right to present its views concerning U and pending election, Ees were aware of E's considerable U animus, representative failed to show that predictions were based on objective facts which would demonstrate probable consequences beyond its control; and, although representative was sincere, his predictions were based more on his anti-U bias than on facts required of business realities)

Great Scot of Florida, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 126
(E's campaign literature and speech to Ees that stores that were U were being closed and Ees were out of jobs, both nationwide and locally, and noting success of non-U operations, violative as implicit threat that E may or may not take action solely on his own initiative for reasons unrelated to economic necessities; statements do not contain management decision already arrived at to close plant in event of unionism, but contained threats to make decision after Ees had voted in election)

M. A. Harrison Manufacturing Company, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 071
(stating that no U was going to tell E what to do and threatening plant closure, violative)

Precision Graphics, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 087
(E's threat of plant closure during critical preelection period and following shortly after U received majority designation, and announced in order to discourage Ees from supporting U, unlawful)

Precision Graphics, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 087
(E's posted notice to Ees allegedly repudiating prior threat of plant closure held to have no legal effect where, although there was adequate publication, notice was not unambiguous nor free from same proscribed conduct as prior closure announcement; notice was not timely, having been delayed for month so that Ees could ponder impact of earlier threat; it admitted no wrongdoing and gave no assurance of no future interference with Ees' statutory rights by such coercive conduct; and, since Gissel bargaining order is warranted, E's repudiation could not effectuate what Bd remedy could not do)

Samuel J. Wade, an Individual d/b/a Major Cab Company 255 NLRB No. 181
(statement that there would be no U at company and E would close up his business before he would have U, violative)

Mini-Industries, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 123
(threatening Ee with plant closure upon advent of U, violative)

Southern Moldings, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 115
(speeches which were intended to, and did impress upon Ees futility of selecting U and clearly conveyed to Ees impression that Us inevitably bring uncompetitiveness, strikes, and eventually plant closure, violative)

Custom Trim Products 255 NLRB No. 096
(threat of plant closure if U came in, violative)

Foundation of California State University, Sacramento 255 NLRB No. 029
(E, which was non-profit organization, informing Ees after U had made demand for recognition that U's salary demands would cause E to lose control of its revenues and make the foundation go broke)

Crown Cork & Seal Company, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 004
(supervisors' pre-election statements to Ees to effect that if U got in, E's sole customer for steel cans would switch to less costly aluminum cans and (E) would be forced to shut down held violative, since E had not met its burden of providing objective factual basis for statements because it does not necessarily follow that a U election victory per se would increase E's labor costs disproportionately to customer's willingness to pay)

Edgcomb Metals Co., One of The Williams Companies 254 NLRB No. 140
(Bd overruled ALJ's finding of unlawful threat of plant closure where U president's testimony relied on by ALJ was of doubtful value in establishing particulars of alleged incident and not sufficient to sustain violation)

Pickering & Co., Inc. 254 NLRB No. 137
(E did not repudiate supervisor's unlawful threat to close plant if U won election where in nonviolative speech expressing its opposition to U, E did say that it intended to continue operation of plant regardless of outcome of election but no reference was made to supervisor's speech and for repudiation to be effective it must be timely, unambiguous, and adequately publized)

Suburban Chevrolet, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 016
(statement by co-owner of E to Ee that if U came in and tried to tell him how to run his business, he would put padlock on door and close place, violative)

Suburban Chevrolet, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 016
(E's statements that it would close its business if U came in, not unlawful where Ees overheard statements directed to unidentified individuals)

Warehouse Groceries Management, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 021
(in pre-election speech, threatening to close if U ever engages in strike, violative as E did not refer to objective facts, such as economic necessity, which would cause store to close, and thus, statement constitutes threat of retaliation for engaging in strike)

Alco Venetian Blind Co., Inc. 253 NLRB No. 161
(telling U representative in presence of Ees that he would close doors first rather than recognize U, violative)

Elk Brand Manufacturing Company 253 NLRB No. 132

Williamsport Plumbing and Heating Co., Inc. 253 NLRB No. 121
(threatening Ees with closure of its shop or business if they selected U, unlawful)

Weather Tamer, Inc. and Tuskegee Garment Corporation 253 NLRB No. 036
(telling Ees that by having U, cost of coats would be so high that nobody would buy them and there would be no point in making them, violative)

Weather Tamer, Inc. and Tuskegee Garment Corporation 253 NLRB No. 036
(telling Ees that predecessor company went out of business because of U, violative as it was analogy as to what would happen if U won)

Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc. 253 NLRB No. 023
(supervisor informing Ee he felt sorry for her and asked what Ee would do if office closed down as result of unionization, unlawful)

Polly Lingerie, Inc. and Argus Lingerie Corp. 252 NLRB No. 052
(violation where E told Ee that all U wanted was to take $10 a month from the workers, and before he got U, he would prefer to close up shop)

PPG Industries, Inc., Lexington Plant, Fiber Glass Division 251 NLRB No. 156
(violation where supervisor warned Ees that if U got in E would probably sell out to another company and that it wouldn't do Ees any good if U got in because plant manager had guaranteed supervisors at meeting that if U got in E would refuse to negotiate U contract)

Mark J. Leach d/b/a Mark J. Leach Electrical Contractors 251 NLRB No. 151
(declare bankruptcy)

Edgar L. Landen t/a Speed Mail Service 251 NLRB No. 064
(violation and interference by threat by nonsupervisory Ee whom Ees could reasonably believe to be speaking for E that Ees would lose their jobs or that E would close down company if U won election)

Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Bloomington, Indiana, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 131
(E's threat to close plant if Ees failed in attempt to decertify U, unlawful)

Owen Lee Floor Service, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 070
(threat of E's vice-president to set up another company elsewhere to avoid bargaining with U, unlawful)

Patsy Bee, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 125
(Bd held, contrary to ALJ, that E's threatening plant closure and job loss was unlawful, and not protected by 8(c) by virtue of E's president's predictions based on his subjective belief that unionization would cause it to suffer severe economic hardships leading to the threatened results)

Sentry Investigation Corp. 249 NLRB No. 130
(E's president threatening closure of plant if Ees changed bargaining representative since E could not meet wages and benefits in U's agreements with large companies, unlawful, where he made no reference to availability of collective bargaining since E could not be compelled to agree to terms it could not economically meet)

Portsmouth Lumber Treating, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 160
(violation where E's agent, relayed to Ees that E president stated that he was going to close the place down if U was voted in)

Smyth Manufacturing Company, Inc.; Beacon Industries 247 NLRB No. 164
(threat to close plant if U representative filed grievance or if E did not get open shop)

Smyth Manufacturing Company, Inc.; Beacon Industries 247 NLRB No. 164
(statement to assembled Ees that E was closing plant amounted to unlawful announcement of economic reprisal for support of U's bargaining position, particularly absent explanation of economic basis for E's decision)

Knapp Foods, Inc. d/b/a Hi-Lo Foods 247 NLRB No. 146
(threatening that plant would close down if U's campaign were successful, violative)

467 East Gilbert Street Corporation d/b/a Medical Center Convalescent Hospital 247 NLRB No. 074

J. P. Stevens and Company, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 044
(stating to Ee, in response to her statement of U support, that E's warehouse was full of E's finished product, unlawful, notwithstanding E's attempt to repudiate initial statement, where E's statement was well understood code for economic troubles meaning layoff of Ees and implied that U activity could result in plant closure or layoff)

C-F Air Freight, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 060
(E's statements threatening to close plant, unlawful, where statements conveyed impression that decision to close plant would be made after Ees selected U as representative, E's stated economic reasons as basis of lawful prediction relative to plant closing remarks were spurious, at time statements were made Ees had not even approached U and E was not confronted with contract demands, and continuation of E's facility for over 7 years of financial losses does not support claim that E's statements were merely predictions)

Thermo King Corporation 247 NLRB No. 048
(E's speech to Ees in which he assertedly deviated from written speech and made extemporaneous statements threatening Ees with plant closure and loss of jobs if U won election, not unlawful, where Ees' testimony containing discrepancies and showing inability to remember substance of speech, was discredited, and only 2 out of over 500 Ees testified regarding anti-U deviations which at least a few other Ees might also have recalled)

Thermo King Corporation 247 NLRB No. 048
(E's preelection letter published in monthly newsletter assertedly threatening Ees with plant closure if U won election, not unlawful, where letter did not contain such threat and was merely summary of recent events with concluding comments that until outcome of election was known, it would be difficult for E to project plant production for near future since he did not know what changes would occur with unionization and invited Ees to consider for themselves consequences of unionization)

5036-8379—Cont.

J. J. Cassone Bakery, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 032
(E's truthful representation to Ee prior to election that E had acquired some machinery from defunct operations which had failed because of economic hardships that had befallen such enterprises due to excessive U bargaining demands held not unlawful threat to close plant and not interference)

Galax Apparel Corporation 247 NLRB No. 026

Louis Gallet, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 013
(violation, where E informed Ees in letter prior to election that if Ees selected U as representative E would have to spend time fighting U rather than obtaining orders and remaining competitive in industry, and consequently plant would close, at no point suggesting possibility of collective bargaining)

Lion Trucking Corporation JD-(NY)-66-82
(statement of E's manager with respect to U that E couldn't afford it – business was not that great, not violative, since statement w/o any other threats is vague, inconclusive, and remote from actual threat of closure, or indeed any prediction business would close)

Sea-Alaska Products, Inc. JD-(SF)-138-82
(threatening to close down operations and reopen under different name as non-U shop, violative)

Traub's Market, Inc. JD-286-82
(E's remark at negotiating session with Ees' independent U that E would close store if national U came in, not violative since remark was made as prediction of economic consequences; bargaining session centered on economic condition of store which was losing money, and there was no U campaign or any threats of same, national U was far from being in picture, and Ees were represented by a U)

Ellis Hospital JD-164-82
(doctors' letter to hospital Ees giving their negative opinion of U, thereby implying that selection of U would lead to closure of hospital, not unlawful nor interference with election, where letter presented doctors' general opposition to Us in health care institutions and to U herein in particular, and concluded that U would be of no help in solving hospital's financial problems; unlawful statements by other management member did not vitiate otherwise permissible communication herein, and letter amounted neither to substantial misrepresentation nor threat of closure)

Ellis Hospital JD-164-82
(E did not interfere with election nor unlawfully threaten Ees with closure of its facility in order to influence Ees to vote against U, where statement regarding posibility of closure if certain Ees struck related to different group of Ees than those involved in organizational campaign, and due to E's adverse financial situation at the time, such statement was not an unreasonable prediction)

Ellis Hospital JD-164-82
(doctor's statement to hospital Ee that in his opinion all service Us were the same and U would close the hospital, not unlawful, since statement was not clear threat of economic reprisal but an expression of opinion)

Ellis Hospital JD-164-82
(doctor's statement to hospital Ee that, if hospital's finances got worse, doctor's department at hospital might close and that in his opinion U would not help hospital's finances, not unlawful, since statement did not amount to threat of reprisal but rather was an expression of opinion)

Hamly Hardwood Lumber Co. JD-285-81
(remarks of speaker invited by E to address assembled Ees who informed Ees that he had closed firm because of U, and following which remarks E threatened to close plant if U came in, imputed to E and unlawful)

New Mayo, Inc., d/b/a Mayo Products Company JD-(ATL)-18-81
(telling Ee that E would close down plant if U won, violative)

RMX, Inc. JD-593-80
(threat of plant closure if Ees selected U, unlawful)

Round Table Enterprises Inc. t/a Thrift T Mart JD-(NY)-62-80
(supervisor's advising Ee not to pass out any U cards because E would close store and E's telling Ee that if union does come into store, I will close it, violative)

Bailey Glass Company, Inc., and/or Blue Mountain Glass Mfg., Inc., d/b/a Bailey Glass JD-452-80
(comment that E would close plant if U failed to agree on E's position on insurance rate increase and its position on reduction of work force, not unlawful, where E clearly indicated during negotiations that it was in bad financial condition and offered to show corporate books to verify claim)

Neckover Trailer Manufacturing Company JD-256-80
(supervisor's statement to Ee that he thought E would close plant if U came in, not unlawful, where statement was in response to Ee's request for his opn on advent of U into plant, and was not coercive nor threatening but constituted everyday dialogue between Ee and supervisor as to pros and cons of unionism)

Like Corporation JD-(SF)-69-80
(warning that all of E's management personnel would quit if U came in, violative as threat that plant would shut down if U came in)

The Fort Miller Company, Inc. (Local 294, Teamsters) JD-141-80
(supervisor's stating on election day that after today probably everybody will be standing in the unemployment line, or that after today probably none of us will be working here any more, held not threat of plant closure because of Ee U activity; at most, the statement constituted prediction or warning of unemployment w/o regard to outcome of election)

The Fort Miller Company, Inc. (Local 294, Teamsters) JD-141-80
(supervisor's stating, in answer to Ee's question as to what would happen if U won election, that whatever way it goes, we'll all be out of work, that they would both be out of a job, that it would all be over with, or that whatever way it goes it will all be over with, held not threat of discharge or plant closure if U won election; at most the statement indicated either that there would be more loss of jobs regardless to outcome of election, or that campaign would be over once election took place)

Tri-Supply Company of Beaumont, Inc. JD-(SF)-20-80
(supervisor's telling Ee, In fact, E would go out of business if they had a union, and if ...the union was voted in, that the mill would have to be shut down about a week to have negotiations, violative, since remarks imply that E would unilaterally choose to close down its plant during negotiations)

Hart Ski Mfg. Co., Inc. JD-11-80
(foreman's statement that E would close plant if Ees supported outside U rather than supporting Ee committee and accepting E's contract proposals made to committee and directly to Ees, unlawful, notwithstanding contention statements were casual and that E quickly disavowed them and foreman was demoted, since there was neither plantwide repudiation nor cessation of conduct afterwards)

Cardinal Heating and Cooling, Inc. JD-835-79
(it may be assumed that threat of plant closure, though made to only one Ee, will be communicated to others in small unit of Ees)

N.L.R.B. v. Steinerfilm, Inc. 669 F.2d 845 (C.A. 1, Feb. 1982)

N.L.R.B. v. Jack August Enterprises, Inc. 583 F.2d 575 (C.A. 1)
(E's telling Ees that i's restaurant would have to close if it became unionized, violative)

Electrical Products Division of Midland-Ross Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 617 F.2d 977 (C.A. 3, 1980)
(E's notices, letters to Ees, and meetings with Ees at non-U plant regarding closing of E's nearby U plant held to convey unlawful implied threats where Ees' understanding of Ee's message was that closing of U plant was result of its unprofitability, that U victory in election at their plant would make it unprofitable leading to same result, and E's arguments regarding leaking of information about closing of plant did not justify its actions)

TRW-United Greenfield Division v. N.L.R.B. 637 F.2d 410 (C.A. 5, 1981)
(telling Ee that another plant had closed because U demanded excessive wages and benefits and if similar demands were made E could close and write off tax loss held unlawful explicit threat by linking U with excessive wage demands)

TRW-United Greenfield Division v. N.L.R.B. 637 F.2d 410 (C.A. 5, 1981)
(sending Ees letter that another plant where U took money from Ees' paychecks had been closed permanently for economic reasons violative as it implied similar action might be taken in retaliation if U wins)

Chromalloy Mining and Minerals Alaska Division, Chromalloy American Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 620 F.2d 1120 (C.A. 5, 1980)
(pre-election statements threatening plant shutdown if U won election w/o comments about profitability or business necessity, except to one Ee, unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. Lloyd Wood Coal Co., Inc. 585 F.2d 752 (C.A. 5)
(threat to close plant because Ees were stabbing E in back by their U activists)

(threat to close plant if U came in, violative)

Charge Card Association v. N.L.R.B. 653 F.2d 272 (C.A. 6, July 1981)
(supervisor's statement that E would fold if U came in violative where not based on demonstrable probable consequences beyond his control)

Miami Springs Properties, Inc., and James H. Kinley and Associates, Joint Employers v. N.L.R.B. 653 F.2d 276 (C.A. 6, Aug 1981)

[illegible], Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 619 F.2d 712 (C.A. 6) (1980)
(violation where shortly after U organizing campaign began, company officials coercively interrogated and threatened Ees as to consequences of bringing in U)

Patsy Bee, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 654 F.2d 515 (C.A. 8, 1981)
(ct held, contrary to Bd, that E's statements that unionization would result in plant closure were free speech protected under Sec. 8(c), rather than unlawful threat, where evidence showed them to be predictions of probable consequences beyond E's personal control based on objective facts of key customers' antiU policies, E's poor financial health, and similar situations observed at other plants and statements contained no threats or antiU comments)

N.L.R.B. v. Hanna Mold, Inc. 634 F.2d 630(T) (C.A. 9, 1980)
(unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. Chatfield-Anderson Co., Inc., dba Truss-Span Co. 606 F.2d 266 (C.A. 9, 1979)

Weather Tamer, Inc. and Tuskegee Garment Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 676 F.2d 483 (C.A. 11, May 1982)
(statements couched in terms of E's opinion of deleterious effects U would have on competitive position of plant, violative where they were not carefully phrased on basis of objective fact and clear implication was that Ees' continued employment and plant's reopening were contingent upon vote against U; E's assurance to Ees that outcome of election would not determine future of plant could not remove threatening import of E's other messages)

Weather Tamer, Inc. and Tuskegee Garment Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 676 F.2d 483 (C.A. 11, May 1982)
(violation, where supervisor told Ee that E official had closed other plant because its Ees had voted for U and that if Ees supported U, Ee's plant would also be closed)

The Wackenhut Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 666 F.2d 464 (C.A. 11, Jan. 1982)
(Ee's statement to Ees, prior to election, that similar E was no longer in business because it was unionized held violative and election set aside, since statement implied similar E out of business in retaliation for Ees voting for U and that instant E would do same thing)

5036-8380 Closure of department, facility, etc.

Ray-Lec, A Division of Genuine Parts Company 265 NLRB No. 211
(supervisor asking Ee how U meeting went and informing Ee materials necessary for his work would not be ordered until U talk settled violative)

Ray-Lec, A Division of Genuine Parts Company 265 NLRB No. 211
(violation where supervisor informed Ee who had previously been unlawfully interrogated regarding U activities and informed by another supervisor that materials needed for Ees work would not be ordered because of U activities, that E would not be ordering any more of the necessary materials until this dark cloud that was over us was gone; contention that incident isolated and de minimus rejected)

Schnadig Corporation 265 NLRB No. 020
(violation, where E's chairman of board informed Ees he had purchased plant as non-U and expected it to stay that way, that he was in business to stay, hopefully at present location, but if not there, somewhere else, and needed Ees to help make it profitable, that Ees were entitled to do as they saw fit, but he did not believe U was good for future and being intelligent people Ees should not believe U's snow job, since reference to plant closing not based on objective facts supporting demonstrable probable consequences beyond his control, and supervisors had previously threatened plant closure)

Marion Rohr Corporation 261 NLRB No. 138
(telling Ees twice that E could close doors and contract work, violative)

Hasbro Industries, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 070
(department manager's telling Ee that E would never let another U in — that they would farm work out or barring that would close department down for a year and take business loss and reopen after a year, violative)

Warehouse Groceries Management, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 021
(telling Ees that store would not close did not cure various threats of closure where E distributed pamphlet with photo of 2 stores and stated that the U was in both these stores and they are now closed)

Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc. 253 NLRB No. 023
(violation, where supervisor stated, in reply to question as to whether U coming in would cause closing of credit facility of retail store chain, that it would take only two days to transfer accounts to another location)

Behring International, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 055
(E, through Ees acting as its agents, unlawfully threatened Ees during Ee meeting by stating that Ees' warehouse work would be subcontracted or E's operation would be closed if election was conducted and U would be voted in)

Behring International, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 055
(E, through Ees acting as its agents, unlawfully threatened Ees during Ee meeting by stating that Ees' warehouse work would be subcontracted or E's operation would be closed if election was conducted and U would be voted in)

Clements Wire and Manufacturing Company, Inc. JD-330-80
(supervisor's statement that if Ees came in one day and did not have work that they would be sent home for a few days w/o pay, unlawful as threat to Ees that if they supported U there might not be any work and Ees would be laid off w/o pay)

N.L.R.B. v. Hasbro Industries, Inc. 672 F.2d 978 (C.A. 1, Feb. 1982)
(department manager's statement to Ee that E would never let another U in, but instead would farm work out or else close department, take a business loss and reopen after a year, unlawful)

Motor Inn of Perrysburg, Inc. d/b/a Holiday Inn of Perrysburg v. N.L.R.B. 647 F.2d 692 (C.A. 6, May 1981)
(threat to terminate restaurant operation rather than bargain with U, not violative, since evidence disclosed that any such threat was made only to former Ees and did not suggest threat was to be recommunicated to then current Ees)

5036-8381 Transfer to another job or shift

Magnesium Casting Company 259 NLRB No. 064
(telling Ee to keep a low profile about his U activities when the Ee was seeking a transfer, unlawful)

United States Postal Service 256 NLRB No. 012
(supervisor's placement at Ee's work place of list of vacancies at E's other locations, and his statement to another supervisor that he hoped Ee would transfer held not to constitute unlawful encouragement of Ee to transfer)

Louisiana Council No. 17, AFSCME, AFL-CIO 250 NLRB No. 072
(U council's threat to transfer Ee-staff member to different location in his assignment of servicing U locals, unlawful, where action was in retaliation for his protected U and concerted activities; action came on heels of unlawful suspension of Ees for attending U meeting and for soliciting aid outside of labor organization, and closely followed council's attempt to prevent second U meeting involving U's attorney called to address, among other things, Ees' suspensions)

Conagra, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 085
(instructing relief Ee who moved throughout plant not to talk U or we'll put you on a job where you won't be moving around. But that's not a threat, unlawful)

Sea-Alaska Products, Inc. JD-(SF)-138-82
(threatening to transfer all anti-U Ees to salaried positions outside of unit if U wins election, violative)

United States Steel Corporation, Geneva Works JD-(SF)-122-81
(supervisor's remarks conveying message that Ees who pursued safety concerns would be considered by E as having hassled their superior and would be reassigned other work, violative)

Grandee Beer Distributors, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 630 F.2d 928 (C.A. 2, 1980)
(threats to change job assignments of certain Ees immediately after U representatives requested recognition held violative where evidence on record supports conclusion that Ees could reasonably infer, due to timing, that threats were directed towards their decision to join U)

5036-8383 Transfer to less desirable job

Petroleum Helicopters, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 009
(threat to transfer and transfer of Ee, who was member of U's board of directors and activities coordinator, to more distant location violative where Ee was informed by E that he was being transferred because he was a disruptive influence and later denial of retransfer because he was still being punished also violative)

Ford Motor Company, Automotive Division, Twin Cities Plant JD-57-81
(threatening to transfer Ee to more difficult job if he continued to be troublemaker, unlawful)

5036-8384 Subcontracting

St. John's Construction Corporation 258 NLRB No. 067
(E's telling Ees that, faced with U organization, it had options of closing its doors, subcontracting, or going out of business, violative)

Allen-Stone Boxes, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 171
(reporting to Ees prospect of sale of business, merger of operations, or jobbing out of work if U came in, violative)

St. Francis Hospital 249 NLRB No. 017

Clements Wire and Manufacturing Company, Inc. JD-330-80
(supervisor's statement that if Ees came in one day and did not have work that they would be sent home for a few days w/o pay, unlawful as threat to Ees that if they supported U there might not be any work and Ees would be laid off w/o pay)

5036-8387 Transfer of work elsewhere

5036-8387—Cont.

Van Dorn Plastic Machinery Co., Division of Van Dorn Company 265 NLRB No. 036
(foreman's statement to U negotiating committeeman that it would be useless to go out on strike, since E would build machines in another plant, violative)

Glengarry Contracting Industries, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 136
(threatening Ees with replacement by subcontractors, unlawful)

Kawasaki Motors Corporation, U.S.A. 257 NLRB No. 069
(threats of transfer of work to Japan if Ees selected U, unlawful)

Guerdon Industries 255 NLRB No. 086
(telling Ees that he did not have to keep plant open but could divert orders to another plant, violative)

Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc. 253 NLRB No. 023
(violation, where supervisor stated, in reply to question as to whether U coming in would cause closing of credit facility of retail store chain, that it would take only two days to transfer accounts to another location)

5036-8383 Discontinuation of plans for plant expansion

Fisher-Haynes Corporation of Georgia 262 NLRB No. 155
(E's threatening to discontinue its plans for plant expansion in reprisal for Ees involvement in U activities, violative)

5036-8391 Implied or veiled threats

Belcher Towing Company 265 NLRB No. 159
(supervisor's implied threat of reprisal against all Ees by telling them not to sign U authorization cards and, if they had signed cards, to do their best to get them back, unlawful, in view of specific unlawful threats of discharge found herein)

Belcher Towing Company 265 NLRB No. 159
(supervisor's implied threats to Ee, in context of specific unlawful threats found herein, and supervisor's statement that E could look at Ee's U authorization card to verify his signature, and that supervisor could tell E how Ees voted, unlawful)

Howard and Roberta Feldman Corporation d/b/a L. A. Baker Electric 265 NLRB No. 203
(E's conduct held unlawful where, during conversation with Ee-U adherent, E implicitly threatened Ee with discharge by making thinly veiled allusions to discharge on previous day of another U protagonist and then stating that E didn't want any trouble in the shop and that if Ee thought he could do better that he could go elsewhere; such invitation to quit is coercive and threatening because it conveys to Ees clear message that support for U and continued employment are not compatible)

Elias Mallouk Realty Corp. 265 NLRB No. 156
(E asserting it was not able to meet U's wage demands, that it had overbundance of personnel and warning Ees against supporting incumbent U held veiled and implied threat of discharge and economic reprisal; and no less effective because implied)

Enterprise Products Company 265 NLRB No. 083
(E's asking why Ee, to whom E had been good, had not come forward and told E about U activity held unlawful interrogation and implied threat, where implication that continuation of E's being good to Ee was conditioned upon his becoming an informer)

Enterprise Products Company 265 NLRB No. 083
(although inquiries about Ees' dissatisfactions are not unlawful standing alone, they become unlawful when done in context of U organizing campaign of which E has knowledge, and are accompanied by assurances that rectification of problems is under consideration; E's conduct thereby becomes unlawful interference by solicitation of grievances and conveys implied promise to better working conditions in order to remove any reason for U representation; and the same is true where information concerning plans to improve working conditions is accompanied by threat to drop such plans if Ees persist in their U activity)

Larid Printing, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 040
(E's president informing Ee he was going to get him for trying to shut down company that Ee was sneaky bastard and if Ee made any mistakes on job there would be no one to protect him, unlawful)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 263 NLRB No. 015
(supervisor asking U proponent if he had U buttons in bag on his desk and informing him I hope you are not passing out U buttons you could get into trouble for passing these out, unlawful)

Dutch Boy, Inc., Glow-Lite Division 262 NLRB No. 001
(vice-president's remark to Ees, in response to Ee question whether U would be help to E, made in context of E's numerous ULPs during U campaign, that his prior job was best he had ever had — but company went broke after U came in... held violative as implied threat to Ees that U victory in election would result in loss of jobs)

Dutch Boy, Inc., Glow-Lite Division 262 NLRB No. 001
(E's letter to Ees falsely claiming that business was down held violative, since letter was implied threat that unionization could tip scales against (E's) survival; letter failed to reveal work was transferred elsewhere)

United Supermarkets, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 179
(supervisor's telling U adherent that we fired your friend, that even U supporters would be expected to toe the line, that supervisor knew discharged Ee had been attending U meetings as well as talking to other Ees, and that you can see what happened to her held unlawful thinly veiled threat that same would happen to other U adherents)

Conair Corporation 261 NLRB No. 178
(E's letter to ULP striker, advising that E had notified insurance company carrying Ee's medical and life insurance policies that Ee was no longer working for Ee, which resulted in insurance company's notice to Ee that his insurance coverage was terminated because he had left job, unlawful, since, in view of E's unlawful conduct, including numerous oral and written threats of discharge, letter constituted implied threat of discharge)

Conair Corporation 261 NLRB No. 178
(supervisors' statements during interrogation about Ees' U sympathies or signing of authorization card, that Ees either watch out or be careful if Ee had signed card, unlawful, since statements constituted implied threats of reprisal should Ees engage in any U activity or support)

Marion Rohr Corporation 261 NLRB No. 126
(telling Ee who was hired on temporary basis that she would be very temporary if E heard anything about her being involved with U, violative)

Calvin D. Johnson Nursing Home 261 NLRB No. 044
(supervisor's statement that other Ees had been discharged for making complaint to management about his treatment of them held implied threat of discharge if Ees should engage in such conduct which Bd has consistently held to constitute protected concerted activity)

Cooper-Jarrett, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 159
(E's abusive remarks to U steward held unlawful veiled and implied threats of discharge, where steward was singled out for criticism because of his failure to support E's proposed Ee reinvestment program; to find no violation because E did not specifically refer to steward's U activity would merely reward wrongdoer for being circumspect; while never explicitly threatening discharge, E expressed wish that steward did not work for him or that he could be fired; and such remarks, in light of later statements to Ees about ousting steward, interfered with steward's right to hold U office)

Fred Lewis Carpets, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 108
(stating to Ees that E would go bankrupt if forced to pay U wages and benefits, violative, where E never offered any supporting figures or other evidence to base its predictions and such prediction of bankruptcy constituted veiled threat to close business if Ees selected U)

Gentile Pontiac 260 NLRB No. 086
(E's statement to Ee, who was chief U organizer, that he hoped Ee had put aside talk about U, that U shop would not be good for him, and that it would be in his best interests to forget about it held unlawful thinly-veiled threat, since it was hardly necessary for E to be more precise, where E initiated contact with Ee, there had been no previous discussion between E and Ee, and supervisor had recently warned Ee about possible adverse consequences of continued U activity)

Gould, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 002
(before election but after U began organizing, telling Ee that if U were in plant that E would have laid her off and not transferred her held unlawful implied threat that E would make less effort to preserve employment during slack periods if Ees were represented by U)

Mathews Ready Mix, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 092
(telling Ees that E denied overtime to U activists, transferred him to another facility and disparately refused to permit him to work overtime to compensate him for travel expenses held unlawful coercive threat to other Ees should they also wish to make union troubles)

Model A and Model T Motor Car Reproduction Corporation 259 NLRB No. 077
(where E, in response to question by Ee, told Ees that if plant was closed and relocated, U organizers would not be hired, violative as veiled threat of reprisals against Ees for their U activity)

Mineola Ford Sales, Ltd. 258 NLRB No. 052
(manager's reference to Ee's association with the U in reply to Ee's query as to what E had against him held unlawful veiled threat of reprisal, since manager's statement clearly indicated that Ee was in disfavor with management because of his U stewardship and other U activities, and that management would hold it against him)

St. Mary's Home, Inc. t/a St. Mary's Infant Home 258 NLRB No. 134
(telling Ee that authorization cards would be turned over to management, unlawful)

Pantex Towing Corporation 258 NLRB No. 113

(statement that former Ees who supported U in earlier campaign were discharged, violative)

Warehouse Groceries Management, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 021
(telling Ee that its company didn't intend to have U and they had closed stores because of this problem violative as implied threat to close)

Centre Engineering, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 028
(E's statements that selection of U as bargaining representative would result in same end as another E (where many jobs were lost) violative as implied threat)

B, E & K., Inc. 252 NLRB No. 036
(E's preelection response to Ees complaints about wages that they did not have to stay, that it could be a lot worse because they could be getting nothing, and that if they did not like state's low pay scales they could get out of state held unlawful implied threat of loss of jobs and interference with election)

Maywood, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 135
(violation where supervisor asked active U advocate, who complained to supervisor about E policies with respect to Ees, if she was so unhappy with E, why didn't she quit, adding why don't you just hit the timeclock right now?)

Blue Bird Body Company 251 NLRB No. 196
(E's prepared anti U speech made to eligible voters prior to election, violative where E used symbol of living or dying Bluebird as reference to company E and such use was implied threat of plant closure or removal if Ees chose U to be their representative)

Blue Bird Body Company 251 NLRB No. 196
(audio slide presentation to all eligible voters, violative where remarks of Ee participants in presentation impliedly threatened that U adherents would eventually be discharged for pretextual reasons)

Louisiana Council No. 17, AFSCME, AFL-CIO 250 NLRB No. 072

Pilgrim Life Insurance Company 249 NLRB No. 140
(supervisor informing black Ee that white Ees were trying to pin responsibility for U effort on her in order to save their own jobs, unlawful)

Pilgrim Life Insurance Company 249 NLRB No. 140
(supervisor's statement to Ee that her daughter was being trained to do work Ee was performing, unlawful)

Custom Coating & Laminating Corporation 249 NLRB No. 117
(E who told Ees that he might attend U meeting violated Act)

James F. Stanford, Inc. d/b/a Ace Machine Co. 249 NLRB No. 073
(telling Ee that if he wanted to work only Monday through Friday and not on Saturdays he would have to find employment at U shop held violative as veiled threat that shop would never have U agreement)

Smedberg Machine & Tool, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 076
(remark to Ees expressing hope that they were not involved with U, unlawful, where remark was made by one with authority of supervisor and, following as it did by one day layoff of prime U promoter, it conveyed to Ees that same could happen to them if they were involved)

Pacific Coast International Meat Co. 248 NLRB No. 183
(supervisor informing Ee that from now on she would have to do exactly as he ordered, unlawful, where in reprisal for her leadership in lodging C regarding his supervision)

Fluid Packaging Company, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 196
(threat of trouble for mechanics if U got in, because they evaluate the mechanics held barely concealed threat of retaliation in form of more stringent evaluations)

C & G Coal Corporation 247 NLRB No. 179
(telling Ee who asked if he could join U to —go on and not cause any more trouble, held violative)

Grandee Beer Distributors, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 163
(E's statement that he wished to hire new Ees made w/o explanation during period of U activity is veiled threat of discharge as it indicates that E intends to replace some or all existing Ees because of their U activity)

Torrens Marine Company 247 NLRB No. 073
(supervisor asking Ee who was member of U organizing committee if he had heard anything about anyone trying to organize U in plant, and what Ee thought about it, and upon Ee replying he was undecided stating he hoped Ee was not making mistake, unlawful)

Mid-East Consolidation Warehouse, A Division of Ethan Allen, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 090
(statement to Ees, who had voiced complaints about paucity of mentioned raise and E's broken promises concerning merit increases, that Ees should get out if they did not like what they were receiving, violative)

Mid-East Consolidation Warehouse, A Division of Ethan Allen, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 090
(veiled threat that facility would close if organizational drive continued, unlawful)

Mid-East Consolidation Warehouse, A Division of Ethan Allen, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 090
(statement that if U were voted down things would go on as before held thinly veiled threat that Ees would risk reprisals or detrimental changes if they selected U)

J. P. Stevens and Company, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 044
(orientation statement including reference to serious harm that might befall Ees if they chose U, unlawful, in view of E's other ULPs, history of anti-U activity, and fact statement was primarily read to new Ees by personnel official in his office which was setting conducive to coercion)

Lacks Industries, Inc. JD-346-82
(E's statement to Ee that if you don't like it here, you can go down the street, not unlawful, since E is w/i bounds of legality in expressing that dissatified Ees can seek employment elsewhere, and there was no express or implied threat to terminate or to take any disciplinary action against Ee)

Wilson Trucking, Inc. JD-119-82
(telling Ee he could not come back to work w/o a doctor's certificate after an absence and commenting it was because of getting U in; held implied and unlawful threat of change in working conditions)

Tops Industries, d/b/a Tops Market JD-(SF)-53-82
(impliedly threatening reprisals by requesting Ee to tell her son, also an Ee, what could happen because of his attending U meetings, unlawful and objectionable)

Brueckner Sand & Gravel, Inc. JD-(SF)-312-81
(discussion by E's officials in front of Ee of plan whereby another Ee would be discharged for U activity, violative)

Harvey & Madding, Inc., d/b/a Dublin Honda JD-(ATL)-97-81
(E's discussing with Ees, week after R ptn filed, Ees' status under E's existing profit sharing plan held violative as veiled threat to Ees of loss of benefits if U selected in election)

Muncie Newspapers, Inc. JD-482-81
(supervisor exclaiming about former U president who had not given proper notification that he would not show up for his shift I've got him now, not unlawful as implied threats of reprisal to Ees who heard remark, where during three organizational campaigns there had been no U animus or ULP charges against E, E had signed enlightened bargaining agreement and Ees who heard remark knew former U president had violated rule)

Ace Electrical Construction Corporation Advance Electric of New York, Inc.; et al. JD-(NY)-79-81
(E's phone call to laid off discriminatee telling him don't walk the picket line, not violative, since nothing in statement constituted express or veiled threat of reprisal)

Lauridsen Foods, Inc. JD-36-81
(foreman's statement that somebody in plant is giving out names, dates, and places of people who are getting sick and where they were working at time .... we can and will find out who is doing this, violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Chester Valley, Inc. 652 F.2d 263 (C.A. 2, June 1981)
(stating that physical examinations might result from unionization, violative where physical exams were only required in U contracts at request of E; ALJ could reasonably conclude that such references were veiled threats that examinations might be required by E if U won election)

Electrical Products Division of Midland-Ross Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 617 F.2d 977 (C.A. 3, 1980)
(drawing line between prediction and implied threat is often one of great difficulty, and possibility that statement contains implied threat must be viewed from Ees' point of view; for that reason Bd expertise is particularly relevant to determination of whether latent threat lies hidden in E's words, while ct's scope of review is limited to inquiry whether Bd's determination is reasonable and supported by substantial evidence)

Electrical Products Division of Midland-Ross Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 617 F.2d 977 (C.A. 3, 1980)
(E's notices, letters to Ees, and meetings with Ees at non-U plant regarding closing of E's nearby U plant held to convey unlawful implied threats where Ees' understanding of Ee's message was that closing of U plant was result of its unprofitability, that U victory in election at their plant would make it unprofitable leading to same result, and E's arguments regarding leaking of information about closing of plant did not justify its actions)

5036-8391—Cont.

J. P. Stevens & Co., Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 638 F.2d 676 (C.A. 4, 1980)
(ct upheld Bd finding that in light of E's history of Ee coercion, E's speech to assembled Ees which concluded with remark, now it is for you to decide whether (publication of U cards) gives you any concern or not, contained implied threats of retaliation violative of Act)

Pioneer Natural Gas Company v. N.L.R.B. 662 F.2d 408 (C.A. 5, Nov. 1981)
(supervisor's statement that E would know who filled out a U card after Ee had declined to tell him whether she had done so not unlawful as veiled threat of reprisal, where Ee did not testify that she took the remark that way, and record shows no active opposition to U by E)

Florida Steel Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 648 F.2d 233 (C.A. 5, June 1981)
(violation, where E informed Ees via videotape that Ees who had signed attendance register at U meeting had ended up unwittingly on U organizing committee implying that U had misused names of Ees despite fact Bd had held no misuse had occured, and admonished Ees Don't sign card, attendance record or anything unless you know what it means and what effect it would have on you, your job, and your relationship with company, since these constituted threats inasmuch as Ees might reasonably conclude that signing U card or attendance roster at U could have adverse effect upon job status)

Nebraska Bulk Transport, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 608 F.2d 311 (C.A. 8, 1979)
(in light of specific dialogue between E and Ees about selling business if U voted in, letter with vague language concerning closure sent to each Ee several days before election, violative, where work force could understand letter as threatening retaliation)

Bill Johnson's Restaurants, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 660 F.2d 1335 (C.A. 9, Nov 1981)
(threat to picketers to get even with them, unlawful)

Bill Johnson's Restaurants, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 660 F.2d 1335 (C.A. 9, Nov 1981)
(E's president informing picketer that she would hate to see picketer get hurt by all this, unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. Marine World USA 611 F.2d 1274 (C.A. 9, Jan. 1980)
(ct found that statements distributed in letters to Ees by E before election, though critical of U, did not on their face threaten reprisals or force or promise benefits depending on outcome of election; however, ct remanded to Bd issues of freedom of speech in context of labor relations under Sec. 8(c), general hostility in past association with U, and intended and understood message of E's memoranda with respect to whether they contained implied threats or promises)

N.L.R.B. v. Chatfield-Anderson Co., Inc., dba Truss-Span Co. 606 F.2d 266 (C.A. 9, 1979)
(violation where individuals in position to present company policy to Ees indicated that unionization might result in plant closure, layoffs, loss or delay of planned raises and bonuses, and in harder working conditions; E's representations were not legitimate opinions on consequences of unionization which had some reasonable basis in fact, but were veiled threats of retaliation)

5036-8395 Limitation on or withholding of bonus or pay raise

Gayston Corporation 265 NLRB No. 001
(threat to rescind bonus if U succeeded in its charge to Bd that E's unilateral grant of bonus was ULP)

Gould, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 002

Air Express International Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 659 F.2d 610 (C.A. 5, Oct. 1981)
(threatening to withhold raises from some Ees while promising raises to others, violative where purpose was to discourage U activity and to weaken pro-U majority)

N.L.R.B. v. Laredo Coca Cola Bottling Company 613 F.2d 1338 (C.A. 5) (1980)
(E president stating to Ees during pre-election E's captive-audience meeting that there would be no Christmas bonus that year, that the funds that would otherwise be used to pay Christmas bonuses would be used to pay his attorney's expenses in opposing U, and that other benefits were to be terminated, violative)

5036-8399 Other

Van Dorn Plastic Machinery Co., Division of Van Dorn Company 265 NLRB No. 036
(E's president's statement that E would not bargain with U until federal courts had determined whether election was fair, violative where U was validly certified)

Federal Management Co., Inc. 264 NLRB No. 023
(E's statement that he was going to begin to keep file on Ees to use against them, unlawful, where it was made in reprisal for Ees' vote to be represented by U; contrary to ALJ's dismissal of such allegation because GC had not established that statement had been made w/i 6 months of filing of charge, Bd held that, since E did not raise 10(b) issue in its pleadings or at hearing, E had waived affirmative 10(b) defense, and that ALJ's action of raising issue sua sponte was in error)

Marion Rohr Corporation 261 NLRB No. 138
(telling Ees that if U came in U would prevent hiring of 16-and 17-year-old Ees, not unlawful, because it pertains to possible action by U rather than E)

Gentile Pontiac 260 NLRB No. 056

S. L. Industries Inc. and Extruded Products, Corp. 252 NLRB No. 151
(E's letter to Ees, before election, pleading with them to vote no in election and to give E a year to prove himself held violative, since latter statement conveyed promise to be responsive to Ee needs)

Chester Valley, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 190
(retroactivity of wage increase held lawful since it was disassociated from election campaign, where E's letter to Ees stated that increase would be retroactive because Ees should not be made to suffer by reason of R ptn whose filing had been reason for Ees' failure to receive increase by prior date, and E's explanation was plausible and was probative evidence of E's motive)

Don Pizzolato, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 136
(E who purchased lunch for Ee prior to election violated Act where meals not ordinarily provided and no compelling need to provide meal existed)

St. Francis Hospital 249 NLRB No. 017
(promise of benefits explicitly or implicitly contingent upon election outcome violative)

American Sunroof Corporation; et al. 248 NLRB No. 038
(granting Ee pay raise w/i day of election for good job performance when she was entitled to it, expected it and requested it, not unlawful)

American Sunroof Corporation; et al. 248 NLRB No. 038
(announcement and grant of pension plan day before election not violative, where plan was conceived prior to U campaign, completion of plan was not accelerated in response to coming election, and announcement of plan was made in normal course of business)

Connecticut Foundry Company 247 NLRB No. 145
(increase granted immediately prior to election while Ees were on strike violative)

Mid-East Consolidation Warehouse, A Division of Ethan Allen, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 090
(wage and meal allowance increases during critical pre-election period, unlawful where granted in response to U campaign)

J. H. Block & Co., Inc. 247 NLRB No. 041
(E who revoked written warning to Ee 1 week prior to election with purpose of causing Ees to reject U as their bargaining representative violated Act)

Jules V. Lane, P.C. d/b/a American Dental Centers JD-(NY)-110-82
(announcing preexisting benefits to its Ees during U campaign not violative even if Ees not aware of these benefits as to prevent this would deprive E of legitimate campaign strategy. However, E must be legally committed to these benefits and not be able to discontinue them. Furthermore, E can not hubsand benefits until right before election and spring them on Ees in manner calculated to influence their choice)

Harvey & Madding, Inc., d/b/a Dublin Honda JD-(ATL)-97-81
(E's phone call to Ee prior to election asking if they couldn't work something out before election)

Manifold Services, Inc. JD-734-80

Lika Corporation JD-(SF)-69-80
(quarterly bonus not violative where consistent with past practice notwithstanding it was given 2 weeks prior to election)

N.L.R.B. v. Hasbro Industries, Inc. 672 F.2d 978 (C.A. 1, Feb. 1982)
(wage increases 2 weeks before election not unlawful where E showed they were granted according to predetermined schedule)

Simpson Electric Company, a Division of American Gage and Machine Company, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 654 F.2d 15 (C.A. 7, July 1981)
(E's announcing pay increase or withholding one with intent to influence ongoing (U) organizing drive or R election, violative)

Simpson Electric Company, a Division of American Gage and Machine Company, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 654 F.2d 15 (C.A. 7, July 1981)
(grant of regular benefits prior to rerun election, not exceeding rate of inflation, and w/o special propoganda, not violative, since grant viewed as neutral act; regardless of any mere time relation to (U's) organizing campaign, as long as inflation continues, routine unexploited wage and benefit increases w/i rate of inflation, as in instant case, viewed for 8(a)(1) purposes as same as no action in condition of stable currency value)

5042-0133-2500 After election while objections or challenges are pending

Electric Hose and Rubber Company 262 NLRB No. 014
(increasing insurance benefits while objections pending, violative)

Hasbro Industries, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 070
(granting unit Ees annual wage increases far eclipsing those in previous years, and substantially higher than those granted to similarly situated hourly paid Ees outside unit while objections to election were pending, unlawful)

Gordonsville, Industries, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 054

J. J. Newberry Co., A Wholly Owned Subsidiary of McCrory Corporation 249 NLRB No. 126
(promise to parttime Ees made while objections to election were pending that they would be eligible for holiday and vacation benefits violative as reward to Ees for rejecting U and attempt to influence them if second election necessary)

Marcus J. Lawrence Memorial Hospital 249 NLRB No. 090
(25 cent across-the-board increase given to all Ees shortly after election, not just those who were entitled to it due to raising of statutory minimum wage, violative as reward to Ees for having rejected U and also attempt to influence results if second election were ordered)

N.L.R.B. v. Travis Meat and Seafood Company, Inc. 653 F.2d 233 (C.A. 6, June 1980)
(distributing post-election letter stating that wages and benefits would continue to be withheld until U withdrew election objections, violative)

5042-0133-5000 Formulated prior to union's request for recognition

Peavey Company 249 NLRB No. 110
(granting higher than average wage increase after U organizing drive had begun, not unlawful, where announcement of wage review policy predated U activities and fact that increase larger than usual caused by 17 month lapse since full year's raise)

5042-0133-7500 Formulated after union's request for recognition

J.A.G. Freight Systems, Inc. JD-(NY)-31-82
(wage increase unlawful, where Ees had unsuccessfully sought increase for seven months, yet given w/i few days after intervention of U)

Grandee Beer Distributors, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 630 F.2d 928 (C.A. 2, 1980)
(promises and grant of wage increases and health plan, although not expressly made dependent upon Ees' rejection of U, held violative where evidence in record supported conclusion that offers of such benefits indicated coercive purpose since they were made after U's request for recognition)

5042-0133-8000 Prior to decertification election

The Dow Chemical Company, Texas Division 250 NLRB No. 102
(telling Ees prior to decertification election that if there was no U E could be more lenient with apprentices who failed test, rather than having to comply with procedures dictated by U)

Dow Chemical Company, Texas Division v. N.L.R.B. 660 F.2d 637 (C.A. 5, Nov 1981)
ct held pre-election statements and questions of E to U members were protected speech under the Act where statements prior to decertification election were not promises but truthful or accurate observation of fact w/i bounds of legitimate electioneering or expressions of opinion by supervisors)

5042-0133-9000 After certification of election

N.L.R.B. v. Allen's I.G.A. Foodliner 651 F.2d 438 (C.A. 6, May 1981)
(E's sponsoring and participating in circulation of ptn among Ees withdrawing support from U and unilaterally announcing improved benefits after U won second election held violative as attempt to undermine U)

5042-0167 Practice of similar changes

Swanson-Nunn Electric Company 256 NLRB No. 131
(E who paid for Ee to take Dale Carnegie course during U campaign did not violate Act as it had provided such training for Ees in the past)

Luk, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 136
(violation, where E announced it was granting benefits in consideration of Ees' complaints, urged that Ees refrain from joining U, and announced wage increases which were not in conformity with past practice)

Stanley M. Feil, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 065
(granting of wage increases, after ULP complaint set for hearing, not unlawful, notwithstanding lack of precise consistency in time between prior increase and fact increases granted because of increase in minimum wage and to compensate for inflation)

Permanent Label Corporation 246 NLRB No. 021
(bonus given to all Ees prior to election violative where past practice had been that only Ees who had been employed over 1 year received bonus)

Tarian Marine Company 247 NLRB No. 073
(granting of wage increases after E learned of U campaign, not unlawful, where E had consistent policy of granting wage increases notwithstanding somewhat larger number of Ees received them than usual for period)

5042-0183 Solicitiation of grievances implied promises benefits by correction

Windsor Industries, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 145
(E's repeatedly telling Ees that it would look into various benefits requested and complaints expressed by its Ees, violative notwithstanding E's no promise statements where E's actions suggested to Ees that its listening to their gripes was not w/o purpose; E announced open door policy for discussion of Ees' problems, and added that he didn't want third party to come between us)

Enterprise Products Company 265 NLRB No. 083
(although inquiries about Ees' dissatisfactions are not unlawful standing alone, they become unlawful when done in context of U organizing campaign of which E has knowledge, and are accompanied by assurances that rectification of problems is under consideration; E's conduct thereby becomes unlawful interference by solicitation of grievances and conveys implied promise to better working conditions in order to remove any reason for U representation; and the same is true where information concerning plans to improve working conditions is accompanied by threat to drop such plans if Ees persist in their U activity)

Schnadig Corporation 265 NLRB No. 020
(E's chairman of the board, following speech in which he made coercive threat to close plant, asking Ee at her work station if there was anything he could do for her and when Ee informed him that rubber matting would make standing more comfortable, chairman said he would see what he could do, unlawful, notwithstanding matting never provided)

The Martin-Brower Company 263 NLRB No. 025
(violative)

Electric Hose and Rubber Company 262 NLRB No. 014

Gould, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 002
(no violation where E, during Ee meetings, asked generally for questions rather than complaints and in response to Ees' complaints, E stated that production manager would look into problem about materials which gave them production problems, and that E would look into production quotas, as E implied no promise of benefit and E could not ignore production problems where these had not been brought to his attention previously)

Quick Find Co. 259 NLRB No. 144
(telling non-unit Ee that he couldn't see why guys wouldn't come and talk to him first, and...see if they couldn't come up with something held unlawful solicitation of grievances and implied grievances would be remedied if U was abandoned)

Lake Development Management Co. 259 NLRB No. 069
(questioning Ee by E's president regarding Ee's grievances did not constitute unlawful solicitation of grievances since solicitation of grievances raises rebuttable inference that E is promising to correct inequities it discovers as result of its inquiries; here inference of such promise was rebutted where, after Ee told E's president that he was unhappy with his salary increase, she told him that maintenance manager gave salary increase and that, if that were the decision, she would stand behind it, thus negating any possible infefence of promise to cure Ee's grievances)

High Energy Corporation 259 NLRB No. 097
(setting up suggestion box for Ees to submit their problems, ideas, and complaints, unlawful, since implicit in establishment of suggestion box was the promise that suggestions or complaints placed w/i would be acted on or remedied)

Presbyterian/St. Luke's Medical Center 258 NLRB No. 021
(polling Ees in regard to their grievances and creating impression that such grievances would be satisfied, violative)

Thurston Motor Lines, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 171
(violation where top executive travelled 540 miles to hear Ees' complaints for two hours at meeting that he called and said that he had come to help straighten out problems)

Luk, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 136
(violation, where E announced it was granting benefits in consideration of Ees' complaints, urged that Ees refrain from joining U, and announced wage increases which were not in conformity with past practice)

Madani Brothers, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 126
(E who asked Ees for list of grievances and demands at meeting where it acknowledged U's request for recognition violated Act absent any no promise statements)

Associated Milk Producers, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 104
(soliciting grievances of Ees and creating impression that grievances would be resolved, violative)

Associated Milk Producers, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 104
(asking Ee if he knew what the location needed, violative)

General Electric Company 258 NLRB No. 092
(E's conducting Ee attitude survey, unlawful, since for purpose of discouraging U support and where in light of subsequent promise to obtain concrete improvements constituted implied promise of redress of grievances)

Limestone Apparel Corp. 255 NLRB No. 101
(solicitation of grievances by E during U campaign, held violative)

Cutting, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 076
(preelection solicitation of grievances from U adherent, unlawful, since solicitation carried inference that E was thereby implicitly promising to correct inequities it discovered as result of its inquiries, and E failed to carry burden of rebutting such inference whose validity was demonstrated by E's remedying of one of E's grievances, although such demonstration was not necessary for finding violation)

Edgcomb Metals Co., One of The Williams Companies 254 NLRB No. 140
(asking U adherent why she wanted U, what her complaints were, and promising to look into her complaints, violative)

Warehouse Groceries Management, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 021
(unlawful solicitation of grievances where Ee who shortly before this conversation admitted signing U authorization card was called into supervisor's office and asked about any unfairness that was going on; this was deviation from E's past practice of talking with Ees on casual basis while walking through store)

Gossen Company, a Division of the United States Gypsum Company 254 NLRB No. 041
(E making inquiries during U campaign as to what could be done to improve plant operations, held not unlawful, since presumption of illegality rebutted where question was no more than had been past practice and absent explicit promises to correct inadequacies)

Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc. 253 NLRB No. 023

Chester Valley, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 190
(E's speech to Ees, as a whole, including reference to open door, unlawful, since, unlike case in which E did not promise to redress grievances but merely indicated that it would follow its previously established policies, E herein had never told Ees about any open door policy it may have had and indicated that in future E would regard Ees' requests more favorably than in past)

EMR Photoelectric, A Division of Sangamo Weston Inc. 251 NLRB No. 214
(although E made no specific promises to Ees, E held to have unlawfully solicited Ee grievances and impliedly promised to rectify them in order to discourage U activities)

Certain-Teed Insulation Company 251 NLRB No. 208
(violation where there was implied promises to remedy grievances solicited during management consultant interviews with individual Ees)

Tennessee Cartage Co., Inc. 250 NLRB No. 015
(E's vice-president asking Ees, during period of U campaign, what their problems were and impliedly promising to remedy them held violative)

St. Francis Hospital 249 NLRB No. 017

Permanent Label Corporation 248 NLRB No. 021
(E's recitation of no promises formula or statement that it was precluded from making commitments, does not cancel inferences that grievances solicited in pre-election context would be corrected)

General Rental Co. d/b/a Avis Rent–A–Car 247 NLRB No. 188
(violation where E interrogated Ees and remedied identified grievances)

Knapp Foods, Inc. d/b/a Hi-Lo Foods 247 NLRB No. 146
(violation where, in course of anti-U campaign meeting, E's attorney asked Ees to discuss their grips against E; the attorney was soliciting grievances and E did nothing to rebut presumption that it was promising to remedy such grievances)

CTS Keene, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 141
(no unlawful solicitation of grievances with implied promise to remedy them where supervisor who had initiated conversation with U adherent by asking how things were going, suggested adherent discuss her complaints regarding job bidding procedures with her immediate supervisor during scheduled job review, since not implied promise to remedy where Ee had received no satisfactory result from prior discussion with same supervisor)

St. Joseph's Hospital of The Franciscan Sisters of Milwaukee, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 135
(E conducting survey among Ees represented by U regarding their feelings about working conditions and supervision, unlawful, where E's purpose was to learn what complaints might have caused renewed U activity and where, questioning would lead Ees to believe E was inviting direct dealing thus suggesting that U support and activities were unnecessary)

Houston County Electric Cooperative, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 087

J. P. Stevens and Company, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 044
(speech stating that conditions could be improved and corrected by pulling together, thereby implying that rejection of U would result in improvements, coupled with subsequent solicitation and offer to remedy grievances, held unlawful promise of benefits for rejecting U)

J. P. Stevens and Company, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 044
(violation, where E solicited complaints and grievances and implicitly promised their correction not solely for legitimate business reasons, but rather to convince Ees that grievances could be resolved w/o U)

J. H. Black & Co., Inc. 247 NLRB No. 041

Durango Boot, a Division of U.S. Industries, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 046
(telling Ees that if they did not tell E what was wrong in plant, E could not correct it; and invitation to Ees to discuss their problems, made in context of E's anti-U speech at meeting with Ees, unlawful)

Durango Boot, a Division of U.S. Industries, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 046
(solicitation of grievance itself is not coercive, but promise to correct grievance or a concurrent interrogation or polling about U sympathies is unlawful; solicitation of grievances merely raises inference that E is making such a promise)

Chef's Pantry, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 018
(violation where at preelection meetings E impliedly promised and then granted benefits by soliciting presentation of, and adjusting, grievances in effort to discourage U support)

Floyd Monroe & Sons, Inc. JD-50-81
(supervisor telling Ees that they were not to discuss their problems among themselves but were to take them only to supervisors held violative, since instruction prevented Ees from discussing matters concerning their wages, hours or other conditions of employment among themselves)

Convenience Stores Distributing Company, a Partnership of Marsh Supermarkets, Inc. and King Kwix Minit Market, Inc. JD-745-80
(E's solicitation of grievances and complaints directed to questions concerning why Ees wanted U and what could E do to get Ees to back away from U, violative where solicitation was made in context of unlawful interrogation and unlawful threats of disciplinary action as well as plant closure which reflected pattern of conduct aimed at deterring Ees from engaging in U activities)

Liberty Vinyl Corporation JD-(SF)-268-80
(soliciting grievances at meetings during U campaign with labor relations consultant and interpretor not violative, where consultant gave general disclaimer that he had no power to correct grievances but would pass them to management and E, who had held previous meetings where Ees were invited to discuss problems and make recommendations, did not deviate from past practices)

Falconer and Sons JD-(SF)-232-80

Werth Engineering, Inc. JD-295-80

Palomar Transport, Inc. JD-(SF)-158-80
(solicitation of grievances unlawful, where solicitation was not shown to have been established practice and impliedly held promise of rectification, thereby obviating need for U representation)

N.L.R.B. v. Chester Valley, Inc. 652 F.2d 263 (C.A. 2, June 1981)
(E's sending letter to all Ees stating that meeting would be held to discuss problems and to see if labor and management could work together on rectifying these problems possibly through formation of joint E/Ee committee, violative of 8(a)(1), notwithstanding E's defense that it had independently corrected its error by cancelling meeting and sending letters to Ees informing them of their rights under NLRA, since Bd is still entitled to enforcement of its orders despite corrective actions taken by offending parties)

K & K Gourmet Meats, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 640 F.2d 460 (C.A. 3, 1981)
(solicitation of grievances is only violative when accompanied by either implied or express promise that grievance will be remedied, and here E made no specific promises, only willingness to listen and consider, general implied promise is insufficient to support Sec. 8(a)(1) violation)

N.L.R.B. v. Garry Manufacturing Company 630 F.2d 934 (C.A. 3, 1980)
(ct could not disregard finding of Bd that creation of telephone hot line was intended and understood to be solicitation of grievances and implied promise that those grievances would be remedied and was unlawful)

Chef's Pantry, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 654 F.2d 458 (C.A. 6, 1981)
(violation where E during critical period had promised and granted benefits, had solicited and adjusted grievances, and had threatened its Ees with imposition of more onerous working conditions)

N.L.R.B. v. Arrow Molded Plastics, Inc. 653 F.2d 280 (C.A. 6, July 1981)
(violation where E during preelection period hired personnel consultant who held meetings with Ees in recognition of fact there was U knocking at door, such meetings were unprecedented, it was suggested grievances would be resolved only if Ees rejected U representation, and E took steps to resolve grievances under questionable circumstances)

N.L.R.B. v. Berger Transfer & Storage Co. 678 F.2d 679 (C.A. 7, May 1982)
(E violates Section 8(a)(1) of Act by soliciting grievances when such solicitation is accompanied by express or implied promise of benefits specifically aimed at interfering with, restraining and coercing Ees in their organizational effort)

5042-3300 Forms of benefits

MGM Grand-Reno, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 153
(wage increase granted during pendency of R ptn to segment of Ee complement held violative where E failed to overcome strong presumption of (its) illegality)

5042-3310 Paid holiday or other holiday arrangements

Knogo Corporation 262 NLRB No. 171
(E's granting of new economic benefits in form of paid sick leave, bereavement leave, jury duty pay and an extra paid holiday during U's organizing campaign violative where E failed to meet burden of sustaining its economic defense that benefits would have been granted if U was not involved in organizing Es)

G.T.A. Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Restaurant Horikawa 260 NLRB No. 029
(granting Ees extra time off on holiday during U organizing campaign violative notwithstanding time off was without pay since it may reasonably be considered to have been perceived as benefit by Ees)

S. L. Industries Inc. and Extruded Products, Corp. 252 NLRB No. 151

B-P Custom Building Products, Inc.; and Thomas R. Peck Mfg. 251 NLRB No. 179
(granting Friday, July 5, as paid holiday prior to election, not unlawful, where E had established policy to grant additional paid holiday when normal holiday fell on a Tuesday or a Thursday)

N.L.R.B. v. Garry Manufacturing Company 630 F.2d 934 (C.A. 3, 1980)
(E's invitation to all Ees and their families to outing for which E paid admission fees and provided free lunches was benefit with intended effect of influencing votes in violation of 8(a)(1))

N.L.R.B. v. Wilker Brothers Company, Inc. 652 F.2d 660 (C.A. 6, June 1981)
(announcement of two new holidays shortly after telegram from U was received and posted, unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. Swedish Hospital Medical Center 619 F.2d 33 (C.A. 9, 1980)
(E's grant of one day vacations to nonstrikers and not to strikers upheld by ct as interference with Ees' right to strike and independent 8(a)(1) violation w/o passing on validity of Bd's findings of 8(a)(3) and (5) violations thereby; ct found grant not so insignificant as not to affect Ees' participation in future strikes and any justification, even if legitimate, would be insufficient to outweight Ees' interest in uninhibited strike activity

5042-3315 Reduction of workweek

Williams Litho Service, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 101
(offering modified workweek and overtime plan at regular Ee meeting and granting such benefits during organizing campaign, not unlawful, where, notwithstanding suspicious timing, meeting was fully consistent with E's past practice and there was no evidence of any causal connection between U's nascent organizational effort and Ee meeting or any of the subjects discussed in that meeting)

5042-3320 Insurance

Washington Beef Producers, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 155
(introducing insurance plan for Ees promptly after advent of organizing efforts, violative)

Electric Hose and Rubber Company 262 NLRB No. 014
(E's modification of its Ees' medical insurance program which occured before election ptn filed not violative of Sec. 8(a)(1) because not alleged as ULP in C but arose only in context of an objection to election and thus was not litigated as ULP. E presented no evidence regarding its action and thus allegation was never fully litigated)

Electric Hose and Rubber Company 262 NLRB No. 014
(increasing insurance benefits while objections pending, violative)

Clements Wire & Manufacturing Company, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 078
(promising and granting increased life insurance coverage two weeks before U election, violative)

Pace Oldsmobile, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 111
(grant of health insurance coverage for not supporting U, unlawful)

Raley's, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 155
(granting of increased health and welfare benefits during U campaign not violative where done to make Ees in two different states equal; however, wording of announcement which implied that it was as result of one of two competing U's efforts violative as attempt to influence Ees to support that U)

Richland Co. & Assoc., Division of McDonald Construction, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 026
(preelection promise to Ees of maternity insurance which was to take effect after election, and grant of such benefit after U lost election, unlawful)

Stanley M. Feil, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 065
(instituting hospitalization insurance, unlawful, since for purpose of interfering with U activity where Ees were still wearing U buttons and E referred to fact U campaign was apparently over and not to assertion that campaign was over)

Grandee Beer Distributors, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 163
(institution of medical insurance program planned prior to beginning of U activity and not instituted until 6 months after it began not violative where it was instituted for all unit and nonunit Ees as well as supervisors w/o any mention of U activity)

J. J. Cassone Bakery, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 032
(E's preelection change in Ees' life insurance coverage held not unlawful and not interference, since E was not statutorily obligated to stay or abandon implementation of new beneficial insurance program based on sound business considerations simply because election had been scheduled to take place some 6 months in the future, and implementation of plan was not achieved until shortly before election because of administrative bungling)

Clements Wire and Manufacturing Company, Inc. JD-338-80
(granting $20,000 life insurance policies to Ees 7 days before election, unlawful where granting of policies was done in effort to persuade Ees not to support U)

Grandee Beer Distributors, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 630 F.2d 928 (C.A. 2, 1980)
(promises and grant of wage increases and health plan, although not expressly made dependent upon Ees' rejection of U, held violative where evidence in record supported conclusion that offers of such benefits indicated coercive purpose since they were made after U's request for recognition)

Pedro's Inc., d/b/a Pedro's Restaurant v. N.L.R.B. 652 F.2d 1005 (C.A.D.C., Apr 1981)
(E's institution of health insurance plan during campaign, not violative where preparations for implementation of plan were begun well in advance of U campaign and plan was implemented in normal course of business)

5042-3330 Retirement benefits

Gordonsville, Industries, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 054
(announcement of E sponsored profit-sharing retirement plan on day before election violative, notwithstanding plan was agreed upon earlier since plan required IRS approval and until such approval received E's conduct amounts to bestowal of nonexisting benefit)

Coronet Instructional Media, A Division of Esquire, Inc. (Warehouse, Mail Order, Office Technical and Professional Employees Union, Local 743, Teamsters)8250 NLRB No. 1339(implementation and announcement of improved retirement plan held not unlawful or objectionable conduct where plan was developed and adopted prior to beginning of U activities with timing of its announcement determined by economic, not U-related matters)

5042-3335 Improvement of plant facility

Conair Corporation 261 NLRB No. 178
(promising and then granting of benefits to Ees during U organizational campaign, unlawful, where they consisted of enlargement of plant cafeteria and introduction of hot food and cafeteria style services therein, providing additional drinking fountain near production area and gloves for assembly line work, implementing system allocating Ee parking spaces on basis of seniority, and improving safety procedures in plant)

Clements Wire & Manufacturing Company, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 075
(announcement of new lunch room and plans for improved food service prior to election, violative)

Clements Wire & Manufacturing Company, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 075
(increasing building security by hiring guard and installing additional flood lights, not unlawful, where such action was in response to Ee's letter requesting proper security measures to reduce acts of theft and vandalism)

Stanley M. Feil, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 065
(E's improvement of lighting in its warehouse, not unlawful, where it had been working on improvement prior to onset of U activity)

J. P. Stevens and Company, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 044
(timing of announcement and granting of expended break time and improvements in plant lunchroom facilities, unlawful, where E failed to adequately explain timing of changes in midst of U campaign after receipt of grievances on matters which E solicited unlawfully for purpose of responding to U campaign)

J. P. Stevens and Company, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 044
(construction during U campaign of nursing station providing improvod medical treatment at plant, not unlawful, since legitimate business reason existed for improvement where there were no complaints from Ees about lack of nursing station, timing was compatible with construction of other stations in E's operations and corporate-wide concern over Ee health problems, and its impact and relationship with U campaign was minimal)

Clements Wire and Manufacturing Company, Inc. JD-338-80
(announcement of addition of lunch room and plans for improved food service for Ees prior to election, unlawful where calculated to dissuade Ees from voting for U)

held violative in view of their timing in midst of U's organizing campaign and close upon E's manifestations of U animus as found in instant decision)

Omark-RCBS, A Division of Omark Industries 252 NLRB No. 089
(E's statements requesting Ees to deal directly with management, asking for complaints or gripes and requesting opportunity to resolve problems, held violative since they constituted clear attempt to dissuade Ees from supporting U by soliciting grievances and holding out possibility of more favorable treatment)

S. L. Industries Inc. and Extruded Products, Corp. 252 NLRB No. 151
(E's announcement, prior to election, to Ees that it was forming Ee grievance committee to handle Ee problems held violative of Section 8(a)(1) but not Section 8(a)(2) since no such committee was actually formed)

Americana Health Care Corporation of Ohio d/b/a Barberton Manor 252 NLRB No. 057
(soliciting and remedying Ee grievances in attempt to deter U's organizational campaign, violative)

Behring International, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 055
(E's recognition of grievance committee, formed at Ee meeting which certain Ees conducted as agents of E, held unlawful job benefit given before election to encourage Ees to abandon support for U and to seek redress of their job-related problems through alternative thus provided)

St. Francis Hospital 249 NLRB No. 017

Ball Industries, Inc. JD-679-82
(adjustment of U adherents' grievance regarding payment for overtime, unlawful, since E was prompted to make adjustment because of Ee's U activity rather than concern for fairness, where members of management took unusual personal interest in resolving C)

N.L.R.B. v. Berger Transfer & Storage Co. 678 F.2d 679 (C.A. 7, May 1982)
(E violates Section 8(a)(1) of Act by soliciting grievances when such solicitation is accompanied by express or implied promise of benefits specifically aimed at interfering with, restraining and coercing Ees in their organizational effort)

5042-3380 Wage increase

Belcher Towing Company 265 NLRB No. 159
(announcement and granting of wage increase during U organizational campaign, unlawful, since it was intended to, and did, interfere with, restrain and coerce Ees in exercise of their statutory rights, in view of absence of sound and believable business reasons for such action, and extraordinary lengths taken by E to defeat U, including surveillance, threats, and some instances of discrimination against Ees because of their U activity)

Humana of West Virginia, Inc. d/b/a Greenbrier Valley Hospital 265 NLRB No. 126
(allegation that wage increase was granted during preelection period to discourage U support, dismissed notwithstanding suspicious timing of increase since increase would have been granted earlier had wage forms not been mislaid; moreover, not all recipients were U proponents)

Butler Shoes New York, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 150
(wage increase granted after election which E won not violative where E was complying with preexisting procedures and commitments)

St. Francis Hospital 263 NLRB No. 109
(granting 10% wage increase during U campaign and after U had filed R ptn held violative where, in past years, Ees had only received raises of six or seven percent; E did not present adequate business justification for its larger than normal wage increases)

Fisher-Haynes Corporation of Georgia 262 NLRB No. 155
(E's grant of wage increase coming quickly after E learned of Ees' interest in U representation, violative where it was calculated to quell dissatisfaction emerging from grievance over wages which had prompted Ees to seek U representation in first place)

S.M.C. Rest. Corp. d/b/a Poletti's Restaurant 261 NLRB No. 051
(granting of wage increases to cooks by E who operated restaurant with intent to discourage cooks' adherence to U after U had demanded recognition, unlawful)

Advanced Mining Group, Div. of Republic Corp., Lucerne Facility 260 NLRB No. 073
(sudden increase in wages and benefits and promised benefits held violative as attempt to deter Ees' support of U)

Hochschild Kohn, Division of Supermarkets General Corporation 260 NLRB No. 025
(awarding merit pay increases right after organizational campaign started, violative where E rarely did this in past)

Colorado Forge Corporation 260 NLRB No. 004
(granting of pay raise violative, in view of E's unlawful solicitation of grievances just two weeks before, its implied promise to adjust grievances, its questionnaire to Ees specifically referring to wage increase and its ongoing campaign of threats; such conduct has natural consequence of interfering with Ees' Sec. 7 rights)

Valley Plaza, Inc. d/b/a Captain Nemo's 258 NLRB No. 076
(soliciting and remedying Ee grievances, making implied promise to remedy other grievances by announcing new open door policy, and announcing wage increases, all in order to undermine support for U, violative)

Leisure Time Tours, Inc. 258 NLRB No. 128
(granting wage increase, violative where increase was made to undermine U's organizing drive)

Pantex Towing Corporation 258 NLRB No. 113
(sudden granting of wage increase, violative where motivated by U's organizational efforts)

Morco, Inc. d/b/a Towne Plaza Hotel 258 NLRB No. 016
(giving Ees wage increase shortly after receiving U's wage demands and w/o submitting any counter proposal, violative where raise was calculated by E to denigrate U in eyes of Ees and to induce them to lessen their support for U)

Presbyterian/St. Luke's Medical Center 258 NLRB No. 021
(questioning Ees in course of taking poll in regard to wages, hours, and fringe benefits, and granting changes in wages and fringe benefits based on survey, not unlawful, where prior to U organizing campaign E had informed Ees that impending merger with another facility would result in wage-scale consolidation and new fringe benefits and survey was logical method by which Ees could choose from among various wages and fringe benefits already in existence at newly merged facilities)

Maidsville Coal Co., Inc. 257 NLRB No. 148
(announcing wage increase)

Mark I Tune-Up Centers, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 138
(conversion of past bonus and wage plan to straight hourly wage, even if considered as wage increase, not unlawful, where E proceeded to revise hourly wage before it was aware of U activity, ultimate revision was part of already established policy which was not affected by advent of U, and E announced change in normal course of business)

[illegible]chland Co. & Assoc., Division of McDonald Construction, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 026
(delay of promised wage increase until it was granted after election, unlawful, since delay was intended to impress upon Ees the source from which their benefits flowed)

Jax Mold & Machine, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 129
(telling Ee that he had to fight U to get Ee ten cents per hour wage increase, violative as it had effect of discouraging U support and was intended to influence Ees against U)

Steinerfilm, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 017
(granting Ees wage increase, violative, where such wage increase was granted day after initial U meeting to discuss wages and new wage schedule was not published as part of revised Ee handbook which contradicts E's contention that increase was considered for several months)

American Spring Bed Manufacturing Co., d/b/a American Chain Link Fence Co. 255 NLRB No. 098
(unilateral grant of additional 10 cents per hour to Ee who was dissatisfied with assignment to night shift violative, where it was granted simultaneously with E's receipt of U's demand letter and notice that election petition had been filed)

Gasko & Meyer, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 095
(telling Ee he was receiving pay raise in order to dissuade him from supporting U, violative)

Pine Valley Meats, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 061
(E's grant to key Ees of wage increases prior to election vilativé, notwithstanding Ees' threats to quit unless they received more money, E's specific disclaimer of any intention to bribe Ees for their support, and E's request to these Ees not to tell other Ees; defense that Ees testified that they did not consider additional earnings as bribes and were not influenced by them rejected, since finding of restraint or coercion does not depend on Ees' subjective impressions but rather on whether E's conduct reasonably tends to interfere with the free exercise of employee rights)

United Oil Manufacturing Co., Inc. 254 NLRB No. 179
(promising and granting wage increases and promoting Ees prior to election, violative)

Edgcomb Metals Co., One of The Williams Companies 254 NLRB No. 140

Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc. 253 NLRB No. 023
(E's granting of wage increases two days after U demanded recognition, unlawful, notwithstanding E's contention that increases were instituted in order to make E's pay scale competive with other E's since E had opportunity to put increases into effect before U campaign)

Gordonsville, Industries, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 054

Chester Valley, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 190
(retroactivity of wage increase held lawful since it was disassociated from election campaign, where E's letter to Ees stated that increase would be retroactive because Ees should not be made to suffer by reason of R ptn whose filing had been reason for Ees' failure to receive increase by prior date, and E's explanation was plausible and was probative evidence of E's motive)

Chester Valley, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 190
(when wage increase is granted during election campaign, Bd regards increase as calculated to influence outcome of election and therefore unlawful, unless E sustains burden of showing that timing of increase was governed by factors other than pendency of election)

Chester Valley, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 190
(pre-election granting of wage increases which were appreciably larger than those granted in previous years, unlawful, where E failed to sustain burden of showing that as to Ees receiving more than statutory minimum wage, size of increases was governed by other than pendency of election)

B-P Custom Building Products, Inc.; and Thomas R. Peck Mfg. 251 NLRB No. 179
(granting general wage increase to all unit Ees timed for receipt immediately preceding voting period, violative)

Delta Faucet Company, a Division of Masco Corporation of Indiana 251 NLRB No. 071

5042-6740 Profit-sharing plan

B & B Gallo Pest Control Services, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 075
(E's statement to supervisor and Ee who was hired with understanding that he would be made supervisor at some future date that it hoped one day to have profit sharing plan, not unlawful, where such musings did not amount to promises and other Ees did not hear of E's hopes for profit sharing plan)

Sioux Products, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 086
(promising retention of profit-sharing and two salary increases per year if Ees voted against U, violative)

Pace Oldsmobile, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 111
(E's reference to profit-sharing plan while promising benefits, not unlawful since plan existed before advent of U activities)

Pace Oldsmobile, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 111
(promise of early entry into pension and profit sharing plan for not supporting U, unlawful)

K & E Bus Lines, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 137
(E's announcement of profit sharing plan, implementation of sick leave and reimbursement for physical examination, unlawful in view of timing shortly after commencement of U activity and fact announced at captive audience meeting at which detrimental effects of unionization were emphasized)

Banker's Graphics, Inc. JD-339-82
(offering Ee, during U campaign, individual employment contract which contained profit sharing and grievance procedure clause which were not already existing conditions violated Act)

J. P. Stevens & Co., Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 668 F.2d 767 (C.A. 4, Jan. 1982)

(statement to Ee that he would be way ahead if payments which U wanted for pension plan were made into company-maintained profit-sharing plan, unlawful)

Portsmouth Lumber Treating, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 160
(violation where supervisor told Ees, in context of discussion about disadvantages of U, that E was working on a retirement plan)

American Sunroof Corporation; et al. 248 NLRB No. 098
(announcement and grant of pension plan day before election not violative, where plan was conceived prior to U campaign, completion of plan was not accelerated in response to coming election, and announcement of plan was made in normal course of business)

Durango Boot, a Division of U.S. Industries, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 046
(announcement of pension plan, contemplated since 2 months before start of U organizing campaign but announced after campaign had begun, unlawful, in absence of proof justifying E's reference to introduction of plan as part of its preelection campaign)

5042-6750 Insurance benefits

House of Cycle, Inc., t/a Key Motors 264 NLRB No. 137
(E's announcing that it was attempting to obtain improved medical and dental benefits for its salesmen after U requested recognition violated 8(a)(1), but not 8(a)(3) where improved benefits were not implemented)

Brooks Brothers, a Division of Garfinckel, Brooks Brothers, Miller & Rhoads 261 NLRB No. 130
(granting Ees dental plan 16 days before election, violative where motivation was to head of U drive at store involved in instant case and at another chain in area that was part of same holding company)

Penn Color, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 058
(granting substantial increase in insurance benefits in order to restrain and coerce Ees in their pro-U activities, unlawful)

Magnolia Manor Nursing Home, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 040
(E's statement to Ees that he knew they were on his side and that they could work together, followed by statement that E would pay monthly insurance premium which up till then Ees had been expected to pay, unlawful; even though benefit was not expressly made dependent upon Ees' rejection of U, E's offer indicated a coercive purpose and intent to undermine support for U in subsequent election)

G.T.A. Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Restaurant Horikawa 260 NLRB No. 039
(promise of dental insurance made during U campaign violative)

St. John's Construction Corporation 258 NLRB No. 067
(promising Ees increased medical benefits, job advancement opportunities and opportunities to make more money, violative)

Clements Wire & Manufacturing Company, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 075
(promising and granting increased life insurance coverage two weeks before U election, violative)

Pace Oldsmobile, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 111
(promising to provide Ee with fully funded insurance in order to induce Ees to withhold support for U, unlawful)

Richland Co. & Assoc., Division of McDonald Construction, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 026
(preelection promise to Ees of maternity insurance which was to take effect after election, and grant of such benefit after U lost election, unlawful)

Highland Foods, Inc. and Vicksburg Industrial Corporation 255 NLRB No. 146
(promising to improve medical insurance in order to induce Ees to refrain from U activity, violative)

Limestone Apparel Corp. 255 NLRB No. 101
(pay part of cost of hospitalization plan after U started its organizing activities)

K & K Transportation Corp., Inc. 254 NLRB No. 067
(promising Ees dental coverage to persuade Ees to withdraw support from U violative)

Smith Auto Service, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 069
(violation where E president promised Ees benefits including raises, better medical plan, and installation of time clock if Ees rejected U)

J. P. Stevens and Company, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 044
(notice announcing that E intended to improve existing insurance program, posted during U organizing campaign, not unlawful, where notice stated that new plan was to be effective companywide; unlike other benefits found to be violations, insurance plan was not subject of discussions during meetings or solicitation of grievances; no election was scheduled or even petitioned for; and there was no indication that there would be any better time for announcing companywide improvement)

Lion Trucking Corporation JD-(NY)-66-82
(violation, where E's manager after learning Ees had signed U cards, asked Ees what their problems were and upon learning major reason for their interest in U was lack of hospitalization plan, promised Ees he would secure hospitalization and instructed Ees to withdraw to discuss whether they still wanted U; contention benefits not conditioned on rejection of U and because E's manager told Ees they were free to join U, rejected)

Highland Foods, Inc. and Vicksida Industrial Corporation JD-364-80
(promise to improve medical insurance to induce Ees from engaging in U activity, violative)

Guardian Industries Distribution Center, Inc. JD-(NY)-45-80
(promise and grant of increased medical coverage, not unlawful in view of no independent evidence of unlawful motivation and no findings of other ULPs)

Lika Corporation JD-(SF)-69-80
(statement that E had been working for months to get Ees health insurance not violative as no defenite statement as to when Ees would get insurance was made and E had been looking into insurance prior to advent of U campaign)

Grandee Beer Distributors, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 630 F.2d 928 (C.A. 2, 1980)
(promises and grant of wage increases and health plan, although not expressly made dependent upon Ees' rejection of U, held violative where evidence in record supported conclusion that offers of such benefits indicated coercive purpose since they were made after U's request for recognition)

Dean Products, Inc. and American Metals Corp. v. N.L.R.B. 613 F.2d 162 (C.A. 6)
(promise to look into dental insurance program immediately before U election, unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. Antonino Carilli, d/b/a Antonininos's Restaurant 648 F.2d 1206 (C.A. 9, June 1981)
(E asking Ee how important Ee's medical insurance was to Ee and whether she would be U member if she worked at E which offered medical and dental insurance benefits, or if E had better insurance programs, unlawful, since language used by E reasonably calculated to give Ee impression that E was considering instituting its own superior medical program if Ee would not support U, and in view of E's subsequent ULPs)

N.L.R.B. v. Antonino Carilli, d/b/a Antonininos's Restaurant 648 F.2d 1206 (C.A. 9, June 1981)
(E's statement to Ees that E was non-U and Ees could leave if they wanted to work for unionized E and informing Ee that she could withdraw from U by resigning or ceasing to pay U dues, unlawful, notwithstanding contention statements were in reality innocent and helpful responses to Ees' questions)

Pedro's Inc., d/b/a Pedro's Restaurant v. N.L.R.B. 652 F.2d 1005 (C.A.D.C., Apr 1981)
(informing Ees of progress made in securing health insurance coverage, not violative where plans for such insurance coverage were in progress before U campaign commenced)

5042-6755 Overtime

Pace Oldsmobile, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 111
(promise of overtime for not supporting U, unlawful)

5042-6765 Party

Viracon, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 037
(E's announcement to Ees, one week prior to ULP hearing, that it was organizing softball team and instituting company picnic, violative)

Stanley M. Feil, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 065
(E's promise of victory celebration after election, not unlawful, since such remarks did not reveal promise of significant benefit that would have had more than minimal impact upon Ees' exercise of Section 7 rights)

Notre Dame Hills Medical Services, Inc., d/b/a Notre Dame Hills Convalescent Center 247 NLRB No. 126
(violation where E offered Ees free Christmas party in order to dissuade them from activities on behalf of U)

5042-6768 Free meals

Electric Hose and Rubber Company 262 NLRB No. 014
(E who promised Ees free cup of coffee if they could get their authorization cards back violated Act and fact that reward is very small immaterial)

5042-6770 Retirement fund

Neely's Car Clinic 249 NLRB No. 080
(promise of specific type of retirement plan if Ees did not belong to U, violative)

5042-6773 Privileges

Peavey Company v. N.L.R.B. 648 F.2d 460 (C.A. 7, May 1981)
(E who announced after U began organizing that Ees could see their personnel files violated Act)

5042-6775 Bonus

P. A. Incorporated 248 NLRB No. 077
(promising to give Ees bonuses if plant were non-U, violative)

Keister Coal Company, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 049
(supervisors' statements to Ees during U campaign that we just better leave well enough alone and promise of big bonus and improved working conditions made in conjunction with interrogations as to what Ees knew about U, held violative, since statements promised Ees improvements conditioned upon their abandonment of support of U)

Transportation Manpower Services of Ohio, Inc. JD-(SF)-192-82
(telling prospective Ees that bonus would be paid if there was smooth takeover by successor E w/o strike, violative)

Carbon Specialties, Inc. JD-510-80
(promising and giving Ees money bonus and a loan of money to one of them as inducement to defect from U, violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Permanent Label Corporation 657 F.2d 512 (C.A. 3, 1981)
(paying bonuses to all Ees one week prior to election, unlawful, where contrary to previous policy of paying bonuses only to Ees who had been employed by E over a year)

Dean Products, Inc. and American Metals Corp. v. N.L.R.B. 613 F.2d 162 (C.A. 6)
(promise of plant-wide bonus systems immediately before U election, unlawful)

5042-6778 Achievement awards, production incentive systems, etc.

Cardio Data Systems Corp. 264 NLRB No. 011
(E's promise to improve production incentive system, unlawful, since promise was expressly conditioned on Ee's rejection of U; absent evidence to show that Ees were informed that such reevaluation had been scheduled by E, it is unlawful for E to condition such benefit on Ees' rejection of U; and E's testimony that incentive system had been established 3 years before, and had been reevaluated twice since then, was insufficient to establish that Ees would have currently anticipated reevaluation absent notice thereof)

Cardio Data Systems Corp. 264 NLRB No. 011
(in dismissing allegation that E unlawfully promised to improve production incentive system, ALJ incorrectly framed issue as being whether E's subsequent revision of incentive system was lawful, since legality of E's promise is an issue independent of legality of E's subsequent conduct not here in dispute)

5042-6779 Tuition payment

Lika Corporation JD-(SF)-69-80

N.L.R.B. v. Max Factor and Company 640 F.2d 197 (C.A. 9, 1980)
(offering U steward management position and tuition payments for law school in order to remove her from position as U steward violative)

5042-6780 Wage increase

Martin City Ready Mix 264 NLRB No. 066
(promising wage increase if we could get rid of this mess, violative as mess clearly referred to U and not layoff)

Carbonex Coal Company 262 NLRB No. 159
(unilateral grant of wage increase violative and fact that Ees had not had wage increase for more than one year is not compelling business justification)

Fisher-Haynes Corporation of Georgia 262 NLRB No. 153
(plant manager's promising that he would promote Ee and give her pay raise if she refrained from supporting U, violative)

Zero Corporation, Zero East Division 262 NLRB No. 064

Conair Corporation 261 NLRB No. 178
(telling Ees during organizational campaign that E could not offer previously promised wage increase or anything else until labor problems were resolved and that, while E could do nothing about promised wage increase and other benefits at that time, E would rectify such matters after labor trouble was over, unlawful)

Herider Farms, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 113
(promising wage increase if Ees would forsake U, violative)

Penn Color, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 058
(where Ee remarked to fellow Ee, in presence of supervisor, asking latter Ee to sign anti-U ptn and stating that improved benefits and better pay would be obtained by all Ees when trouble was over, Bd held supervisor's own inquiry as to what fellow Ee's problem was and what imporved benefits he wanted unlawful, since supervisor thereby sought to induce Ee to sign anti-U ptn and promised better benefits and pay as reward for discontinuing U activity)

Management Training Corporation (Formerly Thiokol Corporation) 261 NLRB No. 013
(where, shortly before election, E, in response to Ee's complaint about poor wages, made statement about proposed 8 percent increase violated Act, especially where it indicated that increase was dependent upon rejection of U)

Fieldcrest Mills, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 098
(E's announcement, during U campaign, that Ee would receive pay raise and improved group insurance not violative where benefits were given company wide to let Ees catch up to those Ees at unionized plants)

Fuelgas Company, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 104
(conditioning pay increase on Ees requesting return of their signed U authorization cards)

Cardinal Systems, A Division of Hospitality Motor Inns, Inc., d/b/a Cummins Component Plant 259 NLRB No. 065
(manager's remarks to Ee that if you do not vote for your contract in December, we can get you more money, held violative, since implied promise of higher wages)

The Ithaca Journal-News, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 060
(violation, where E told two Ees on separate occasions that they would receive wage increases if U were decertified)

Piggly Wiggly, Tuscaloosa Division Commodores Point Terminal Corporation 258 NLRB No. 142
(promising across the board pay increase, violative)

Sioux Products, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 056
(promising retention of profit-sharing and two salary increases per year if Ees voted against U, violative)

Anju Engineering Corporation 256 NLRB No. 161
(E's explaining existence of lawfully granted benefits of wage increases to Ees who were unaware of them held not unlawful promise of wage increases as alleged)

Luk, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 136
(violation, where E announced it was granting benefits in consideration of Ees' complaints, urged that Ees refrain from joining U, and announced wage increases which were not in conformity with past practice)

Jax Mold & Machine, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 129
(promising Ees wage increases to vote against U strike, violative)

American Spring Bed Manufacturing Co., d/b/a American Chain Link Fence Co. 255 NLRB No. 098
(assistant general manager's telling Ees that he would try to correct their complaints about wages and would see if he could get them wage increases, not violative where there was no evidence that these promises were made with purpose of discouraging Ees from engaging in protected activity or for anti-U reasons)

United Oil Manufacturing Co., Inc. 254 NLRB No. 179
(promising and granting wage increases and promoting Ees prior to election, violative)

Badische Corporation 254 NLRB No. 164
(supervisor's reference to Ee being pleased with upcoming wage increase, violative where statement followed their conversation regarding Ee's support of U and unlikelihood that he would change his position in view of how company had done him in past)

Warehouse Groceries Management, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 021
(telling Ee maybe when this is all over everyone will get raise found not ambiguous as remark made right after coercive speech in anti-U meeting)

Pandair Freight, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 134

Williamsport Plumbing and Heating Co., Inc. 253 NLRB No. 121
(promising Ee with improved benefits and higher pay if said Ee and other Ees did not support or select U, unlawful)

Smith Auto Service, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 088
(violation where E president promised Ees benefits including raises, better medical plan, and installation of time clock if Ees rejected U)

Century Moving & Storage, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 083
(formal promise to grant specific wage increase to avoid unionization, violative, notwithstanding that prior to organizing campaign E made vague promise of wage increase)

B-P Custom Building Products, Inc.; and Thomas R. Peck Mfg. 251 NLRB No. 179
(promise of economic benefits and resolution of Ees' complaints to encourage Ees to refrain or withdraw their support from Us, violative)

Patsy Bee, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 125
(no violation by denial of alleged scheduled wage increase where evidence did not establish existence of either authorizative promise of wage increases to specific Ees at specific times or failure to abide by established practice; inference that some Ees were frustrated insufficient to establish U-related improper motivation)

Purvey Company 249 NLRB No. 110
(granting higher than average wage increase after U organizing drive had begun, not unlawful, where announcement of wage review policy predated U activities and fact that increase larger than usual caused by 17 month lapse since full year's raise)

Wisconsin Beef Industries, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 034
(E's granting of wage increases shortly after U's second filing of R petn, not unlawful, notwithstanding E's previous ULPs including unlawful layoff and financial losses where increase decided on and announced to Ees prior to knowledge of renewed U activity and antedated second ptn by almost two months coinciding with improvement of E's financial condition)

Excavation-Construction, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 061
(E which offered increased wages to picketing Ees if they returned to work violated Act)

Jacques Syl Knitwear, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 191
(offering strikers wage increases to induce them to return to work, unlawful)

General Rental Co. d/b/a Avis Rent–A–Car 247 NLRB No. 188

Smyth Manufacturing Company, Inc.; Beacon Industries 247 NLRB No. 164
(promise of 15-cent wage increase every 6 months if their bargaining representative agreed to open shop proviso, unlawful)

Notre Dame Hills Medical Services, Inc., d/b/a Notre Dame Hills Convalescent Center 247 NLRB No. 126
(E's sending Ees letter advising them of wage increase and enclosing a $10 bill in order to dissuade them from activities on behalf of U, violative)

Durango Boot, a Division of U.S. Industries, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 046
(E's preelection promise to grant pay raises or implying that they possibly would be given after election, unlawful, where E's conduct tended to impress upon Ees that they did not need U to receive pay raise, and statement that wages, which might be granted later on, could not be considered while election was pending, had foreseeable effect of placing onus for such delay on U)

Hammond Plastic, Division of Carl Gordon Industries, Inc. JD-583-81
(telling Ee that if he could stop the U he would get his job back with more money, unlawful)

Bill Fox Chevrolet, Inc. JD-767-80
(E president's promise to Ees of increased wages and benefits if Ees would act swiftly to get U out, violative)

Guardian Industries Distribution Center, Inc. JD-(NY)-45-80
(promise and grant of wage increases, not unlawful in view of E's practice of annual wage increases and no independent evidence to establish unlawful motivation therefor)

A.S.U., a subsidiary of Intermedco JD-(SF)-161-80
(no unlawful promise of benefit where E asked Ee who had informed E she would look for new job if she wasn't granted needed wage increase to not leave w/o giving E opportunity to make offer, and where E subsequently informed Ee requested raise was too high and did not make counter offer)

A.S.U., a subsidiary of Intermedco JD-(SF)-161-80
(E informing Ee on advice of counsel he could not give Ee wage increase in view of U activity, not unlawful, since recission was correction of error in offering unlawful increase)

N.L.R.B. v. Hasbro Industries, Inc. 672 F.2d 978 (C.A. 1, Feb. 1982)
(wage increases 2 weeks before election not unlawful where E showed they were granted according to predetermined schedule)

Grandee Beer Distributors, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 630 F.2d 928 (C.A. 2, 1980)
(promises and grant of wage increases and health plan, although not expressly made dependent upon Ees' rejection of U, held violative where evidence in record supported conclusion that offers of such benefits indicated coercive purpose since they were made after U's request for recognition)

Goodyear Aerospace Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 623 F.2d 476 (C.A. 6, 1980)

(violative where voting not by secret ballot and no assurances against reprisal were given)

5048-0160-8300 Employer has not engaged in ULP's or otherwise created coercive atmosphere

Rockland Lake Manor, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 142

(calling Ee to manager's office, telling him to vote by secret ballot whether he wanted U to continue to represent him, leaving him alone in office to vote and place ballot in sealed box held unlawful polling where safeguards required by Bd not followed and in atmosphere permeated by E's coercive speeches and interrogations and purpose of poll was not to determine U's strength among Ees but as another device to procure U's demise and to confirm success of E's contemporaneous campaign of interference in order to separate Ees from their bargaining agent)

Eagle Comtronics, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 070

(Bd agreed with ALJ's conclusion that E's conduct of mock election after U withdrew its ptn for election violated Act under Struksnes standards; however, Bd disagreed with ALJ's conclusion that E did not create coercive atmosphere, where E had committed several ULPs prior to the mock election, and some of its supervisory and managerial personnel were present during much of the voting)

Hassett Maintenance Corporation 260 NLRB No. 135

(E poll violative notwithstanding letter sent to Ees indicated purpose of poll was to determine truth of U's claim of majority status, participation was voluntary, would not effect relationship with E, no reprisals and secret ballot was used because E had engaged in ULPs and created coercive atmosphere)

Thomas Industries, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 094

(E's statement We do not want U here, and we think it would be in your best interests if there is no U here, not unlawful, where only unlawful conduct in which E had engaged at time statement was made was unlawful reprimand given two months previously; nor did statement's timing in relation to E's unlawful polling of Ees make it coercive)

Thomas Industries, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 687 F.2d 863 (C.A. 6, Sept. 1982)

(captive audience speech given before poll did not prejudice poll where Bd found that it was not ULP and it primarily told Ees purpose of poll; further, U president also spoke to Ees)

Thomas Industries, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 687 F.2d 863 (C.A. 6, Sept. 1982)

(polling found noncoercive where captive audience speech was found not ULP, only one ULP was found and it was too remote in time to create coercive atmosphere)

5048-0180 Unlawful in light of other circumstances

Jaybil Steel Products, Inc.; etc. 258 NLRB No. 157

(asking Ees if they signed U cards, unlawful, where unaccompanied by requisite safeguards, took place before demand for bargaining and was accompanied by other coercive statements)

Thomas Industries, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 094

(polling of Ees regarding whether they wished to continue to be represented by U, unlawful, since neither minority number of expressions of dissatisfaction with U, decline in U dues check-off authorizations, nor resignations of U officers and members, provided requisite basis for doubting U's majority required for polling where U's majority required for polling where U was certified and bargaining agreement in effect)

Gordonsville, Industries, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 054

(E's alleged confidential survey of its Ees conducted during U campaign which survey contained several open-ended questions concerning Ees' attitudes to which responses could and did reveal U sentiments of Ees as well as requiring Ees to write in their age, sex, department and length of service with E held violative where survey generated responses from Ees regarding their U sentiments, lacked necessary confidentiality and assurances against reprisal and was conducted in context of other ULPs)

Grandee Beer Distributors, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 163

(telling prospective Ees that employment was conditioned on withdrawal from U)

5060-6300 Direct solicitation of grievances

Daniel Construction Company, A Division of Daniel International Corporation 264 NLRB No. 079

Documation, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 052
(consultant's introducing himself as having been hired to find out problems which caused people to join U and stating that he would see what he could do about them constituted unlawful solicitation of grievances with implied promise to remedy them)

Cherokee Culvert Company, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 108
(solicitation of greivances w/o accompanying promise, either actual or implied, to remedy them, not unlawful)

Comair Corporation 261 NLRB No. 178
(solicitation of grievances from Ees, accompanied by indication that E would satisfy their demands, unlawful; essence of such violation is not solicitation of grievances itself but, rather, the promise to correct them, either express or implied, from the solicitation)

Comair Corporation 261 NLRB No. 178
(even assuming E had not expressly or impliedly promised to correct Ees' grievances after E solicited same unusual manner of conduct of meetings at which E engaged in such conduct and its actions therein, would have constituted a violation)

Modern Manufacturing Company, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 078

Colorado Forge Corporation 260 NLRB No. 004
(E's direct solicitation of grievances by conversations with Ees and by passing out questionaries which specifically asked Ees what their work shop problems were and what changes they desired, violative)

(solicitation of grievances with promise of benefits as result, and threat of reprisal if Ees did not cooperate while qcr was pending, unlawful)

Jaybil Steel Products, Inc.; etc. 258 NLRB No. 157
(promising Ees if you guys will go with me, and not sign U card, I will take care of you guys in the future, asking supervisor to negotiate with Ees to see what they wanted, and if they would sign against U, which supervisor did, and directly asking Ee if he would like to negotiate directly with E, unlawful)

Clements Wire & Manufacturing Company, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 075
(violation where E suggested formation of committee to meet with E to try to work problems out and that each department would be allowed to select representatives who would present individual grievances to E for resolution)

Clements Wire & Manufacturing Company, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 075
(soliciting Ee grievances concerning existing work production rates and promising to reevaluate production rates, violative)

Viracon, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 037
(soliciting grievances from Ees and suggesting at meeting with Ees that if they did not have U E would put people in plant to whom Ees might take any problems, violative)

Kevah Konner, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 008
(urging Ees to present their grievances directly to E and abandon U, unlawful)

Firmat Manufacturing Corp. 255 NLRB No. 153
(E's owner and president telling Ees that he would hold quarterly meetings during which they could present complaints or grievances to him and later suggesting that Ees select two-man delegation to speak to him concerning their problems, violative)

General Electric Company 255 NLRB No. 092
(E's establishment and subsequent discontinuance of sounding board program upon U's filing of R ptn, unlawful, where purpose of program was to discourage support for U and discontinuance was in reprisal for Ee support of U; further, E's justification of discontinuance of program in order to avoid ULP charges, rejected, where program had been announced and implemented prior to filing of R ptn)

Limestone Apparel Corp. 255 NLRB No. 101
(solicitation of grievances by E during U campaign, held violative)

Gaske & Meyer, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 095
(E's asking Ee if there anything I can do for you after inquiring what U was offering, violative)

Stouts and Stouts, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 160
(remarks of E, made during U's organizing campaign, that included; (1) invitation for Ees to submit their grievances to E (2) announcement of new vacation policy, and (3) suggestion that Ee press U to withdraw its R ptn, held violative in view of their timing in midst of U's organizing campaign and close upon E's manifestations of U animus as found in instant decision)

Igloo Corporation 254 NLRB No. 078
(where E advised Ees that they could discuss their problems individually with supervisors or managers because of its open door policy, such appeal by E who has not previously had practice of soliciting Ee complaints but announces and institutes policy of this nature in response to organizational campaign held violative)

Riley-Beaird, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 086
(E unlawfully solicited and remedied Ee's grievance where, after seeing Ee pass out U literature, E asked Ee what was wrong, stated that he would try to solve Ee's problems, and thereafter remedied Ee's complaint about loss of overtime)

Berger Transfer and Storage, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 002
(E's request to Ee that he set up meeting of company officials and strike leaders constitutes solicitation of grievances and violates Act)

(soliciting Ee grievances in manner and under circumstances implying that Ees did not need U, violative)

Omark-RCBS, A Division of Omark Industries 252 NLRB No. 089
(E's statements requesting Ees to deal directly with management, asking for complaints or gripes and requesting opportunity to resolve problems, held violative since they constituted clear attempt to dissuade Ees from supporting U by soliciting grievances and holding out possibility of more favorable treatment)

Gordonsville, Industries, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 054
(E's survey, conducted during U campaign, of Ee attitude towards their working conditions held violative since intent of survey was to elicit and repair Ee grievances; E had never previously conducted such survey nor had it established any systematic procedure for receiving and analyzing Ee complaints; effect of survey was to impliedly promise to rectify Ee grievances and erode Ee support for U)

PPG Industries, Inc., Lexington Plant, Fiber Glass Division 251 NLRB No. 156
(where supervisor asked Ee why he was supporting U instead of e and Ee replied that it was because he wanted to work day rather than rotating shift, supervisor's telling Ee that he would go upstairs and see what he could find out and do about it, violative)

The Krebs School Foundation, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 187
(E's solicitation of Ee views in meetings with Ees re terms and conditions of employment by E's personnel subcommittee, unlawful where E established subcommittee and met with Ees to counter U's organizational campaign and to wean Ees away from U by resolving some of their grievances)

Chester Valley, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 190
(speech to Ees in which E stated that he would rather deal with Ees than with U and that, if that were done, something could have been worked out, that he had open door policy, and that whatever Ees could get through U they could get from him, unlawful, since E thereby solicited grievances and promised to remedy them)

Certain-Teed Insulation Company 251 NLRB No. 208
(violation where psychologist from E's management consulting firm interviewed Ees about their perceptions about E and to find out what was wrong)

Ben J. Mauro d/b/a Warehouse Food Distributing Company 250 NLRB No. 177

Marriott In-Flite Service, A Division of Marriott Corporation 258 NLRB No. 099
(E holding meetings on work time at which supervisors spoke in favor of decertification in midst of negotiations for new contract, distributing booklets regarding decertification procedure, and suggesting actual language for decertification ptns, unlawful, notwithstanding supervisors not involved in solicitation of actual ptns and none were solicited on working time, since E planted idea of decertification and led Ees to believe E was sponsoring decertification effort while at same time making clear bargaining was over)

Jax Mold & Machine, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 129
(asking Ee if he knew about decertification ptn and telling him that it would be advantageous for him to sign and those who didn't sign would be sorry)

Humana Corp. d/b/a Sunrise Hospital Medical Center 254 NLRB No. 176

Conway Drilling Company 254 NLRB No. 019
(encouraging Ees to decertify their collective-bargaining representative and bargain directly with E)

Times-Herald, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 066
(no violation when, in response to question asked by supervisory member of unit, E told him there was way Ees could end strike and referred him to Regional Office of Bd from which he thereafter received decertification ptn which he filed; there was no evidence that any Ee reasonably believed supervisor was acting on behalf of management, and GC failed to present any evidence relating to circumstances in which the solicitations for decertification of U were made)

Ledford Construction Company, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 193

(circulating decertification ptn in presence of E's president gave rise to inference that E supported ptn)

Campo Slacks, Inc. and J & E Sportswear, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 087

(soliciting Ee to initiate decertification ptn, unlawful)

Talbert Manufacturing, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 026

(violation where E suggested to member of U negotiating committee that the Ees wait and file decertification ptn and then form their own Ee committee to bargain with E)

Nordstrom, Inc. JD-(SF)-143-82

(supervisor who drove Ee 30 miles to Bd office so that she could file decertification ptn violated Act)

Day-Mar Union, Inc. JD-464-81

(violation, where supervisor, unsolicited, informed Ee that U could be voted out through recourse to certain agency, presumably NLRB office, instructing Ee to call purported number of agency, persisted in matter by interrogating another Ee as to whether Ee had followed his instructions regarding calling agency, and when informed number was no longer in service, ascertained correct number, and ordered Ee on work time and premises to give correct number to Ee he had instructed to call)

Master Slack, Ltd. JD-(ATL)-8-81

(approving, condoning, supporting, and adopting Ee circulation and solicitation of signatures to decertification ptn during working time, and simultaneously prohibiting Ees from revoking their signatures to ptn on working time, violative)

Bill Fox Chevrolet, Inc. JD-767-80

(E president's efforts to initiate decertification ptn among Ees, violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Proler International Corporation 635 F.2d 351 (C.A. 5, 1981)

(violation where individual who wore supervisor's hard hat and was thought to be supervisor by at least one Ee invited Ees to luncheons at resturants away from plant at which Ees were urged to sign decertification ptn and E paid for luncheons, provided transportation to resturant and Ees were paid for time spent)

N.L.R.B. v. Alkon's I.G.A. Foodliner 651 F.2d 438 (C.A. 6, May 1981)

(E's sponsoring and participating in circulation of ptn among Ees withdrawing support from U and unilaterally announcing improved benefits after U won second election held violative as attempt to undermine U)

N.L.R.B. v. Maywood Plant of Grede Plastics 628 F.2d 1 (C.A.D.C.)

(E who had engaged in decertification campaign held not entitled to benefit of rule that filing of decertification may be by itself, a valid excuse for not bargaining with incumbent representative (provided that U's loss of majority status is not attributable to E's ULPs) but must also show some objective evidence of loss of majority status)

Tri-State Carpenters & Joiners District Council 250 NLRB No. 125
(reprimanding and threatening Ee with discipline for seeking advice of and consulting with U representative violative)

Ford Motor Company, Automotive Division, Twin Cities Plant JD-57-81
(telling Ees not to associate with U committeeman or U caucus, unlawful)

American Interstate Freight Lines JD-117-81
(telling Ee not to go to U over employment dispute, violative)

Todd Pacific Shipyards Corporation JD-(SF)-59-81
(questioning and berating Ee about seeking U's help in obtaining an upgrading evaluation, unlawful)

Standard Bridge Corporation JD-174-80
(ordering Ees to secret themselves from U's business representative at E's jobsite to prevent Ees' attempts to become U members or to engage in U activities which did not interfere with their job duties, unlawful)

5072-0400 Ordering union representative out of plant or off jobsite

Williams and Lane, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 074
(E who told Ee to eject any U representative who came to plant and sought to make contact with Ees violated Act)

Villa Avila 253 NLRB No. 010
(E-who evicted U representatives from job site, threatened them with arrest, blocked egress from site violated Act where U representatives were performing legitimate duties on job site)

Giant Food, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 182
(instructing Ees to eject U representatives from stores by force violative as demonstration of extreme measures E will employ to defeat U and E's power over Ees employment)

Victor Martinov and Ed Hancock, d/b/a Southland Properties; and Julian Elliott Construction Co., Inc. JD-(SF)-166-81
(denying U representation access to jobsite for purpose of policing its contract with subcontractor Ees and discussing with Ee violation of work rules and safety procedures, violative where U observed from street that Ee's mode of work was unsafe)

Anchortank, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 618 F.2d 1153 (C.A. 5, 1980)
(before R election is held, E may nondiscriminatorily exclude from his property U representative who is to represent Ee in an interview; this result would obtain even if Ee's request was concerted activity)

5072-0500 Disclosure of employees who signed cards

Belcher Towing Company 265 NLRB No. 159
(E's statement to Ees that it had right to ptn Bd to examine authorization cards and that normally cards would be verified by Bd agent and E, unlawful; E thereby planted in Ees' minds that their cards possibly would be seen by E; in bitterly contested proceeding herein, it was, or should have been, known to E's experienced labor personnel and counsel that there was no likelihood Bd would permit any E representative to see cards except for due process purposes, a situation that was avoided by U's withdrawal of 8(a)(5) charges)

Huntington Rubber Company, Division of New Idria, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 133
(E violated Act when during Ee meeting he displayed sample U authorization card and stated that if U obtained signed cards from over 50% of Ees it would lay them out on E's desk as this conveys threat to Ees that identities of those who signed authorization cards would be revealed to E, followed by appropriate reprisals)

Huntington Rubber Company, Division of New Idria, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 133
(E memorandum which stated that signed U authorization cards may be counted by Bd at public hearing did not violate Act as it contained no statements indicating that E would gain possession of cards or learn identities of card signers)

5072-0600 Supervisor solicitation of signatures on antiunion petition

Allen Brooks, d/b/a A.T. & K. Enterprises and Urban Enterprises 264 NLRB No. 164
(E did not violate Act where it agreed to let Ees hold meeting at its office where it was unaware that purpose of meeting was to discuss U; also fact that supervisors distributed decertification ptn not violative as supervisors were U members, unit members and responsibility for such supervisor's conduct will not be imputed to E absent evidence that E encouraged, authorized or ratified such conduct)

Robertshaw Controls Company 263 NLRB No. 128
(where supervisors were part of bargaining unit but Ees did not feel they were acting on behalf of management, their solicitation of Ees by circulating decertification petition is not attributable to E and thus not violative)

Antonopoulos, Incorporated d/b/a Roger's of Santa Clara 261 NLRB No. 060
(supervisory Ee who distributed anti-U petition found to be acting on behalf of management, not Ees and her conduct violative especially where distribution accompanied by remark that she like her job)

Antonopoulos, Incorporated d/b/a Roger's of Santa Clara 261 NLRB No. 060
(owner of company who solicited signature on anti-U petition violated Act)

Penn Color, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 098
(where Ee remarked to fellow Ee, in presence of supervisor, asking latter Ee to sign anti-U ptn and stating that improved benefits and better pay would be obtained by all Ees when trouble was over, Bd held supervisor's own inquiry as to what fellow Ee's problem was and what imporved benefits he wanted unlawful, since supervisor thereby sought to induce Ee to sign anti-U ptn and promised better benefits and pay as reward for discontinuing U activity)

S.M.C. Rest. Corp. d/b/a Poletti's Restaurant 261 NLRB No. 081

Hydro Conduit Corporation 254 NLRB No. 048
(circulation of anti-U ptn signed by 34 out of 38 Ees in unit and withdrawal of recognition of U based on ptn, not unlawful, since not attributable to E even if individual who circulated ptn held supervisor where individual was member of U and bargaining unit, was acting in concert with fellow Ees and not as representative of management in circulating ptn)

Douglas & Lomason Company 253 NLRB No. 039
(although it was not certain that it was supervisor who posted anti-U petition, there was sufficient circumstantial evidence to make that likely; his failure to rebut that necessary inference was persuasive to find violation)

Clyde Jensen & Shirley Jensen A Partnership d/b/a
Linda Vista Market JD-(SF)-232-82

5072-0700 Destruction of signed authorization cards

WWHT, Wometco Blonder Tongue Broadcasting
Corporation JD-(NY)-63-80
(destruction of signed authorization cards by supervisor who was repository for cards not violative where 90% of Ees indicated they wanted supervisor to destroy cards because they were disenchanted with U; act of destroying cards was not to benefit E but to protect the card signers)

5072-0800 Bribery

Nanticoke Homes, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 107
(attempt to bribe Ee spokesman in return for information regarding Ees' protected or U activitiy, unlawful)

Indian Head Lubricants, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 003
(offering Ees money if they would vote against U violative)

Gawley Industries, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 189
(giving $200 to Ee and telling him to give it to U representative and to tell him that when this blows over they'll be $300 more, violative)

Ruth's IGA Foodliner, Inc. 259 NLRB No. 015
(E bribed Ee to vote against U by giving Ee promissory note)

Humana Corp. d/b/a Sunrise Hospital Medical Center 254 NLRB No. 176
(soliciting Ees to give false testimony before Bd concerning deauthorization ptn)

5072-0900 Removal of employees from bargaining unit

John R. Harland Company of Puerto Rico, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 187
(discharging principal U protagonist 2 days after election ptn was filed for refusing to accept position as supervisor on another shift, violative notwithstanding lack of direct unequivocal evidence of E knowledge of his U, activity as such reason was sham and it was incomprehensible that Ee capable of promotion to supervisor would be discharged for refusing such position; furthermore, supervisory deficiency not thereafter corrected)

5072-1000 Directing employees not to pay dues

Puerto Rico Hotel Association 259 NLRB No. 058
(supervisor's informing Ees who were musicians that they should not pay working dues to U, unlawful)

5072-1100 Influencing strike vote or action

Jax Mold & Machine, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 129
(promising Ees wage increases to vote against U strike, violative)

Hack Manufacturing Company 254 NLRB No. 088
(E's statement to returning strikers that if they struck again they would be permanently replaced violative as it made no distinction between economic strikers and ULP strikers)

Hack Manufacturing Company 254 NLRB No. 088
(E's statement to returning strikers that he had challenged their right to receive food stamps while they were on strike violative as harassment)

Armour Oil Company 253 NLRB No. 148
(terminal manager's remarks to three Ees that there would be no work w/o contract, not violative since words were equivocal and by themselves insufficient to support finding that alleged lockout was used by E to support its bargaining position for new contract; when statement made, E had every reason to believe U would strike at end of day when present contract terminated)

5072-1200 Requesting wage increases

Timet, A Division of Titanium Metals Corporation of America 251 NLRB No. 137
(discharge of Ee who complained to supervisor about his raise and then circulated letter offering to represent Ees to management to obtain cost-of-living adjustment violative as Ee's action was intended to produce group activity and constituted concerted protected activity)

5072-1300 Refusing to hire applicants because of prior union adherence or activity

Storm Sons Construction Co., Inc. 260 NLRB No. 173
(E's refusal to hire U members violative, notwithstanding there may not have been any positions open as question of job availability is relevant only with respect to backpay obligation)

Civic Center Cleaning Co., Inc. 282 NLRB No. 110
(violation where E stated to Ee that Ees who were troublemakers and who had filed ULP charges with Bd would not be hired)

Ahmebala Forge, A Division of ABS Industries, Inc. JD-388-80
(industrial relations manager informing Ee that he would not have been hired if E had known he was son of U president, unlawful)

Monongahela Steel Corporation JD-392-80
(successor's refusal to hire applicant because while employed by predecessor he was leader of concerted group activity designed to establish level of wages and benefits and nature of working conditions under which they would be employed when successor took over, unlawful)

5072-1400 Solicitation of dues checkoff authorizations

Sanford Home For Adults 253 NLRB No. 153
(E violated Act where it threatened Ees with discharge if they did not sign U authorization cards)

5072-1500 Solicitation of opposition to union

Milton J. Garon and Richard B. Bergman d/b/a
Autoglass and Upholstery Co. 264 NLRB No. 022
(soliciting Ee to discourage other Ees' U activities, unlawful)

Wagner Distribution Services, Inc. d/b/a
Distribution Services West 262 NLRB No. 096
(E soliciting Ees to sign anti-U ptn that was submitted as decertification ptn and got her Ees to circulate ptn unlawful)

G & H Products, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 047
(E's questions to probationary Ee as to whether he would join striking Ees after his probationary period was over, and statements to him that he could only be dues paying U member rather than enthusiastic member violative)

Jackson Dairy Products Company 258 NLRB No, 172
(asking Ee to talk U down until at least four months later when E might be able to help Ees out some, unlawful)

Pine Valley Meats, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 061
(E's telling Ees that it could not tell them what to do when asked if they may be permitted to circulate anti-U ptn and subsequently thanking Ees who signed such ptn for their support, not unlawful)

Walker Die Casting, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 034
(inviting striking Ee to return to work and telling him that E would like to get rid of U and some Ees in U and suggesting another U and that E would like to run for at least one year w/o U violative)

Camay Drilling Company 254 NLRB No. 019
(encouraging Ees to decertify their collective-bargaining representative and bargain directly with E)

Camay Drilling Company 254 NLRB No. 019
(aiding Ees in the preparation and circulation of petitions requesting U to consider E's last wage offer and using petitions as basis for filing ULP charge)

Western Truck Services, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 096
(sponsoring and circulating petition to undermine U's representative status, violative)

Amber Delivery Service, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 016
(soliciting Ees to influence other drivers to support E rather than U)

Pilgrim Life Insurance Company 249 NLRB No. 140
(E's president informing Ee she did not have to sign U card if she did not want, unlawful)

Heatilator Fireplace, Division of Vega Industries,
Inc. 249 NLRB No. 047
(telling Ees not to attend U meetings, encourage U representation, or sign U cards, unlawful)

F.W.I.L. Lundy Bros. Restaurant, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 057
(preparation and circulation of anti-U ptn during working hours and soliciting Ees to sign same held violative)

Tartan Marine Company 247 NLRB No. 073
(supervisor requesting that Ee inform other Ees about bad points of unionization especially seniority policy which E alleged could adversely effect Ees)

Fort Wayne Newspapers, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 085

Galax Apparel Corporation 247 NLRB No. 026
(directing Ees to discourage other Ees from supporting U, violative)

Hammond Plastic, Division of Carl Gordon
Industries, Inc. JD-883-81
(asking Ee to stop the U after reminding him that Ees had gotten everything they had wanted, unlawful)

Gary Concrete Products, Inc. JD-(ATL)-65-82
(supervisor who distributed one anti-U T-shirt to Ee who may have asked for shirt did not violate Act as this does not establish general pattern of supervisory involvement in soliciting Ees to wear T-shirt)

Berco Industries, Inc. JD-56-82
(plant manager's soliciting Ee to talk to fellow Ee and tell him why U was no good, violative)

Mother Federal Credit Union JD-(SF)-8-80

Central Freight Lines, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 653 F.2d 1023 (C.A. 5, Aug 1981)
(E's instructing Ee to refrain from participating in U activities and to remain neutral, violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Mars Sales & Equipment Co. 626 F.2d 567 (C.A. 7, 1980)
(E's suggestion that Ee would be better off by not joining U constitutes interference with Ee's freedom of choice for or against unionization and is unlawful)

5072-1600 Solicitation of revocation of authorization cards

Robert E. Johnson and Geneva H. Johnson, a Partnership, d/b/a Jolie Belts Company 265 NLRB No. 141
(instructing Ees to stay away from U representative or give false information about their Ee status and to destroy their U authorization cards or retrieve them and resign their U membership, violative)

Paul Distributing Co., Inc. 264 NLRB No. 179
(allegation that E requested Ee to contact U and inform it Ees had changed their minds and no longer wanted U representation, although not alleged in C, sufficiently related to subject matter of complaint and uncontrovertedly testified to at hearing to support finding that E solicited Ees to abandon U)

Henry A. Young, d/b/a Columbia Engineers International 249 NLRB No. 144
(after shutdown and resulting layoff following U's claim of majority, E's statement that if Ee wanted to work for E he would have to tear up his U card and during same interview unlawfully interrogated Ee)

Norncike Contractors, Inc. JD-(NY)-51-81
(E's transporting Ees to Bd's offices to assist them to reclaim their authorization cards, violative regardless of whether Ees requested advice and/or assistance from E)

5072-1700 Solicitation of revocation of dues checkoff authorizations

The Davis Company 249 NLRB No. 068
(under circumstances herein, assistance to Ees in withdrawing their dues checkoff authorizations, unlawful)

5072-1900 Use of polygraph test

Fixtures Manufacturing Corporation 251 NLRB No. 107
(subjecting Ee to polygraph test because of his U activities and then discharging him after discovering from test that he was involved in theft of E's property violative because discharge direct product of unlawfully motivated test)

N.L.R.B. v. Fixtures Manufacturing Corporation 669 F.2d 547 (C.A. 8, Jan. 1982)
(ct rejects Bd's theory that Ee's wrongdoing, however serious, is automatically immunized from results of polygraph test given for impermissible reason, i.e., Ee was ordered to take test on day E received written report of his U activity)

N.L.R.B. v. Fixtures Manufacturing Corporation 669 F.2d 547 (C.A. 8, Jan. 1982)
(Bd properly rejected as contrived, E's timing of polygraph test, i.e. Ee spilled ink on another's book, where additional reason was investigation of thefts which had ceased two weeks earlier)

5072-2000 Prohibiting employee's discussion about wages or other conditions of employment, or about union

Donnelly Manufacturing Co. Division of Brockhouse Corp. 265 NLRB No. 196
(threat to discharge U adherents because of their discussion of amount of their pay raises with other Ees, unlawful)

Donnelly Manufacturing Co. Division of Brockhouse Corp. 265 NLRB No. 196
(prohibiting talking about Ee wage increases with other Ees unlawful)

Great Western Coca-Cola Bottling Company, d/b/a Houston Coca-Cola Bottling Company 265 NLRB No. 106
(instructing Ee not to speak about U while on the job, not unlawful, where E was motivated to act on basis of coworker's complaint and E had warned Ee against distribution on work time)

International Business Machines Corporation 265 NLRB No. 107
(discharge of Ee for publishing E's confidential wage information which he had received annoymously, not unlawful, where E established legitimate business justification for its policy; E does not prohibit Ees from discussing own wages or attempting to determine what other Ees paid, rather has chosen not to inform Ees what it pays others; therefore, E treats as confidential information compiled for its internal use. Ee knew documents were confidential and was aware of prohibition against disseminating such material. Furthermore, under circumstance that info obtained, Ee couldn't believe possession authorized)

Scott Glass Products, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 129
(institution of rule against discussing pay raise which had been announced at extraordinary meeting called after E received U's demand for recognition, unlawful)

Herider Farms, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 113
(seeking to prevent discussion of U on break time and warning that organizing attempts would be futile, violative)

Overnite Transportation Company 261 NLRB No. 093
(telling Ee that E was angry about distribution of U cards and not to discuss Us with other Ees, violative)

Southland Knitwear, Inc. and Metropolitan Industries, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 087
(telling Ees not to talk about any U, violative)

Morco, Inc. d/b/a Towne Plaza Hotel 258 NLRB No. 016
(announcing rule prohibiting Ees from discussing U affairs during company time, violative)

McLean Trucking Company 257 NLRB No. 179
(terminal manager telling Ees not to go to Ee, who had lodged several complaints with E concerning Ees' working conditions, but if they wanted their problems solved, they should come to either him or their steward, violative)

Gorman Machine Corporation 257 NLRB No. 010
(reprimanding Ee for talking to fellow Ee on behalf of U, violative)

Lamar Advertising Associates of Dayton d/b/a Lamar Outdoor Advertising 257 NLRB No. 022
(telling Ees they had no right to know wages of similarly employed Ees violative)

Robert Bosch Corporation 256 NLRB No. 158
(informing Ees that E's rules prohibited them from discussing U during company time, unlawful)

Samuel J. Wade, an Individual d/b/a Major Cab Company 255 NLRB No. 181
(accusing cab driver who was U adherent of flagging down other cab drivers in order to talk to them about the U, violative)

Koch Supplies, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 160
(discharge of Ee who complained to management about superior terms of employment given to new Ee violative where Ee had discussed subject with other Ees, mentioned to E that its action was detrimental to Ee morale and was thus not aimed at solving personal problem but included welfare of others)

D & D Supermarket, Inc. JD-292-82
(by warning Ee not to talk to other Ees about working conditions, E effectively precluded Ee from engaging in concerted activity and thereby violated Act)

Harvard Cooperative Society, Inc. JD-246-82
(asking Ees not to agitate for U because he would have plenty of opportunity to air his opinions in Ee meetings, violative as restraint on Sec. 7 rights)

Grand Champion Meat Co., Ltd., Division of B-Tex Packing Co., Inc. JD-87-82
(forbidding Ee to speak about U matters in circumstances in which Ees were otherwise permitted to converse on other subjects, violative)

New York State United Teachers JD-(NY)-83-81
(reprimand of Ee who had filed grievance regarding Ees' job assignments which was then in arbitration for telling delegates of affiliated organizations of E about arbitration case and which E did not want divulged, violative, since Ee's remarks concerned grievance, did not disparage his E nor reach level of impropriety or disloyalty to E which would result in remarks losing its protected nature)

Floyd Monroe & Sons, Inc. JD-80-81
(supervisor telling Ees that they were not to discuss their problems among themselves but were to take them only to supervisors held violative, since instruction prevented Ees from discussing matters concerning their wages, hours or other conditions of employment among themselves)

Texas Instruments Incorporated v. N.L.R.B. 599 F.2d 1067 (C.A. 1, 1979)
(rule prohibiting Ees from discussing E's wage schedule with outsiders, unlawful; E's contention public knowledge of wage rates would assist competitors, rejected, where E in mounting its annual wage survey gave out its own data to competitors)

N.L.R.B. v. Eastern Steel Company 671 F.2d 104 (C.A. 3, Feb. 1982)
(forbidding Ees to talk about U until after election, unlawful)

Atlas Metal Parts Co., Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 660 F.2d 304 (C.A. 7, Sep. 1981)
(E's telling Ee to stop talking about U business on company time held promulgation of discriminatory rule and unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. Chem Fab Corporation — 691 F.2d 1252 (C.A. 8, Nov. 1982)

(substantial evidence in record as whole supported Bd findings that E unlawfully promulgated rule prohibiting Ees to discuss the U during working time)

5072-2200 Interference with right to refrain from union activities

A & T Manufacturing Company — 265 NLRB No. 201

(refusal to permit former U steward to accompany Ee to interview which resulted in Ee being interviewed about decline in his production violative of Section 8(a)(1) since Ee denied opportunity to have fellow Ee present during course of interview which could reasonably lead to discipline and in view of continued interview of Ee after request, notwithstanding Ees of E were unrepresented; however, no violation of Section 8(a)(5) since E had lawfully withdrawn recognition from U)

C. R. Adams Trucking, Inc., and Michael Cates — 262 NLRB No. 067

(telling Ees that they must join U prior to 30-day grace period, or they will be discharged, violative)

Versatile Services, Inc. — 258 NLRB No. 109

(threatening Ees with and then discharging them for refusal to join U violative notwithstanding U security in collective-bargaining agreement where 30 day period had not yet expired; they had not been informed of their obligations under provision or given a reasonable time to comply with provision)

United States Postal Service — 258 NLRB No. 193

(violation where supervisor threatened U steward with disciplinary action for refusing to attend meeting unless informed in advance of purpose, since meeting did not concern supervisor-Ee relationship which existed between them as supervisor was addressing Ee in his U steward capacity and by threatening Ee in connection with his performance as U steward interfered with his Sec. 7 rights to engage or not engage in U activities as steward)

New York Laboratory Supply Company, Inc. — JD-416-81

(E which maintained agreement with U that provided that the agreement applied only to members of U, and that Ees who are U members will receive different wages than Ees who are not U members violated Act as this encouraged membership in U and interfered with Ees Sec. 7 rights)

N.L.R.B. v. Maui Surf Hotel Company and ILWU Local 142 — 601 F.2d 603(T) (C.A. 9, 1979)

(Ee and U which enforced attendance at contractually mandated work stop meeting by requiring Ees who refused to attend meeting to sign out and lose 1 hour's pay violated Act because Ees who refused to sign out were threatened with disciplinary action)

5072-2300 Interference with employees' right to bargain through representatives of their own choosing

Bedford Farmers Cooperative — 259 NLRB No. 165

(manager's warning Ee to —stay away from the U coupled with remark that he (manager) was acting to defeat U (at same time E was bargaining with U) held violative, since manager was using his position as supervisor to restrain Ee from supporting U)

The Maumee Stone Company, Union Quarry Division — 259 NLRB No. 150

(E's refusal to permit U steward to participate in bargaining negotiations, violative, notwithstanding he was not Ee when he was asked to leave negotiation session, since he had been chosen, as U steward, to represent Ees in bargaining)

Mark Twain Marine Industries, Inc. — 254 NLRB No. 144

(violation where E's attorney told Ees to take their problems to company vice-president or their foreman rather than U)

Laredo Packing Company — 254 NLRB No. 001

(E's personnel director suggesting to Ee that Ees replace U and U's secretary treasurer with Ee committee headed by Ee and promising Ee more hours of work, unlawful)

Armour Oil Company — 253 NLRB No. 148

(acting terminal manager's promise to drivers that E would give them more work and better trucks to drive provided U designate business agent other than individual presently representing Ees held violative, since promise was calculated to coerce Ees' choice of bargaining agent and had effect of weakening authority of U as bargaining agent; promise was direct dealing with Ees in derogation of U's status as bargaining representative)

Classic Truck Rental Corp. — 251 NLRB No. 056

(solicitation by Ee asking Ees to sign ptn to get rid of incumbent shop steward and elect new steward, not unlawful, even though Ee solicited Ees in office in which E was present, since there was no evidence that E was aware of what was going on, E's implication in attempt to get rid of steward would not be assumed merely because E was present, E otherwise did not indicate involvement, and there was no evidence Ee was acting as E agent)

Skycap Services, Inc., d/b/a Reed's Baggage Security Service — JD-(SF)-309-80

(refusal to bargain with certified U, violative, where E was not free to terminate bargaining process merely because it had assertedly received information suggesting erosion of Ee support for U)

The Procter & Gamble Manufacturing Co., et al. v. N.L.R.B. — 658 F.2d 968 (C.A. 4, Sept. 1981)

(plant manager's statement to U officials that contract negotiated with U negotiating committee, having outsiders from E's other plants participating, would be less favorable to plant Ees than one negotiated with only local U members, unlawful; Bd's findings that manager made statement in order to discourage multiplant bargaining are based on credibility findings which are peculiarly w/i province of Bd and are therefore entitled to acceptance on review, and Bd properly considered probability that manager's comments would have prticularly chilling effect on U officials)

5072-2400 Interference with employee's right to representation during meetings with employer

Great Western Coca Cola Bottling Company, d/b/a Houston Coca Cola Bottling Company — 265 NLRB No. 189

(Bd applied Illinois Bell Telephone standard for determining whether reinstatement and backpay were appropriate remedies for discharge following Weingarten violation as here – namely that where GC has shown that Ee was disciplined or discharged for conduct which was subject of unlawful investigatory interview, burden shifts to E to show that its decision to discipline or discharge was not based on information obtained at the interview; Bd found that discharge was not based on such information and only c/d order appropriate)

Great Western Coca Cola Bottling Company, d/b/a Houston Coca Cola Bottling Company — 265 NLRB No. 189

(denying Ee's request that U representative or fellow Ee be present at investigatory interview which Ee reasonably believe might result in disciplinary action, violative)

Great Western Coca Cola Bottling Company, d/b/a Houston Coca Cola Bottling Company — 265 NLRB No. 189

(contention that discharge following Weingarten violation herein was governed by case wherein Ee was disciplined for not satisfactorily explaining alleged misconduct, rejected since Ee here was discharged for cause, and information obtained during investigatory interview did not add to what E already knew)

Tokheim Corporation — 265 NLRB No. 210

(denying Ee any representation at discharge meeting when Ee asked for witness, not unlawful, where sole purpose of meeting was to inform Ee of her discharge and discussion which ensued after Ee was informed of discharge was insufficient to convert meeting into interview requiring Weingarten protections regardless of whether Ee merely requested witness as distinguished from a representative)

Van Dorn Plastic Machinery Co., Division of Van Dorn Company — 265 NLRB No. 036

(no Weingarten violation where E initiated investigatory interview and informed Ee of interim suspension, thus putting him on notice of forthcoming disciplinary action, and Ee requested presence of representative, which E denied, and suggested alternative discipline, which E rejected, reiterating that Ee would be suspended for period yet to be determined; thus Ee did not request representation until after he was informed of suspension)

Bridgeport Hospital — 265 NLRB No. 054

(E lawfully issued warning notices to security guards solely for walking out of meeting on instructions of U representative because E denied Ees request to have steward present at meeting to discuss vandalism on E's property and suspicions that guard themselves might be involved in such incidents; though walkout was concerted, Ees had been assured meeting was not disciplinary investigation, and thus, walkout not protected because not done to protest term or condition of employment)

Northwest Engineering Company — 265 NLRB No. 026

(E did not violate Act when it denied request of Ee to have U representative present during lunchroom meeting of group of Ees, purpose of which was to review work rules; Weingarten rights do not attach when purpose of meeting is not investigatory and here no questions were asked and no discipline meted out; and fact that meeting may have been prompted by Ee misconduct does not establish that it was investigatory or disciplinary. Weingarten not concerned with punishments for future offenses but relates to past conduct for which Ees fear current sanctions)

Consolidated Freightways Corporation of Delaware — 264 NLRB No. 076

(conducting investigatory interview of Ee who was only steward at E's facility after Ee validly requested U representation, violative, where, notwithstanding fact that there was no other U representative readily available, E failed to meet legal obligation to stay interview or to offer Ee meeting w/o steward or no meeting at all)

McLean Hospital, A Division of Massachusetts General Hospital 264 NLRB No. 068
(no violation of Ee's Weingarten rights at investigatory interview where Ee's request at first interview was not for participation of witness or representative on his behalf, but for postponement of interview so that he could secure legal advice of privat counsel, and at second interview he was offered opportunity to forego the interview entirely but offered to participate voluntarily)

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company 264 NLRB No. 067
(E request to proceed with investigative interview with Ee in face of U representative's request for delay in order to have pre-interview conference with Ee, not unlawful, where GC did not prove that E denied Ee right to U representation by barring his representatives from meeting with him before investigative interview began)

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company 264 NLRB No. 067
(E telling U representative to stop attempting to answer questions directed at Ee during investigative interview, not unlawful, where E's directive was aimed only at maintaining sufficient order in meeting so that it could proceed courteously and w/o chancing a disruption of its purpose)

Bodolay Packaging Machinery, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 038
(E violated Act where it denied Ee's request for representation at an interview which Ee believed would lead to discipline, compelled Ee to attend interview w/o representation, and issued oral written warning as result of interview)

L. A. Water Treatment, Division of Chromalloy American Corporation 263 NLRB No. 022
(E's denial of Ee's request for presence of former U steward at disciplinary interview, violative where no other U representative or steward was available at time of interview, E made no attempt to locate steward and did not offer to delay interview until steward could be located, contract did not require presence of U representative at interviews, and E and U had reached no oral understanding establishing procedure for representation at interviews)

L. A. Water Treatment, Division of Chromalloy American Corporation 263 NLRB No. 022
(E's discharge of Ee not violative, notwithstanding E's unlawful denial to him of representative at interview and GC's establishing make-whole remedy appropriate where GC did not establish that Ee was discharged for requesting U representative or for engaging in other protected activity)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 263 NLRB No. 015
(denial of Ee's request for witness at meeting with supervisor and with E's industrial relations counsel, unlawful, where Ee had reason to believe meetings would involve discipline, and notwithstanding no U was in picture representing Ees)

Interstate Security Services, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 002
(where interview was such that Ee could reasonably believe it result in disciplinary action against him, he has the right to request representation at that meeting, notwithstanding E is non-U facility; thus his refusal to participate in meeting is protected and his discharge for such refusal violative)

E.I. Dupont De Nemours and Company, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 126
(denying Ee's request for witness at interview which Ee reasonably believed might result in disciplinary action and thereafter requiring him to sign interview record which might result in further discipline and also undermine his position in proceeding to determine propriety of discipline imposed on him, unlawful; request for witness was sufficient to constitute request for representation under Weingarten and doctrine applies to unrepresented, as well as represented, Ees)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 262 NLRB No. 123
(refusing Ee's request to permit fellow worker to accompany him to interview with supervisor violative, since Ee had grounds to believe that matter to be discussed at interview concerning his posting of material on bulletin board might result in disciplinary action against him)

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company 262 NLRB No. 125
(refusing to permit Ees to consult with their U representatives prior to the subject investigatory interviews, unlawful)

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company 262 NLRB No. 127
(E violated Act when it refused to inform two Ees or their U representative of the nature of the matter which was being investigated and on which they were to have an interview with E; this follows Bd's finding in Climax Molybdenum Company 227 NLRB 1189, which held that Ees have Sec. 7 right to consult with their U representative before any interview to which Weingarten rights attach and for consultation to be meaningful, Ees must be informed of nature of misconduct and a general statement as to the subject matter of the interview . . . will suffice)

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company 262 NLRB No. 127
(E violated Act when it refused to inform two Ees or their U representative of the nature of the matter which was being investigated and on which they were to have an interview with E; this follows Bd's finding in Climax Molybdenum Company 227 NLRB 1189, which held that Ees have Sec. 7 right to consult with their U representative before any interview to which Weingarten rights attach and for consultation to be meaningful, Ees must be informed of nature of misconduct and a general statement as to the subject matter of the interview . . . will suffice)

Materials Research Corporation 262 NLRB No. 122
(in absence of U representation, conducting investigatory interviews with Ee after refusing his request that co-worker assist him held violative as unrepresented Ees have same Weingarten rights as represented Ees)

Materials Research Corporation 262 NLRB No. 122
(interview is for investigatory purposes where E elicits information which provides further basis for any discipline meted out notwithstanding E may have already made up its mind to discipline Ee)

Salt River Valley Water Users' Association 262 NLRB No. 129
(E who denied Ee's request for U representative at disciplinary meeting and then discharged him for refusing to answer questions at interview violated Act because Ee was engaged in protected concerted activity when he refused to participate in interview (no interview held to have occurred) w/o presence of U representative and discharge was for this refusal not for underlying misconduct)

Gulf States 261 NLRB No. 119
(denial of U representative at meeting to inform Ee of previously made decision to discipline him, violative, where E's additional conduct at meeting of delving into Ee's justification for his actions and, in effect, sought further facts in support of its actions against Ee removed meeting from narrow holding of Baton Rouge Water Works Co., 246 NLRB 995, and, accordingly, a right to U representation attached)

Volkswagen of America, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 036
(refusal to permit U and Ee subject to discipline, upon request, private consultation immediately prior to Ee's disciplinary interview, in accordance with established practice, violative)

ITT Lighting Fixtures, Division of ITT Corporation 261 NLRB No. 034
(under Weingarten, if Ee refuses interview (with E) w/o representative, E is free to proceed as it chooses as long as it does not base discipline on (Ee's) refusal)

ITT Lighting Fixtures, Division of ITT Corporation 261 NLRB No. 034
(meeting of supervisors and Ee held investigatory and not disciplinary where Ee was questioned about his conduct and suspension was announced at second meeting; assuming that only 1 meeting was held and E made up its mind beforehand to discipline Ee, questioning Ee for some 10 to 15 minutes about this conduct went beyond limits prescribed by Bd for disciplinary interview in seeking facts or evidence to support disciplinary action; therefore, Ee requesting representation during meeting, which was denied, was exercising his Weingarten rights under Sec. 7)

United Technologies Corporation 260 NLRB No. 196
(by denying Ees assistance of U representative and allowing latter to be only a non-participating observor in interviews which Ees reasonably believed might result in disciplinary action, unlawful)

St. Francis Hotel 260 NLRB No. 174
(where E and U had entered into settlement agreement guaranteeing Ees Weingarten rights, E did not engage in post settlement violation when it issued memorandum to supervisors which set forth their obligation under settlement agreement to include giving Ee opportunity to have U representative present at disciplinary meeting, setting forth role of shopsteward as observer, assisting Ee to answer questions but who was not allowed to speak for Ee; although memorandum is ambiguous it was never communicated to Ees, no Ees were aware of its existence there is no evidence that Ees could have been misled by memorandum to forego their Weingarten rights)

United States Postal Service 260 NLRB No. 030
(requiring Ee to take part in an investigatory interview where Ee had reasonable grounds to believe that matter to be discussed might result in her being subject of disciplinary action and failing to honor her request to have U representative present, violative)

E. I. Du Pont De Nemours and Company 259 NLRB No. 161
(E violated Act when he refused Ees request to have U steward present at investigory interview, an interview he reasonably feared prospect of discipline)

Georgia Kraft Company, Woodcraft Division 258 NLRB No. 121
(Weingarten rights not available to Ee being reprimanded for tardiness where Ee waived such rights by saying I'm late again then said I know I'm wrong and waived his right to a witness (to reprimand) when supervisor offered it: Ee's disclosure was not result of any E questioning; furthermore E had made up its mind already to issue reprimand when Ee told to sign written reprimand)

Taracorp Industries, A Division of Taracorp, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 049
(rejecting Ee's request to have U agent present during investigatory interview, violative)

Sun Petroleum Products Company, A Division of Sun Oil Company of Pennsylvania 257 NLRB No. 048
(indefinite suspension of Ee who refused to work overtime not violative notwithstanding Ee requested presence of witness at interview called to discuss his refusal and E refused, because although Weingarten rights would normally attach where as here the Ee did not know what the motive of interview was, in this instance no meeting took place and E conducted an independent investigation of Ee's case, making its decision based on results of that investigation which is its right under Weingarten)

Sun Petroleum Products Company, A Division of Sun Oil Company of Pennsylvania 257 NLRB No. 048
(by going from plant floor to supervisor's office but not entering office for investigatory meeting, Ee did not lose his Weingarten rights)

Colgate-Palmolive Company 257 NLRB No. 028
(refusal to permit Ees to consult with their U representative prior to investigatory interviews which they reasonably believed would result in disciplinary action, unlawful)

United States Postal Service 256 NLRB No. 012
(denial of Ee's request for U representation at disciplinary interview, unlawful, where there was no waiver of U representation consonant with Bd standards for waiver of Ee's Weingarten rights; even if contract could be interpreted as waiving Ee's rights of U representation, it was not clear that waiver would apply herein since contract waiver was ambiguous; moreover, E had reasonable fear of discipline in view of prior similar situation, and E not only denied request but also failed to offer Ee option of continuing interview unaccompanied by U representative or having no interview at all)

Price Pfister, A Division of Norris Industries 256 NLRB No. 021
(E's refusal to allow Ee to have U representative present at meeting to inform her of suspension violative where although E had made decision to suspend Ee prior to meeting it began meeting with question creating investigatory meeting)

Roy H. Park Broadcasting of Roanoke, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 036

Crown Cork & Seal Company, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 004
(disciplinary interview held prior to other meetings with E violative, but later meetings which were confined to announcement and issuance of previously decided disciplinary actions only, not violative)

Mark Twain Marine Industries, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 144
(no violation where E asked Ees to meet with him after work to discuss unspecified problems, there was no indication that reprimand or punishment was contemplated and E dropped matter after Ees refused to meet with him unless U representative was present)

United States Postal Service 254 NLRB No. 050
(violation of Weingarten rights where E directed requested U representative to remain silent during investigatory interview)

Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc. 254 NLRB No. 102
(E who held investigatory meeting with Ees and refused to allow them to have U representative present while he questioned them regarding stolen merchandise and case violated Act; moreover, waiver Ees signed at beginning of interview, agreeing to be interviewed and acknowledging that they were free to leave at anytime does not constitute waiver of Weingarten rights where request for U representation made subsequent to signing)

Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc. 254 NLRB No. 102
(no violation despite investigatory nature of interview where Ee did not request presence of U representative at interview)

Prudential Insurance Company of America 254 NLRB No. 020
(after accusing Ee of insubordination and asking for resignation, violation by denying representation, and by deliberately and forcefully blocking door so Ee could not leave)

Pacific Gas & Electric Company 253 NLRB No. 154
(E's denial of Ee's request for U representative at investigatory interview, not unlawful, where Ee refused assistance of on-site steward and insisted on presence of off-site steward who was not readily available because he was at distant location)

Appalachian Power Company, John E. Amos Plant 253 NLRB No. 135
(in Weingarten SCt endorsed Bd's view that Ee must request representation)

Appalachian Power Company, John E. Amos Plant 253 NLRB No. 135
(denial of Ee's request for presence of U steward at disciplinary interview with maintenance superintendent not violative where Ee's call to U steward prior to interview was not effective invocation of Ee's Weingarten rights, since maintenance superintendent was not privy to call to U steward; therefore, request not directed to official who is in position to grant or deny request)

Stewart-Warner Corporation 253 NLRB No. 016
(Weingarten rights do not attach to meeting between supervisor and Ee intended to clarify Ee's duties or to set forth plant safety rules with no disciplinary overtones)

Penn-Dixie Steel Corporation, Joliet Bar Mill Division 253 NLRB No. 012
(requiring Ee to participate in interview conducted by detective agency to determine use of drugs in plant held violative, where Ee's request for U representation during interview were not granted and Ee signed confession of misconduct and resignation)

Kahn's and Company, Division of Consolidated Food Co. 253 NLRB No. 004
(denial of Ee's request for U Representative during investigative interview in which he was discharged, violative; discharge itself is not independent violation of 8(a)(1) where it is unrelated to exercise of Weingarten rights)

United States Postal Service 252 NLRB No. 014
(E's refusal to allow, upon Ee's request, Ee's U representative to accompany Ee during fitness for duty examination, not unlawful since examinations were not part of disciplinary procedure and not w/i purview of Weingarten where, although examinations were prompted by problems with personnel and might result in recommendations as to Ees' future work assignments, they were not meant to form basis for disciplinary action and did not include investigatory questions or envision E-Ee confrontation)

PPG Industries, Inc., Lexington Plant, Fiber Glass Division 251 NLRB No. 156
(denying Ee's request for representation at meeting which he reasonably believed would result, and which resulted, in disciplinary action against him, not violative where, unlike E in Baton Rouge Water Works Company, E herein did not reach final, binding decision concerning specific discipline prior to meeting with Ee, nor did it merely inform Ee of any decision; in fact, E changed originally announced discipline from discharge to written reprimand upon investigating the matter further and asking Ee questions about his alleged misconduct)

PPG Industries, Inc., Lexington Plant, Fiber Glass Division 251 NLRB No. 156
(violation, where Ee reasonably anticipated his meeting with E to result, in disciplinary action against him, E held the meeting with Ee w/o granting Ee's request for representation, and E actually imposed discipline at such meeting)

General Motors Corporation 251 NLRB No. 121
(E proceeding with interview after Ee requested U representation interfered with Ee's Weingarten rights; no voluntary waiver of these rights occurred where Ee was constrained to respond to E's inquiries)

Great Western Coca Cola Bottling Company, d/b/a Houston Coca Cola Bottling Company 251 NLRB No. 122
(no violation of Ee's right to have representative at interviews with E concerning Ee's suspension and then discharge for excessive tardiness where purpose of interviews was to announce and implement previously determined disciplinary action; E had decided respectively to suspend and to discharge Ee before meetings, on basis of facts which it had obtained w/o talking to Ee; see Baton Rouge Water Works 246 NLRB No. 161 (1979))

Roadway Express, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 138
(supervisor's refusing Ee's request for U representation during interview regarding Ee's suspension for violating E's rule concerning coffee breaks while driving truck held violative, since interview was disciplinary rather than investigative; disciplinary action had to be taken if violation of E's rule had in fact occurred)

Amoco Texas Refining Company 251 NLRB No. 202
(deferral to arbitrator's decision that Ee was obligated to obey supervisor's order to step aside for private conversation between themselves w/o U steward even though supervisor did not answer Ee's question of whether conversation would involve discipline since award not repugnant to Act)

Kraft Foods, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 006
(effectively depriving Ee, who was involved in forklift accident and fight with another Ee, of his right to U representation at investigatory interview which Ee reasonably believed might result in disciplinary action unless U representative was present, violative)

Texaco, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 063
(E who instructed U representative that he must remain silent during interview of Ee relating to his possible misconduct on job violated Act as Weingarten right to representation includes not only presence of representative but also active assistance where confrontation threatens Ee's job security)

Texaco, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 063
(E who required U representative to remain silent during meeting with Ee held solely for purpose of informing him of 3-day suspension did not violate Act as E is not statutorily obligated to furnish representation at such interview and thus fact that representative was required to remain silent irrelevant)

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company 251 NLRB No. 061
(E who insisted that U steward remain silent during investigatory interview violated Act as mere presence of steward while Ee was being interrogated about alleged theft of company property is insufficient to alter imbalance which SCt sought to alleviate in its Weingarten decision)

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company 251 NLRB No. 061
(denying Ee presence of U steward at meeting between E and Ee not violative where sole purpose of meeting was to inform Ee of her discharge as Weingarten does not apply to meetings held for such purposes)

Illinois Bell Telephone Company 251 NLRB No. 128
(Ee entitled to have any Ee present with her at disciplinary meeting with E and E's refusal to allow anyone but Ee with official U status be present, violative)

Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph 251 NLRB No. 159
(refusal of Ee's request for U representative to be present at investigatory meeting made when Ee became aware that meeting might result in disciplinary action against her, and imposition of discipline for conduct which was subject of interview, violative)

Coyne Cylinder Company 251 NLRB No. 198
(E's interview or Ee violated Ee's Weingarten rights where, prior to interview, no final decision had been made whether to discharge Ee for smoking marijuana during his lunch breaks and E denied Ee's request made during interview to have U representative present during remainder of interview)

Coyne Cylinder Company 251 NLRB No. 198
(Weingarten rights do not extend to allowing Ee to produce witnesses on his behalf)

Coyne Cylinder Company 251 NLRB No. 198
(where other Ees were discharged for same offense charging party accused of, he had reasonable basis to believe discipline was in offing when called for interview)

Ohio Masonic Home 251 NLRB No. 059
(upper echelon supervisor's interview with Ee after denying her request that fellow Ee attend interview, unlawful, where interview was not simply to inform Ee of, or to impose, previously determined discipline, and, at time of interview, supervisor's authorization to suspend Ee was not tantamount to final, binding decision to do so since supervisor could have decided not to impose suspension; during interview supervisor interrogated Ee regarding complaints received from Ee's supervisor, and Ee was informed of suspension only after she had explained circumstances surrounding complaints)

Ohio Masonic Home 251 NLRB No. 059
(where GC shows that E conducted unlawful interview with Ee who was subsequently disciplimed for conduct which was subject of interview, burden of going forward with evidence shifts to E to show that decision to discipline Ee was not based upon information obtained at interview)

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company 251 NLRB No. 062
(no violation where, during investigatory interview of Ee, E did not, as claimed by Ee, instruct Ee's U representative to remain silent and simply take notes; instead, U representative participated in meeting and inquired into matters under discussion)

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company 251 NLRB No. 062
(Bd disavowed ALJ's gratuitous comments regarding right of E to limit participation of U representative at an investigatory interview of Ee)

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company 251 NLRB No. 062
(E's conducting interviews with Ees who, although advised by E to obtain U representation had fellow Ees serve as their representative, not unlawful, where sole purpose of meetings was to inform Ees of, and to act upon, previously made disciplinary decision, since Ee does not have Sec. 7 right to U representation at meeting with E held for such purpose)

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company 251 NLRB No. 062
(no violation, where, at meeting with E, Ee was advised that E believed a prior incident involving Ee bordered on insubordination and that E wanted to ascertain reason for Ee's attitude toward him; Ee acknowledged that she was repeatedly assured that no disciplinary action against her was contemplated and that she therefore was not entitled to U representation; consequently, it was unreasonable for Ee to fear disciplinary action in face of repeated assurances to the contrary, and there was no reason for Ee to disbelieve such representations)

Prudential Insurance Company of America 251 NLRB No. 213
(where E conducted investigatory interview with disciplinary overtones and denied Ee's request for U representative to be present and failed to offer Ee options of continuing interview w/o U representative or discontinuing interview, it violated Act; no management right to secure information from Ee absent requested U representative during investigatory interview with disciplinary overtones)

United Telephone Company of Florida 251 NLRB No. 101
(suspension of Ee for refusing to further participate in interview, not violative, since Ee had no reasonable grounds for believing interview would result in disciplinary action where interview was pursuant to counseling procedures, the non-disciplinary nature of which Ee was aware, and Ee did not request U representation at outset of interview)

United Telephone Company of Florida 251 NLRB No. 101
(test for determining whether Ee reasonably believes interview might reasonably result in disciplinary action is measured by objective standards under all circumstances of the case rather than by Ees subjective motivations)

United States Postal Service 251 NLRB No. 088
(E meeting with grievant w/o U representative, not unlawful, where U contractually waived any mandatory right to be present during first step grievance meetings and where E merely restated contract to Ee w/o discussing merits of grievance or dissuading Ee from filing formal grievance)

Hotel St. Moritz, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 015
(no violation by E's questioning delegate status of former elected U delegate who appeared at E's meeting with another Ee at latter's request, since E's questioning was not in bad faith where the testimony of many witnesses showed considerable confusion as to whether former delegate retained his status)

Louisiana Council No. 17, AFSCME, AFL-CIO 250 NLRB No. 072
(denial of U representation in meetings with E, when requested by Ee, unlawful, where E, by seeking additional information bearing on Ee's conduct, went beyond act of imposing discipline and, instead, was continuing on substantive basis, its investigation of Ee's overall conduct and, under such circumstances, Ee was entitled to representation)

Burgess Mining & Construction Corp. 250 NLRB No. 033
(supervisor suggesting to Ee that Ee could better resolve problem by talking to E's chairman of the board alone and w/o presence of his U representative, unlawful, since suggestion discourages resort to collective bargaining process and interferes with right to be represented)

Good Samaritan Nursing Home, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 030
(requiring Ee to participate in Ee interview w/o representation, violative where Ee, who reasonably anticipated disciplinary action, had asked that another Ee be permitted to attend the meeting with her to act as witness)

Good Samaritan Nursing Home, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 030
(threatening Ee with charge of insubordination if she refused to participate in Ee interview w/o another Ee being present as witness, violative)

Good Samaritan Nursing Home, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 030
(right to representation even though only fellow Ee and even though U not yet certified or certification being challenged)

Sentry Investigation Corp. 249 NLRB No. 120
(Ees have no statutorily protected right to be represented by outside counsel in investigatory or disciplinary interviews requested by their E; representation of Ee by his personal attorney is not equivalent of U representation w/i meaning of NLRB v. Weingarten; nor does representation of by his personal attorney constitute concerted activity w/i purview of Act as construed in Glomac Plastics)

Airco Alloys, a Division of Airco, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 081
(announcement of final decision to discharge probationary Ee did not entitle him to Weingarten rights)

Levingston Shipbuilding Company 249 NLRB No. 061
(E's investigatory interview of Ee w/o affording Ee representation held not unlawful, since Ee's statements regarding representation referred to legal representation by a lawyer in ct, and were not a request for representation at the interview itself)

Kohl's Food Company 249 NLRB No. 013
(no violation where although Ee reasonably feared that interview with personnel director might result in disciplinary action, she did not ask that U representative be present)

First National Supermarkets, Inc. d/b/a Pick-N-Pay Supermarkets, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 162
(where Ee did not request U representation at disciplinary meeting no Weingarten violation exists; moreover, fact that discipline was justified is not determinative)

Texaco Inc. 247 NLRB No. 086
(E's denying Ee's request for U representation at his disciplinary interview, not violative, since sole purpose of the interview was to inform Ee of disciplinary action, and of final decision to impose discipline which had been reached prior to interview and was based upon facts and evidence which E had obtained prior to the interview; See Baton Rouge Water Works Co. 246 NLRB No. 161)

Delta Lines, Inc. JD-(SF)-279-82
(requiring Ees to attend counselling sessions concerning their unsatisfactory work not violative, since at outset of each counselling session, Ees were specifically told they would not need U R because no disciplinary action was intended, and Ees had no reasonable grounds for believing counselling would result in disciplinary action; moreover there was no evidence that counselling sessions were designed to elicit information which might reasonably result in Ees being disciplined)

Gary Concrete Products, Inc. JD-(ATL)-68-82
(unsatisfactory Ees who were discharged prior to their request for witness were not deprived of Weingarten rights and E did not violate Act)

Michigan Gas Utilities Company JD-269-82
(deferral to arbitration decision of charge that alleged Ee was denied representation at interview with E where arbitrator explicitly considered whether E violated Ee's Weingarten rights but found Ee not entitled to representation, though he requested it, since interview involved only giving instructions and correction of work techniques)

Rainbo Baking Company JD-(SF)-117-82

Continental Air Transport Co., Inc. JD-128-82
(E's refusal of Ee's request for U representation at interviews, unlawful, absent evidence decision to discharge had previously been made, where Ee reasonably feared interview would result in discharge in view of recent discharges by supervisor who had ordered interview, fact he had left work early previous day, presence of E's paper work on supervisor's desk, and fact supervisor said nothing until personnel manager arrived; further, after Ee requested U representation supervisor refused w/o informing Ee he was free to end interview)

Service Spring Company A Division of Garlock, Inc.
A Wholly-Owned Subsidiary of Colt Industries JD-123-82
(counseling was part of disciplinary procedure as results placed in personnel file and meeting was investigaroty in nature even if purpose is to rationalize E's decision to discipline; therefore, when Ee requested witness, request was denied, and meeting held Weingarten violation occurred because Weingarten rights are derived principally from Sec. 7 right of mutual aid and is not dependent on representational rights under Sec. 8(a)(5))

Brookwood Furniture, Division of U.S. Industries JD-(Atl)-4-82
(Ee's Weingarten rights not violated notwithstanding E denied Ee's request for U representative to be present at meeting where sole purpose of meeting was to inform Ee that note detailing problems with quality of his work was being placed in his personnel file)

Memorial Hospital of Gardena JD-(SF)-16-82
(violation where supervisor denied Ee's repeated requests for U representation during his interrogation of her alleged faulty work performance, where Ee reasonably believed interview might result in her being disciplined)

Ford Motor Company JD-418-81
(E's denial of unrepresented Ee's request for private attorney during alleged investigatory interviews not violative since lawyer's duty would be exclusive and personal to Ee)

Detroit Edison Company JD-400-81
(E's interrogation of Ee at interview concerning theft of E's property in absence of U representative not violative of Ee's Weingarten rights, where Ee, in face of his knowledge of his rights, failed to simply request presence of U or termination of interview)

The House of The Good Samaritan and The Samaritan Keep Nursing Home, Inc. JD-223-81
(E's interrogation and interview of Ee while denying her presence of U representative at investigatory interview which she had reason to believe could lead to disciplinary action against her, and then threatening to send her home w/o pay because she had requested presence of her U representative, violative)

Ford Motor Company, Automotive Division, Twin
Cities Plant JD-57-81
(threatening to send Ee home if he requested U committeeman's presence during investigatory hearing which might result in discipline, unlawful)

U. S. Postal Service JD-(SF)-90-81
(refusing to permit Ee, upon request, to have U representative present during investigatory interview (with E) which Ee reasonably believed might result in disciplinary action and actually suspending Ee, violative)

General Telephone Company of Indiana, Inc. JD-90-81
(refusing Ee's request for representative at interview, not unlawful, where interview was neither investigatory nor disciplinary interview but was counseling session for purpose of remedying Ee's work deficiencies)

Perdue Farms, Inc. JD-569-80
(denial of Ee's request for witness at disciplinary meeting, not unlawful, since final, binding decision to impose suspension had already been made as evidenced by written disciplinary notice signed at time Ee requested witness)

Fedmart Stores, Inc. JD-(SF)-280-80
(no finding that E violated Act by depriving Ee of right to U representation during investigation regarding cash shortages where Ee failed to make request specific enough to be regarded as request for U representation w/i meaning of Weingarten)

Peschke Packing Company JD-(NY)-53-80
(violation where on two occasions E proceeded to interview Ee after ignoring latter's request for U representation made by Ee in reasonable belief that he was to be disciplined; no violation, however, where when Ee requested U steward's presence, E terminated interview, then recalled Ee after 5 minutes and informed him of discipline to be imposed)

United States Postal Service (Las Vegas, Nevada) JD-(SF)-214-80
(violation where E issued warning to Ee because he refused to participate in interview concerning blank spaces on his timecard w/o a representative)

Wolverine World Wide, Inc. JD-188-80
(discipline and ultimate discharge of Ee for her refusal to leave her work station w/o being accompanied by Ee representative to attend meeting with supervisor which she believed could result in imposition of discipline not violative for Ee has no protected right to refuse to go to office and can be lawfully disciplined for such refusal; See Roadway Express 246 NLRB No. 180 overruling Glomac Plastics 234 NLRB 1309)

Wolverine World Wide, Inc. JD-188-80
(Ee's rights were not violated where she was denied presence of Ee representative at interview with E as sole purpose was to inform her that decision had already been made to discharge her; See Baton Rouge 246 NLRB No. 161)

Roadway Express, Inc. JD-848-79
(no violation by refusal to allow Ee to have U steward present at interview which he reasonably feared might result in his being disciplined where E only summoned Ee to office to inform him that he was getting a letter but did not question him or engage in a dialogue or interchange)

Vulcan Fuel Corporation JD-842-79
(denial of Ee's request for U representation at interview in which Ee reasonably feared imposition of discipline, violative, eventhough no disciplinary action was taken against Ee at interview; if steward is absent, E must accept some delay in disciplinary process)

Vulcan Fuel Corporation JD-842-79
(once E is put on notice of invocation of Weingarten protections, if E expressly assures Ee that no discipline will result, and no discipline in fact occurs, E is under no obligation to furnish representation)

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company v. N.L.R.B. 667 F.2d 470 (C.A. 5, Feb. 1982)
(investigatory interview conducted with requested U representative not violative notwithstanding E told U representative not to answer any questions but to let Ee answer and Ee confessed to theft of E's property despite fact that U representative had instructed him prior to interview not to answer questions because E's conduct did not interfere with U representative's ability to clarify facts or bring additional facts to E's attention after Ee finished speaking)

Prudential Insurance Company of America v.
N.L.R.B. 661 F.2d 398 (C.A. 5, Nov. 1981)
(insurance company denying U representation to its agent at meeting initiated by supervisor and manager to discuss discrepancies in agent's records which made it impossible to determine current status of policies not unlawful, notwithstanding Weingarten criteria was met where agent questioned for five minutes and thus reasonably feared disciplinary action, since right to U representation effectively waived by bargaining agreement)

Lennox Industries, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 637 F.2d 340 (C.A. 5, 1981)
(denial of U representation to Ee during interview where Ee was asked questions about his poor work performance and confrontation with supervisor, unlawful, since investigatory interview in which risk of discipline reasonably inhered; contention Ee did not properly request representation, rejected, where Ee had requested U representation during confrontation with supervisor which immediately pr[illegible]ed interview in official's office, since his request need not be repeated [illegible]ng interview where supervisor to whom request had been made was present at interview and confrontation and interview deemed single integrated episode)

Good Hope Refineries, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 620 F.2d 57 (C.A. 5, 1980)
(violation where personnel manager required Ee to participate in absence-counseling interview w/o U representation, since personnel manager had authority to approve absence and unapproved absence could result in discipline)

Anchortank, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 618 F.2d 1153 (C.A. 5, 1980)
(before R election is held, E may nondiscriminatorily exclude from his property U representative who is to represent Ee in an interview; this result would obtain even if Ee's request was concerted activity)

Anchortank, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 618 F.2d 1153 (C.A. 5, 1980)
(E's property rights must yield to Ee's request for U representation when U has been certified or voluntarily recognized as bargaining agent; at interview U representative is better able to fulfill Weingarten functions than is another Ee)

Anchortank, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 618 F.2d 1153 (C.A. 5, 1980)
(compelling Ee to attend investigatory interview, which Ee reasonably believed might result in disciplinary action, when his request for U R has been denied, held violative)

Anchortank, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 618 F.2d 1153 (C.A. 5, 1980)
(Weingarten protection applies to both investigatory and disciplinary interviews save only those conducted for exclusive purpose of notifying Ee of previously determined disciplinary action)

Anchortank, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 618 F.2d 1153 (C.A. 5, 1980)
(Section 7 does not grant Ee right to representation at interview conducted solely to inform Ee of, and acting upon, predetermined disciplinary decision)

N.L.R.B. v. Kahn's and Company, Division of Consolidated Food Company 694 F.2d 1070 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1982)
(E's refusing Ee's request to have U steward present when he was interviewed concerning his overstaying his allotted time in restroom, which triggered his discharge, violative)

General Motors Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 674 F.2d 576 (C.A. 6, Apr. 1982)
(E's ignoring Ee's request for U representation at third investigatory interview with E (though no request was made at first two interviews) concerning report of Ee's presence at nearby bowling alley during working hours held violative and Bd's c/d order enforced, since Ee had right to U representation under SCt's decision in NLRB v. J. Weingarten, Inc., 420 U.S. 251 (1975) and once request made Ee has absolute right to U representative and such right is not waived by answering questions of E who ignores request)

Spartan Stores, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 628 F.2d 953 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(Bd finding that Ee was discharged for refusing to participate in interview he reasonably believed could result in disciplinary action w/o U representation reversed, since substantial evidence did not support Bd's application of Weingarten doctrine where Ee had no reasonable grounds to believe that interview might result in his discipline after E gave assurances that it would not, and concomitantly, Ee's action of getting steward himself, contrary to established policy that supervisor would summon steward upon Ee's request and orders of supervisors, does not imply possible disciplinary action)

Super Valu Xenia, a Division of Super Valu Stores, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 627 F.2d 13 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(ct held contrary to Bd that Ee during disciplinary interview waived any right to U representation when Ee decided to proceed with meeting w/o U stewards present)

N.L.R.B. v. Illinois Bell Telephone Company 674 F.2d 618 (C.A. 7, Mar. 1982)
(Ee found not to have waived her right to have U representative present at investigatory interview, where after being informed U steward that she requested was not on premises she was not informed that she might terminate interview or suspend it until U officer could be present)

N.L.R.B. v. Illinois Bell Telephone Company 674 F.2d 618 (C.A. 7, Mar. 1982)
(Ee who asked E at outset of investigatory interview, should I have someone in here with me, someone from the U found to have sufficiently direct request for U representation and E's denial violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Illinois Bell Telephone Company 674 F.2d 618 (C.A. 7, Mar. 1982)
(U representative Ee requests need not be U steward or officer)

Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 664 F.2d 1095 (C.A. 8, Nov. 1981)
(make whole relief, including back pay and reinstatement, improper where Ees were discharged for admittedly stealing goods from E and not for requesting U assistance at investigatory interview; Section 10(c) of Act, precludes back pay order and reinstatement under such circumstances)

N.L.R.B. v. Potter Electric Signal Company 600 F.2d 120 (C.A. 8, 1980)
(requiring two Ees to attend investigatory interviews w/o presence of their U steward, violative; one Ee had requested supervisor to have shop steward accompany her to interview, and the other had called for the steward who responded to her call but was ordered back to work by plant manager)

N.L.R.B. v. United States Postal Service 689 F.2d 835 (C.A. 9, Oct. 1982)
(Ee's Weingarten rights not violated since he had no reasonable expectation of being disciplined during discussion, which, according to contract, was not disciplinary)

N.L.R.B. v. Texaco, Inc. 659 F.2d 124 (C.A. 9, 1981)
(E's contention that even if interview of Ee was investigatory, reprimand should remain in Ee's record because decision to discipline was made before interview and did not in fact rest to any degree on interview itself, rejected in view of findings of Bd majority as to continuing investigation)

N.L.R.B. v. Texaco, Inc. 659 F.2d 124 (C.A. 9, 1981)
(E's refusal to permit representative to speak, and relegating him to role of passive observer, violative since E did not afford Ee representation to which he was entitled)

N.L.R.B. v. Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph 676 F.2d 499 (C.A. 11, May 1982)
(E who violated Act by refusing Ee's request for U representative at disciplinary meeting not required to expunge record of 2 week suspension which followed interview nor pay backpay, because, here, disciplinary action lawful as not result of any information obtained at interview but of information E had prior to interview and no animus exhibited against Ee for invoking her Weingarten rights)

5072-2500 Sponsorship of inside union

Rockland Lake Manor, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 142
(telling Ees it would no longer deal with U, offering to recognize new U or grievance committee or make individual contracts, violative)

Randall E. Wheeler, Kevin E. Wheeler, and Edmund J. Wheeler, A General Partnership d/b/a Wheeler Co. 260 NLRB No. 109
(E violated Act when it suggested, prior to election that Ees abandon U and form Ee committee for purpose of bargaining, and after U lost election encouraged Ees to continue with committee, instructed them to draw up contract proposal and said he was willing to bargain with them concerning terms and conditions of employment as this constitutes unlawful interference in formation and administration of labor organization)

High Energy Corporation 259 NLRB No. 097
(supervisor's suggestion to Ee that Ees should form a company U with E's help, unlawful)

American Display Manufacturing Co., Inc. 259 NLRB No. 066
(violation, where E suggested formation of committee of Ees to bargain directly with E rather than U representation)

Laredo Packing Company 254 NLRB No. 001
(E's personnel director suggesting to Ee that Ees replace U and U's secretary treasurer with Ee committee headed by Ee and promising Ee more hours of work, unlawful)

Carbonex Coal Company 248 NLRB No. 107
(E solicitation of Ee to talk to fellow Ees about forming company U violative)

5072-2600 Interference with employees' right to selection own representative

Fugazy Continental Corp.; Elite Services, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 165
(E's soliciting and directing Ee to sign card for favored U, and threatening him with discharge if he refused to do so and with reprisals if he supported rival U, unlawful)

University Townhouses Cooperative 260 NLRB No. 107
(encouraging Ees to abandon U activities in exchange for rescission of harsher work rules, violative)

Cooper-Jarrett, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 159
(E's abusive and disparaging remarks to Ees about U steward stating that they should replace him as such by voting him out of office because he was no good for company and was breaking E, unlawful, since E could hardly have been more explicit in calling upon Ees to oust steward out of his office)

Sheridan Drive Super Duper, Inc. d/b/a Tonawanda Super Duper 260 NLRB No. 102
(E who told stock boys they were not to sign U cards violated Act as he was instructing them not to engage in protected activity)

King Trucking Company 259 NLRB No. 079
(supervisor's assaulting Ee in context of, and related to, Ee's unlawful discharge and because of his U activity held violative)

Cardinal Systems, A Division of Hospitality Motor Inns, Inc., d/b/a Cummins Component Plant 259 NLRB No. 065
(manager's telling Ees that: she didn't want Ees to be talking over telephones about U; she didn't want Ees to call one another; nor did she want 1st-shift Ees to be talking to 2nd-shift Ees; all violative, since requests constituted prohibition against Ees exercise of their statutory rights on nonworking time)

McKesson Drug Company 257 NLRB No. 084
(where E consolidated 3 facilities into one facility at new location and different Us had represented 2 of the facilities, E's recognition of and contracting with one of above Us covering consolidated facility before facility opened, violative where U did not represent majority of Ees at new facility notwithstanding only 1 U requested recognition at new site)

Metropolitan Life Insurance Company 256 NLRB No. 100
(ordering Ee not to sign U card, violative)

Limestone Apparel Corp. 255 NLRB No. 101
(E's solicitation of Ee to cease asking other Ees to sign U card, violative)

Best Distributing Co., Inc. 255 NLRB No. 034
(telling Ees that they were required to notify E before they joined U, violative)

Crown Cork & Seal Company, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 004
(supervisors' pre-election statements to Ees to effect that if U got in, E's sole customer for steel cans would switch to less costly aluminum cans and (E) would be forced to shut down held violative, since E had not met its burden of providing objective factual basis for statements because it does not necessarily follow that a U election victory per se would increase E's labor costs disproportionately to customer's willingness to pay)

Steam and Steam, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 108
(remarks of E, made during U's organizing campaign, that included; (1) invitation for Ees to submit their grievances to E (2) announcement of new vacation policy, and (3) suggestion that Ee press U to withdraw its R pts, held violative in view of their timing in midst of U's organizing campaign and close upon E's manifestations of U animus as found in instant decision)

Duane Heating Corporation 284 NLRB No. 090
(conduct which does not interfere with conduct of election a fortiori, would not constitute violation of Sec. 8(a)(1))

Armour Oil Company 283 NLRB No. 148
(acting terminal manager's promise to drivers that E would give them more work and better trucks to drive provided U designate business agent other than individual presently representing Ees held violative, since promise was calculated to coerce Ees' choice of bargaining agent and had effect of weakening authority of U as bargaining agent; promise was direct dealing with Ees in derogation of U's status as bargaining representative)

Tom's Ford, Inc. 283 NLRB No. 120
(E's ordering U representative out of shop and causing him to be removed by police from shop floor in presence of Ees held to constitute unlawful interference with Ees' right to select representatives for bargaining and presenting grievances where U representative had contractual right to investigate grievances and was investigating complaint that E was discriminating against U members in breach of contract by granting preferential treatment to nonmembers)

United States Steel Corporation 283 NLRB No. 083
(discharge for repeated refusal to meet with supervisor, found not in derogation of Weingarten rights, notwithstanding Ee's request for presence of U representative at meeting with supervisor, since E does not have to assure Ee of U representative's presence at meeting to induce Ee to leave plant floor, and Ee acts at own peril if he declines to do so)

Omark-RCBS, A Division of Omark Industries 282 NLRB No. 089
(E's statements requesting Ees to deal directly with management, asking for complaints or gripes and requesting opportunity to resolve problems, held violative since they constituted clear attempt to dissuade Ees from supporting U by soliciting grievances and holding out possibility of more favorable treatment)

Servair, Inc. and Servair Maintenance, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 093
(where U represented group of 30-35 Ees employed by E, group of 36 newly hired Ees not accretion as it is unlawful to accrete large group to small group; moreover, E failed to disclose to new Ees that contractual benefits they would receive, new janitor Ees would receive different wage rates than those provided for in contract and E solicited U membership cards from new Ees; thus by unlawfully assisting and recognizing U E violated Sections 8(a)(1) and (2) and by requiring new Ees to join U violated Section 8(a)(3))

S. L. Industries Inc. and Extruded Products, Corp. 282 NLRB No. 131
(E's letter to Ees, before election, pleading with them to vote no in election and to give E a year to prove himself held violative, since latter statement conveyed promise to be responsive to Ee needs)

Mark J. Lasch d/b/a Mark J. Lasch Electrical Contractors 281 NLRB No. 151
(supervisor telling Ee if he wanted to keep working to stick with E, unlawful since it amounted to both threat of discharge for supporting U and promise of benefit for opposing U)

General Thermo, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 198
(threat that organizers of U could be fired, unlawful)

Charles Dean d/b/a Happy Tapp Mfg. Co. 250 NLRB No. 154
(telling U adherent during U campaign that job he had anything to do with U, and if any tools were missing, U adherent would be accused of stealing because of U adherent's criminal record)

MGM Grand-Reno, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 153
(supervisor's statement to U advocate that he should not expect E to continue its practice of accomodating Ees, who also wanted to attend school, in event U was voted in, held violative, since statement suggested reprisals in form of denial of existing benefits in response to Ees' decision to select U)

Lyman Steel Company 249 NLRB No. 040
(offering money to two Ees for them to coerce one Ee into withholding his support from petitioner held violative)

Lyman Steel Company 249 NLRB No. 040
(suggesting to two ees that they rid E of two supporters of petitioning U, held violative)

Lyman Steel Company 249 NLRB No. 040
(blanket prohibition against any conversations in plant between Ees who supported disfavored U of E)

Lyman Steel Company 249 NLRB No. 040
(offer of money to pro-U Ee if he would stay with the Company and implied threat of punishment if Ee supported petitioner rather than intervening U held violative where action was designed to coerce Ee to assist Intervenor rather than petitioning U)

Lyman Steel Company 249 NLRB No. 040
(pressing Ee to sign statement that he had received U authorization card from U advocate during working hours, violative, since activity, in anti-U context, suggested E planned reprisals for Ees who supported petitioner)

Nino-Pak Products, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 173
(E who generally permitted Ees to talk while at work violated Act where on eve of election it prohibited pro-U Ee from talking to other Ees)

F.W.I.L. Lundy Bros. Restaurant, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 097
(announcement by manager to assembled Ees that he did not want them to discuss U, held violative)

F.W.I.L. Lundy Bros. Restaurant, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 097
(permitting distribution of anti-U pamphlet among Ees during company time, violative, since pamphlet ratified implied threats of closure, loss of jobs and privileges)

Charles H. McCauley Associates, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 047
(forbidding Ee from seeking U assistance in his drive for improvement of wages, pensions, and health benefits, violative)

Suburban Ford, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 081
(E's sudden and unprecedented attempt to pack bargaining units of salesmen and clerks with new Ees prior to election in two appropriate units held violative, since action was attempt to dilute, emasculate and destroy Us' majority status)

Permanent Label Corporation 248 NLRB No. 021
(E who asks Ees to tell other Ees to vote against U violates Act)

Sav-On Drugs, Inc. JD-(SF)-214-81
(threats of loss of employment if Ees did not join particular U are ULPs sufficient to taint particular U's claimed majority status on basis of signed authorization cards)

Sav-On Drugs, Inc. JD-(SF)-214-81
(statements to Ees and applicants for employment that they would have to join (particular) U as condition of employment and posting of letter threatening Ees that they would not be scheduled for work unless they joined U, held violative)

Ace Electrical Construction Corporation Advance Electric of New York, Inc.; et al. JD-(NY)-79-81
(E's posting notice stating that if Ees did not join certain U, which E would join, Ees could strike for rest of their lives held violative, since E's notice suggested futility of selecting petioning U)

Alan S. Dubin and Nicholas A. Micelli, A Partnership d/b/a L. A. Inhalation Therapy Services JD-(SF)-238-80
(telling Ees that they must forswear their U membership or allegiance as condition of keeping their jobs, unlawful)

R.E. Peterson Products, Inc., and Will Products, Inc. JD-288-80
(calling suspected U adherent derogatory names prior to election, violative, since action discouraged Ee participation in U activities)

Standard Bridge Corporation JD-174-80
(accusing Ee of stirring up trouble by his attempts to obtain U membership and thus causing his own termination and other Ees' transfer, violative)

N.L.R.B. v. American Spring Bed Manufacturing Co., d/b/a American Chain Link Fence Co. 670 F.2d 1236 (C.A. 1, Feb. 1982)
(use of U adherent as translator for anti-U speech by E not violative where translating just ministerial function, part of Ee's daily responsibilities and group that needed translation was small so easy for Ee to convey true feelings)

St. Regis Paper Company v. N.L.R.B. 620 F.2d 487 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(discharge and failure to reinstate Ees who struck E during critical period to gain recognition for U, rival of petitioner, not unlawful, since if E, during pendency of election proceedings, had recognized rival U as bargaining agent, it would have been guilty of interference with Bd's election procedures as well as ULP in violation of Section 8(a)(1) of Act)

5072-2700 Interference with employee's performance of duties as union representative

Key Prim, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 132
(E's refusal to permit grievance chairman access to premises to attend grievance meeting, violative)

Cooper-Jarrett, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 159
(E's abusive remarks to U steward held unlawful veiled and implied threats of discharge, where steward was singled out for criticism because of his failure to support E's proposed Ee reinvestment program; to find no violation because E did not specifically refer to steward's U activity would merely reward wrongdoer for being circumspect; while never explicitly threatening discharge, E expressed wish that steward did not work for him or that he could be fired; and such remarks, in light of later statements to Ees about ousting steward, interfered with steward's right to hold U office)

Cooper-Jarrett, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 159
(while finding that E's abusive and disparaging remarks to U steward constituted unlawful threat of discharge and interference with his statutory right to hold U office, Bd held such remarks did not verbally abuse steward

because he presented grievances pursuant to bargaining agreement, since there was no evidence to link E's comments with steward's grievance-processing function)

Champion Parts Rebuilders, Inc., Northeast Division 260 NLRB No. 098

(refusing to continue to let U officials use in-plant telephone system for official business and also discontinuing letting U stewards give documents to supervisors who, in turn, would photocopy Ees' doctor's excuses violative of Sec. 8(a)(3) where part of other anti-U conduct and no business justification existed; moreover, change in steward's role in obtaining photocopy of excuses by only letting Ee give it directly to supervisor, thus, bypassing steward, violated Section 8(a)(5))

Consolidated Freightways Corporation of Delaware 257 NLRB No. 177

(threat to discharge U steward because he bypassed E's chain-of-command and met with high management official violative, notwithstanding management was not aware of subjects discussed at meeting)

Consolidated Freightways Corporation of Delaware 257 NLRB No. 177

(issuing warning letter to U-steward for spending too much work time on handling Ee grievances violative where contract provided U-steward with reasonable time and 1 hour per day not unreasonable considering large number of Ees)

Laredo Packing Company 254 NLRB No. 001

(reprimand of U steward who interjected himself in dispute between foreman and Ee who was objecting to being transfered because of work performance by instructing Ee to stop arguing and accept reassignment, unlawful, since steward did not interfere with Ee's work or operation of plant and steward in his official capacity attempted to assist foreman)

Tom's Ford, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 125

(E's ordering U representative out of shop and causing him to be removed by police from shop floor in presence of Ees held to constitute unlawful interference with Ees' right to select representatives for bargaining and presenting grievances where U representative had contractual right to investigate grievances and was investigating complaint that E was discriminating against U members in breach of contract by granting preferential treatment to nonmembers)

L. E. Solomon, Inc. 253 NLRB No. 063

(E who ordered U's shop steward to remove notebook, in which he kept information pertaining to U business, from its premises, violated Act)

United States Postal Service 252 NLRB No. 083

(U steward's suspension after attempting to perform her duties as steward, unlawful where she was engaged in protected activity, notwithstanding she did not seek permission of supervisor as required under contract and refused to obey several direct orders to return to work as supervisor was bent on preventing steward from performing her official duties so any request would be futile and neither refusal to work nor disruption of work production and her conduct did not exceed acceptable bounds to lose protection of Act)

Woonsocket Spinning Company 252 NLRB No. 165

(threatening Ee members of U negotiating committee who reported E's poor labor relations policies to Ees violative)

O. B. Williams Company 252 NLRB No. 146

(supervisor directing U steward to intervene with Ees to obtain withdrawal of charges filed by Ees with State Human Rights Department, unlawful)

P. J. Gear & Sons, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 028

(threat to discharge U steward after he expressed intention to report E's abbrogation of collective-bargaining agreement to U violative)

Alfa Leisure, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 088

(discharge of Ee for rude conduct violative where conduct occurred in collective-bargaining setting and in fact occurred while Ee was a U representative and was present solely for purpose of bargaining)

Hotel St. Moritz, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 015

(no violation by E's questioning delegate status of former elected U delegate who appeared at E's meeting with another Ee at latter's request, since E's questioning was not in bad faith where the testimony of many witnesses showed considerable confusion as to whether former delegate retained his status)

Swift and Company 250 NLRB No. 182

(supervisor's telling steward that fellow steward was skating on thin ice and wouldn't last long because she had filed grievance against supervisor held violative)

United States Postal Service 250 NLRB No. 186

(issuing letter of warning to U steward for his conduct during grievance hearing unlawful)

United States Postal Service 250 NLRB No. 186

(threatening U steward during grievance presentation with disciplinary action if he didn't shut up, unlawful)

United States Postal Service 250 NLRB No. 082

(suspending U steward for uttering obscenity toward supervisor in course of discussing possible grievance on behalf of unit Ee, unlawful)

New Process Gear, Division of Chrysler Corporation 249 NLRB No. 118

(foremen's instructing argumentative U steward to leave work area, not violative where steward was not threatened with disciplinary action upon failing to leave area and continued to act as U representative w/o any interference)

Pullman Trailmobile, A Division of Pullman Incorporated 249 NLRB No. 090

(transfer of U steward to another job because of his conduct in filing grievances, unlawful)

United States Postal Service JD-420-81

(telling steward that Ee had no right to see him about sick-pay grievance and that he as steward had no right to grieve her failure to receive sick-pay, unlawful)

United States Postal Service JD-224-81

(warning to U steward that he should mind his own business, violative where warning was directed at steward's action of bringing Ee complaints)

United States Postal Service JD-224-81

(station superintendent's announcement that his evaluation of U steward, if he gave him one, would be unfavorable, violative where it was designed to impress upon steward that station superintendent was dissatisfied with his conduct in pressing grievances)

U. S. Postal Service JD-(SF)-242-80

(supervisor held not to have threatened to retaliate against Ee because of U steward's insistence on investigating incident involving supervisor and Ee, or to have retaliated against attempts of U steward to investigate incident by issuing Ee a letter of warning, where Ee engaged in conduct which E reasonably viewed as insubordinate and supervisor immediately reported incident to his superiors at which time decision was made to discipline Ee, and such decision was reached several hours prior to steward's arrival at the scene)

L. R. Bob Spillers Painting Co. JD-(SF)-169-80

(E's attempt to have U business agent remove Ee as U steward not violative where request averted to U representative who had authority to appoint stewards, no Ees were present and no threats were given)

Cashmere Lumber Company JD-(SF)-93-80

(supervisor's statement to U steward to the effect that if he performed his steward's duties with zeal considered excessive by supervisor, supervisor would make steward's job unpleasant and cause his eventual severance, unlawful)

Good Hope Refineries, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 620 F.2d 57 (C.A. 5, 1980)

(violation where E threatened U steward with possible discipline if he insisted on providing assistance to Ee during absence-counseling session, an investigatory interview)

Caterpillar Tractor Co. v. N.L.R.B. 638 F.2d 140 (C.A. 9, 1981)

(E's issuance of warning to chief steward for his communication with Ees in department other than his own, violative since E's action was discriminatory application of plant rules that was motivated by Ee's status as chief steward)

Caterpillar Tractor Co. v. N.L.R.B. 638 F.2d 140 (C.A. 9, 1981)

(suspension of chief steward for assisting Ee with filing of her grievance, unlawful; chief steward's outburst of profanity did not provide good cause for suspension where such outburst was in response to supervisor's interference with filing of grievance)

N.L.R.B. v. Max Factor and Company 640 F.2d 197 (C.A. 9, 1980)

(discharge of U steward who vigorously processed grievances, violative, notwithstanding she spent more than 50 percent of work time doing so (much more than other stewards) and at meeting with E where he issued disciplinary warning to her for not working enough she responded with profane language, because excessive time spent on nonproduction activities and conduct at meeting were not so indefensible as to cause her to forfeit protection of Act)

N.L.R.B. v. Max Factor and Company 640 F.2d 197 (C.A. 9, 1980)

(offering U steward management position and tuition payments for law school in order to remove her from position as U steward violative)

5072-2800 Abetting activities of employees opposed to union

American Display Manufacturing Co., Inc. 259 NLRB No. 084

(no violations, where at meeting at which E's owner prefaced his anti-U speech by stating he did not wish to get into discussion with Ees one Ee momentarily ignored injunction not to talk and made anti-U remark but U adherent who tried to speak was told to be quiet)

Gary Concrete Products, Inc. JD-(ATL)-65-81

(supervisor who distributed one anti-U T-shirt to Ee who may have asked for shirt did not violate Act as this does not establish general pattern of supervisory involvement in soliciting Ees to wear T-shirt)

5072-2900 Excluding union members from savings and stock ownership plan

Consolidation Coal Company 260 NLRB No. 065
(E's investment plan which limited participation to non-U Ees per se violative; and E's publicizing this provision immediately before election also violative)

Computer Sciences Corporation Applied Technology Division, Huntsville Center 258 NLRB No. 068
(stock purchase plan set forth in Ee handbook violated Act where it limited plan to those Ees who were not U members or not members of bargaining unit)

5072-3000 Soliciting employees to cross picket line

G & H Products, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 047
(E's questions to probationary Ee as to whether he would join striking Ees after his probationary period was over, and statements to him that he could only be dues paying U member rather than enthusiastic member violative)

Walter Die Casting, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 034
(inviting striking Ee to return to work and telling him that E would like to get rid of U and some Ees in U and suggesting another U and that E would like to run for at least one year w/o U violative)

E & E Transportation Corp., Inc. 254 NLRB No. 087
(threatening Ees with discharge for refusal to cross picket line)

Canney Drilling Company 254 NLRB No. 019

(threatening non-unit Ees with loss of jobs if they refused to cross picket line, violative)

Erie Haven, Inc. JD-194-82
(suspension of Ee, truckdriver, for refusing to cross informational picket line at construction site held violative, since Ee was exercising concerted right protected by Act)

Childers Manufacturing Company, Inc. JD-(SF)-11-82
(offering more money to strikers, whom E considered good workers, if they did not participate in strike with other Ees to protest E's failure to grant wage increase, unlawful; E's solicitation of Ees constituted an integral part of a pattern of overall illegal opposition to purposes of Act)

Sunnyvale Porsche Audi, Inc. JD-(SF)-9-83
(violation, where applicant was informed Ees had elected to go U, that there might be strike, and asked whether she would cross picket line)

5072-3100 Rewarding nonstrikers

Huck Manufacturing Company 256 NLRB No. 088
(increasing wages of nonstriking Ees w/o communicating in advance with U)

S & W Motor Lines, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 621 F.2d 598 (C.A. 4, 1980)
(payment of bonus to non-striking over-the-road drivers, unlawful)

Huck Manufacturing Company v. N.L.R.B. 693 F.2d 1176 (C.A. 5, Dec. 1982)
(where ALJ had found E's reference in speech to extra payments retroactively granted to nonstrikers for work done day before strike -- but not payments themselves -- coercive and ct held that speech would not support a violation, ct held that Bd reasonably could have found tendency to coerce workers not to strike and concluded 8(a)(1) was violated derivatively since payments were properly held to discriminate against strikers in violation of 8(a)(3))

Huck Manufacturing Company v. N.L.R.B. 693 F.2d 1176 (C.A. 5, Dec. 1982)
(E's retroactive extra payments to nonstrikers for working during strike, not unlawful; coercive effect on strikers was outweighed by legitimate business necessity where nonstrikers proposed extra payments and were granted them to soothe their anger over harassment during strike and induce them to continue production, which they had ceased in protest against reinstatement of strikers)

5072-3300 Interference with testimony of Board witnesses

Humana Corp. d/b/a Sunrise Hospital Medical Center 254 NLRB No. 176
(soliciting Ees to give false testimony before Bd concerning deauthorization ptn)

Gordonsville Industries, Inc. 262 NLRB No. 054
(E's letter to all Ees implying that their signing of authorization cards was for election only, violative, since letter, which asked about their being possible witnesses at hearing, was attempt to influence Ees' testimony at hearing on objections)

Ledford Construction Company, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 191
(suspending Ees who testified against E at Bd hearing while permitting Ees who testified favorably to work)

The Nestle Company 260 NLRB No. 106
(foreman's questioning U adherent, regarding Ee's testimony at Bd hearing held violative, since such interrogation interfered with Ee's right to participate in Bd processes, as well as the right to engage in U activity)

5072-3400 Inference with decertification activity

Autoprod, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 043
(prior to decertification election, holding dinner meetings in small groups at which E discussed U pension and welfare plans and presented other plans to Ees, violative as it amounted to direct dealing with Ees and bypassing U)

5072-3600 Prohibiting employee from discussing grievance

St. John's Regional Health Center JD-(SF)-255-83
(E's statement to Ee made after it gave her 5-day suspension that it would be dangerous to try to muster support and have calls made to administration violative as Ees have right to seek support from others and such threat interferes with that right)

St. John's Regional Health Center JD-(SF)-255-83
(written reprimand which stated that U Ee would be suspended if she discussed reprimand with anyone is violative as Ee has right to seek aid and support of fellow Ees)

5072-3800 Distribution of pro-company buttons, etc.

(threat to discharge U steward because he bypassed E's chain-of-command and met with high management official violative, notwithstanding management was not aware of subjects discussed at meeting)

Pettibone Corporation 265 NLRB No. 151
(threatening Ees that their discussion of working conditions with supervisor and request for pay raise would go against them in their pay reviews and there is the door and they were free to leave, held violative)

United States Postal Service 252 NLRB No. 083
(U steward's suspension after attempting to perform her duties as steward, unlawful where she was engaged in protected activity, notwithstanding she did not seek permission of supervisor as required under contract and refused to obey several direct orders to return to work as supervisor was bent on preventing steward from performing her official duties so any request would be futile and neither refusal to work nor distuption of work production and her conduct did not exceed acceptable bounds to lose protection of Act)

High Performance Tube, Inc. 251 NLRB No. 181
(discharge of Ee for reading aloud list of grievances to assembled Ees violative)

United States Postal Service 260 NLRB No. 136
(issuing letter of warning to U steward for his conduct during grievance hearing unlawful)

Borden Inc. Foods Division, Drake Bakeries 248 NLRB No. 162
(issuance warning to Ee who had previously filed charges with Bd for continual pattern of confrontations with management and supervisors, unlawful, where based on personnel data sheet, noting Ee's threat during grievance meeting to go to NLRB)

Hansen Rubber Company JD-290-82
(discharge of Ee for uttering obscenity during course of meeting with E dealing with contract provision concerning pay for negotiating sessions violative as Ee was engaged in protected concerted activity and his conduct was not so egregious to remove it from protection of Act where it was uttered in heat of an argument)

United States Postal Service v. N.L.R.B. 652 F.2d 409 (C.A. 5, July 1981)
(Act's protection of E's conduct during grievance meeting does not necessarily terminate instant E ends discussion. Bd may extend protection to cooling off period of brief duration at termination of grievance meetings, since protection of Ees' participation in grievance meetings would be seriously threatened if E could at any emotional or argumentative point during meeting call immediate halt to operation of Act. Appropriateness and duration of cooling off period will depend on facts of each case and determination left to Bd's discretion)

N.L.R.B. v. Max Factor and Company 640 F.2d 197 (C.A. 9, 1980)
(discharge of U steward who vigorously processed grievances, violative, notwithstanding she spent more than 50 percent of work time doing so (much more than other stewards) and at meeting with E where he issued disciplinary warning to her for not working enough she responded with profane language, because excessive time spent on nonproduction activities and conduct at meeting were not so indefensible as to cause her to forfeit protection of Act)

5072-5700 Interference with arbitration proceeding

Autoprod, Inc. 265 NLRB No. 042
(advising Ees that they need not comply with subpoena to appear at arbitration hearing, violative)

5072-5800 Interference with representation on grievance committee

Pullman Trailmobile, A Division of Pullman Incorporated 249 NLRB No. 089
(statement by E that U steward was troublemaker and E was having problems in department which could reasonably be interpreted by U officials to mean that E's problem was overzealous steward who filed too many grievances and solution to problem was transfer of steward, unlawful)

Western Die Casting Company JD-(SF)-96-82
(E's contention that U waived right to represent unit Ees in processing grievance because 2 members of 4 person in-plant grievance committee who attempted to present grievances were no longer Ees of E, rejected, since neither U's contract provisions with E nor its constitution, considered either separately or together, merited inference that U clearly and unmistakably waived Ees' statutory right to select their own grievance processors)

United States Postal Service v. N.L.R.B. 652 F.2d 409 (C.A. 5, July 1981)
(issuing warning letter to U officers for refusing to return to work after supervisor ended grievance meeting in office, and instead officers following supervisors out onto work area and continuing to argue loudly, unlawful, since period brief and no disruption among other Ees; Act's protection of Ees' conduct during grievance meeting does not necessarily terminate instant E ends discussion; Bd may extend protection to brief cooling off period at termination of grievance meetings)

General Motors Corp. v. N.L.R.B. 616 F.2d 967 (C.A. 6, 1980)
(Bd's holding that E's suspension of U district committeeman for his use of grievance procedure was violative is supported by substantial evidence, notwithstanding contention committeeman abused grievance procedure by taking too much time discussing grievance with grievant and refusing to comply with request that he submit this dispute on abuse of procedure to grievance procedure)

5072-6300 Interference with employees' free access to Board

Cardinal Systems, A Division of Hospitality Motor Inns, Inc., d/b/a Cummins Component Plant 259 NLRB No. 048
(threat to discharge Ee who went to that damn labor Bd, violative)

American Interstate Freight Lines 258 NLRB No. 131
(threat of discharge if Ee filed appeal to RD's dismissal of his charge, violative)

Southern Newspapers, Inc., d/b/a The Baytown Sun 255 NLRB No. 022
(E's threat during negotiations that if U filed charges with Bd or in cis and recovered backpay award, such award would be subtracted from E's curstanding wage proposal, unlawful, since effect of threat was to put pressure on U because of U's resort to Bd processes)

Mark Twain Marine Industries, Inc. 284 NLRB No. 144
(advising Ees that by selecting U to represent them they had given up rights to utilize Bd processes, violative)

Roberts Oldsmobile, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 085
(E's proposed strike settlement agreement held not violative notwithstanding that proposed settlement offer included provision for withdrawal of all unfair labor practices pending as a result of the strike, where the provision could not reasonably have been construed by Ees as restriction on their right to avail themselves of Bd's processes; Ees knew, as did E, that they were engaged in economic tug of war and none of Ees could reasonably expect reprisals based on charges having been filed and not withdrawn)

Alfa Leisure, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 088
(promising Ee letter guaranteeing job for Ee's brother in order for brother to be eligible for parole if Ee withdrew charges pending before Bd, violative)

Borden Inc. Foods Division, Drake Bakeries 266 NLRB No. 142
(issuance warning to Ee who had previously filed charges with Bd for continual pattern of confrontations with management and supervisors, unlawful, where based on personnel data sheet, noting Ee's threat during grievance meeting to go to NLRB)

The Perlman-Rocque Company JD-513-81
(supervisor informing Ee who had filed grievances and charges with Bd that he would receive waring letter for tardiness due to business at NLRB office and that Ee's past record would justify letter unlawful, since E's policy required three incidents of tardiness before warning letter and supervisor was aware Ee's past record did not meet this requirement, and it was made clear that, while some excuses might be acceptable, being at NLRB was not among them)

Garden State Motors Co. JD-160-80
(telephoning Ee after E received notice of filing of charge by Ee violative where done for purpose of extorting from Ee agreement to drop charge)

5072-6800 Right to file charges with Board or other governmental agency

Art Steel of California, Inc. 256 NLRB No. 140
(issuing warning notice to U adherent assertedly for leaving his department and going into another department w/o permission and —talking to a government person— in violation of E's rule, held violative, since Ee was involved in taking inventory and was not assigned to particular department, but instead, had to go from department to department; warning notice was given Ee after Ee had spoken to Bd agent investigating ULP charges against E)

Continental Distributing Co., Inc. 256 NLRB No. 091
(discharge of Ee after he made inquiries about joining and attempted to join U, and called Bd to find out how to join U, violative where E's allegations about Ee's stealing goods from E not supported by evidence)

Consolidated Aluminum Corporation 256 NLRB No. 003
(telling another Ee that E was exploring possibility of filing charges against U president because he filed ULP charge against E, violative because it interfered with Ee's right to file and press charges before Bd)

Consolidated Aluminum Corporation 256 NLRB No. 003
(warning U president that E might file charges against him if he did not discuss matters with E before filing ULP charges, violative because it interfered with Ee's right to file and press charges before Bd)

Glover Bottled Gas Corp. 275 NLRB No. 011
(E violated 8(a)(1), but not 8(a)(4) by threatening to give Ee an unfavorable reference, when needed, in retaliation for filing charges with Bd)

O. B. Williams Company 252 NLRB No. 146
(soliciting withdrawal of charges filed by Ees with State Human Rights Department and threatening job security of Ee if he didn't withdraw charge, unlawful)

James F. Stanford, Inc. d/b/a Ace Machine Co. 249 NLRB No. 073
(asking Ees why they had not stopped Ee from filing certain papers with Bd)

St. Regis Paper Company 247 NLRB No. 105
(statements to Eq; that filing ULP charges against E could lead to plant closure held violative)

Charleston Area Medical Center, Inc. JD-468-82
(refusal to process Ee grievance because Ee had also filed charge with Bd over same issue not violative where it was E's established policy and there is no evidence of discrimination)

Robbins Tire and Rubber Co. JD-(ATL)-23-82
(no violation, since Ee discharged for poor work rather than for filing workmans compensation claim where E was following up complaints from customers regarding quality, Ee acknowledged he made mistakes, Ee had filed previous workmen's compensation claims and had never been disciplined for so doing, another Ee had filed more workmen's compensation claims and was still employed by E, and decision on whether or not workmen's compensation claim was paid was left to insurance carrier)

The Perlman-Rocque Company JD-513-81
(warning Ee who had filed grievances and charges with Bd that he would be watched for tardiness, not unlawful, since was device to insure tardiness did not reoccur in view of importance of on the job presence of those in Ee's classification)

National King Coal, Inc. JD-(SF)-24-81
(cancellation of production bonus because Ee threatened to file charge with Bd unless he was recipient, violative)

Planned Parenthood of Alameda and San Francisco Counties JD-(SF)-294-80
(E informing Ee that due to her filing charges with Bd it would not continue to process her grievances under its internal procedures, violative, notwithstanding its subsequent good faith effort to process grievances)

Shuttle Motor Corporation JD-327-80
(discharge of Ee allegedly for inquiring of state agency regarding legality of back stubbing i.e. E refusing to pay for current work in order to recoup where Ee had been paid too much for previous work, not unlawful, since Ee's activity not concerted where back-stubbing not matter of common complaint; further, Ee called agency before any other adverse action taken against him and subsequent back-stubbing against him rectified)

Hart Ski Mfg. Co., Inc. JD-11-80
(E's owner threatening not to sign contract negotiated with Ee committee unless ULP charges and ptn withdrawn, stating ptn had been filed by outside U and there was no purpose in ptn since Ees had approved contract between E and committee, unlawful)

Frank Briscoe Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 637 F.2d 946 (C.A. 3, 1981)
(laid off Ees who filed charges with EEOC involved in protected concerted activity and refusal to reinstate while charges pending violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Proler International Corporation 635 F.2d 351 (C.A. 5, 1981)
(E's personnel officer advising Ee who had filed charges against E that whether or not charges were sustained, Ee would lose his job)

N.L.R.B. v. Travis Meat and Seafood Company, Inc. 633 F.2d 233 (C.A. 6, June 1980)
(distributing post-election letter stating that wages and benefits would continue to be withheld until U withdrew election objections, violative)

5072-7700 Restraining union or other concerted activities on company time or premises

Cardio Data Systems Corp. 264 NLRB No. 011
(posting of notice requiring Ees to add their names to any pro-U related notices posted on company bulletin board, unlawful, notwithstanding fact that notice did not use word must as an order requiring compliance, but only requested writer of notice to reveal name, since it was improper interference with, and inquiry into identity of pro-U activists)

Glover Bottled Gas Corp. 275 NLRB No. 011
(threat to discharge any Ees who did not cross picket line, unlawful, where Ees were properly engaged in sympathy strike on behalf of fellow U members striking another E for whom E was performing struck work, resulting in picketing of E by Ees of struck E)

Eastern Steel Company 283 NLRB No. 163
(telling Ees not to talk about U until after election, violative)

Villa Avila 283 NLRB No. 010
(E-who evicted U representatives from job site, threatened them with arrest, blocked egress from site violated Act where U representatives were performing legitimate duties on job site)

(supervisor threatening Ees with discharge if they did not keep out of U, or if they did not bring to her U material received in mail, unlawful)

Dennis G. Maietta and Frank M. Maietta t/a Maietta Contracting 281 NLRB No. 037
(telling Ees not to engage in any discussions about U and that U was dead and over, unlawful)

Custom Coating & Laminating Corporation 249 NLRB No. 117
(threatening Ee with discharge if he continued to speak with other Ees during work time violative where Ee's job required him to speak to other Ees and Ee was well known U adherent)

N.L.R.B. v. Friendly Ice Cream Corporation 677 F.2d 170 (C.A. 1, May 1982)
(ct denied Bd's ptn for enforcement of its order finding E guilty of violating Secs. 8(a)(1), 8(a)(3) and 8(a)(4) of Act by giving allegedly retaliatory and discriminatory written warning to Ee for violating no-solicitation rule where Bd's decision specifically rested upon its conclusion that E had disabled itself from enforcing rule by reason of having tolerated breaches in past that did not relate to unionization and fact was that in two years rule was observed every day but two)

N.L.R.B. v. St. Anne's Hospital 648 F.2d 67 (C.A. 1, May 1981)
(prohibiting members of nurses' group, protesting hospital's on-call policy, from talking at work, unlawful)

(E's removal of U literature lawfully placed on Ees' cars in E's parking lot violative)

Robertshaw Controls Company 263 NLRB No. 128
(threatening Ee with discharge for handing U leaflet to another Ee in work area but prior to start of shift violative where although E had imposed new valid no-distribution rule, no evidence was presented to determine when rule went into effect in relation to incident)

Kirkhill Rubber Company 263 NLRB No. 113
(issuing written reprimand to Ee for solicitation for U purposes on company time and property, violative)

Herider Farms, Inc. 261 NLRB No. 113
(prohibiting access to outside non-working areas of plant premises by off-duty Ees engaged in distribution of U literature, violative)

Roadway Express, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 078
(E's removal of U material posted on bulletin board and removal of U literature in dispatch room, unlawful, where Ee's action in posting and in leaving literature in dispatch room constituted protected concerted activity to show fellow Ees that E's use of production cards affecting working conditions at another facility of E was being protested by U at that facility)

G. H. Bass & Co. 258 NLRB No. 036
(reprimanding Ee for distribution of pro-U letter in production area during lunch break in alleged violation of rule prohibiting distribution in work areas, unlawful, where production shut down for lunch break and all Ees off clock since in these circumstances production area at lunch break becomes non-working area, and absent resulting litter problem or impact on production)

Arkansas-Best Freight System, Inc. 257 NLRB No. 063
(removing campaign literature from table in drivers' room, violative)

Reeves Southeastern Corporation 256 NLRB No. 090
(discharge of Ee for passing out U authorization cards violative)

(E's threat that Ees who accepted U literature would be discharged violative)

Wometco Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Nashville, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 069
(informing Ee he would be discharged if he carried on U organizing in company plant on company time, unlawful because such prohibition would appear to include breaktime and other periods when they are not expected to be working)

Wometco Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Nashville, Inc. 255 NLRB No. 069
(violation, where upon receiving mailgram identifying Ees as volunteer U organizers, E called them to office and held special meetings with each Ee individually at which he informed them it was illegal to sign or solicit U cards on company time or property, or to distribute U literature on company property)

Gerald M. Martin and Kathleen R. Martin, a Partnership Doing Business Under The Trade Name and Style of Liberty Pavilion Nursing Home 254 NLRB No. 169
(telling former Ees and U agent that they must leave private parking lot where they were distributing U literature or she would call police, not violative in absence of evidence that U did not leave alternative means of reaching Ees notwithstanding no sidewalk between parking lot and public street; furthermore, parking lot only used, apart from Ees and visitors, by persons picking up or discharging Ees or patients which did not convert private lot into public way)

Friendly Ice Cream Corporation 254 NLRB No. 172
(E's issuing written warning to Ee who was soliciting signing of U authorization card on work time in violation of valid no-solicitation rule, unlawful, in view of E's selected enforcement of dormant rule and U animus where Ees had been allowed to talk among themselves during work time and warning was only disciplinary action ever taken regarding rule, E was not given opportunity to defend herself and solicitation for other purposes had been allowed)

Stewart-Warner Corporation 253 NLRB No. 016

Conagra, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 085
(informing Ee who had had argument with Ee who was wearing Vote No hat that she was not to talk U on company time and U literature was not to be passed out in plant, unlawful, since statement not limited to prohibition during work))

Permanent Label Corporation 248 NLRB No. 021
(solicitation process includes distributing U card, signing by Ee and return of card to solicitor, therefore rule banning such activity during nonwork time in work areas is overly broad)

National Southwire Aluminum 247 NLRB No. 175
(E's statements to U adherent to get rid of U literature and clean up U literature do not rise to level of promulgation against distribution of literature but does interfere with Ee rights to distribute literature)

CTS Keene, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 141
(warning U adherent to observe E's no solicitation rule, unlawful, where given w/o any apparent basis)

Tartan Marine Company 247 NLRB No. 073
(supervisor informing Ee who had solicited another Ee to sign U card during break time that he should take care of this after work and when Ee attempted to assert his right to solicit during break time replying company pays you for breaks, violative)

J. H. Block & Co., Inc. 247 NLRB No. 041
(notice E posted on company bulletin board prior to election which asked Ees to report to E if they were put under pressure to join U violative as it had potential effect of encouraging Ees to report to E identity of U card solicitors and also to discourage card solicitors in their protected organizational activities)

Puckless Metal Hose, Inc. d/b/a Puckless Industries JD-(SF)-90-81
(warning issued to Ee for distributing U literature in violation of E's unlawful no solicitation rule violative)

Magic Mountain Corporation JD-337-80

Halliburton Services (Coffeyville, Kansas), A Division of Halliburton Company 265 NLRB No. 144
(supervisor's removal of U insignia displayed on Ee's personal tool box, violative where E permitted other nonwork related materials to be posted publicly, e.g., calendars and pin-ups)

Nordstrom, Inc. 264 NLRB No. 095
(telling Ee to remove U steward pin, violative where pin was small, tasteful and inconspicuous, and would not unreasonably interfere with E's operations)

General Electric Company 264 NLRB No. 126
(where Ee displayed large pro-U sign on his tool box, and supervisor suggested he lock it in his locker over the weekend for safekeeping, no violation for when Ee reaffixed sign nothing was said or done to Ee)

The Moore Company, Inc., Div. of Esses Corp. 264 NLRB No. 159
(supervisor informing Ees that U adherents were jeopardizing their jobs along with jobs of all other Ees by wearing U shirts, hats, and insignia, unlawful)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 263 NLRB No. 015
(supervisor asking black Ee who was wearing U insignia why Ee was getting so involved with U, if any one was presuring him to join U and in same conversation indicating to Ee that E would be making more black supervisors but that Ee should not wear pro-U insignia and to continue to do so would result in his not being considered for supervisor position, unlawful)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 263 NLRB No. 015
(violation, where Ee's supervisor gave Ee who was wearing U buttons permission to go into another area of plant but requested that Ee remove buttons before going, since no considerations of safety or interference with production which might justify managerial interference with, or limitations on exercise of protected rights)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 263 NLRB No. 015
(supervisor asking Ee why Ee was wearing tee shirt with insignia on it, unlawful)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 263 NLRB No. 015
(supervisor informing Ee wearing tee shirt with U insignia If you hadn't been wearing all of this tee shirt and stuff you would have been supervisory material, unlawful)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours 263 NLRB No. 015
(supervisor asking U proponent if he had U buttons in bag on his desk and informing him I hope you are not passing out U buttons you could get into trouble for passing these out, unlawful)

Midstate Telephone Company 262 NLRB No. 167
(prohibiting Ees from wearing T-shirts on which appeared facsimile of E's logo depicting logo as cracked and displaying accompanying slogan, I survived Midstate strike of 1971-1975-1979, violative where T-shirts worn by Ees were clearly directed at promoting solidarity by publicizing that Ees had survived recent prolonged 5-month strike and there were no special circumstances which would warrant deviation from general rule protecting right of Ees to wear insignia at work pertaining to Us or working conditions)

Zero Corporation, Zero East Division 262 NLRB No. 064

Holladay Park Hospital 262 NLRB No. 026
(prohibiting nursing Ees at hospital from wearing yellow ribbons as U insignia on their uniforms at work, violative)

(E's removal of U sticker from Ee's machine violative)

Howard Johnson Motor Lodge 261 NLRB No. 123
(ordering Ees at motel to remove U buttons, unlawful, notwithstanding contention justified since not acceptable part of uniform and might be regarded adversely by guests; exercise by Ees of their Section 7 rights under Act does not turn on pleasure or displeasure of E's customers)

Inland Steel Company 257 NLRB No. 013
(wearing T-shirt with vulgar slogan (INLAND SUCKS) that rediculed E, protected, where no management official said anything to E about T-shirt or even saw him wearing it during working hours no less told Ee to take it off)

Harrison Steel Castings Company 262 NLRB No. 089
(notwithstanding inquiry by supervisor to Ee as to why he was wearing pencil holder with U logo was friendly in nature occurring in circumstances lacking any suggestion of harassment and Ee openly manifested support of U, Bd found violation as inquiries of this kind convey E's displeasure with Ee's U activity and coercive impact not diminished by Ee's open support of U or by absence of attendant threats)

Firmat Manufacturing Corp. 255 NLRB No. 153
(telling Ees they could not wear U buttons, violative where E established no special circumstances)

Borman's, Inc. 254 NLRB No. 130
(asking Ees to remove, or turn inside out, T-shirts with Company name and words I's tired of bustin my ass, violative as purpose of shirts was to publicize grievance, did not interfere with order and discipline; it villified no company official and language used is not so obscence as to be objectionable)

Taylor-Dunn Manufacturing Company 252 NLRB No. 118
(removing U authorization card which Ee taped to his locker, violative where E permitted non-U material to remain)

B. E. & K., Inc. 252 NLRB No. 036

(violation by instructing Ee to remove U sticker posted on his locker)

The Nestle Company 248 NLRB No. 106
(enforcing company rule prohibiting wearing jewelry and nonuniform clothing w/i E's production areas held violative where rule was not applied to non-U related jewelry and clothing worn by Ees not favoring U; rule was discriminatorily enforced)

Fluid Packaging Company, Inc. 247 NLRB No. 196
(request that Ee remove 10-by-16 inch vote yes sign from her back for safety's sake since it was causing distraction among Ees on lines, not unlawful; E did not interfere with Ees' wearing of Yes and No buttons)

Pay 'N Save Corporation 247 NLRB No. 184
(E's unwritten rule against wearing of political or controversial buttons, including U buttons, unlawful, where there was no valid business consideration or other special circumstance warranting forbidding of wearing of U buttons by store Ees on salesfloor)

Pay 'N Save Corporation 247 NLRB No. 184
(E's enforcement of rule against wearing of buttons on store premises, unlawful, where E allowed Ees to wear various kinds of religious as well as other buttons but disparately enforced its button policy against Ees wearing U buttons)

John Rooney, David Hinman and Beverly Foster, d/b/a Rooney's At The Mart 247 NLRB No. 123
(ordering waitress to remove U button while whe was waiting on customers in E's restaurant and sending her home when she refused, violative, notwithstanding fact button was of size and design to detract from uniform and bore feminist statement that might offend some customers, in view of E's other ULPs and fact E had previously taken actions motivated by Ee's U activities to induce her either to quit or to change ways)

Lecks Industries, Inc. JD-346-82
(supervisor's asking Ee if she was going to continue to wear her U button, accompanied by statement asking Ee to give him half a chance, not unlawful, since, in context of conversation, supervisor was merely continuing E's effort to seek out Ees' problems and was asking them to work with management in an effort to give management a chance to do so)

Wheeler Printing, Inc. JD-(SF)82-82
(E violated Act by requiring removal of U button from area which was frequently used for posting notices)

Vanity Fair Mills, Inc. JD-(ATL)-38-82
(E's personnel manager calling Ee to his office and asking if she was passing out U buttons during campaign and when she replied yes informing her that was no, no and interrogating Ee about being away from her work station, unlawful, notwithstanding pursuant to no solicitation rule presumptively valid at time, since reprimand based on U activity rather than being way from work station, neglecting work or interfering with work of other Ees)

Methodist Hospital of Indiana, Inc. JD-88-82
(asking Ee to wear Happiness is No Union button, unlawful notwithstanding Ee had option of not wearing it and refused to take button)

Stockton Dodge, Inc. JD-(SF)-235-81

(threatening discharge if Ees refused to remove U insignia, violative)

CRC Pipeline Equipment, a Division of Crutcher Resources Corporation JD-(SF)-140-80
(supervisor threatening Ees with discharge if they continued to wear U buttons, not unlawful, where E had no proclivity towards ULPs, E promptly informed supervisors that Ees were free to wear U buttons, specifically advised Ees threatened that threats were not position of E and that they were free to wear buttons, and posted notice to that effect on bulletin board)

N.L.R.B. v. Schwan's Sales Enterprises, Inc. 687 F.2d 163 (C.A. 6, Sept. 1982)
(supervisor's ordering Ee to remove cap bearing U insignia, unlawful, notwithstanding that following day supervisor revoked the order and Ee was permitted to display U insignia, where at least 2 other Ees in E's quite small work force, with 10 Ees voting in election, overheard supervisor's order, and there was no publication of revocation of order and no attempt to let other Ees know that order had been revoked)

Borman's, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 676 F.2d 1138 (C.A. 6, May 1982)
(E's forbidding Ees from advertising grievance by wearing a shirt with the slogan 'I'm tired of bustin' my ass' not violative, since E's conduct was isolated and no substantial evidence supported Bd's finding that wearing of T-shirt constituted exercise of any right protected under NLRA)

Hadley Fruit Orchards, Inc. JD-(SF)-121-82
(order for Ee to remove his U insignia, until day of election, unlawful)

Pay'N Save Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 641 F.2d 697 (C.A. 9, Mar 9, 1981)
(maintaining and disparately applying unwritten rule against wearing political or controversial buttons, including U buttons, violative, since E did not meet its burden of establishing that such policy was justified by special considerations)

5072-7780 Posting notices

Roadway Express, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 078
(E's removal of U material posted on bulletin board and removal of U literature in dispatch room, unlawful, where Ee's action in posting and in leaving literature in dispatch room constituted protected concerted activity to show fellow Ees that E's use of production cards affecting working conditions at another facility of E was being protested by U at that facility)

G. H. Bass & Co. 258 NLRB No. 036
(having Ee followed by head of plant security who removed pro-U letters Ee was posting on bulletin boards in response to anti-U letter of E and giving Ee written reprimand with warning, unlawful, where Ees had been allowed to post other materials; E's contention that permission to post letter denied since it would generate controversy deemed pretextual in view of E's expressed U animus and fact letter not offensive, defamatory or opprobrious)

5072-7787 Other restraints

Cardio Data Systems Corp. 264 NLRB No. 011
(maintaining rule before election prohibiting Ees from discussing their individual rates of pay with any other Ees, and providing for termination in case of violation of rule, unlawful)

(E's denying Ees use of its telephone because E thought Ees might call U, violative)

Stewart-Warner Corporation 253 NLRB No. 016
(informing Ee that she was not allowed to talk to other Ees about U or their pay or vacations while at work, violative)

S. L. Industries Inc. and Extruded Products, Corp. 252 NLRB No. 151
(instructing Ees not to speak with reinstated Ee and to stay out of her department, held violative)

Syracuse Dy-Dee Diaper Service 251 NLRB No. 135
(E's telling Ee he did not want to hear anything more about U, violative)

Rich's Precision Foundry, Inc. 250 NLRB No. 173
(E's searching Ee's locker for U documents, unlawful)

Charles Dean d/b/a Happ Tapp Mfg. Co. 250 NLRB No. 184
(prohibiting Ees from entering into work room of U activist held violative)

MGM Grand-Reno, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 153
(E's announcing rule, during U campaign, prohibiting maintenance engineers from walking together, even to and from same job, held violative, since rule was designed to limit Ees' discussion of U and appeared to have no reasonable business justification)

Kraton Char-Broil, Inc., d/b/a Coram Pond Diner 248 NLRB No. 132
(violation where, in response to Ee's demand for improved working conditions, E told Ee that she should keep her mouth shut and not start trouble)

Conagra, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 085
(instructing Ee with regard to another Ee not to talk U with that Ee, unlawful)

Conagra, Inc. 248 NLRB No. 085
(instructing relief Ee who moved throughout plant not to talk U or we'll put you on a job where you won't be moving around. But that's not a threat, unlawful)

(prohibiting preparation of list of Ees from timecards for U's use and confiscating portion of list, unlawful)

Ellis Hospital JD-164-83
(supervisor held not to have unlawfully directed Ees to report their contacts with U where he was responding to legitimate concern on part of Ees about U's contacting them at home, and he did not solicit Ees to report invasion of privacy)

Pamida Discount Store JD-(SF)-89-81
(telling Ees that they could not engage in U activities until bargaining agreement was signed, violative)

Pamida Discount Store JD-(SF)-89-81
(telling Ees not to talk U in E's facility, violative)

Fremont Auto Center, Inc. d/b/a Fremont Mazda JD-(SF)-13-81
(causing state department of motor vehicles to initiate investigation of U adherent on false grounds, violative, where E not only wanted to use pretext of such state action to harass and ultimately discharge him but also wished to chill U activities of other Ees)

Roadway Express, Inc. JD-281-80
(superintendent questioning of Ee as to why Ee had called U business agent about allegedly unsafe truck and instructing Ee to call superintendent directly, lawful, where superintendent was giving instruction to newly assigned driver as to proper procedure to follow in event of breakdown and superintendent did not forbid Ees from discussing safety matters or complaints with U officials)

United States Postal Service JD-(SF)-273-79
(supervisor's attempt to enforce lawful rule proscribing Ees talking U business on company time, w/o permission of supervisor held not violative, since attempt did not unlawfully interfere with Ees' protected rights notwithstanding U steward was talking to Ee about grievance)

Hadley Fruit Orchards, Inc. JD-(SF)-121-82
(personnel director's advising Ee that state of friendship could not exist between them after he provided her with a pen indicating his support for U, unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. Los Angeles New Hospital 640 F.2d 1017 (C.A. 9, Mar 3, 1981)
(supervisor's prohibiting Ee from reading U literature to other Ees in room adjacent to operating room, unlawful, since incident took place in nonimmediate patient care area and did not disturb patients or patient care where room was used as Ee lounge, eating, drinking and social conversation took place in room, bulletin board was located in room, patients never entered area, and isolated incident insufficient to show that disruption of patient care would result from solicitation in lounge or justify failing to take less restrictive approach)

5072-8000 Confiscating union literature, etc.

Intermedics, Inc., et al. 262 NLRB No. 178
(security guard's confiscating handbills from Ees as they were entering plant violative, notwithstanding E's contention that this was result of misunderstanding, where Ees were never advised that handbills had been confiscated by mistake, nor were they told that E would permit Ees to bring such literature into plant; moreover, confiscation of such literature was consistent with E's unlawful no-distribution rule)

Southland Knitwear, Inc. and Metropolitan Industries, Inc. 260 NLRB No. 087
(taking leaflets of U competing with incumbent U from Ees and tearing them up, violative)

Amaco Fabrics Co., Patchogue-Plymouth Division/ Nashville Mills 260 NLRB No. 038
(confiscating petition protesting discharge of Ee and asking Ees who was circulating it and who had signed it violative)

5072-8300 Interference with union or employee meetings

Electric Hose and Rubber Company, A Division of Dayco Company 262 NLRB No. 100
(violation, where in reply to Ee asking supervisor if he should attend U meeting, supervisor advised Ee to be careful if he attended meeting since supervisor would have to inform personnel department and subsequently informing Ee that personnel department had given him third degree)

Methodist Hospital of Gary, Inc. 263 NLRB No. 084
(E's refusing to permit use of its cafeteria during voters' non-working time for purpose of conducting U bargaining committee election open to all unit Ees, unlawful, where E permitted use of cafeteria for non-U activities unrelated to meals and absent evidence use of cafeteria would have caused delays to customers particularly Ees who had only half hour for lunch break, and previous U election held in cafeteria had gone smoothly; further, E's contention that permitting election would have exposed it to ULP charges, rejected)

G.T.A. Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Restaurant Horikawa 260 NLRB No. 029
(E who held luncheon meetings and paid for meals served at meetings violated Act where meetings were held at same time U had called organizing meetings and were designed to retard U's communication with Ees)

Marco Polo Resort Motel 257 NLRB No. 158
(E's manager interrupting meeting held on E's premises with its permission to order non-U unit Ees to leave meeting, unlawful, notwithstanding E had only granted permission for meeting limited to U members, since purpose of meeting was internal U matter of electing U steward, and absent showing by E that attendance of non-U Ees adversely affected operations or that it had reason to believe operations might be affected by attendance of those Ees; once E granted U right to hold meeting on its premises, Ees' right to have meeting conducted free of interference outweighed E's interest in insuring strict adherence to limits of permission it had granted)

Herman Brothers, Inc. 252 NLRB No. 121
(supervisor informing Ee who had been given permission to take off next day that if Ee, who opposed ratification of proposed contract, went to U hall next day Ee would be given warning letter for excessive absenteeism, unlawful, since supervisor never denied Ee had previously been given permission to take day off and E's concern was that reason Ee wanted to be off was to attend tally of mail ballot on contract ratification)

Louisiana Council No. 17, AFSCME, AFL-CIO 250 NLRB No. 072
(issuing mailgram to Ees, which was related to scheduled U meeting in another city, advising them not to leave their duty assignment area w/o E's express approval, unlawful, where E had never before instituted rules by mailgram)

Louisiana Council No. 17, AFSCME, AFL-CIO 250 NLRB No. 072
(contention that U council's suspension of Ee-staff members on ground that, by holding U meeting at parent organizations facility, they engaged in disloyal act, rejected, since Sec. 7 of Act is broad enough to encompass Ees' decision to choose, free of E interference, sites of their U meeting)

Heatilator Fireplace, Division of Vega Industries, Inc. 249 NLRB No. 047
(telling Ees not to attend U meetings, encourage U representation, or sign U cards, unlawful)

Bremer Property Management Corporation JD-(SF)-90-81
(violation, where E informed Ee who had acted as spokesman for Ees who deserved to bring concerns to attention of E, that Ees were not to have anymore meetings, and that Ee would be fired if Ees held anymore meetings, and upon being informed Ees intended to have another meeting, fired Ee)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours and Company JD-615-80
(violation where E stated that safety program was management responsibility which precluded Ee participation or criticism contrary to program's structure)

Grief Brothers Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 616 F.2d 831 (C.A. 6, 1980)
